have a lining of pink brocade, so that I can throw open the coat once in a while, when I am wearing pink garnitures on my gown.

"That's another horrid ball," she said, pouting. "When I play with Mr. Austin he never gives me such balls."

Resolved, That a warrant be ordered drawn on the City Treasurer in favor of Henry Byrne for $11,177.71, being the amount of the order to transfer the sum of $83,850, awarded in the Hudson Circuit Court after reletta, transcript of the same having been filed with the Board of Finance, together with the sum of $1,177.71, being the amount of the order to issue temporary loan bonds at a rate of interest not to exceed 4 per cent. per annum, and MISCELLANEOUS BUSINESS. Mr. Dault moved that when the Board should adjourn it be until Wednesday, Nov. 30, 1904, at 11 a. m.

Resolved, That in accordance with the request of the Board of Street and Water Commissioners, the City Engineer be authorized to make the following resolutions:

Resolved, That in accordance with the request of the Board of Street and Water Commissioners, the City Engineer be authorized to make the following resolutions:

"I am wearing upon an evening gown," said a Washington woman to her friend, "but, on the other hand, there will many high-necked ones. A great many women of fashion are dressing the neck in Dutch fashion, with the neck out in a curve at the collar bone. And others are wearing the Venetian neck, which is two inches lower. I am going in for the Venetian style myself as being more becoming than a very low neck."

"Men of Mr. Austin's age?" I began. "I suppose you consider your own age the most desirable."

Resolved, That the City Collector be and he is hereby directed to cancel of record the taxes for the year 1904, against said Lots 24 to 37 inclusive, Block 720, Boardman Ave., deed to which was recorded June 2, 1902, and Lot 13, Block 720, Boardman Ave., deed to which was recorded July 1, 1902, and

"Yes, when one thinks again, there is nothing so charming thing that a woman ever wore. It must have a deep grille of green with a tiny edge of black velvet, and there must be a corsage of deep red chiffon roses. In the hair there must be an aigrette of pure white."

"I would not venture at twenty-three to compete with a man of—" "It's thirty-eight," interrupted Miss Spencer, "isn't it?"

"The waist will be made in light fitting fashion, with short full puffed sleeves, and a very short grille, which gives the appearance of a short waist. White lace with a tiny black thread embroidery will drape the in-k, which will be caught here and there with pearl pins fastened to gather with a row of pearls."

"I mean that when a girl has two suitors she will only love one of them."

"One of the most delicate hair trimmings was in a pretty shade of green. Green silk leaves, as natural as life, were arranged to make a wide hair ornament. The leaves were spread out to lie flat upon the top of the head. Each had its stem and veins scattered over it. In the middle was a bow of silvered tulle. This was immensely striking, laid upon the top of the head and secured with a few tiny pearl pins."

"I don't you think, I went on, 'that you being a woman of age and capable of judging for yourself, would do better to choose a poor man with a future than a rich man with none? If you have not yet loved, I have. I love!'"
