

ABLE ADDRESS TO GROCERS HEARD AT CITY HALL TONIGHT

"How to conduct business to make it profitable to the retailer and meet with the requirements of the public" will be discussed at a meeting of retail grocers at the city hall tonight, the speaker to be John A. Green, of Cleveland, O., ex-president of the National Grocers Association, and an authority on the conditions which confront the retailer as a result of the war.

A large number of local retailers have not quite been able to get a clear idea of what is expected of them to help in prosecution of the war by the conservation of foodstuffs, and they have been querying others in position to better understand perhaps. The lecture by Mr. Green, however, will doubtless clear up all points, and if anyone present does not get any point clear the speaker expects to be asked about it, and he will answer all questions.

Mr. Green will arrive in the city today and comes at the expressed wish of the local grocers' association through the secretary, Mr. L. Cahn, who wired a cordial invitation to the speaker of the evening. The meeting will take place in the council chamber of the city hall, and all are invited to hear him.

FEW DROPS AND CORN LIFTS OUT

Says There Is No Excuse for Cutting Corns and Inviting Lockjaw.

Sore corns, hard corns, soft corns or any kind of a corn can harmlessly be lifted right out with the fingers if you will apply directly upon the corn a few drops of freezone, says a Cincinnati authority.

It is claimed that at small cost one can get a quarter of an ounce of freezone at any drug store, which is sufficient to rid one's feet of every corn or callus without pain or soreness or the danger of infection. This simple drug, while sticky, dries the moment it is applied and does not inflame or even irritate the surrounding tissue.

This announcement will interest many women here, for it is said that the present high-heel footwear is putting corns on practically every woman's feet.—adv.

AMERICANS ONLY IN MERCHANT MARINE

Mobile, Ala., Jan. 29.—Every man on board ship in the new American merchant marine will be an American citizen, according to the plans of the United States Shipping Board. Officials of the free school of navigation maintained by the Shipping Board recruiting service at Mobile, have received the following official announcement:

"Boston, Jan. 27.—An interesting feature of the training ships which the United States Shipping Board is starting, is that the entire personnel, will be American citizens. This decision announced here last night by national headquarters of the recruiting service, means that American seamen will be trained by American citizens, to man American ships. In this decision, the Shipping Board has the hearty co-operation of the unions which consider it a thoroughly patriotic move. It is considered an essential foundation for the best development of the new merchant marine, that the squadron of training ships, now being developed, be officered and manned exclusively by American citizens. The first of 50,000 American youths from 17 to 27 now being trained on the first of these ships for sailors, firemen, oilers, water-tenders, cooks and stewards, to man ships, will play an essential part in winning the war and keeping the country foremost among the maritime nations when peace is restored. Training ships will be among the first ships in many a year on which every officer and man is an American citizen. It marks the beginning of a new and important era in the American merchant marine. Thirty-eight free government navigation and marine engineering schools from the Atlantic to the Pacific, are training experienced seamen, firemen, oilers and water-tenders to be officers. Only American citizens accepted."

Used successfully a whole year all over the South

BUCKEYE
Lintless Hulls have been fed by farmers, dairymen and stockmen throughout the South for the past year. Reports from these feeders indicate that these lintless hulls when properly fed, are a great improvement over the old style hulls.

By actual use, these feeders have found the following advantages of using

BUCKEYE COTTONSEED HULLS
LINTLESS

Every pound of the Buckeye Hulls contains much more food value because the lint on the old style hulls has no food value.

The price per pound of real roughage in the form of Buckeye Hulls is very much less than in the form of the old style hulls. Buckeye Hulls do not clog or flux the digestive tract. Other foods mixed with them are readily assimilated.

They are free of trash and dust. They are sacked and easy to handle. They take half as much space in the barn.

If you have not tried Buckeye Hulls, please remember that thousands of feeders are using them and will use no other roughage. If you have not given Buckeye Hulls a fair trial, let the experience of these successful feeders guide you in using them as they should be used.

Mr. Olney Yarbber, Booneville, Ark., has fed a carload of Buckeye Hulls to cows and calves to get them ready for the range. He had been feeding hay and he finds that they did much better on Buckeye Hulls as roughage. He has another car of Buckeye Hulls bought.

To secure the best results and to develop the ensilage odor, wet the hulls thoroughly twelve hours before feeding. It is easy to do this by wetting them down night and morning for the next feeding. If at any time this cannot be done, wet down at least thirty minutes. If you prefer to feed the hulls dry, use only half as much by bulk as of old style hulls.

Book of Mixed Feeds Free

Gives the right formula for every combination of feeds used in the South. Tells how much to feed for maintenance, for milk, for fattening, for work. Describes Buckeye Hulls and gives directions for using them properly. Send for your copy to the nearest mill.
