WHY:

acessities

Physical exercise is necessary. It is as important as food, fresh air and sleep; without it health is impossible. By "exercise" we mean making movements other than the purposerul movements of ordinary life. Brushing the hair, raising food to the mouth, getting up and sitting down are done for a purpose and are of course exercise of a sort, but we do not do them with the idea of developing our muscles, expanding our cheets, or quickening our circulations.

The impulse to take exercise is inpanding our chests, or quickening our circulations.

The impulse to take exercise is instinctive in the young. During childhood it finds expression in playing and romping; during youth and early adult life, in sports and athletic contests. It is not necessary to urge young people to take that kind of exercise; rather, it is necessary to utter a word of warning against excess. The young man of the present day is in greater danger of overtaxing his heart and other organs by excess in athletics than he is of letting them spoil for want of sufficient exercise. It is the business man or the professional man who has passed his fortieth birthday that needs exercise and that usually thinks he is too busy to take it.

A favorite argument of the brain thinks he is too busy to take it.

A favorite argument of the brain worker who is advised to walk, or to play golf, or to take some other form of regular exercise, is that he has exhausted his vitality by brain work and that the use of his muscles beyond the absolute needs of daily life would exhaust still further his life forces.

That is not so, for the brain is fatigued only because it is fed with blood that circulates sluggishly and that is already so loaded with toxins that it cannot take away those that result from intellectual work. A brisk walk would fill the brain worker's lungs with air, quicken his circulation oxygenate his blood and unload it of its toxins, squeeze the stagnant lymphout of his muscles, empty his liver of its poisons and quicken all his excretory functions. Then his brain would be bathed with fresh, pure blood, and the "cobwebs" would be washed away.—Youth's Companion. That is not so, for the brain is fa

BACK TO THE LAND MOVEMENT

Why the Checking of the March to the Cities is Probably Only Temperary.

The tide of population which habeen rushing from the country to the city has been temporarily checked; in fact it is geceding in the other direction at the present time. Farmers and farm laborers, lured to town by inflated wartime wages, are returning to their rural haunts, now that their source of high living has gone. With them are going unemployed city laborers, largely foreigners, and some city business men who have heard the siren call of the countryside.

This movement, which started with

This movement, which started with the demobilization of our troops, and was accelerated by the shutting down of "war babies" has received added impetus "som the general business impetus 'som the general successiump.

There is undoubtedly a farmward movement. But is it great enough to be significant?

When I discussed this question with the editor of Leslie's I felt that if there was a back-to-the-farm movement, it was not pronounced enough to be important. After considerable investigation in various sections of the country and after receiving facts and opinions from agricultural colleges, farm bureaus and state departments in a dozen states, my original idea has been upheld. The cityward trend may be balanced for the time being by the movement back to the land, but such a condition is for the moment only.

Therefore Is far from being "the life

ment only.

Farming is far from being "the life of Riley" in the year 1921. Many farms are being sold for taxes; mortgage foreclosures are forcing unfortunate farmers to become wage earners; returned farm laborers will find farm wages rather meager after their well-filled city pay anvelopes, and some, undoubtedly will move back to town in search of an elusive job, plumbing, and friendly movie palaces.

—Andrew S. Wing, in Lealie's.

A man mounts a horse from the left side because in the days when a sword was an essential part of a man's dress, and hung at the left side, mounting from the right side would have necestitated taking hold of the scabbard and placing it over the saddle with the hand needed to assist in mounting. By mounting from the left side the sword hung clear and allowed easier action.

Why "Sentence Hymna."

From a practice of earlier days when hymn books were scarce. In order that all the congregation might be able to join in the singing, the pastor would read aloud the first two lines, which were then sung, and the reading and singing would continue alternately to the end of the hymn. This practice is still continued in some of the rural churches of the South.

Why Newpop Was Pleased
The Nurse—You have a fine little daughter. Your wife has named her Pansy. I suppose though, you would have preferred a boy?
Mr. Newpop—On the contrary. I'm tickled to death. A girl can pick a fool name and get away with it. If It had been a boy my wife was going to call it Launcelet.
