MILLVIEW

Special to The Journal.
Millview, Sept. 19.—Fishing seems to be the only thing doing in our little town. The mill has not been running for several days and things seem unusually dull.

MYRTLE GROVE

Special to The Journal.
Myrtle Grove, Sept. 19.—We have our share of refugees just now, and we would quote Olive's correspondent in his splendid letter of last week thus: "Harvest time is here, now refugees go to work." But some of those that were fortunate enough to get out our way with their families, resemble a spider who has its web snugly fixed in some suitable place in an old fence and the old farmer comes along to rebuild his fence and consequently disturbs Mr. Spider, perhaps so that he is forced out. Well, this being the case, he crawls some distance and settles down, only temporarily, and not long after gets up and crawls somewhere else. So it is with the refugees—they are always on the move.
Most of the people here find the quarantine regulations very strenuous and really worse on them than the Yellow Jack would be. We would be very glad if the fever situation would improve so that our state health officer would see fit to issue a bulletin to remove the cordon that now surrounds the city, but if this cannot be done just now, the writer thinks that the board of health should place telephones at the various road crossings on the guard line so that residents of the country might use them to advantage to send in their orders for groceries, etc., and to attend to their business in the city.

The Sunday school services at the Baptist church were good last Sunday and there was a large attendance. Prayer service at the Methodist church last Sunday evening was conducted by Rev. Powell.
The postponed meeting that was to begin at the Baptist church next Friday night has been postponed until after frost on account of the fever situation.

The "Tale of a Tub."
One of the most ancient of all sea "yarns" is one that ships have escaped from the fearsome monsters of the deep by throwing them a tub to divert their attention, in much the same way that a landsman might sacrifice a garment in order to escape a bull. In Munster's "Cosmography," published in 1544, there is a picture of a vessel escaping from a whale by this stratagem, while the earlier editions of Swift's "Tale of a Tub" have a similar one. These stories were usually told in such an incoherent way that people became skeptical of their truth, and when a pleader named Tubb put a cause before Sir Thomas More in outrageously rambling language that chancellor jocularly remarked, "Here is a tale of a tub." Thereafter the expression became part of the slang of the period until much later it was raised to a higher rank by becoming the title of Swift's famous work.

Styles in Africa.
The women bore a hole in their top lip and gradually increase this until it is able to inclose a disk of wood two and even three inches in diameter. A Mubira woman came to call on us whose disk measured two and five-eighths inches across. The size of the wood inserted proclaims the rank of the person. Peasants are only allowed to wear pieces of stick of the same dimensions as a match.
The weight of the wood causes the lip to fall down over the mouth, and in order to eat it is necessary to lift up this shutter with one hand while the other conveys the food to the mouth. Frequently the lip breaks under the strain put upon it, in which case the disconnected ends are carried back and tied to the ear.—"On the Borders of Pygmy Land."

The Catamaran.
The catamaran, made of a hollowed log, shares the popularity of the Mas-soola boat with the fishermen of Madras. The rickety looking contrivance can weather any storm in the skillful native hands, and letters are sent by this means to ships in the offing when other communication with the shore is impossible. The catamaran requires steering with a paddle through the raging surf, and though the boatman may be frequently dashed out of the rude skiff by the violence of the waves, he leaps into his frail bark again with the efficiency of long practice, and the catamaran, flying over the crest of the great billows which threaten instant destruction, accomplishes the perilous voyage in safety.

A Hint For Lovers.
Being "in love" is very different from loving and may be only a selfish emotion, which is the direct opposite of loving. Being in love without loving is bondage—sometimes pleasant and sometimes painful, but always bondage, says Leslie's Monthly. True loving means freedom—freedom both for ourselves and, as far as it is in our power to give it, for all whom we love, for when we truly love another human being we love him for the sake of his best strength, his best use and his best happiness, and not at all for the sake of ourselves.

Costly Curds.
The Empress Catherine, noticing that the beautiful Mile, Potocka, who had lately come to court, had no pearls, immediately commanded a fancy dress ball, to which the girl was bidden to come as a milkmaid. Then while Mile, Potocka was dancing the empress slipped a superb necklace of pearls into the pall she carried and at her exclamation of wonder said, "It is only the milk which has curdled."

Sydney Smith's Wit.
"By Jove," said a country squire who had got the worst of an argument with Sydney Smith, "if I had a son who was a donkey I'd make a parson of him straight away!"
"Possibly," returned the wit, "but your father was evidently of a different mind."

ACCOMPLISHING EXCELLENT WORK

Gang of Men at Work Spraying Houses to Destroy the Mosquitoes.

Some excellent work is being accomplished by the force of men at work spraying various houses in the infected district, and if the men keep up the present rate at which they are working it will be only a question of a short time before the city will be covered by them.

The men who are in the employ of the city, are using the patent fire extinguishers of the fire department. These are filled with a fluid guaranteed to destroy mosquitoes and other insects. With these it requires only a short time to spray a residence and do it effectively.

Yesterday the force worked from Taragona and Alcaniz streets, spraying all houses in the area bordered by these streets and Indentencia and Romana streets. In addition they visited the home of Dr. Boulter and also visited the place where William F. Fisher died.

The force is doing good work, and Mayor Bliss, who is paying much attention to the cleaning up that is now going on, is well pleased.

An Easy Way to Test Flour.
Every housewife knows that some flour will make good bread, while other flour will not. If you want to find out for yourself whether it is a good bread flour, test it in the following way: In the first place, see that it is white with a faint yellow tinge. Then take some of it up in your hand and press it; it will fall apart loosely, not in lumps. Rub some of it between your fingers; it will not feel entirely smooth and powdery, but you will be able faintly to distinguish the different particles. Put a little of it between your teeth and chew; it will crunch a little, and the taste will be sweet and nutty without any acidity—that is, if it is a good bread flour it will do all these things.

Black Coal Smoke.
There is, it seems, a great deal more than carbon in black coal smoke. Professor E. Knecht analyzed the soot from Manchester coal smoke, and at a lecture in London he exhibited the results of his analysis. Among them were snow white samples of ammonium chloride, ammonium sulphate, calcium sulphate and a beautifully crystallized paraffin hydrocarbon similar in properties and composition to a substance present in beeswax. The soot also contained 13 per cent of heavy hydrocarbon oils. From some of the products Professor Knecht prepared a brown dyestuff which produced absolutely fast shades on cotton.

First Great Depression.
"What, may I ask, was the keenest disappointment of your career?" asked the anxious interviewer.
The great financier stared coldly at the ink bottle. "It was when I was four years old, I think," he drawled, "when I woke up one morning and found my red balloon shrunken to one-fourth the size of the day before."—Detroit Free Press.

Man and the Dog.

James Hughes Testifies

Mr. James G. Hughes, Watchman Since 1861 at the Grain Elevators in Milwaukee, Wis., Who Used Duffy's 20 Years, Heartily Recommends the Great Tonic as a Positive Preventive for Coughs and Colds.

MR. JAMES G. HUGHES.

"I am now in my 66th year, strong, hale and hearty, and I regard Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey as the one reliable family medicine." He writes:

"For more than twenty years I have used your great medicine for coughs and colds, and whenever my system became run down, I first became acquainted with Duffy's when good old Dr. Malone prescribed it for me when I was threatened with pneumonia. I am now in my sixty-sixth year, and although I have been exposed to all kinds of weather, for I have been a watchman at the grain elevators here since 1861, I am strong, hale and hearty. I regard Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey as the one reliable family medicine."—James G. Hughes, 625 Walker St., Milwaukee, Wis., May 6, 1905.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

is an absolutely pure distillation of malt without fuel oil. It arrests the progress of physical decay, strengthens the heart and enriches the blood. Doctors say it is "a form of food already digested," as it agrees with the most delicate stomach.

It is recognized everywhere as the unfailing cure for colds, bronchitis, consumption, nervousness, malaria, every form of stomach trouble, all diseases of the throat and conditions of the body. It returns youthful vigor to the old and maintains the strength of the young. Duffy's is prescribed by doctors of all schools, is used in all the leading hospitals, and is the only whiskey recognized by the Government as a medicine.

Beware of dangerous imitations and substitutes. Unscrupulous dealers, mindful of the excellence of this preparation, will try to sell you cheap imitations and malt whiskey substitutes, which are put on the market for profit only, and are positively harmful. Look for the trademark, the "Old Chemist," on the label and be certain the seal over the cork is unbroken. All druggists and grocers, or direct, $1.00 a bottle. Medical booklet free. The Highest Stairway.
For the ascent of Mount Omi, on the borderland between western China and the Tibetan plateau, there is an artificial staircase consisting of 20,000 steps cut in slippery limestone. Who made these steps is largely a matter of surmise, but they were probably formed by religious enthusiasts to provide a means of access from the hot plains, out of which the mountain mass rises abruptly to the heights, 5,000 to 11,000 feet above, among which the Buddhist abbey of Omi embodies some of the holiest traditions of the religion professed by its inmates. Anyhow, the staircase is there, and by it many pilgrims attain to the shrine as well as the very few Europeans who have ever visited this singular spot.
Cuff Buttons.
"Your cuff buttons are not properly worn," said a jeweler to one of his customers. "What's the matter with them? Haven't I got them in my cuffs?" "Yes," replied the jeweler, "but you are like a great many other people; you are not a close observer. You have the little gold piece at one end of each link placed so that in one cuff it is toward your body and in the other away from you. The small end of the link should in every case be toward you. Yet nine men out of ten pay no attention to this detail. The careful dresser never has the small end of a link button on the far side of the cuff."—Philadelphia Record.
Woolen and Worsted.
If a piece of woolen cloth is examined through a microscope, the two yarns—warp and weft—are found to be so crossed and closely matted together as to be indistinguishable, but in a piece of worsted material you can easily distinguish them. This is due to the fact that woolen goods are made from short stapled carded wools, whose fibers in the process of carding have been made to overlap each other so as to become closely matted or felted, while worsted goods are made from long stapled wools that have been carded and then combed till the fibers lie as straight and parallel as possible.
