KEEP ON RECRUITING FOR MERCHANT MARINES

Shipping Board to Build Up All-American Personnel for Ships.

One recruiting service that will not go out of business with the coming of peace is that of the United States shipping board. It will not only keep on doing business, but will increase its scope, according to Chairman Edward N. Hurley of the board.

Orders have gone out to the board's recruiting agents to rush enrollment of men for peace crews on merchant ships, especially firemen.

"We shall want thousands of men for our peace fleets," said Mr. Hurley. "Our recruiting service, with twelve training ships and bases at Boston, New York, Norfolk, New Orleans, San Francisco, Seattle and Cleveland, will keep right on preparing men for jobs under the American flag on merchant ships."

"This service is training at present 4,000 apprentices a month, and we are planning to increase its output."

"The shipping board will continue until further notice to accept men between eighteen and thirty-five inclusive, for training."

"We want to build up an all-American personnel for the great merchant marine."

Recruits for the peace fleet will be accepted at any one of 6,800 drug store enrolling stations maintained by the shipping board.

KILLED 20; WINS CLEMENCY

Tripoli War Record Frees Soldier Convicted by Court-Martial.

Evidence that single-handed he had killed 20 Arabs in a bayonet fight during the Tripolitan wars, won his release from a court-martial sentence for Private John Deroberts, when his record, including a testimonial and medal from the king of Italy, were brought to the attention of Major General Scott, camp commander at Camp Dix, N. J. Deroberts was arrested as the result of a clash with his sergeant. The court-martial found him guilty of a minor charge and imposed a deduction of pay for three months. The royal certificate which Deroberts produced, described his bayonet fight with a score of the enemy as one of the most brilliant personal achievements of the Tripoli campaign.

TREAT WAS ON "NEWT"

Was Even Willing to Pay for Elevator Ride.

Uncle "Newt" Cavanaugh, a mountaineer from Kamloops, Canada, invaded Kansas City the other day. He didn't know a soul in town but Clerk Rodney of the Mehlbach hotel. Rodney was glad to see his old guide friend and said so.

"Kin you put me up fer the night?" asked Uncle "Newt". "Sure," said Rodney.

Not wishing to turn him over to a hard-hearted bellhop, Rodney took him upstairs to his room. As he left the elevator with the guide he reached in his pocket for the room key.

"No yer don't, Rod," exclaimed the guide. "This here ride's on me," and he reached in his pocket for a coin.

"Billy Sunday Slang." Slang of a sort Americans would recognize as Billy Sunday type is creeping into the sermons of the Anglican padres at the front, according to a writer in the British Weekly. The parsons talk the language of the trenches, believing the men like it. And the men, it is claimed, prefer the same careful diction they are accustomed to in their churches at home.

Oldest Ohio Farmer Eighty-Four. "Granddad" Mosier, eighty-four years old, claims to be the oldest active farm hand in Hancock county, Ohio, or "in the whole derned state of Ohio, by heck." He has just completed cutting and setting up 750 stacks of corn and during the past summer he cleared 25 acres of ground, made hay and harvested wheat.

COUNTY AGENT MONROE TALKS

M. O. Monroe, Bingham county agent, stated Wednesday evening that they have 1200 members for the farm bureau and that seems to be about 66 per cent of the farmers in the county altho nobody knows exactly how many farms there are in our county.

Mr. Monroe says that one of the important problems he is dealing with now is the purchase and distribution of strychnine for use in fighting rodents. It is expected that the county will appropriate some money to apply on the purchase of strychnine, but the farmers will have to put up the rest. An effort has been made to secure 2000 ounces for use just as the winter breaks up in order to kill the old stock before the little squirrels arrive. It is not considered a success to try to kill them off after there is plenty of vegetation for them to feed upon as they will leave the poison and feed upon the tender herbs.

In localities where only part of the settlers are willing to enter into the poisoning campaign an effort will be made by the farm bureau to get them interested and working in a united campaign. The man who neglects or refuses to help is just as much of a slacker as those who do not help to win the war, for he sets the efforts of his neighbors at naught. Heretofore the state itself has been a slacker because it did not help kill the squirrels on state land adjoining the settlers' farms. An effort is being made now to get the state to do its part and get every settler to co-operate in the big spring drive to kill the squirrels.

Mr. Monroe says the worst trouble he sees in the plan now is that people are not buying sufficient quantity of strychnine. He is afraid they will not have enough to complete the job.

GRACE FAULCONER, County Superintendent.

Red + ers

(By Mrs. Byrd Trego)

Mrs. O. W. Fraker of Lamaside came cheerfully up to the Red Cross rooms on Tuesday carrying sweaters and socks that had been completed by that community, and she just as smilingly loaded her arms with a bundle of yarn to take back to the willing workers. Isn't that fine? Mrs. Hulce next came from Riverside with the same cheery manner, bearing a bundle of sweaters that was the work of the Bee Hive girls. Bless those dear loyal girls! How could we get along without them I wonder.

Mrs. Albertson was in charge of the knitting room on this day. She said, "Mrs. Trego, will you please plead with the good people who keep yarn out a long period, and kindly implore them to return every thing finished that we may send it all in the next shipment? We do earnestly desire this." So here you have Mrs. Albertson's message. In regard to the home service department conducted by Mrs. Boyle, an arrangement has been made whereby an office is now open at the public library from 2 to 5 o'clock every afternoon. Ask of Miss Gillespie, the librarian, any information you wish.
