Hon. A. C. Scherr, Our Next Governor.

The Many and Cogent Reasons Why the Movement to Nominate Hon. A. C. Scherr for Governor Will Be Successful.

West Virginia is a state where they do things worth while—a state where is grown on the surface and mined beneath, fortune yielding products of colossal magnitude—a state where mammoth development forces are at work and a state whose chief executive will take his rightful place among the governors of the foremost commonwealths that go to make up our nation. The eyes of capitalists, promoters and investors are on West Virginia as the coming state of the Union. She is solving just now great problems of vital importance, and her recent rejuvenation gives to the gubernatorial contest today a significance it has not been vested with in some years.

Having been in West Virginia some three or four weeks, your correspondent has watched with intense interest the development of the political situation here. We have been hearing much, at all points of the state we have visited, concerning Auditor Scherr, and after carefully covering the ground insurance department. His recommendations to various legislatures show a wise and comprehensive grasp of many state needs. He has deservedly borne the confidence and support of the public with a steadfastness that no conditions or situations could shake and as a man of the people he holds the entire confidence of the constituents.

Auditor Scherr is a consistent and life-long Republican, working for principle always rather than for hope of reward. His past deeds have proved the sincerity of his devotion, and his conceded ability, personal worth, legislative experience, long public service and sound Republicanism make him the natural and powerful rallying point for all those who desire to go forward instead of backward, who are weary of factionism, who stand for pure, clean, straightforward, wholesome politics and government. The following figures, evidencing the superior winning chances of Auditor Scherr, are as nearly cor-power and activity he holds a position that cannot be disputed. There is nothing spectacular about this man of success. In every line of his face he bears the impress of a life given over to furthering the highest ideals of duty and it would be hard, indeed, to find a better type of the quiet, forceful, able and successful leader of men than Arnold C. Scherr, candidate for governor. With the intuitive knowledge and keen observation of human nature and peculiar mental equipment, he would have reached the top in whatever profession or enterprise he was engaged in by virtue of ceaseless energy, an individual sense of duty and a very marked ability.

We know we are voicing public sentiment when we say that with Mr. Scherr as governor, the Mountain State could have no better chief executive. If party devotion, loyalty to friends, personal worth and statesmanlike qualifications are to be regarded and recognized, then no man in the state can lay more logical claim to a four years tenure in the executive mansion than the Honorable Arnold C. Scherr.—Charleston Correspondent Commercial and Financial World.

K. of P. Lodge May Meet in Huntington.

Huntington, in all probability, will entertain the Grand Lodge and uniform rank of the Knights of Pythias at their conclave to be held in October. Huntington last year had this honor, and it was decided this year to meet in Hinton, that place winning out after a hard fight.

It has now been discovered that Hinton cannot take care of the immense throng of visitors that yearly attend these state meetings. The hotel accommodations of Hinton are not large enough to provide for all who would be there, and the Hinton lodge, that would have charge of all the arrangements, after looking the situation over, reported to the Grand Chancellor the condition that confronts them, recommending that some city in the state, better equipped with hotels, be selected.

At the last meeting of the Huntington Knights of Pythias, a letter was read from Grand Chancellor, N. C. Prickett, of Ravenswood, telling the likelihood of some place, other than Hinton, being selected for the conclave, and further stating that he had received a number of letters from different lodges asking that the Grand Lodge be held in Huntington.

The matter will be decided within the next two weeks, and as the Huntington Pythians are determined to do all they can to get Huntington selected as the place, and as a great majority of the lodges throughout the State are in favor of going there, there seems little doubt but that Huntington will be selected.

If one feels dull and spiritless in the spring or early summer they call it "spring fever." But there is no fever—usually. It is the after effect of our winter habits. The nerves are mostly at fault. Tired, worn out nerves leave us languid, lifeless and without ambition. A few doses of Dr. Sheep's Restorative will absolutely and quickly change all of these depressing symptoms. The Restorative of course won't bring you back to full health in a day or two, but it will do enough in 48 hours to satisfy you that the remedy is reaching that tired spot. Druggists everywhere are advising its use as a splendid and prompt general tonic. It gives more vim and more spirit to the spoonful than any other known nerve or constitutional tonic. It sharpens a failing appetite, aids digestion, frees sluggish livers and kidneys and brings new life, strength and ambition. Test it a few days and be convinced. Sold by R. Ney Williams.

HENSE IRBY KILLED

And His Companion Seriously Injured by B. & O. Engine.

Hense Irby, who was well known to almost every one in this section, was run down by a B. & O. engine at Central City on Wednesday night, May 27, and the lower portion of his body cut almost to shreds. A companion, Howard Strait, who also resided at Central City, was seriously injured, his body being badly bruised and one arm mangled to such an extent that only a few ligaments held it to the shoulder.

From what we can learn of the accident it seems that the two men were sitting on the railroad track drinking a bucket of beer and did not notice the approaching engine. It is stated the engine was running backwards and was on route from Kenova to Huntington. This being the case no doubt the tender obscured them from the engineer. At any rate after mangleing the two men the engineer did not stop but continued on his way to Huntington.

The cries and groans of the injured aroused nearby residents who summoned Dr. C. L. Hopkins and other surgeons. The medical men bound the mangled, bleeding limbs and did all they could toward assuaging the pain. A hurry call was sent in for an ambulance wagon so that the wounded might be conveyed to a hospital where they could receive better attention by being placed on operating tables. Irby died on the way to the hospital and was immediately taken to an undertaking establishment. Strait's condition was such that at first it was thought he could not survive but a few hours. However, late reports state that the chances are now in his favor and that in all likelihood he will recover.

The remains of Irby were taken to the Watts cemetery near Shoals, this county, last Friday and interred.

HON. A. C. SCHERR.

from an absolutely unprejudiced viewpoint of the outsider, we are in position to state advisedly that there is no shadow of a doubt that the next Republican candidate—which means practically the next governor of West Virginia—will be the Honorable Arnold C. Scherr, auditor of the state, and that in all this section there could not be found a man better qualified in every particular for this honorable position, whose sterling worth and ability have been more thoroughly tried out, or who is so pre-eminent the man for the place.

He has served his state well. Twice has he been honored by his party and the people of West Virginia. He is now serving his second term as auditor, in which capacity he has proven himself probably the most efficient the state has ever had, carefully and conscientiously guarding the interests of the people, and doing particularly commendable work in the rect as can possibly be compiled at the present writing: The total vote of West Virginia is 885, which means that 443 are necessary for nomination. Thirty-three counties have held conventions to date, 308 are for Mr. Scherr and 240 for the opposing candidate, Mr. Swisher. Cabell county has 25 delegates which are contested and your correspondent happening to be in Huntington on the day of the convention, would say that Mr. Scherr will obtain better than one-half of the votes from that county. There are 337 delegates yet to be selected, and as only 135 more votes are needed to insure Auditor Scherr's nomination, all apparent chances of defeat are swept away.

Successful and brainy men are found in every community but it is seldom that we are able to chronicle facts of one who individually has done so much for his state or who is so entirely worthy of public reward. At the very prime of his
