State that will not have a representation. Like other denominations, the Baptists are striving to have their church on a ider basis with the beginning of the twentieth century than it has ever been before, and it is thought that the greatest results can be obtained by having a large attendance at these gatherings.

Apropos of this spirit, there are some who are again agitating the movement naugurated in the convention two years he taught for some time. ago for the unification of the Baptist organizations and interests in the State. When the metter was first brought up in 1898 a committee was appointed from the State convention to confer with a committee appointed by the Educational So ciety as to the feasibility of the plan After several conferences the joint com nittee decided that the plan was not deconvention last year. Rare Sport. Anglers who have visited the New Jer ey coast this week have found sport in lenty with almost any kind of the gamy lenizens of the deep, and some great catches of weakfish, bluefish, porgles, flounders and sea bass have been made At Barnegat Bay weakfish have been taking the bat freely and trolling for bluefish off shore has caught the fancy of many of the fishermen. Chumming parties have also been enjoying rare sport.

Along the southern coast fish are being caught by the boatload, the banks off Anglesea and Cane May waters being favorite sports with many of the one-day visitors. A number of big drumfish have been caught during the past few days. Fresh water fishing has taken a decide brace since the advent of cooler weather and the pike ponds in South Jesey have had more visitors during the past week than for a month back. Bass are still shy caught. In the creeks perch are running in large schools, big strings having been caught in the vicinity of Salem. (Special to "The Jersey City News."] TRENTON, Aug. 17, 1900-The seven teenth annual session of the Grand Castle of New Jersey, Knights of the Golden Eagle, will be held in this city, September 3, Labor Day. The convention, which will convene in G. G. E. Hall in the Ribsam building will be a very important one and in view of the fact that it occurs on a holiday it will probably be vey well attended.

Two admendments looking to future annual sessions are to be acted on. One provides for a change of time to the last week in September, while the other does away with the hippodroming around the State and locates a meeting in the month as at present. The annual parade of the order will be done away with this year and the time given up entirely to business. Grand Secretary Clark of this city will report an increase of 500 or more mem bers for the year, and the outlook for more in the future.
