

THE NEW GUTMAN, GIBSON & McCONNELL ESTABLISHMENT NEARING COMPLETION

The new Gutman, Gibson & McConnell clothing and haberdashery, corner Twelfth and Main streets, which promises to be one of the finest stores of its kind in the Ohio Valley, is fast nearing completion, and from present indications it will be opened about September 1st.

This new firm is composed of William B. Gibson, Joseph A. McConnell and Louis Gutman, all men of very wide acquaintance and each one of many years experience in the clothing business. The exact date of the opening will be announced later through the columns of The Intelligencer. On the opening day no goods will be sold, and a full orchestra will furnish music throughout the afternoon and evening. Handsome souvenirs will also be presented to each visitor. This store will handle a complete line of the finest goods made in America.

The color effect of the interior of this establishment will be very striking, the fixtures being in apple green, the wall in tan and the ceiling being a cream color.

It will be well worth the while of Intelligencer readers to watch for this firm's opening announcement.

NEW MARTINSVILLE TO SUCCEED THE POTTERS

DOWN STATE CITY WILL TRY HAND AT GAME.

Williams Will Pitch Against the New Entrants Tomorrow Afternoon At Bridgeport.

If a cat has nine lives, how many has the O. & P. league? This is the unanswerable question that is confronting the baseball public at present and indications do not point to it being answered at a very early date. Press reports have had the league dead and buried but it has again been resurrected and Manager Harry Sells of the Bridgeport team is the authority for the statement that the organization will continue to be numbered among the living until the curtain is rung down at the end of the season.

The latest change in the league is the entrance of New Martinsville which will take the franchise held by Pittsburgh for twenty four hours. Arrangements were completed yesterday for New Martinsville to try a hand in the circuit and the initial bow of the down state town in organized baseball will be made at the Brookside park, Bridgeport tomorrow afternoon. The over the river game will pitch up with the organ organization and Williams, who won a name for himself last Monday will be on the firing line for Bridgeport. This feature alone will draw hundreds to the park and a record breaking crowd is expected. Buckalew will be on the receiving end and the Bridgeport team will appear with its regular line up.

Manager Harry Sells, yesterday received a message from Secretary Maxwell stating that the transfer of the former Potter team to New Martinsville had been completed and that everything was ready for the teams to resume playing. The fact hitting Allen supposed to have been sold by Sharon to the Washington team yesterday that he would be on the job Sunday afternoon. Manager Sells states that the report that the team did not get the guarantee at Pittsburgh was untrue and that there was a misunderstanding between Secretary Williams of East Liverpool and McCulloch of the Smokey City.

The Mountaineers admirers of Friend Williams are preparing to give him a rousing send off and will attend the game tomorrow about one hundred strong. They will be accompanied by a brass band and will make the trip in a special car. Until further notice the O. & P. will continue its existence.

SPORTORIALS

Earle Pickering, the giant Minnesota athlete, has been given an unconditional release by the Terre-Haute, the star of the gridiron being unable to win a sufficient number of games to keep him in good grace with Aggie Grant. Dan Maloney, another of Grant's proteges, has been cut off the pay roll for failing to produce. The Tot's pitching staff is now composed of Cantwell Jones Doyle, Calbert and Patton.

The Smokes meet the Terre-Haute in a twin bill this afternoon. Things listen like a double victory.

Among the local amateur baseball players who are laying a foundation for professional company is young Charlie Klee, who is holding down the short field position with the Jackie Arthur. The lad possesses natural hitting ability and only needs to improve a little on his fielding. He handles himself cleverly on bases and does not let any grass grow under him while occupying the lines. Two more seasons will find him ripe for organized baseball.

Will some one kindly take Tom Sharkey's hat out of the ring? He says he has it in.

Theodore Goulart, the strike-out king of the Central league who was farmed to Springfield and reclaimed by Indianapolis, will wear a New York uniform this fall, and may figure in the world's series. Goulart was sold to the Giants the middle of the week and will join them in a few days. In the Central he won fourteen games out of sixteen, striking out 153 men in 130 innings.

Mountaineers fans are planning to give Williams a rousing send-off at Bridgeport tomorrow.

James Welsh, former catcher for the Newark team, and who was released by the club management recently was fined $5 and costs for fighting. Welsh mixed things up with W. H. Scott, sport writer for the Newark Tribune. Welsh was placed on the suspended list by Zanesville at the beginning of the season and it was lifted just a few days ago.

"Look at the wild" said a South Bend fan, when Steinbrenner stepped to the plate.

The Zanesville players may yet have to adopt the cross country pedestrian scheme of selling post cards to pay their traveling expenses. The directors refuse to guarantee that the club will return home from its tour to finish the season unless it makes expenses on the road.

Meyers and Doyle are having their usual neck-and-neck race with the slap stick.

Manager Gilbert of the Erie team has lowered himself to the extent of taking a poke at a newspaper man. The affair happened at Springfield Thursday when Charles E. Perigo butted into an argument and said some things about the Sallores. Gilbert didn't like Jack took a roll out of the scribe and then left a trail of dust behind him on his way to Dayton, when an officer got after him to serve a warrant.

In a few seasons the sport writers will have to go to the game with a plate of armor and watch the game from an iron cell.

The veteran John Henry Meyers, who needs no introduction to local fandom, has been released from the Central. "Jawny" was handled by the Grand Rapids management by the Grand Rapids management on Wednesday, following his poor showing against Canton. Meyers entered the league when it was first organized, and has been one of the real landmarks. He was let out earlier in the season, but was taken back, but this time it is final. The twirler has the distinction of putting Mason City on the baseball map.

Pitcher Rube Watkins is no longer a hold-out, having joined the Steelton.

The Smokes will arrive home from the eighteen-day road trip on Monday, August 26th, to open up a ten-game series on the Island lot. Springfield will be the first attraction, followed by South Bend. Dayton will appear in the closing games of the season, on September 1 and 2. It is possible that

PARKERSBURGERS SUFFERED DEFEAT BY WHEELINGERS.

Local Men Humiliated by Visitors' Display, but Get Sweet Revenge in Match.

Flushed and feeling chafed over their victory over the Cambridge country club golfers, twelve exponents of the great American society game representing the Parkersburg country club engaged in a battle royal with a like number from the Wheeling country club yesterday afternoon and tasted defeat.

The score standing 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 when the circuit of the links was completed. The Parkersburg contingent descended upon the local and athletic way, but their prowess fell before the exceptional ability of the Wheeling players.

Among the visitors were to be found some of the most influential men in the state, W. N. Miller, judge of the West Virginia supreme court, an appeal, Judge F. H. McGregor of the Wood county intermediate court and Hon. John Marshall, assistant U. S. district attorney, being the shining legal lights with the visiting contingent. The Wheeling players were at a disadvantage when they were forced to stack up against such a distinguished collection of financiers, jurists and industrial magnates, but they made up in ability to play the game what they lacked in prominence.

The visitors were at a disadvantage in playing on strange links, but the victory was a chance for revenge, as the local golfers will play a return match in three or four weeks. The scores yesterday follow:
