NEW OREGON, FRIDAY, February 16, 1886.

An Irish Judge had the habit of begging pardon on every occasion. At the close of the assizes, as he was about to leave the bench, an officer of the court reminded him that he had not passed sentence of death on one of the prisoners as he had intended. "Dear me," said his lordship, "I really beg his pardon."

"Go, it, old fellow!" said two idle scapegraces to an honest laborer at work. "Work away while we play—sow and we'll reap." "Very likely, my lads," said the old man coolly, "I'm sowing hemp."

A DUCK OF A DOCTOR.—Little Tommy—Doctor, mother says you're such a duck of a doctor.

Doctor (delighted)—And my little man, what did your papa say?

Tommy—Oh, he said it was so, because he said you were such a quack.

TALLYRAND was once in the company of Madame de Stael and another eminent French lady whose name we do not remember. "You say charming things of both of us," said Madame de Stael to him "which of us do you like the best?" The wily statesman artfully replied that he was delighted with both. "Ah but you prefer one of us," continued Madame de Stael; "suppose we were both drowning in the Seine to-night which would you help first?" "I would give my right hand to Madame de Stael, and my left hand to Madame—." "Yes but suppose only one of us could be saved, which would you attempt to rescue?" Tallyrand's diplomacy was pushed to its severest test, but not one whit discomfited, he turned to Madame de Stael, and said: "Madame, you know so many things, you doubtless know how to swim."

Why waste time in discussing the question. "What is a spirit? It isn't material."

The South set out to dissolve the Union. If the Southern States are not in the Union the Union is dissolved.

If the federal Constitution needs as many amendments as the Congressional tinkers seem to think, it might perhaps be well to follow the example of that other tinkler who melted down the brass kettle for metal to stop the holes.

The young lady students of the Seneca Falls academy have organized a literary society, which meets once a week, and call themselves "The Go-Home-Alones."

In a recent work on Arabia, there is an amusing and suggestive story of a man who complained to the Amir's son that one of his neighbors smoked. "How do you know it?" asked the Amir. "I smell it," said the man. "Then you entered your neighbor's private apartment?" "No," was the reply. "I just put my nose in." Whereupon the Amir ordered the executioner to clip off the complainant's nose, so as to save it from the temptation of sniffing in another man's ear in future.

An inn-keeper in Andernach, on the Rhine, lately made a bet that he could drink ten quarts of lager beer in a day. He drank his ten quarts, and then feeling thirsty, drank five quarts more.

"I don't think, husband, that you are very smart." "No, indeed, wife, but every body knows I am awfully shrewd."

Epitaph on a portrait painter—Taken from life.

NOTICE

THE MODEL SEWING MACHINE

(From the New York Herald.)
Prominent among the mechanical triumphs of this most ingenious age, common to all eyes, is the notice the Empire Sewing Machine, commended as justly styled perfection itself. Useful as have been the various sewing machines, from time to time presented to the public, each one of them has been cursed with some radical defect, which detracts from general utility. Warned by the experience of his predecessors, the inventor of the Empire Machine has produced an instrument, combining all the advantages for which others are wanted and obviating every defect which can be attributed to them by the most fastidious critic.

The Empire Machine is a marvellous combination of simplicity, economy and perfect workmanship, being durable, free from liability to get out of order, noiseless and easy of operation. Its mechanical contrivances, such as to secure stability, freedom from accident, and accuracy to workmanship. By the use of the patented shuttle and straight needle, it makes a stitch, which can neither rip nor ravel, while, at the same time, it can operate perfectly upon every species of material from leather to cambric, with threads of cotton, linen or silk, from the finest to the coarsest number.

As the Empire Machine is gradually supplanting its more antique rivals, no one in want of a useful instrument of this description, be he or she tailor, coachmaker, dressmaker or seamstress, can do otherwise than secure one of these economical and invaluable machines, suited alike for family and manufacturing purposes. The office of the Empire Manufacturing Co is at No. 536 Broadway, New York City, where they are now supplying these Empire Machines at prices far below the real value of the instruments.—New York Herald.

GUARANTEE.—After a fair trial, if any purchaser does not regard the FINKLE & LYON Sewing Machine as superior to any machine in market, he can return it and have his money. It has taken many of the highest prizes, is less complicated than any other first class machine, and uses a wider range of work without changing—requires no taking apart to clean or oil, and no "cleanses" to set needle, regulate tension, or operate machine.
