-WHEELING, VA:-ETHURSDAY MORNING, JUNE 11, 1857.

DESERTING, THE ORDER OF THE DAY, - We noted the other day that, since the event of the recent election became known, and especially the fact of "Big Richmond" having returned five democratic members to the lower house, thatathe Richmond Whig, the special spokesman of Americanism in the State, had packed up its baggage, and made off to the tune of

"The devil take the hindmost," and, at last accounts, was raking among the embers of the Whig party, to see if perchance it could not fan up flame enough to enable it to see its way clear out of its unpleasant, and, we have no doubt somewhat unprofitable position. There are other journals, North and South, more deliberately, yet not less surely, taking a feeling (the pulse) adieu. The N. Y. Erpress, for instance, foreshadows its anxiety for a situation in noticing, thus approvingly, an item of California news:

California news:

The Sacramento Union says a number of the leading members of the late Know Nothing party of California rocently met by previous arrangement, with closed doors, in Sacramento, for the purpose of advising upon the best course to be pursued as to their future political position With entire manimity, they came to the con-clusion that it would be useless to longer con-tinue a separate organization. They then resolved to sustain the course of President Buch-anan and to stand upon his platform so long as those principles should be maintained. The assemblage embraced many of the leaders of the late party."

WORKING OURSELVES TO DEATH .- The N. Y. Courier has a sensible article upon the over-devotion to business, which is the too common characteristic of American life. Our people work too hard, think too much, are too fond of excitement-and, the consequence is, we reap but little real happiness, or enjoyment in life, and hurry off to an early grave There is much sober truth in all that-and likewise in

"But where on the face of the earth is there a people who enjoy life so little as we do? All are in pursuit of what they suppose will bring happiness—a fortune; and as with them, time is in reality money, a day spent in amusement would be a day lost. Look at the countenan-ces of the people one meets in the business portions of our cities, and instead of cheorfulness there is seen anxiety. Your friend hurrying along at almost a run, passes you without re-cognition. A man of business leaves his home at an early hour and returns late. He has but little time to bestow upon his wife and children. He looks forward to the period, when, having made a fortune, he can retire and enjoy it. In the meanwhile hard work may ruin his health, and if he ever reach the prize for which he has striven, it is too often in a state of mind and body which precludes enjoyment.

In striking contrast to this mode of life-a picture is drawn of the German Whit-Monday Festival, where thousands of people, men, women and children, were gathered together, enjoying themselves to their hearts content.

There was plenty of lager beer drank, but there was no disturbance. If Americans would go and do like rise, they would feel happier, enjoy life better, and add materially to the length

"Incessant toil and anxiety are wearing out our constitutions, and no nation presents so poor a physical appearance as our own. Our youths at too carly an age are kept confined in schoolrooms, where every means is adopted to stimulate the brain, while comparatively little regard is paid to the body. We appear to forget that a well-stored mind, or an active intellect, is com-paratively of little benefit, if the body be diseased. Vast numbers of young men leave our colleges with their health destroyed, merely from neglecting the laws of nature. Lately some attention has been given to public health, and our people are beginning to perceive the folly of unremitted toil. When they are willing to believe that relaxation for mind and body as both necessary, when they can be taught that the eager pursuit of wealth which compels a man to give almost his entire working hours to business, involves a moral danger, then they may realize the necessity for increasing the num-ber of our holidays."

WHEN A MAN MAY KILL HIS ASSAILANT .- A case was decided on Wednesday last, by the Court of Appeals, at Frankfort, Ky., which setfles the question as to when a man who is attacked in the State of Kentucky, is justified in killing his assailant. The case was from Grayson Circuit, in which Mcredith had been convicted of manslaughter in the killing of one Ireland who attacked him, and the lower court charged the jury: "If Ireland assaulted the defendant and he had no reasonable grounds to believe he was in danger of sustaining great bodily harm, or the loss of life from such assault, and if necessary, to protect his life or per-son from great bodily harm, he might kill Ireland, if he had no safe means of escaping. But if the defendant could have safely retreated from the danger and by that means have sayed his life and person, he is not excusable for the killing of Ireland."

The higher court, however, decided that the charge was wrong. The jury had nothing to do with the question whether "the defendant could have safely retreated." that being a question to be settled by the judgment of the defendant himself. "In the exercise of this judgment he must act rationally. Whether an actual necessity to kill existed or not, was a question to be decided by Meredith at the time. Though he may have erred in his judgment—though he could have safely retreated, yet if he acted in good faith, and had reasonable grounds to believe that his only safety was to kill his antago-

THE CHURCH AND THE DRAMA. The N. Y Mirror notes that some of the London journals copy with approval Dr. Bellow's speech at the Dramatic Fund association, and adds the following list of Archbishops, Bishops and clergy of the Church of England, who have written in approval of the stage, and some of whom have devoted their talents to dramatic composition and criticism:

Archbishops Tillotson, Secker, Sheldon, and Potter; Bishops Forteous, Horne, Percy, Warburton, Still, Hurd, Lowth and Watson; Arch-deacon Paley; the Rev. Drs. South, Watts, Knox Blair, Zachary, Gray, Farner, Hurdis, J. Hoadley, Brown, Gloster, Ridley, Francis, Wrang, ham, Plumtre, T. Warton, Franklin, Valpy, Francis, Eades, Borrow and Young; the Rev. H. Milman, the Rev. C. Croley, the Rev. T. Broughton, and a number of others.

The Mirror adds:-"The fact is, the Episcopal Church differs, and has always differed, toto cale, from the Puritans, Dissenters, and Presbyterians on the subject of the Drama."

THE Secretary of the Treasury is of opinion that there will be a surplus of $22,000,000 in the government's strong box at the end of the current fiscal year. He moreover anticipates an increase of revenue under the new tariff, which will be in operation on the 1st of July next. In view of these considerations, Secretary Cobb has already, it is stated, determined to recommend to Congress, in his report, an autension of the schedule of articles of merchandise on which no duties shall be levied.

SENTIMENT.

CHAPTER L. There are very many virtuous and dignified people in this world, who seemingly take much pleasure and delight in abusing most extravagantly, what they are pleased to call—sentiment. Not that they really have an carnest dislike mittee on the Judiciary twere instructed to for this little angel, who makes our pathways consider and report what is necessary to secure through life a little pleasanter than it other-wise might be; but because it looks manly and the rights of the descendants of Africans sold chivalrous to sweep with one great dash of the iron hand of reality, all the fair delusions and iron hand of reality, all the fair delusions and iron hand of reality, all the fair delusions and iron hand of reality. Rather, did they not come to you, in your hours of despondency and gloom, and when the latest and with their magic pinions open up a clear and beautiful way to glory and success?

Oh! then, let us entreat you to be charitable towards those younger persons whose hearts are

We know that you are old and decrepid now; but we feel that the very grey hairs upon your aged heads, should remind you of the past summer youth, when your soul first held converse with the better things of life, ere it had drunk from the chalice of trouble and sorrow, and suffering. But your head, like the full flower, is already blossomed for eternity; and the heart soil from which these flowers of age are growing, should be purified by the echoing winds of memory into the soft, green loam of winds of memory into the soft, green loam of Alas! that a man should forget the days gone by. Alas! that our hearts should grow colder and prouder as age comes on so chill.

as age comes on so chill.

But then, do you, my aged friend, really dislike these pretty things. In truth, we have half a notion to doubt your stubborn—yes. We know that all your hopes are dead, but we feel that a memory of the past should teach you better and purer faith in goodness and beauty. We have heard of that sweet and lovely wife, who was once nestled to your younger and happy heart; and we have seen the very garden she used to make a flower heaven of.

where every soul shall drink eternal freshness of the limped wells of paradise?

And yet you tell us that all this love of flowers and music and pictures is a foolish love!— Why will not you speak the truth, and bid us cherish next to heaven these emblems of purity, charity, religion, andfaith? Tell me, do not the flowers, in their winter death and summer resunowers, in their winter death and summer resurcetion, remind you of the dark grave through which we shall all pass to eternal light and peace? Does not every strain of music take the soul on memorie's pinions down the hill of time to a mother's knee and a father's unfitching faith in God? The extreme backwardness of the spring, forestlips with the searcity and high primes of grain and hay, gave rise to fears that a season of comparative famine was in stope for us. Two weeks ago from Iowa, Wisconsin, Missouri, Michigan, Northern Illinois, Indiana and Ohio, the cry was, "the wheat is destroyed by the frost."

The Shipping nearly two hundresses of the springs and loging the morning she is comparative famine when it is considered to the cry was the wheat is destroyed by the frost." e farmers, indeed, commenced plowing their fields preparatory to resowing spring wheat. The weather, however, has so favorably changed n the last three weeks as to give assurances that there will be nearly, if not quite, an average crop. Fields that were supposed to have been frozen out beyond redemption, under the influence of genial rains and sunshine, have quence of wet weather, been unusually late, but the present prospect is good.

In all parts of this State, and such portions of Indiana and Kentucky as lie adjacent, never have we known the grass to look so fine, healthy and vigorous. The hay crops, with favorable weather to cure it, will be unusually large, and is now having a material effect upon the prices of last years' yield; and as to fruit of all kinds, the trees are lader with buds and blooms.
