Public Opinion

BY HARRY J. GREEN,
DECORAH, IOWA, NOV. 23, 1921

Big Ad From Grahams

The Graham store has a two page advertisement in this issue of Public Opinion, which is chock full of big bargains, the money saving kind, which should draw an immense patronage to this popular store. Hundreds of seasonable items are listed and the prices are all mighty attractive ones. Don't fail to read the ad.

Vote on New School Again

Preparations are under way to hold another election in Decorah on Dec. 15 to vote on the building of a new public school. Two former elections have been held on this same proposition the past year, and the project was defeated both times. The proposition has been discussed pretty thoroughly in the past, and the people evidently have their minds pretty well made up, pro and con on the proposition.

Three More Assessed Fines

During the past week County Attorney Nelson has had three more liquor violators before the court and all were assessed $100 and costs. A stranger dropped into town last week and suspicion was directed against him, as he had been here previously, and suspected of having liquor with him. He was picked up last Friday by the County Attorney and placed in jail. This morning he was brought before Judge Springer and assessed $100 and costs for liquor violations. County Attorney Nelson is keeping things in that line cleaned up in good shape, and his work is to be commended.

Karl D. Fisk, the optometrist, will be at Wineshiek Hotel Thursday and Friday, Dec. 1st and 2d. If you wish to consult him about your eyes, this will be his last visit this year.

The Geese Looked Wild Anyway

Decorah boasts of two hunters in the persons of Vern Kennard and T. H. Connor, who always seem to bring home the bacon. Last Sunday they were out in the vicinity of Trout Run, but were hunting separately. A young boy tipped Kennard off that a flock of wild geese had settled in the run near the railroad bridge north of the Holland farm. Vern hiked in that direction, crept up very cautiously and was getting ready for a pot shot, when a tall figure came sauntering down the hill he also having spied the geese. A loud report was heard, the geese bobbed up a little, flapped their wings, and settled back to enjoy their swim. The shots went wild, and it was then discovered the geese were the tame, barn yard variety. Mr. Kennard didn't get a chance to shoot, and he has been congratulating himself that he didn't.

Creamery Pays Nice Dividend

The directors of the Decorah Farmers Ice Cave Creamery Co. held a meeting last Saturday at the creamery and declared a dividend of ten per cent to the stockholders, and a like dividend has been paid each year for the past ten years. The affairs of the creamery under the able management of Buttermaker N. O. Bendickson were found in excellent shape. Besides paying the ten per cent dividend the company has paid for $6,300 worth of improvements this year, which speaks well for all concerned, and shows the affairs of the creamery are well managed, and the officers are to be congratulated.

Death of Mrs. Isabelle Fitch

The remains of Mrs. Isabelle Nelson Fitch were brought to Decorah for interment Monday, she having passed away at her home at College View, Neb., on Nov. 18, death being due to pernicious anemia. The deceased was in her 58th year, being born Feb. 8, 1863. She was the wife of the late Martin B. Fitch, and the family were residents of Decorah for many years, moving to Nebraska several years ago. The remains were accompanied here by a daughter, Miss June Fitch. The funeral services were held yesterday from the Methodist church. Rev. George Woodall officiated and interment was in Phelps cemetery.

Grocery Partnership Dissolves

The grocery firm of Rasmussen & Hanson has dissolved, Mr. Hanson selling his interest to G. N. Kjomme and son Thurston, who will each have a third interest, and the firm will be known as Rasmussen, Kjomme & Son. Mr. Hanson retires on account of his health, and is undecided as to his future business. Mr. Kjomme and son are well known here, the former having been in the grocery business for a number of years, knows the business thoroughly, and we predict the new firm will make a success. Mr. Hanson is a fine fellow, who has made many friends here and all regret to see him retire.

Eskimo Bars the Latest

Messrs. Graham & Shema of the Sugar Bowl Ice Cream Co., are turning out a new winter product from their factory which is meeting with much favor. The product is called Eskimo Bars, a chocolate covered ice cream creation, which is very delicious. The bars are now on sale at various confectionery stores here and are meeting with much favor. They will make a nice dessert for the Thanksgiving dinner tomorrow. The bars retail at ten cents.

Death of Mrs. Anna Gullickson

Mrs. Anna Gullickson passed away Sunday at her home near Nordness. She was in her 74th year. The funeral services will be held today from the Washington Prairie church.

YOUNG BANKER TO WED

Mr. Gavin L. Hjerleid and Miss Louise Curtin to be Married Thanksgiving Day.

Tomorrow, Thanksgiving day, at nine o'clock in the morning, the marriage of Miss Louise Curtin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Curtin, of this city to Mr. Gavin L. Hjerleid, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hjerleid, will be solemnized at the home of the bride's parents on West Water street. Dr. M. Willett of the Congregational church will perform the ceremony.

Miss Freda Schultz, of Milwaukee, will be the maid of honor, and Miss Grace Wilkinson, of Chicago, cousin of the bride, will be the bridesmaid. Mr. Raymond Hjerleid, brother of the groom, will be the best man and Mr. Oscar Sletland, of Pigeon Falls, Wis., groomsmen.

The bride will be attired in a white Canton dress, and will carry a shower bouquet of Valley Lillies and Sweetheart Roses.

The living rooms of the home will be decorated in smilax and Chrysanthemums, worked into false ceilings of the flowers and the marriage will take place under a shower of Chrysanthemums.

The approaching union of this excellent young couple calls forth the happy felicitations of scores of friends. The bride was born in Decorah and has grown to young womanhood here, and by her gracious disposition, and many beautiful traits of character, has endeared herself to all. She is a young woman of many womanly charms and a disposition that makes her the friend of everyone. She is a graduate of the Decorah high school in the class of 1917. After graduation she attended the Randolph-Macon Womens College at Lynchburg, Virginia, and during 1919 was a student at the University of Iowa City. Last year she took a position in the Citizens Savings Bank here as bookkeeper, resigning her position last June.

The groom graduated from the Decorah high school in 1918, and immediately after his graduation went to Taylor, Wis., where he entered the Trempealeau-Valley State bank, remaining with that institution two years and a half, resigning his position to go to Blair, Wis., where he became associated with the Home Bank of Blair until a year ago, when he organized the Beaver State Bank at Blair, Wis., and is now cashier, and has become one of the prominent and leading young bankers of that state. He is a young man of splendid personality and much esteemed by many friends here, and all join with us in extending to himself and charming bride most sincere felicitations.

A wedding breakfast will be served to a number of relatives and friends, after which the happy young couple will depart on the 11:00 a. m. Milwaukee on a honeymoon trip to Memphis, Tennessee and New Orleans, La., and on their return will make their home at Eitrick, Wis., where the best wishes of a wide circle of friends goes with them.

Court Still in Session

The November term of the district court is still in session. Judge Springer, we understand, expects to adjourn court today for over Thanksgiving, until next Monday.

Several cases have been tried the past week. The case of Carl H. Teslow vs. Ronan Bros. Judgement for debt, for $155.

The case of the State Bank of Chicago vs. Oylee Piano Co., judgement was rendered against the bank for costs.

Dec. 1st and 2d are the dates you can consult me about your eyes at Wineshiek Hotel. This will be my last visit until after the holidays. Karl D. Fisk, Optometrist.

Just received a shipment of fancy Lingon berries, fine for pies and sauce, direct from Norway. Also many varieties of cheese. FRED J. ROSENTHAL. Advertisement.
