T. T. McDOUGAL,
EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

Wednesday, May 8, 1901.

A GREAT many persons forget how largely the future depends upon what use we make of the present.

It seems that juries that will convict kidnappers are needed quite as badly as laws against kidnapping.

"Much trouble for nothing"—Dave Hill's chase after the Democratic Presidential nomination in 1904.

If Dr. Parkhurst had been willing to profit by the experience of others, he would have let the negro question alone.

It is to be hoped that San Francisco will be more successful in its efforts to reform its police than New York has been.

It now costs West Virginia dealers $100 a year for a special license to sell cigarettes. If the cost was higher the law would be better.

The South has shown President McKinley that it knows how to receive a President, if its judgment is somewhat warped in voting for one.

Those who are predicting that the Emperor of Germany is contemplating an attack on the Monroe Doctrine are not complimentary to William's good sense.

SECRETARIES Gage and Root and Attorney General Knox will remain in Washington until President McKinley and the other members of the Cabinet return.

Ex-Gov. Hogg, of Texas, has become a triple millionaire through the recent oil boom, which makes it reasonably certain that he will not again figure as a calamity howler.

Mr. EDWIN H. HARRIMAN, of New York, who is said to control more railroads than any man in the world, was born in New Jersey. His fad is breeding fine horses, especially pacers.

ADMINISTRATION dissatisfaction with Minister Conger is found exclusively in Democratic papers. That's why it is more amusing than annoying to Mr. Conger and his friends.

THE rapid growth of the beet sugar industry is shown in a special report just submitted to Secretary Wilson, which estimates that there will be forty-two beet sugar factories in operation in the U. S. next fall.

MR. CLEVELAND, Mr. Olney, Mr. Gorman and several other erstwhile Democrats can be depended upon to stand by the Hill-Bryan fight to the finish and to continually yell "Sie him, Billy!" "Go for him, Dave!"

DOUBTLESS ex-Senator Pettigrew finds his newly acquired role of millionaire—he is said to have made a million speculating—more satisfactory than the role of traitor he played so disgustingly well in the U. S. Senate.

As President McKinley has long ago shown himself immune to the swelled head, nobody need be alarmed because of the enthusiasm with which he is being received by the people at every stopping place of his train.

SECRETARY HAY will be acting on a certainty when he submits propositions for a new isthmian canal treaty to Great Britain, as two-thirds of the Senators have told him just what sort of a treaty they are willing to vote to ratify.

As long as Great Britain's credit remains as good as it was shown by the quadrupled subscription to its recent loan, the English can afford to laugh at the direful predictions of their enemies. Nations with good credit are never in danger.

THE Harrison County Herald is the name of a new Republican paper which has made its appearance. It comes forth with ten pages of six columns to the page and is nicely printed and ably edited. Ernest B. Morris is editor and our old friend, S. C. Barr, late editor of the Calhoun Chronicle, has charge of the mechanical department of the paper. This sprightly sheet is published at Clarksburg. May it live long and prosper much.

THE Cubans had a good time in Washington and left Secretary Root under the impression that the Constitutional Convention would sooner or later accept the Platt amendment. Well, they are free to take their own time, but the sooner they accept the sooner Cuba will have its government.

THE military authorities in Manila are trying and punishing the petty thieves whose operations was the only foundation for sensational publications about wholesale frauds in the commissary department, with promptness that is commendable, although it is only what is expected of Gen. MacArthur.

THE county school book board at its last meeting, adopted several of the books published by the American Book Co. but the company has, as yet, gave no intimation of its acceptance nor filled a contract to furnish the books. If the American Book Company should decline to receive the adoptions it will be necessary for the county board to adopt some other series.—Wayne News.

TRAINING PARENTS.

By BILL PARTLOW.

The Children now days are experiencing a great deal of trouble in training their parents in the proper manner. No one will deny that a ten year old child is much wiser than the parent. This fact has been given up by all scientists who have carefully diagnosed the case.

Just how, then, and what branches of training should be adopted to bring the old folks around, is the all important question.

Of course the parents could learn a great deal by taking the good, wholesome advice so freely and cheerfully given by the children, but they won't do it. They seem to think that because they got a few years the start the child's opinion is not worth anything.

They overlook the fact that the educational institutions of today differ, materially, from the old school house on the hill, where the parents were submerged by a stream of intellectual knowledge.

It is different now days. Instead of our colleges and seminaries feasting the children on knowledge, they omit this trifling function to a very large degree, and feast them on style, street etiquette, and many other branches of far more importance.

Then the children have other advantages to add to their education. For instance, the theater is a benevolent institution that helps matters along. It detracts from their studies and affords them all the opportunities they desire to add their lovely vocabulary of slang and vulgar expressions.

The street exercises also afford a good addition. Many children now days are not raised at home at all. Their parents turn them loose as soon as they are old enough to walk and the finishing touches of their training and education is added by the street installment plan.

Of course the parents can hardly be blamed for this. The children want to go out and loaf around, and the parents don't care a kitty. Then when the little urchin incidentally loosens up and calls its mother a liar and tells her that she don't know straight up, the mother straightway flies off the handle, and lets loose a spanking machine.

This is entirely wrong. The child has been educated in its manners and should not be humiliated by a spanking when it tries to teach the parent the up-to-date expressions. The parent was probably not subjected to the hardships and deprivations of a street education and cannot appreciate it. The children are correct in their way, although sometimes they are of light weight.

The One Day Cold Cure.

Cold in head and sore throat cured by Ker-mott's Chocolates Laxative Quinine. As easy to take as candy. "Children cry for it."—W. M. Blass, Ceredo; R. Ney Williams, Kenova.

Cincinnati's Palace.

The Palace Hotel, Sixth and Vine and College Streets, Cincinnati, is a gem in the way of service at rates, $2.00 and $2.50, or $3.00 with bath, per day on the American plan, or $1.00 upwards, European plan.

The cuisine at this hotel is all that could be asked, as everything the market affords is found upon its tables, appetizingly and wholesomely prepared, and the service is eminently pleasing in every detail—good cheer, good humor and good health go hand in hand. A cheerful frame of mind is impossible unless the proper conditions prevail.

And then, the other features of the Palace which should not escape attention are, perfect security from fire and ventilation which really ventilates. Guests at the Palace find no element lacking to make life away from home enjoyable. Service, Smiles, Sanitation, Sunshine—the brightest, busiest spot in town, famous for good cheer. No rival at rates.

The young man who has been reared in the country, who has studied out the philosophy of life while following the plow in its monotonous rounds, who has had enough of work and exposure to toughen without weakening him; who has learned thrift and honesty and morality in the safe, sweet atmosphere of a country home, has the best equipment that it is possible for a young man to have. As a proof of this, fully 90 per cent. of the successful men of the nation have had such an upbringing.

The Ashland and Ironton Bridge Co. has been granted permission by the War Department to construct the proposed bridge across the Ohio river below Ashland.
