Cold Type Doesn't Tingle with Enthusiasm

Like a human being, when the point of our pencil comes in contact with the paper, the magnetic current is shut off and you read a cold black and white statement of our offerings, which does not begin to convey to your mind the actual honesty, beauty or worth of the article written about.

Please remember this when you read our ads. and bear in mind that the merchandise itself is far above the printed description of it.

Take for example

The New Dress Goods

Might as well try to sketch an autumn sunset with a lump of charcoal as attempt to describe the rich, warm beauties of these masterpieces of the weaver's art. ### THE FARMER'S FRIEND.

Free Silver Would Help the Farmer by Reducing the Wages of His Help.

Farmer—I reckon this free silver's about the best friend of us farmers that's come our way since the war. Allowing Bryan's elected all right this year, I calculate I'll be worth nearly $2,000 more next year than now.

Farmer's Wife—Nonsense, Harve! I don't believe silver's going to make folks rich. One'll have to work for a living if Bryan's elected just as hard as if he isn't.

F.—I don't deny but what your head's level there, Jane. Some folks will have to work harder, but it won't be us farmers. We'll come out on top with free silver. That's sure's shooten.

F. W.—What crazy notion's in your head now, anyhow? D'you think farmers are smart enough to make laws that'll take money out of other folks' pockets and put it into theirs?

F.—Praps not, but they're going to try it. I s'pose you don't see how free silver'll help us, but I do.

F. W.—If you'll take my advice you'll not bother yourself to death trying to get rich by free silver. I'll warrant it won't work as you calculate.

F.—I'll tell you one way it'll help me, Jane. You know that if we got free coinage we will have silver dollars worth 'bout 50 cents—same's Mexican dollars now.

F. W.—I thought Bryan said that silver'll be worth just as much as gold when we get free silver.

F.—Yes, that's what he says in the east, so's he won't scare the mill hands and savings banks folks too much. But he don't talk that way out here, because he knows that ain't what we're after. We want cheap money, so's prices of wheat, corn and pork'll be twice as high, same as in Mexico.

F. W.—Supp'n't they are? Wouldn't you have to pay twice as much for clothes and groceries and everything else you'd have to buy? If you got two dollars instead of one dollar, you'd have to spend two dollars instead of one dollar. It'd be as broad as it is long. If that's the way silver's going to make you rich, you'll never get rich.

F.—But I wouldn't have to spend two dollars for every dollar I spend now. You know, we have at least two hired men the whole year, and three to five more from April to November, besides the hired girl for most of the year. Do you reckon I'm going to raise their pay when we get free silver?

F. W.—I s'pose so. Why shouldn't you?

F.—Just because I wouldn't have to. Praps after a year or so I'd give 'em two or three dollars more a month, but nothing like double what they're getting now. I calculate I'd save between $800 and $1,000 in wages—not quite so much on John and Dave, because they board with us, and of course the price of some of the things they eat would go up, but I'd save 'bout half on my day hands who live and board at home. That's how I figure it, and it's 'cording to the opinion of Gov. Boies and other big silver people. They say farm wages is too high for profits and that silver'll bring 'em down.

F. W.—And so that's why you're for free silver, Harve Grimes; want to cheat your poor hired hands out of half their wages, men who now can hardly keep their families out of the poorhouse! I thought it was them Wall street shysters and goldbugs you're after with your free silver stick and that you're trying to square accounts with them rich fellers, but it seems—

F.—Hold up there, Jane! Free silver's going to save us 'bout $1,000 on what I still owe on that $4,000 mortgage. Who'd you think I lose that?

F. W.—I don't care who'd lose it. 'Tain't right to cheat anybody, but I wouldn't say a word so long as it's somebody who could afford to lose it, but when it comes to cheating your poor neighbors it's time to put a stop to it. I don't care if you never get that other farm paid for. I guess we won't starve on this old farm. I'm going to tell John and Dave and all the others just how free silver will hurt them, and I'll get them all to vote against Bryan. The idea of such farmers as you trying to elect Bryan to cut down the wages of your hired men! I'm ashamed of you, I am!

Design for a Bryan Dollar.

Bryan's Two-Faced Argument.

When argument is based upon a wrong principle, it is full of inconsistencies. Candidate Bryan says that our dollar is too valuable; that it has enhanced until two bushels of wheat are now required in exchange for a dollar, whereas one bushel of wheat was exchanged for a dollar in days gone by. Mr. Bryan's remedy for this is to cheapen the dollar. This is logical, and the dollar would certainly be cheapened by "free coinage." No doubt of that. So far Candidate Bryan is consistent, but wait a moment. He says also that the free coinage of silver by the United States alone would double the price of silver bullion and make it worth $1.20 per ounce in gold the world over. If this advance should result, the silver dollar would rise in value to the present worth of the gold dollar, and there would be absolutely no change in our financial system. These two propositions are utterly at variance with each other. One of them must of necessity be incorrect.—Atlanta Dixie.

Battle Ax PLUG

If he had bought a 5 cent piece he would have been able to take it with him.

There is no use buying more than a 5 cent piece of "Battle Ax." A 10 cent piece is most too big to carry, and the 5 cent piece is nearly as large as the 10 cent piece of other high grade tobaccos.

Easy Lessons About Money.

At first all money was weighed in scales. The first money trade told in the Bible was in silver. "And Abraham weighed to Ephron 400 shekels of silver, current money with the merchant." A shekel was half an ounce.

It was not easy to carry round a pair of scales and weigh out metal each time there was a trade. So coins were made.

A shekel or some weight of silver or of gold was weighed out, melted together and stamped with a die showing its weight. Now money could be counted instead of weighed out. This made trading much easier.

Anything that makes trading easier betters trade.

Silver was first in general use for coins. But as people became better off and had larger trades to make silver was too weighty. So gold came into use.

As nations have become better off they have come to use gold more than silver. The great trading nations now use the gold standard and only the poorer nations the silver standard for their money systems.—N. Y. World.

Why Does Not Mr. Bryan Answer? Mr. Bryan tells the farmers that free coinage of silver will give them cheap dollars with which to pay their debts.

Mr. Bryan tells city workmen that free coinage of silver will raise the metal to $1.20 per ounce, bringing the silver dollar to par with the gold dollar, thus giving city workmen another dollar as good as the present one with which to buy the farmers' products.

That is to say, to the farmer the Bryan silver dollar is to be a cheap dollar to pay debts with. To city labor the Bryan dollar is to be a dollar of high purchasing power to buy with.

Free coinage of silver cannot produce these two dollars. It can produce only one of the two. Why do not would-be supporters of Mr. Bryan ask him which dollar he really means? Both the farmer, who wants to pay debts, and the workman, who must buy farm produce, are interested in having this question answered.—Chicago Times-Herald.

Sam Jones Makes It Clear.

"Suppose," says Rev. Sam Jones, of Georgia, "the government owned all the grist mills in this country and congress should enact a law that all corn should be ground by the government mills free, and that while corn was worth 18 cents a bushel the government would stamp the sacks of meal so that it would bring 50 cents a bushel and do this for nothing? It is a very hard matter to keep meal above the price of corn."

The Money Power Analyzed.

An illuminating glimpse into the constituents of "the money power" is afforded by an analysis of the depositors in a savings bank of Dubuque, Ia., which has 7,614 accounts, representing $4,000,000. These 7,614 persons are classified as follows: Mechanics and laborers, 5,120; farmers, 1,307; teachers and professional men, 633; administrators and executives, 604; capitalists, 51. Still another glimpse is furnished in this statement by an exceptionally well informed man of Franklin county, Mass., a county composed almost entirely of small farming towns, in a recent address as to the "plutocrats" of that region who have loaned money on western mortgages: "From data that I have obtained I believe that not less than $3,000,000 of Franklin county money is to-day invested in western farm mortgages and that two-thirds of this belongs to farmers now in active life."

BISMARCK'S ADVICE.

Is It Unprejudiced and Can We Afford to Follow It?

Mr. Bryan appears to set great store by the letter which Gov. Culberson, of Texas, has received from Prince Bismarck. The "people's friend" is willing to receive advice from the "Man of Blood and Iron," and the "champion of the American farmer" listens to that famous friend of American agriculture who shut the German ports to American pork in 1884 and to American potatoes in 1885, and who would gladly have united all central Europe in a customs league aimed directly against all American produce. Bismarck's rather diplomatic letter is taken by Mr. Bryan in his recent speeches to favor the free coinage of silver by the United States. The devotion of Chancellor Bismarck to the cause of silver may be seen in the following historical fact, which appears to have escaped general notice:

Under his guidance as chancellor of the empire and minister of commerce for Prussia the equivalent of 1,050,000,000 marks (over $270,000,000) in silver was demonetized between the years 1874 and 1881, and over $100,000,000 worth of the bullion into which these were melted had been sold by 1879. In that year, finding that the price of silver was becoming demoralized, so that his remaining $109,000,000 was depreciating, he stopped sales by a decree issued in May, 1879. These points were frankly stated by his delegation to the International monetary conference of 1881, when Germany likewise offered to suspend sales for a time in order that the price might not be further depressed. With these assurances before the monetary powers and with the decree of 1879 still in force, Bismarck saw an opportunity of dumping some German silver on the sly and proceeded to do so. In 1885 the Egyptian government decided to change its coinage and invited bids for contracts to coin its silver piasters. The German mint secured the contract to make the coin and incidentally furnished $3,180,000 of silver bullion to Egypt. The matter was kept very quiet or escaped general notice. Reference to it will be found, however, in the London Economist of December 4, 1886, which saw in it a proof of Bismarck's lack of faith in silver.

With all his faults, Bismarck is a sturdy patriot. To help the German distiller he was willing to see trichine in every American pig, and to protect the German farmer he smelled bugs on every American potato. Germany has to-day $107,000,000 worth of silver whose value is declining. If the United States could be induced to follow the example of Egypt and give Germany a chance to do some more unloading, where is the harm from the ex-chancellor's point of view, in writing a letter of not entirely disinterested advice?
