SATURDAY MORNING, FEB. 19, 1859.

LOCAL MATTERS.

before last was a curious sort of a night. The went back in the house and closed the door upon the darkness without, and did not notify the gas concert. The gas folks, relying upon the promises of the moon, as distinctly set down in the Almanacs, supposed it to be shining, and did not light the lamps. The consequence was that we of the convention from the mountains and the backwoods who so forgot themselves as to ingroping about through the streets, arm in arm, instinctively feeling ahead with all fours to keep and got on a great high. There were twenty-one out of the gutters. The gas campany wasn't to feet in the channel last evening, and the river blame, because they have no contract to light was coming up and going down in a perfect the lamps when the moon is expected to shine, flood. and because the dazzling light would only have rendered the foggy darkness more dense, and acted as Jack ollanterns to lure the murkyheaded Swabians into worse places than they were able to find in the blackness, even by the assistance of experienced pilots. If a broad, bright sun should have flashed out in the middle of that night, Linden would have seen another sight.

being made to celebrate in a becoming manner the twenty second of February. Nearly every one horse town in the country is to have its celebrations, but here no arrangements have been made to honor the day that gave birth to a Washington-the man who was "first in war, first in peace, first in the hearts of his country men." Can we not devote one day to the memory of him who knew no north, no south, no east, no west, but was a patriot and union-loving citizen?

It is generally conceded that the people of this country have too few holidays. We are almost criminally addicted to the mere drudgery of life. We live to work, and work to live .-Our reasons of relaxation from toil and care are "like angel-visits, few and far between." And we may ask, in all seriousness, if it would not be well at once to add to the number that day which commemorates the advent of the immortal Washington. Let it be a day of rejoicing and still a season of deep and heart-felt solemnity. Let the minds of old and young be called from the cankering cares, and especially from the frivolities of life, to a profound consideration of the teachings and acts of one whose life was a magnificent example, and whose words of farseeing wisdom are solemn warnings to guard us against the evils to which we are exposed.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall, a lady and gentlemand of color, live in what is known as the old pail, or rather, they 'kind o' stay' there, living and existing, in the opinion of some people, being anything but synonomous. Mr. Hall is necessarily absent from home a good part of his time. He was absent yesterday morning, and Alexander Drayden, a specimen of ebon lechery, knew it. Alexander availed himself of the absence of Hall to tempt Mrs. H. from the course of fidelity which she had entertained for her husband; first by terms of endearment, then by slandering Hall with "falsehood, cowardice and low descent," and finaly by lucre. Mrs. Hall grabbed a sausage cutter and would have cut the rascal off even "in the blossoms of his sins," bad he not seeled the fonce and put himself out Tables of Salk.—One-fourth in cash, and the balance in the cash and the cash a jal, or rather, they 'kind o' stay' there, living and the rascal off even "in the blossoms of his sins," had he not scaled the fence and put himself out of reach. Mrs. Hall was virtuously indignant. Mrs. Hall wanted vengeance. With cheek sup-many of the positions and duties hitherto considered to belong to the "sterner sex," and there appears to have been a similar revolution in the "weather office." At least we should judge so from the capricious character of the season .-Woman, according to Scott, is "uncertain, coy, and variable as the shade, by the light quivering aspen made," and we imagine that with a lady installed as regulator of the weather, these sudden vicissitudes from sunshine to storm, and from frost to thaw, could be easily accounted for. While this, of course is jest, the injurious effects of these variations in the atmosphere upon our people are no joke. Every body seems to have a cold, and washerwomen are reaping a plentiful harvest from the unlimited number of

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.

SENATE.—The only business of interest duration. ing the morning hour was a report made by Mr. Polk, of Mo., from the Committee on Foreign Relations, to pay Mr Squires, late charge de affairs to Guatamala, $4,500 as a compensation for extra services. The bill provoked much discussion, both for and against it. No decision was arrived at

Mr. Hunter, of Va., endeavored to have the Consolar Appropriations taken up, but the motion was defeated.

The Private Calendar was then taken up by a vote of 28 yeas to 21 nays.

After a few private bills, an important message was received from the President, asking to confer on him power to use the army and navy to protect the transit route. Partially debated to protect the by Mason, Clingman, Benjamin, Douglas and Davis, more or less in favor of it, and Seward and Fessenden throughly against it. Without action the Senate adj'd.

House,-The House went into Committee on the Army appropriation bill.

Mr. Stanton's (of Ohio) amendment, to strike out the appropriation for recruiting, on which he proposed to test the sense of the members as to whether they were in favor of a reduction of the army, was considered.

During the debate Mr. Lovejoy, of Ill., said that he wanted to butt the army between the horns so as to have merely a skeleton hanging up for the study of practical anatomy; he was credibly informed and believed that the army was used to get up Indian wars and establish garrisons to advance the price of town lots; winter red western; some sales of red were made at $1.50 to the property of the Atorinous and it was urged that they should be extinguished, merely because they preferred unsettled; mess $17.50 $15.06. Mr. Phelps, joining in the laughter, said that he had only insisted on the observance of the rules.

Mr. Stanton's amendment was rejected-ayes 35, noes not counted.
Mr. Comins, of Mass., said that he did not desire our army to be like the militia of Missis sippi, which, according to an editor of that State, had an abundance of officers, but no arms

Mr. Washburne, of Ill., moved an amendment protecting the military reservations from tres-pass and stated that the Rock Island reservation was being stripped of its timber and despoiled of its value and that the War Department was making no adequate effort to protect it. Mr. Faulkner offered an amendment, cutting

Mr. Bonham, of S. C., trusted that this step would not be taken. It would cut down the pay of the General commanding, Lieut. General Scott, who had fairly won every honor that had been bestowed on him.

The amendment was rejected-yeas 40, nays 80. The other amendments were acted on and the committee rose.

WHEREAS, in the correspondence of the N. Y. Daily Times, of the 16th of Feb., signed "S.," and also in other papers, it is charged that a member of the Committee on Accounts, madea bargain to receive money as a consideration for passing certain claims thereof, and that subsequently the said member demanded money for his services.

WHEREAS, It is further alleged that a member of the said Committee compelled claimants to agree to give a portion of the appropriation in the bills passed before the Committee in consideration for their allowance; therefore,

Resolved, That a committee of 5 be appointed to investigate the said charges and report before the deep of the present events.

fore the close of the present session.

The resolution was unanimously adopted.—

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 .- The ball to Lord Napier took place at Williard's Hotel last night. The room was handsomely decorated with flags of all nations. At the end of the room length portraits of Victoria and Gen. Washington were suspended. The ball was opened by Lord Napier and Madame Van Limburgh, and Mr. Seward and Mrs. Conrad as their visavis .-Gen. Cass and Lady Napier intered the room together. The supper room was open at 11 o'clock. Col. Orr accompanied Lady Napier into the supper, followed by Senators Mason, Gwin and Seward, accompanied by ladies.— Lord Napier accompanied Madame Sartigies; Count Sartigles accompanied Mrs. Gwin.
Twelve hundred people were present.
The President to day transmitted a message to Congress as follows: To the Senate and House of Repyosentatives:

The brief period which remains of your pres-ent session, and the great urgency and import-ance of legislative action before its termination for the protection of American citizens and their property, whilst in transit across the Isth-mus routes, between our Atlantic and Pacific possessions, renders it my duty again to recall this subject to your notice. I have heretofore presented it in my annual messages, both of Children with Worms.

RY Kiette Worm Destroying Sugar Plums; they are pleasant to the taste as well as efficient for the expulnity of Worms. Price 25 cts. per Box. For sale by S. FUNDENBERG.

S. FUNDENBERG.

In the latter I state that the executive gov't of this country, in its intercourse with foreign nations, is limited to the employment of diplomacy alone, where this fails it can proceed no further; it cannot legitimately resort to force without the direct authority of Congress, except in resisting and repelling hostile attacks; it would have no authority to enter the territory TWO good rooms on 2d floor, corner Quincy and Main Sts. of Nicaragua, even to prevent the destruction of Nicaragua, even to prevent the destruction of annex with the destruction of Nicaragua and to protect the lives and property of the lives are the lives and property of the lives are the lives and property of the lives are the lives TWO Houses on John street, one House on Hampden st. and Market Alley. Enquire at Jacob Hull's, near the corner of John and 5th streets, of John BRUCE.

We L. McAFER. transit and to prot at the lives and property of our own citizens on their passages; it is true that on a sudden emergency of this character, the President would direct any armed force in the vicinity to march to their relief, but in doing this he would act upon his own responsibility. bility.

I earnestly recommend to Congress the pass age of an act authorizing the President, under such circumstances as they may deem proper, to employ the land and Naval forces in preventing this transit from being obstructed or closed by lawless violence and in protecting the lives and property of American citizens travel-ing thereupon, requiring at the same time that these forces shall be withdrawn the moment danger shall have passed away. Without such a provision our citizens will be constantly ex- JOY TO THE ADMIRERS OF posed to interference in their progress and to lawless violence.

A similar necessity exists for the passage of such an act for the protection of the Panama and Tehuantepec routes.

Another subject equally important commands the attention of the Senate. At the last session of Congress the republics South of the United States on this Continent have unfortunately been frequently in a state of revolution and civil war ever since they achieved their indepen-dence. As one or the other party has prevailed and obtained possession of the ports open to foreign commerce, they have seized and confis-cated American vessels and their cargoes in an arbitrary and lawless manner and exacted money from American citizens by forced loans and other violent proceedings to enable them to carry on hostilities. The executive government of Great Britain, France and other countries possessing the war making power can promptly employ the necessary means to enforce immediate redress for similar outrages upon their subjects. Not so with the government of the United States.

If the President orders a vessel of war to any of these ports, to demand prompt redress for outrages committed, the offending parties are well aware that in case of refusal, the Commander could do no more than remonstrate; he cannot resort to hostile act; the question must then be referred to diplomacy and in many cases adequate redress can never be obtained; thus American citizens are deprived of the same pro-tection under the flag of their country, which the subjects of other nations enjoy; the remedy for this state of things can only be supplied by Congress, since the constitution has confided to that body alone the power to make war.

that body alone the power to make war.

Without the authority of Congress the executive cannot lawfully direct any force, however near it may be to the scene of difficulty, to enter the Territory of Mexico, Nicaragua and New Grenada for the purpess of defending the persons and property of American citizens, even though they may be violently assailed whilst passing in peaceful transit over the Te-nauntepee, Nicaragua or Panama routes. He hauntepec, Nicaragua or Panama rontes. He cannot, without transcending his constitutional power, direct a gun to be fired into a port or land a seaman or marine to protect the lives of our countrymen on shore, or to obtain redress for a recent outrage on their property. The banditti which infests our neighboring Republic of Mexico, always claiming to belong to one or the other of the hostile parties, might make a sudden descent on the Vera Crucz or Tehaun-tepec route, and he would have no power to employ the force on ship board in the vicinity for their relief, either to prevent the plander of our merchants or the destruction of the transit

In reference to countries where the local authorities are strong enough to enforce the laws the difficulty here indicated can seldom happen, but where this is not the case and the local authorities do not possess the physical power, even if they possess the will to protect our citizens within their limits, recent experience has shown that the American executive should itself be authorized to render this protection; such a grant of authority, thus limited in its extent, could, in no just sense, be regraded as a trans-fer of the war making power to the executive, but only as an appropriate exercise of that pow-er by the body to whom it exclusively belongs.

The riot at Panama in '56, in which a number of our citizens lost their lives, furnishes a pointed illustration of the necessity which may arise for the execution of this authority, therefore earnestly recommend to Congress, on whom the responsibility exclusively rests, to pass a law offere their adjournment conferring on the President the power to protect the lives and property of American citizens in the cases which I have indicated, under such restrictions and conditions as they may deem advisable, the knowledge that such a law exists would of itself go far to prevent the outrages which it is intended to redress, and render the employment of force unnecessary. Without this the President of the United States may be placed in a painful position before the meeting of Congress.

In the present disturbed condition of Mexico and one or more of the Republics south of no person can forsee what occurences may take place before that period; in case of emergency our citizens seeing that they do not enjoy the same protection with subjects of European gov'ts, will have just cause to complain, on the other hand, should the executive interpose and specially should the result prove disastrous and valuable lives be lost, he might subject himself to sever censure for having assumed a power not confided to him by the constitution; it is to guard against this contingency that I now appeal to Congress.

Having thus recommended to Congress a measure which I deem necessary and expedient for the interests and honor of the country, I leave the whole subject to their wisdom and discretion. (Signed.) JAMES BUCHANAN.

Associated Press, and its present Secretary. He may therefore be presumed to be well posted in the matter about which he speaks so decidedly and his testimony ought to put at rest for ever the many slanders affoat touching that Association and its general agent: Various parties interested in telegraph lines are now before the Massachusetts Legislature by petition seeking to obtain special privileges. The committee to whom the petitions were referred, have held protracted meetings to hear the statements of the interested parties, and it is believed that the committee will summarily dispose of some of the schemes which are gotten up rather for individual benefit than for the general accommodation of the public.

A FINE HEAD OF

RICH GLOSSY HAIR.

PALK of beauty, it cannot exist without a fine head o, hair, then read the following, and if you ask more, see ireniar around each bottle, and no one can doubt:

PROF. WOOD'S HAIR RESTORATIVE. We call the attention of al, old and young, to this warderful preparation which turns back to its original color, cray hair—covers the head of the bald with a luxuriant growth—removes the dandrum, iteling, and all currecols craylations—causes a continual tlow of the natural finide; and hence, if used as a r gular dressing for the hair will preserve its color, and keep it from falling to extreme aid age, in all its natural beauty. We call then upon the bald, the gray, or diseased in scalp, to use it; and surely the young will not, as they value the flowing locks, or the witching turi, ever be without it. Its praise is upon the tongue of housands.

curi, ever be without it. Its praise is upon the tongue of thousands.

The Agent for Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative in New Haren, received the following letter in regard to the Restorative, a few weeks since:

DEEP RIVER, CONE, July 28, 1835.

Mr. Leavenworth—Sir: I have been troubled with dandruif or scurf on my head for more than a year, my hair began to come out, scurf and hair together. I saw in a New Haven paper about "Wood's Hair Restorative" as a cure. I called at your store on the 1st of April hast, and purchased one bottle to try it, and found to my satisfaction it was the thing; it removed the seuf and new hair began to grow; it is now two or three i ches in length where it used ull of. I have great faith in it. I wish you to send me two bottles more by Mr. Post, the bearer of this. I don't know as any of the kind is used in this place, you may have a market for many bottles after it is known here.

Yours with respect,

Prinadelputa, Sept. 9, 1836.

Prov. Wood—Deur Sir: Your Hair Restbrather's proving itself beneficial to me. The front, and also the back part of my head almost lost its covering—in ract sale. I have used but two hair pint bottles of your Restorative, and now the top of my head is well studded with a promising crap of young hair, and the front is also receiving its benefit. I have tried other preparations without any benefit whatever. I think from my own personal recommendation I can induce many others to try it.

Yours respectfully,

D. R. THOMAS, M. D.

PROP. O. J. WOOD: As you are about to manufacture and vend your recently discovered Hair Residentive, I will state, for whomsoever it may concern, that I have used it and known others to use it—that, I have, for several years, been in the habit of using other liair Residentives, and that I find yours wastly superior to any other I know. If entirely cleanses the head of dandruff, and with one month's proper use will restore any person's hair to the diginal youthful color and texture, giving it a health, soft and glossy appearance; and all this, without discolering the hands that apply it, withe dees on which it dreps. I would, therefore, recommend its use if every one desiruous of having a fine color and texture to their hair.

And the various affections consequent upon a disordered STOMACH OR LIVER, And the various affections consequent upon a disordered STOMACH OR LIVER, Such as Indigestion, Acidity of the Stomach, Colleky Palms Heartburn, Loss of Appetite, Despondency, Costiveness, Elind and Bleeding Piles. In all Nervous, Bleumatic, and Neuralgic Affections, it has in numerous instances proved highly beneficial, and in others effected a decided cure.
This is a purely vegetable compound, prepared on strict two scientific principles, after the manner of the celebrated Holland Professor, Boerhave. Because of its great success in most of the European States, its introduction into the Colled States was intended more especially for these of surfatheriand scattered here and there over the face of this mighty country. Meeting with great success among them, I now offer it to the American public, knowing that its truly wonderful medicinal virtues must be acknowledged.

It is particularly recommended to those persons whose constitutions may have been impaired by the continuous use of ardent spirits, or other forms of dissipation. Gnerally instantaneous in effect, it finds its way directly to the seat of life, thrilling and quickening every nerve, raising up the drooping spirit, and, in fact, infusing hew health and viror in the system.

Norios.—Whoever expects to find this a beverage will be disappointed; but to the sick, weak and low spirited, it will prove a grateful aromatic corollal, possessed of singular remedial properties.

GAUTION:

The great popularity of this delightful Aroma has induced many imitations, which the public should guard against purchasing.
