SENATOR HILL is giving ample proof—if any proof was needed—that he is a Democrat.

SENATOR J. C. S. BLACKBURN will come to Kentucky this week to place his services at the disposal of the State Democratic Committee.

EX-LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR J. R. HIND-MAN, was unanimously nominated for Congress by the Democrats of the Eleventh district. His Republican opponent is Colonel Silas Adams.

THE New York World is doing yeoman service for the Democratic cause. Its western campaign fund has reached about $30,000, and is still growing. Within a few days the plan for applying it at once to the purpose of education and awakening, for which it was designed, will be made known. Swell the fund and do something towards winning the West for Cleveland and Reform.

MR. JAMES W. FITZGERALD has decided to enter the race for the office of City Collector and Treasurer. His formal announcement appears in this issue. Mr.
Fitzgerald is a member of the Keith-Schroeder Harness Company, is actively identified with Maysville's business interests, and no one has ever proven himself more trustworthy than he. That he is thoroughly fitted for the office will be admitted on all sides.

THE new Election law requires the various parties to certify the names of their respective nominees for Presidential Electors to the Secretary of State not more than sixty nor less than thirty-days previous to the date of the election.
This provision has not been complied with yet. As the Frankfort Argus says: "Under the new order of things there is a necessity for considerable attention to the law, or else Kentucky may lose her vote in the Electoral College from failure to carry out the law in existence."

PRESS dispatches bring the information from Frankfort that the State Senate did not have a quorum Monday, and that only fifty-eight members of the House were present. And yet all these men absent from their post of duty have the cheek to draw $5 a day from the State treasury. The people are getting very tired of this sort of business. Important matters should be attended to by the Legislature, and the sooner the members get together, quit haggling over trivial points and attend to the business they were sent there for the better it will be for them, for the State at large and the Democratic party.

"NOTHING has been more remarkable in American politics," says the Philadelphia Record, "than the promptitude with which the Republican stump season has been followed by a Republican slump season. Following Vermont and Maine, like bricks in a row, North Dakota is ready to topple. Advices from Grand Forks report that the State which gave the Republican ticket 12,000 majority in 1889, will turn it down in November on both National and local issues. North Dakota is largely a farming and sheep-raising State, and McKinleyism has got close to the farmer of that section 'once too often' for its own good."

CARRYING IT OUT.

THE BULLETIN announced last week that the Republicans of Indiana had filed suit to test the constitutionality of the last apportionment law of that State, and that this was part of a plan hatched to secure control of the Legislature. Instead of bringing the suit at Indianapolis they hunted up a Republican Judge in a Republican county, and filed the suit against Republicans in order that the action would not be fought. It was a Republican proceeding throughout, and the scheme is working nicely. On Monday the Judge rendered his decision, and it is just as predicted all along. He 'did his masters' bidding, and declared the apportionment unconstitutional, not only the last but the one preceding it also, and says the coming election must be held under the law of 1879. The case has been appealed to the Supreme Court, but that is Republican, also, and can be relied upon to help along the scheme. The Judicial ermine of the Hoosier State is soaked in base partisanship, but nothing better can be expected when President Harrison promotes Judges for official rulings that were far more disgraceful and degrading.

The decision Monday was part of a plan to give millionaire Fairbanks the United States Senatorship in return for a contribution of $100,000 to the Republican corruption fund.

LINCOLN'S PROPHETIC WORDS.

"As a result of the war corporations have been enthroned, and an era of corruption in high places will follow, and the money power of the country will endeavor to prolong its reign by working upon the prejudices of the people until all wealth is aggregated in a few hands, and the republic is destroyed."

The above was uttered by Abraham Lincoln shortly before the tragic end of his career. His words were prophetic.
The money power, the monopolies and gigantic corporations—backing the Republican party and working through it—is endeavoring to prolong its reign by appealing to the prejudices of the people.
The Republicans haven't made a National fight for years in which they did not work upon the prejudices of the voters.
That has been their main reliance. The history of the country all goes to show that Lincoln's words are coming true.

Will the people longer allow themselves to be frightened by the Republican "free trade" bugaboo? Will the voters suffer themselves to be longer bamboozled into the support of the Republican party?
Study Lincoln's words, and then go to the polls in November and vote for that true patriot and statesman, Grover Cleveland, the friend of the people.

SARDIS.

Miss Mary C. Smith, a very attractive Baltimore lady, returned from Bourbon Monday evening and is now the guest of her sister, Mrs. W. J.
Chandler.

A telegram received by Mrs. W. J. Chandler announces the marriage of Miss Ada Dunn, of Gordonsville, Va., to Mr. Tom Rodgers, ticket agent of C. and O.

Mrs. Ben Wood and children have returned from a pleasant visit to Fern Leaf, where she met Miss Josie Dwire, of Covington, who came home with her, and is now her interesting guest.

We dined with Mr. and Mrs. John Aikman, nee Mary Caldwell, on the 14th instant, and met a number of the old and young people of Shannon who had gone to witness the church wedding and assist in launching the bridal ship. Mrs.
Aikman, although an octogenarian, still feels an interest in brides and brides' dresses, and her cozy little home is headquarters for the gay young people of Elizaville and vicinity.

Dr. Scudder, catching the tip from Dr. Talmage, said to the leader of the ushers at Elizaville, give the representatives of the press eligible seats.
Let not the BULLETIN man (Colonel H.) be crowded. The Doctor tells in this public address as a part of his rise from the lowest round to the top of the ladder—once a printer boy, now a distinguished D. D.—that he was office "devil" when Colonel J. B. H. was the editor of the Maysville "Daily Post Boy." Such is life—

"Well, well—the world must turn upon its axis, And all mankind turn with it, heads or tails;
And live and die, make love and pay our taxes,
And as the veering wind shifts, shift our sails."

Returning home from Elizaville we tarried over night at "Sylvania," the stately and manorial home of Mr. and Mrs. Ben T. Johnson, near Johnson Junction, completely surrounded by venerable forest trees, having every variety within the two-acre yard found in our Kentucky woodlands.
A new and very pretty eight-hundred-dollar district school house has been built by local tax in sight of the old homestead, and christened "Ben Johnson No. 42." The acre on which it stands is in the woods, and enclosed in a chestnut post and rail fence. The landholder's tax built the little academy, and the children of the tenantry enjoy it as a gratuity. H. F. Smith, teacher. Mr.
Johnson travels around in a buckboard looking after his stock interests; his fences require no attention, as four miles of it is of the "stone wall" variety. He bought a bunch of two-year-old cattle last week, averaging 1,200 pounds, at $3.30 per hundred. Notwithstanding the rheumatic and vertiginous infirmities of our venable host and hostess, and the great loss they sustained in the death of an only daughter, we couldn't help remarking how beautiful the life of these two old people glided on, and now as they had journeyed together in life, in love and peace for over a half-century, they were awaiting the hour which should bring them into eternal joy, with resignation and hope.

Mason was largely represented at the Pyles-Vansant wedding ceremonial at Elizaville, widower John Lyle Caldwell leading the gay and festive procession. We caught a few: Joe B. Grigsby and Miss Nannie Bland, James L. Pyles and Miss Ollie Bland, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Pyles, Eugene Davis and wife, Charlie Rhoades and sisters, Mary and Annie, Joe and Miss Bertie Caldwell, Wm. Mc-Clelland, Miss Lena Alexander, Wood and Miss Em Browning, John Laytham and Miss Robb, John Mitchell, Geo. Longnecker, Milton Pyles and wife, of Fleming, The Howes, Darnalls, Allens, Inlows, Pyles, Blands, Brownings, Keith and kin of the bride and groom, made up large delegations, filling one-third of the large church.
Mrs. Lida Price, nee Pearce, one of the charming widows of Poplar Plains, was in her gayest attire and looking irresistible. She gave your reporter a graphic sketch of the ante-nuptial feast at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howe, grandparents of the bride. Much impressed with the music and attractive ways of Mrs. Robert Harper, nee Ruth Owens. She and her handsome Hegelord know how to fill up all the interstices at a church wedding. Their "Robin Adair" and "Love's Own Sweet Dream," voluntaries; the grand wedding march at the appointed time, "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden," recessional, were in good taste and splendidly rendered. A cultivated lady who had been about, said, that this was the prettiest country church decoration she had ever seen. As I feasted my eyes upon the beautiful scene, as I looked upon the sweet young bride and her bewitchingly beautiful maid, I soliloquized, saying: "If the bride and the bridesmaid are lovely in the eyes of the reporter, how inexpressibly beautiful they must be in the eyes of their lovers." Dr. Scudder, although he officiated at the bride's mother's wedding, was somewhat embarrassed at the daughter's nuptials. He said to the reporter that he always got "stage struck" on these marital occasions, but he passed the ordeal in capital style. The ceremony was a veritable altar bouquet of beautiful phrases and historical references, saying this holy rite, the marriage rite, was "the only thing rescued from the fall," instituted by God himself to beautify the earth. And then closing, after a ten-minute riveting, with this appropriate quotation from Thompson's Seasons:
"But happy they, the happiest of their kind!
Whom gentle stars unite, and in one fate Their hearts, their fortunes, and their beings blend."

GERMANTOWN.

Miss Ursula Mullikin is visiting in Fleming County.

Henry Mathews is visiting his sister, Mrs. Robert Fegan.

Neal Humling is attending college near Richmond, Indiana.

J. A. Walton, Isaac Woodward and William Dickson are in Cincinnati this week.

Miss Minnie Gallagher, of Adams County, O., is visiting her sister, Mrs. Henry Dickson.

There is a good deal of fever of a decidedly malarial type prevailing in this community.

T. J. Winter, of Maysville, was in town Monday fixing up his programme for the coming fair.

A. Woodward has sold his farm, situated three miles south of town, to John J. Disher for $5,500.

William Cooper has closed his engagement with J. F. Wheeler and opened a printing office in Masonic Hall.

W. R. Cribfield, with Vachel Commodore for a striker, is exhibiting his premium stock at the Mt. Olivet fair this week.

Rev. C. M. Humphreys preached his farewell sermon on Sunday night. He will be followed this week by Rev. T. B. Cook.

Elijah Thompson has gone to Texas to visit his children residing there. Charlie Thomas has returned to his home in the same State.

The preparations are about finished in anticipation of the largest and most enjoyable exhibition that the fair company has ever held.

Tobacco cutting and housing is progressing rapidly during this favorable weather. There are some choice crops in this section, and enough of a mixed kind to furnish our proportion of what will be necessary to keep the world chewing and smoking for another year.

PLUMVILLE.

A new girl baby at James Tannian's.
Stuart Wallingford and his best girl visited town Monday last.

A. L. Redman is covering his veranda with a steel roof this week.

Several attended the Christian Church at Orangeburg Sunday last.

Miss Lillie Morris is at home after a visit of several weeks at Cincinnati.

H. L. Boyd started to Cincinnati Tuesday, and expects to be gone some time.

Our new pastor failed to come as was announced and D. C. Yazel filled his appointment Sunday.

Girls, if you want to make the most of leaf year, improve the time—only one more leaf year until 1904!

There will be services at the church here the fourth Sunday in October, conducted by our new pastor, Elder T. J. Bowman.

Wm. Rogers has returned to his home in Texas after a visit to his father, N. B. Rogers. We are informed it was the first meeting between father and son for eighteen years.
