Family Circle.
ARE THE CHILDREN AT HOME?
Each day when the glow of sunset Fades in the western sky,
And the wee ones, tired of playing, Go tripping lightly by,
I stand away from my husband, Asleep in his easy chair,
And watch from the open doorway Their faces fresh and fair.
Alone in the dear old homestead That once was full of life, Ringing with girlish laughter, Echoing boyish strife,
We two are waiting together:
And oft, as the shadows come,
With tremulous voice he calls me,
"It is night! are the children at home?"
"Yes, love!" I answer him gently, "They're all home long ago!"
And I sing, in my quivering tremble, A song so soft and low, Till the old man drops to slumber, With head upon his hand,
And I tell to myself the number Home in the better land.
Home, where never a sorrow Shall dim their eyes with tears!
Where the smile of God is on them Through all the summer years!
I know, yet my arms are empty, That fondly folded seven,
And the mother heart within me Is almost starved for heaven.

A Lesson for Girls.
That was a wise father who, on hearing his little daughter requesting her brother to drive a few nails in the wood-house for her, said he would teach her how to do it herself.
She was apt, and drove in all the nails successfully. So pleased was she with her success that she would have set a double row around the shed if her father had not concluded that these would answer for the present. "There, that little lesson helps to make you independent, my girl," he said. "Now I will teach you some day how to catch and harness up a horse. You have already learned to drive a gentle one.
Learn to sharpen a knife, and whettle, too, without cutting your fingers. Don't let the doors creak for the want of an oiled feather, or the little children's boots get hard in the winter for the want of a little grease." Take a lesson from this, girls. You don't know where you will be cast sometime during your life. The most hopeless people I ever met are those who can do only one kind of work. It is far better to be prepared for the emergencies of life beforehand, and it will do away with long and bitter experiences in learning to do in mature years what should have been a quired in youth. We can never tell what a day may bring forth.
While it may not be absolutely necessary for a girl to drive a nail, or harness a horse, a knowledge of how it is done will do her no harm. But in their sphere our girls should be taught how to meet the exigencies of life as they occur.—Zion's Herald.

Tired Mothers.
It is there is a class of persons who need tenderness and encouragement, it is tired mothers; weary limbs, sad hearts, puzzled brains, all attest to the fact. There ought to be privileges granted to tired mothers, as much as to invalids.
Those who have passed through this trying ordeal know how to sympathize, know how to excuse many of the shortcomings of those who are passing through the narrow gateways, the thorny paths, and rough highways, where temptation holds high revelry, and the angel of peace sits in shadow.

Self-Consciousness.
It sometimes happens that the people who are afflicted with it mistake their own symptoms, and mis-call their own state. They think, themselves, diffident, timid, deplete their want of self-possession even and never dream that the trouble lies in their inability to forget themselves.

What courage you have! said one young lady to another. "I could not have crossed this crowded room before all these people, as you did just now, under any circumstances."
"It did not require any courage," replied her friend, smiling. "It never occurred to me that any one would notice my movements." And this is the whole secret. It is but a nervous sense of our own conspicuousness which makes us so keenly alive to the effects of our words and acts. If we really believe that we are unimportant—if we feel that our fellow-creatures have more engrossing subjects of contemplation than ourselves—we shall hardly be likely to suffer from any dread of their criticisms. Besides, self-consciousness destroys independence of thought and action. The unfortunate who feel themselves the center of interest and observation, will be continually adjusting their words and ways to suit their beholders.—Christian Intelligencer.

NEW ORLEANS.
New Inventions!
BORED WELLS—A great improvement on the drive wells. Any one can sink them. Guaranteed to get pure and fresh water. CHEAP and INEXHAUSTIBLE.

COOKING STOVE—Robert E. Lee, of Southern manufacture, made of best charcoal iron, good even bakes, light on fuel, double bottom and back, hollow covers, warranted not to crack or warp; guaranteed to give satisfaction. Thirty days' trial or money refunded. Cheapest stove in the market.

TORCH—A blessing to Steamboat men and Planters. Wind or rain cannot extinguish them. Cannot explode. Can be placed on a freight pile or moved at will, without danger of sparks. A great thing for Planters to destroy insects.

HUNTER'S PERFECTION ROTARY FLOUR AND MEAL SIFTER—The greatest combination known. Eleven combinations in one. Over 300,000 now in use.
Every family should have one. Each article purchased separately would cost $7.50 where these only cost 75 cents.
Only sifter in the world that can be taken apart. Agents wanted.

REYNOLDS & ARMSTRONG,
90 Baronne street.

CLAYTON'S METALIC HEAT RE-FLECTOR—More heat. No smoke. No dust. Less fuel. Acts as a ventilator in summer. To fit all size grates. A sure cure for smoky fire places. 25 per cent. more heat thrown into the room, that would otherwise go up the chimney without one of the valuable Reflectors. Price only $1 each.

REYNOLDS & ARMSTRONG,
90 Baronne street.

ELECTRIC BELLS—No more trouble of broken wires; can be rung by pressing a knob. Warranted for one year.

GAS—The best and cheapest Gas Machine ever made; has no equal; small space occupied. Gas by this machine only 50 cents per thousand, where oil is 15 cents per gallon. $1 per M where oil is 30 cents.
