

AMUSEMENTS

At the Orpheum.

The wonderful—indeed, the marvelous “Fontinelle,” the human doll, the mystifying mechanical contrivance—if it is mechanical, the superhumanly clever imitator of the mechanical, if it is human, is the feature attraction of the feature bill at the Orpheum this week, and notwithstanding the extreme threatening aspect of the weather yesterday afternoon, the house was jammed and packed from the orchestra pit to the doors by one of the most delighted Orpheum matinee audiences in the history of this popular playhouse; and at each of the three performances last night, in theatrical parlance, they “chained them out.”

From curtain to curtain, the bill is one of the very best, one of the most genuinely entertaining ever presented to his patrons by Manager Vucovich. “Fontinelle,” the amazing creation of the inventive ingenuity of Dr. Joseph Farrell, is no fake “catch-penny” attraction advertised extensively to lure the unwary into “following the crowd” into an amusement resort; neither is “it” a device employed to play upon the credulity of the “come ons” of the cities and towns in which “it” appears.

“Fontinelle” is without doubt the wonder of the age; and whichever “it” is, man or automaton, and the writer hereof frankly admits that he hasn’t solved the mystery. It is by odds the cleverest creation any Orpheum audience has ever witnessed.

“Fontinelle” positively and absolutely does everything the advertisements promise “it” to do. “It” can sing; “it” can talk; “it” can write; “it” can walk—and it does them all, but no man, woman or child who saw “Fontinelle” yesterday afternoon or last night can say with any degree of positiveness which “Fontinelle” is—a man or a machine.

The show opens with the Morelle Duo, a sister team of extraordinary ability as musical entertainers. Miss Beatrice, who in private life is the wife of Col. Edward Braden, a prominent manager of theatrical enterprises in the east, possesses a contralto voice of excellent cultivation and magnificent quality. Indeed, grand opera is apparently no more difficult of rendition by her than that beautiful old Scotch ballad, “Annie Laurie,” which every man who has a soul loves so to hear. As an encore, she sang last night, a catchy little ditty of her own, “Would You Like to Meet Me,” which proved a hit par excellence.

Miss Charlotte, who accompanies her sister in all of her songs, is a violin virtuoso of exquisite attainments, and many a day has passed since a Pensacola vaudeville audience has had the opportunity of hearing violin music of the quality of that rendered by this gifted and cultured musical artist.

Different, perhaps, from anything ever before seen by an Orpheum audience, is the act of Elise May Wilson, who styles herself “The Gibson Girl.” It was absolutely impossible to describe this act—a clever and ex-cruciatingly funny piece of character acting, with any degree of justice to Miss Wilson, who is without doubt a comedienne of the first magnitude, on to her job with all the frills and side lights. Indeed, the man or woman who can sit through the twenty minutes of Miss Wilson’s appearance, retaining his or her composure, is a dyspeptic in the last stages of acute indigestion, and needs a doctor’s attention without delay.

Taking the bill as a whole, it is the best the Orpheum has presented to its patrons in several months.

At the Bijou.

As was predicted, the attractions contracted for this week by the Bijou have proven all that was claimed for them, and the very flattering press notices given them in other cities were not at all colored, for each one of the three big acts being put on at the theatre are first-class. Each is on the first tour of the south, having been playing in the large cities of the north and east for many weeks.

The Bijou never had a better team of travesty entertainers than Mr. Thompson and Miss Farrell, the latter being particularly good, while the trombone artist and character comedian, Bill Jones, appeared to excellent advantage during yesterday’s four performances. The crowds yesterday were good, but today’s houses are expected to be packed for those who attended the performances of yesterday will be good advertisements for the theatre, for each person who attended was highly pleased.

Swift & Casey’s contract was cancelled and that team will not appear.

The Bijou, through a special arrangement, has secured another fine act for its patrons. This morning the Madam DeLore Company, one of the best of its kind traveling the vaudeville circuits of the south, will reach the city and remain for the balance of the week. This company carries even its own scenery, something done by a very few of the vaudeville companies.

“Snapshots.”

Miss Ethel Loveland is in Pensacola arranging to present with local talent at the Knights of Columbus hall, Friday night, April 30, “Snapshots,” a comedy of one act.

This play is one of the funniest ever written and all who want to have a good laugh should make their plans to see it Friday night.

The play is to be given for the pur-

The Human Doll.
Mechanism or Human?

Makes little difference, for really those Baby Buicks are the very simplest that have been put up; then, they’re built to last; they ride as easy as a Buick; lots easier than any other. Besides being the fastest small car built, they are the hardest pullers. Make playthings of any old hill; do the stunt on high, too; sand? Well, yes, they will pull hub deep any time. Ask us to prove it. We will, gladly. Then there’s that model 17, a ten grown up; holder of the world’s 100-mile, 50-mile and the hour the greatest climber out; if you doubt, look at those Chattanooga reports. Well, anyhow, watch for the human Buick today, 5 p. m. See Bradley Motor Co.

The Horace K. Turner Exhibit.

The Horace K. Turner Art Exhibit, which is to open this Wednesday evening, and which is to be one of the most notable events of its kind ever witnessed in Pensacola, is attracting widespread attention. It is to occur at the armory hall, and continue through the first day of May. Some of the city’s foremost artists have been secured to appear on the program, which is as follows:

Tuesday evening, 8 to 10 p. m.: Opening Night.
Reception committee, School Improvement Association.
Short address of welcome, Superintendent Cook.
Talk on pictures by Dr. Niles.
Thursday afternoon, 4 to 6:30 o’clock:
Reception committee, the Nomads.
5:45, Piano Solo—Miss Mabel Green.
6:00, Violin Solo—Miss Fulghum.
Thursday evening, 8 to 10 o’clock:
Reception committee, the Nomads.
8:30, Solo—Miss Margaret Macclay, violin obligato, Miss Mallory.
9:00, Violin Solo—Miss Ignatius Fried.
Friday afternoon, 4 to 6:30:
Reception committee, the Civic League.
5:45, Solo by Mrs. Bradford.
6:00, Piano Solo—Miss Gertrude Friedman.
Friday evening, 8 to 10:
8:00, Concert by High School Glee Club.
Saturday afternoon 4 to 6:30:
Folk dance by Miss Macclay’s classes.
Saturday evening:
Violin Solo—Miss Rosasco.
Solo—Mrs. Forcheimer.

The exhibit will be open to the public Thursday, Friday and Saturday mornings from 9 to 1 o’clock. The light will be best then and that is the best time for serious study of the masterpieces.

Father Turner’s Lecture on Rome.

The Rev. Father Turner will deliver a fine lecture on “Rome” at the K. of C. hall on Thursday night, and much interest is being taken by local people who know Father Turner as a forceful speaker, and admirably well acquainted with the subject which he has chosen. Following is the musical program for the evening which, under the direction of Prof. Seel, is to add to the pleasure of the event: Sacred Overture..... Scheppegrell Orchestra.
“Tarpia,” a Roman Legend—Miss Blanche McHugh.
Ave Maria.....Gounod Miss Montanari.
Violin Obligato.... Mr. Max Heinberg Song of the Mystic....Father Ryan Miss Louise Watson.
Bridal Rose.....Overture Sunny South, Medley of Southern Airs Orchestra.

MADE NERVOUS WRECK BY STOMACH TROUBLE

Iowa Man’s Case Has a Parallel in Every Community.

With a theory that human health is dependent on the stomach and with a medicine which he says proves this theory, L. T. Cooper, a comparatively young man, has built up an immense following during the past two years. Cooper has visited most of the leading cities of the country, and in each city has aroused a storm of discussion about his beliefs and his medicines. Wherever he has gone, people have called upon him by thousands, and his preparation has sold in immense quantities.

The sale of this medicine has now spread over the entire country, and is growing enormously each day. In view of this, the following statement from one of his many followers is of general interest. Mr. George Hyde, for the past twenty years a respected resident of Maquoketa, Iowa, says: “After years of suffering from chronic stomach trouble, and trying nearly every known remedy as well as treating with some of the best physicians in the country, I found myself a nervous wreck. My appetite was gone, and the little I could eat distressed me. I could not get a sound night’s sleep, and arose in the morning feeling tired and worn out. I was greatly weakened and badly run down. My failure to secure relief after diligent search discouraged me, and I began to feel that there was little hope of ever again enjoying good health.”

“Some time ago, however, I became interested in some newspaper articles dealing with the ideas and beliefs of L. T. Cooper. His theory that the stomach is responsible for the state of one’s health, either good or bad, impressed me as being logical. He claimed that no one could enjoy good health with a bad stomach, likewise no one could be ill with a stomach in good condition. His further claim that his New Discovery preparation would restore the stomach to normal, induced me to give it a trial.

“I went to my druggist and bought a bottle. It proved helpful from the first dose. I continued the treatment, and improved rapidly. Four bottles made me well. I am sixty years of age, and today feel younger and enjoy better health than in the past ten years. I owe it all to Cooper’s New Discovery. Anyone suffering from stomach trouble or nervousness should try this remarkable preparation.”

Cooper’s New Discovery is sold by all druggists everywhere. A sample bottle sent free upon request by addressing The Cooper Medicine Company, Dayton, Ohio.
