The Conference adjourned to

THE AFTERNOON SESSION of the Trades Union Conference, the Committee on Credentials reported as to the delegates who were entitled to seats, and all were admitted and the report adopted. Committees on Permanent Organization and Rules and Regulations were appointed, and the former reported John McBride for Chairman, and P. J. McGuire and John Kirchner as Secretaries. Chairman McBride spoke of the conflictopinions existing among members of the Conference and asked them to so conduct the discuscussion as to create no animosities. All grievances should be covered up and nothing done but that which would result in membership was represented in the con-terence. A large number of letters were read by the Secretary, the first FROM PRESIDENT WEIHE gretted that his organization was not represented, but said if the resolutions adopted were not of a free trade nature the amalgamated might participate in future conventions. He enclosed articles from a Pittsburgh labor paper regarding the formation them. Numerous letters of regrets were read, nearly all being of the same tenor, and H. H. Lane, of the New Haven, Conn., Trades Council urged independent political action as the great remedy political action as the great remedy for labor troubles. President R. Rubiera of the Cuban Federation of Cigar Makers of the Cuban Federation of Cigar Makers urged that only Representatives of Trades Unions be allowed to participate in the conference. Hugh McGreg, of New York, urged that the foundation be laid for pop-ular economies, education and declared that

THE K. OF L. HAD EXPLODED like a meteor, that its growth was cident, and its mistake had been in mixed assemblies. Federation he claimed was the necessity of the age. President Frank Roney, of the federated trades of the Pacific Coast asserted in a lengthy letter of advice that federation was the only recommendation for Labor. He advocated one set of laws FIRING THE REPORTERS. Secretary McGuire made a motion next that the press be excluded from the ses-sion of the conference. This point was discussed the greater part of the afternoon, being presented in its various phases and finally the motion was agreed to by a vote of 18 to 10. The adoption of the motion created considerable ill feeling and suggested the inquiry on the part of a delegate whether those delegates who represented papers, and were making reports for the same should be allowed to remain, the Secretary suggested that all who could show credentials of membership in any Trades Union should be al-Union should on the floor. lowed The porters began to present working cards and other certificates of metabership
