THE CHRISTIAN'S RACE.

An Eloquent Sermon Preached by Rev. Dr. Thomas Chalmers Easton. The pulpit of the Eastern Presbyterian Church was occupied yesterday by the pastor, Rev. Thomas Chalmers Easton, D. D.

The figure employed is excellent. The racing idea applied to the Christian's life carries us in imagination back to the ancient days when the Olympic games were a prominent feature in the institutions of the then known world.

GOD'S GLORY IN BEASTS

Powerful Plea for Dumb Animals by Rev. F. D. Power.

HUMANE SOCIETY'S SERMON

Man's Inhumanity to His Humble Fellow-Beings Strongly Denounced. Examples This Century Furnishes of Cruelty to Dogs and Birds—Napoleon Compared Unfavorably.

The humanitarians, anti-civilizationists, and, in fact, almost all of the friends of dumb animals in the District, were present yesterday morning at the Vermont Avenue Christian Church to hear the Rev. F. D. Power, preach on "God's Glory in the Beasts of the Field."

This is a subject dear to the heart of the able pastor, and he waxed more eloquent than usual. The sermon was announced to be for the benefit of the Humane Society of the city. He said in part: "Could there be anything more cruel, shameful or unjust than the ill-treatment of the noble horse of the affectionate dog, such as is seen in the streets of our city every day?"

"On the banks of the Danube a peasant threw this wretched dog, but with poor aim, and the heavy wooden spear went into the water. The animal, true to its training and instinct, plunged in, brought it back and laid it on the man's feet."

EVEN IN OUR CENTURY. "The inhumanity of civilization is so great and it is so general, that it has become a part of our nature. What would the Athenians have done with this man, when they disgraced and imprisoned one of their magistrates who dashed a little bird that had sought refuge in his bosom?"

"Can any man be cruel to animals who goes out in the fields in the morning and hears the birds singing sweetly, the cows musically lowing, and a thousand minute creatures chirping in the grass at his feet? One day a lad and his sister were walking in the woods found a nest of young birds, and in spite of the girl's tears and entreaties, the boy dashed out the brains of the little feathered beings on the ground."

"The man, Napoleon Bonaparte, who now fills our magazine and shares, with Tribby, the admiration and worship of a host of people, commonly thought to be sane, comes within this category. He was a vile brutal butcher of men. One, who, as a French historian tells us, was pompous when he tried to be proud and vulgar when he tried to be silly. Macaulay in comparing Caesar and Napoleon says that Caesar, in one respect, was infinitely superior to the Corsican in that he was a perfect gentleman."

TALENTED LAMENTS THAT SO GREAT A MAN AS Napoleon showed such bad training and evil bringing-up. The great agnostic and anthropologist, Huxley, in his dissertations upon the Darwinian theory admits that there is a great gulf between man and the lower animals. Yet the baser forms of creation have a sort of consciousness, a sense of right and wrong, they exhibit a certain sense of contrivance and can adopt means to an end, while of their love, devotion and fidelity we have all seen samples. The elephants in Ceylon are taught to build walls. The horse knows enough to turn to the meeting-house on Sunday and to the road which leads to the place of business on the other side of the week. When I was a preacher in the country I had a little pony who never failed to stop before a church, while a colt he invariably shunned. The only trouble was that he did not have a sense of discernment of the denunciations."

"Many great philosophers and theologians, even Wesley himself, have firmly believed in the immortality of the souls of animals. Thousands of the feathered songsters of our forests were slain and sacrificed to adorn the hats of luxurious women, while dogs, cats and guinea-pigs are daily made to undergo tortures in comparison with which those of the Inquisition fall and are as nothing. This is done by human means, in the name of science. Along our streets you can see the noble beast of burden groined and driven to death by heartless human beings, who deserve the name of devils. If you desire to honor and please your Maker be kind and considerate to the beasts of the field, for in these does God glory."

SICKNESS IS A BLESSING. Rev. Dr. Todd Describes the Mission of Pain to His Congregation.

"The mission of sickness" was the subject of Rev. E. S. Todd's discourse at the Hamilton M. E. Church yesterday morning. He spoke from the ninth chapter of John, the first three verses, saying in part: "One of the ways in which sickness is made a blessing is that it is a kind of police officer to warn us against doing wrong. It is constantly saying, if you do wrong you will likely be sick. The restraining influence of a fear of sickness is great."

SUFFER AND BE STRONG. Rev. Dr. McKim Tells How St. Paul Showed the Way.

Dr. J. Randolph McKim preached at Epiphany Church last night from the second chapter of Second Timothy. The words were outlined, he said, by Paul when in prison at Rome for the second time, and just before he was to go forth to martyrdom. They came with comfort and strength for the young hero of the faith, who had been with the great apostle to the Gentiles in so many parts of the world and so they have come to the Christian world ever since.

FEAST OF ST. ALOYSIUS. Imposing Celebration of the Day at St. Aloysius Church.

The feast of the patron saint was celebrated at St. Aloysius Church yesterday. The church was tastefully decorated and every inch of space was filled at high mass. The patronage of the saint was depicted by Rev. Father Spencer, of the Order of St. Dominic, who eloquently sketched the life and teachings and influence of Aloysius.

The music was by the full choir under the direction of Mr. James J. Nolan. La Hozbe's Kyrie and Gloria and Ledos' Credo, sanctus, Benedictus and Agnus Dei, were sung. Offerings were sung by Mesdames Anna Craig Hillis, Kitty Thompson Berry, H. H. Miles and Miss Pauline Whittaker. The solo parts were by Mrs. Whittaker and Mr. M. W. Haudin.

ELOQUENT YOUNG PASTOR

Rev. A. S. Yantis' First Regular Sermon at the Church of Our Father.

He Was a Department Clerk and Studied Law but at Last Entered the Ministry.

Rev. Arnold S. Yantis, an eloquent young licentiate of the Universalist denomination, occupied the pulpit at the Church of Our Father yesterday morning in the absence of the pastor, Dr. Rogers. It was Mr. Yantis' first regular sermon since he formally entered the ministry, and at the close he was warmly congratulated by the congregation.

The speaker selected as the basis for his discourse the incident noted in the fourth chapter of St. Mark's Gospel when the Savior was awakened from his slumbers by his frightened disciples to quiet the storm that had arisen at sea, and which threatened their boat with destruction.

"This event," he said, "has been the wonder of theologians and the admiration of the Christian church. It is notable as the only occasion when Christ is mentioned as having slept. He always exerted with His labors, and sought rest in refreshing sleep, exemplifying His human nature."

"It was for another purpose, however, that the sainted Jesus, who was Master of the seas and could quiet the storming elements. 'Jesus slept. The storm raged, and the vessel was in peril. The disciples wondered that He could remain in repose while the great danger threatened. They finally called Him, and He spoke the magic word: 'Peace, be still.'"

The analogy drawn was between the power exercised over the raging tempest and Christ's influence, always exerted for His people in the midst of life's tempest. The words "Peace, be still," he said, are just as potent now as when they calmed the waves that threatened to engulf His disciples.

Mr. Yantis has preached a trial sermon before each of the churches of our city, one being at Scranton, Pa., and immediately received a call from each. He accepted the last one tendered, from a congregation in Milton, N. Y., and will leave with his wife for that place on Wednesday to formally assume the duties.

He was for several years employed as a clerk in the Postoffice Department, and afterwards for a time in the Census Office. He studied law and was admitted to the bar, but abandoned that course of duty, reconsidering his choice of a profession and adopted the ministerial calling.

AMERICAN BISHOPS SILENT. Denial of the Report That They Have Protested Against Satolli.

An eminent Catholic ecclesiastic says of the recent Rome cable to the London Standard that Cardinal Gibbons had presented to the Pope a protestation of the American bishops against the continuance of Mr. Satolli's mission in the United States.

The American bishops have made no such protest, and the statement that Cardinal Gibbons or anyone else is his bearer is an unqualified falsehood. Having an intimate acquaintance with the purposes of the Cardinal, I can assure you that he has no reference to any question of religious importance.

He had not been in Rome in ten years, and as it is usual to make a decennial visit, the present time was as appropriate. Naturally being with the Pope for the first time in so many years, the whole range of church affairs in America will be gone over including, no doubt, the success of the Pope's special mission in America.

"But this will not be from the standpoint of any protest from the American bishops. The time for that has gone by. Furthermore, Cardinal Gibbons is known as one of the most political and worldly-wise men in the hierarchy, and he is the last one to draw into a protest or other intemperate discussion. This would be the more true in a matter concerning Mr. Satolli, who has been shown to be very near to the Pope's heart."

The only pending questions of any importance as to the appointment of bishops at San Antonio and Louisville are in the Falls. The nominations have been sent to Rome and the appointments are expected daily. These names are under consideration in each case.

CHRISTIAN BROTHERLY LOVE. Rev. Dr. Graham, of St. Mark's, Utters Some Pointed Animadversions.

The sermon of Rev. A. H. Graham at St. Mark's Church yesterday morning made no direct reference to the recent dispute over the election of a vestry, but it gave some very pertinent Christian animadversion in view of the events in that parish during the past three months.

He pointed out the high ideal of Christian love and brotherly kindness which should be the mercenary of all believers, especially of members of the same church. That ideal he could not himself hope to reach and probably many of his hearers would agree that it was difficult of attainment for men and women who are so full of selfishness of human nature. But some things at least, he said, could be done.

EXISTENCE.

Is It a Pleasure or a Burden? If the Latter, See Dr. Walker.

Professor Darwin speaks about the time in his youth when with perfect health, "mere existence was a delight." How few people have had such an experience. Many people who read this can say that it is happiness simply to live. To many life means dreary days and waking nights; dray, languid, tired with a disposition of the mind to wander. All these belong to the symptoms of the debilitated person. No wonder Prof. Darwin became one of the leaders of the thought of the world. His nervous and physical powers had quite as much to do with his success. The moral is, regain your health and nerve vigor if they have been lost.

Dr. Walker is certainly the leading specialist in the treatment of all disorders of the brain and nervous system, disease of the sight and hearing, and all chronic or long standing troubles affecting the lungs, throat, heart, stomach, liver, kidneys, bladder, bowels, or any other organ. Young or middle-aged persons, suffering from the results of their own follies, vices, or excesses; men about to marry, who are conscious of any impotency or disability to a happy marriage; and those who feel their strength and vigor declining, should consult Dr. Walker. To reach and reclaim such unfortunate has been one of his aims, and he has been the means of restoring hundreds of such cases to health, strength and happiness.

He is constantly receiving flattering testimonials from grateful patients who have cured, and large files of them can be seen at his office by anyone who desires to investigate.

Dr. Walker may be consulted free of charge, either personally or by letter, at his well-known sanitarium, 1411 Pennsylvania avenue, adjoining the Hotel. Office hours 10 a. m. to 5 p. m.; Wednesdays and Saturdays evenings, 7 to 8; Sundays, 10 to 12.

Consultation and correspondence gladly confidential. No cases made public without consent of patients.

METON COMMON GROUND

Dr. Kent's Account of the Congress of Liberal Religions.

GOOD FEELING PREVAILED. Universalists, Unitarians, Jews, Independent, and Orthodox Churches Were Represented—Delegates Not Yet Prepared for a Union Looking to Surrender of Denominational Tenets.

A report from the American Congress of Liberal Religions occupied the attention of the People's Church at Typographical Temple yesterday morning. It was made by the pastor, Rev. Alexander Kent, who had returned from the annual meeting at Chicago. He saw some of the general organizations of Universalists, Unitarians, and Jews, with twenty liberal and independent churches, and three orthodox churches, were represented in the gathering of 100 delegates.

As he had foreseen, the proposed consideration of the various liberal forces of America in a formal way was not accomplished. The feeling and interchange of the friendly sentiment prevailed throughout, but the sects represented were not prepared for a closer union that might look to a surrender of their denominational tenets.

DELEGATES ALL AT SEA. Dr. Kent has returned from the proposition made by Rabbi Hirsch for a chair of scientific sociology upon a basis independent of existing economic theories. But the congress was unprepared to act upon this suggestion for definite work. The delegates were all at sea.
