Forty-two young men and women completed the course at St. Clairsville high school with pleasing commencement exercises last night.

President John W. Hoffman of Ohio Wesleyan College Makes Impressive Address to Class.

The evening's program began with a selection by the orchestra, which was followed by the invocation, answered by the Rev. C. W. Cooper. After another orchestral selection, Miss Margaret Denning delivered the salutatory, her subject being "Woman's Sphere." The next speaker was Frank Hardesty, a member of the class, who spoke on "Today's Young People and Their Needs." Mr. Hardesty advocated greater attention to the real essentials of life. Another representative of the class, William Miller, spoke on "Vocational Education," the practical value of which he strongly endorsed. The valedictory address was given by Miss Jessie Nichols, her subject being "What Knowledge Is of Most Worth." Diplomas were presented by Superintendent of Schools Donald Doolley and the benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Ira V. Leeper.
