FARMER'S TELEPHONES

A dollar a month does not go far enough after it gets into the telephone company's treasury to satisfy the manager who has to pay the upkeep and operating expenses on a big rural line system, and keeps a little small change to hand over to stockholders once in six months. He has to cut too many corners, and run too many chances of getting caught short of a bank balance by a sleet storm or a law suit.

Twelve dollars a year is too low for farmers' line service on the average system, with the quality and cost improved as it has been in the last few years. It is time to start after this rate. The farmers can afford to pay more—why should not they be induced to recognize value received?

Of course we know what the farmers do when it is proposed to raise the telephone rate. But can this go on forever? What is the best way to get this thing into better shape? Have done it already—Telephony. (The Independent Telephone Journal.

Father and Son.

A great deal of the misunderstandings that arise between fathers and sons, like quarrels between persons not related, are the result of the fault of both sides. The parent forgets his own youth and does not make allowances. The boy or young man judges his father because he has not yet attained sufficient mental development and experience of life to truly appraise men and things.

The remedy is in patience for both. As the son grows older, the father should make more and more a friend of his boy. The prime difficulty is to bridge over the changes that one generation makes. It is not only the obstacle of the years and the difference in age, that the party of the first is in middle life of growing old and the party of the second part young, but the world moves, ideas and manners are not the same and the point of view varies twenty years after to such an extent that, if a man could grow young in a night, he would wake up a stranger in his own home town.

Patience and wearing kindness are the only right ways. When the son is older, he will understand a good father better, and when the father grows past his prime, his wisdom, toleration and love will increase. The father will learn to smile at the critic on the health and acknowledge that in some things he is right and the son will pass the age when what's wrong with the world seems so much more clamant than what's right therewith. — New Orleans American.

FROM FRIDAY'S DAILY

This is a quiet period at the court house. All officials, while they are engaged in their regular routine duties, report nothing of extraordinary interest in their departments, and the usual work at this season of the year is all that is attracting their attention at this time.

The many friends of J. M. McClellan, local manager of the Singer Sewing Machine Co., will be glad to know that he is rapidly improving from a recent operation at the Baptist Hospital in Memphis, and is now able to sit up. He and family will visit in Trenton, Tenn., to remain until he regains strength enough to resume his work.

A copy of the new laws passed by the 1916 Legislature has been received by Chancery Clerk O. M. Hinton, the several acts pertaining to certain laws, are attracting the attention of the public. One of special interest is the strenuous automobile and motor vehicle law that has been probably read more than any other of the recent acts.

Circuit Clerk Lee Gray is today at Skillman voting precinct, completing his first week in making the annual tour of county with the registration books. He will be at Kossuth tomorrow. He will begin Monday at Honnoll, concluding next Saturday at Kendrick, nine miles northeast of Corinth.

Unflinching labor conquers everything.

SOME CHOICE DESSERTS.

For very nice occasions one likes a dainty, pretty and satisfying dessert. Most of the following are too costly for everyday use, but on rare occasions we may all indulge.

Nesselrode Pudding.—Make a custard of two cups of milk, two cups of sugar, five egg yolks, and a pinch of salt. Cook in a double boiler until smooth, strain and add a half cupful of pineapple juice, three cups of cream and a pint of chestnuts that have been boiled tender and passed through a potato ricer. Then freeze as usual. When frozen, line a two-quart mold with part of the mixture, add to the remainder one cupful of candied fruits, finely minced; one-half cupful of Sultana raisins and six chopped chestnuts (uncooked). Fill the mold and pack in ice and salt; let stand three or four hours to ripen. This quantity will serve 12 amply, and is entirely worth the work of preparation, for it is truly most delectable.

Nougat Ice Cream.—Make a custard, using one cupful of sugar, two cups of milk, five egg yolks and a half teaspoonful of salt; cook and strain. When cool, add two cups of cream, whipped; then add a fourth of a cupful each of chopped filberts, walnuts, almonds, and hickory nuts, a teaspoonful of almond extract and the well-beaten whites of the eggs folded in. Freeze as usual and allow to stand for four hours.

Pineapple Mousse.—Soak a tablespoonful of gelatin in a fourth of a cupful of water. Heat a cupful of pineapple sirup, add two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, a cupful and a half of sugar and the gelatin; strain and cool. When the mixture thickens fold in a quart of whipped cream. Put into a mold and pack in ice and salt. Let stand four hours.

Pistachio Ice Cream.—Pound four ounces of the blanched pistachio nuts in a mortar, add a few drops of rose water to form a paste. Add one cupful of cream and one of sugar. Mix all together with another cupful of sugar and three cupfuls of cream, six eggs. Cook until smooth and thick then freeze as usual.

BEST OF CANDIED FRUITS

Many Delicious Varieties That May Be Put Up at This Time of the Year.

Seasonable fruits for preserving just now are sickel pears, sections of oranges, bits of pineapple and grapes. A sirup is made from two cupfuls of sugar, one cupful of water, and one-eighth teaspoonful of cream of tartar. This is boiled until it will make a soft ball when tried in cold water. Then the fruit is dropped in sufficient to cover the surface of the sirup. In about ten minutes this should be skimmed out and more fruit put in until all is cooked. Tender, juicy fruits may not take quite ten minutes, while hard pieces like pineapple will probably take longer. Care must be taken not to puncture the outside covering of any sweet, juicy fruit, as the sirup will not candy if the juice becomes mixed with it.

When all the fruit is cooked it should be drained and allowed to lie in granulated sugar till dry.

Amber jelly is another delicacy out of the ordinary that can be made at this time of year. The ingredients are one grapefruit, one orange, one lemon and granulated sugar. The fruit is peeled, being careful not to remove the white pulp with the skin. This must be saved for the pectin (jelly-making substance) it contains.

After peeling, the fruit is cut into lengths, removing the white center of the grapefruit, which is very bitter. The pulp with the skin of the orange cut fine is measured, and to each cupful of pulp a cupful of water is added. This is put over the stove and boiled for five minutes. Then hot water is added equal to one-quarter the amount of water originally added. When this comes to a boil the kettle is removed from the stove and the contents measured. To five cupfuls of the pulp four cupfuls of sugar is the right proportion. This is boiled for 45 minutes, then poured into jars and sealed.

Tongue Roast.
Mince remnants of boiled tongue very fine, mix with cream or milk and simmer slowly. Add the beaten yolk of one egg and stir until egg is cooked. Have ready buttered toast and spread meat over it. If you like it, a little grated cheese can be sprinkled over it, if not the bread can be placed on the stove until the meat browns slightly. Ham toast can be made in the same way of the lean remnants of ham. It is nice for breakfast.

Egg Sauce.
Egg sauce made in this way is delicious. Beat the whites of three eggs stiff. Beat the yolks until creamy and sweeten with three tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar. Just before serving fold in the stiff whites and serve immediately.

THE SWEET GIRL GRADUATE IS NOW IN "OUR MIDST"

This is the season of the sweet girl graduate. Now the lily-white arm of the fair graduate flourishes over the golden hair, carving the flower-fragrant air in ribbons of love and light, as she begins: "Down the untrodden pathway of life we see the invisible footprints of an unseen land. We build the ladder on the ladder on the sea of life whose runless rounds we mount 'From the lowly earth to the vaulted skies,' as Cowper says in his Thanatopsis. Beyond the Alps Lies Italy; over the fence is out; 'He pon, he pever,' is the watch word of the voiceless spirit whose wings gleam in the shoreless waters of life's tempestuous seas."

Food for the Mind.

Never was there a time in the history of this country when the people at large were as constant and inveterate readers of newspapers as they are today, and this is especially so in the matter of newspaper advertising.

People who a few years ago, would hardly look at an advertisement, now digest every word in it, and they do it with a purpose. The human mind is broadening and expanding and becoming more liberal. It demands food, and particularly that class of food that conserves the financial interests of the reader. And the well worded advertisement appeals directly to every well balanced mind. It points the way to economy.

And the wise business man advertises accordingly.

Mr. Ford says he does not want to be president. He won't.

A man's always satisfied to be out when a bill collector calls.

When a man quarrels with his wife he seldom gets a chance to say anything these days.

Incidentally, however, clean up week should be three hundred and sixty-five days long.

Still, Congress cannot make an army and a navy out of paper. The young men must enlist.

Various outlying sections of the city report that the frogs are using the same old ragtime music.

Perhaps it would be well to catch Carranza, who is less lively than Villa and far more valuable.

Both sides are achieving victories at Verdun and incidentally filling all the hospitals and graveyards.

On any showdown, this country should be able to demonstrate that it learned a number of things since the affair with Spain.
