MARIETTA, OHIO, SATURDAY, JULY 20, 1901.

TEN CENTS A WEEK

Bert Glenn and Ellis Glenn

—WITNESSES SAY—

Are Different Persons.

By Associated Press.

Parkersburg, W. Va., July 19.—In the Ellis Glenn trial today, Phillip White, of Marietta, said he was a bosom companion of Bert Glenn when he lived there. They had gone out together and enjoyed the companionship of women on many occasions, as well as other worldly amusements, but Glenn had a scar on his arm and said he got it in a railroad wreck.

He was allowed to examine Ellis Glenn's arm but could find no scar on his arm. He said the prisoner was not the Bert Glenn he knew and made an emphatic statement to that effect. Ellis Glenn was a detective and was a man in all respects.

Several other witnesses stated that Ellis Glenn limped and Bert Glenn did not. C. D. Foster said he knew Bert Glenn. "The prisoner is not Bert Glenn," said Foster, "for she is not built like him in any respect. Her hair and eyes are different."

The defense announced that they would spring a sensation in a few days. It is believed that it will be the production of the original Bert Glenn.

It is generally accepted that Ellis Glenn will be cleared.

FRIDAY MORNING.

There were various rumors about the court room this morning about several things connected with the case. One of these was that the defense would put the prisoner upon the stand and allow the State to make an examination in regard to the alleged scars on the head and in her hand, to show that no such scars exist, but it is doubtful if this will be done.

The defense has stated all along that Ellis has a brother Bert, and that the resemblance between the two is so marked as to form and features that they could not be distinguished apart, yet witnesses for the defense testify that the Bert Glenn they knew at Williamstown did not resemble the prisoner in scarcely any particular, in height, build or features. The question of identity is getting pretty well mixed.

Squire W. B. McKinley, of Williamstown, said that he was a farmer. Knew Bert Glenn at Williamstown, having met him on the street occasionally. Glenn called on him to examine a deed of trust. Witness said he could not see any resemblance between Bert Glenn and the prisoner.

On cross-examination he said he had never seen Bert Glenn in female apparel. Had not seen Bert Glenn since he left Williamstown until he saw her in Caldwell's office last Monday and afterwards in the court room on the same day. The deed of trust that he examined for Bert Glenn was not filed up.

Re-direct. When he saw Glenn at Caldwell's office he did not think it was Bert Glenn.

Mrs. A. R. Koopman, of Williamstown, knew Bert Glenn when he delivered groceries to her house and did some work about the place. The prisoner to the best of her knowledge is not Bert Glenn. The prisoner is taller than Bert and her face is sharper. Bert had dark hair.

Cross-examination. Witness refused to tell whether she was the same party that was indicted and tried several years ago for beating her child and was defended by C. T. Caldwell. Never saw Bert Glenn dressed as a woman and had never seen the prisoner in men's clothing. Could not tell the color of Glenn's eyes. Glenn was about 19 years of age.

Re-direct. Witness said she was acquitted of the charge against her at criminal court, the judge directing that a verdict of not guilty be returned. Admitted that her daughter had been sent to the reform school and was afterwards released.

A. R. Koopman, of Williamstown, knew Bert Glenn who delivered groceries for Richter. Glenn papered his hall and witness tried Glenn's coat on and found it a little large across the shoulders. Glenn was shorter than the prisoner and he did not think the prisoner was the same person as Ellis.

On cross-examination he said that he couldn't say positively that the prisoner was not Bert Glenn.

Phillip White, of Marietta, a salesman for a wholesale grocery, knew Bert Glenn at Marietta, and had conversations with him. He said the prisoner at the bar is not Bert Glenn. Glenn had a scar on his right arm between the wrist and elbow.

Had examined both arms of the prisoner a few minutes ago in the clerk's private office, and did not find a scar on either arm. Bert Glenn had never shaved in his presence, but saw him prepare to shave. His face was soft like a woman's. On cross examination he said that the scar on Glenn's arm was plain. Glenn told him he was a detective and had been shot in the arm. The prisoner could not look like Bert Glenn even if she was in men's clothing.

Re-direct. He and Glenn had boarded at Mrs. Green's boarding house. They talked with each other about the girls and "ratted around" together on several occasions, as the witness was an unmarried man at that time. Bert said he had detective papers. Did not hear him say that he had to disguise himself. Did not know of Glenn having a fight at Williamstown and having a tooth knocked out. Bert Glenn was not as tall as the prisoner and did not limp. Glenn was about 27 or 28 years of age.

R. D. Hutchinson, of Webster county, a merchant, deputy county clerk and formerly a newspaper man, a writer of acts, not fiction, was put on the stand. Witness said he had a letter from Wm. Richardson, or rather two of them. He was asked in regard to the letter of Jan. 15, 1900. The letters were badly torn and the state objected to their being introduced in evidence. Mr. Hutchinson was withdrawn from the stand in order that he might arrange the letters so as to connect them up.

FRIDAY AFTERNOON.

S. F. Bonham, a laundryman of Huntington, said he knew Bert Glenn early in 1896. Met him in Huntington and went to Williamstown with him on one occasion. Had been in Huntington, left there and came back and said Williamstown would be a good place for a laundry. He came to Parkersburg and stayed all night, slept together and left the next morning for Williamstown, where he remained a day with Glenn. Glenn stated to him on one occasion that he had been in a wreck and had received a cut on the arm which left a scar. Glenn stopped at the Fifth Avenue hotel at Huntington which was kept by Bonham's mother. Glenn had his clothing laundered at his laundry. There was nothing to make him suspect that Glenn was anything but a man. The prisoner at the bar, he said, he could not say positively was not Bert Glenn, but their appearance was somewhat different. Never saw the prisoner in men's clothing.

C. D. Uhl, the next witness, said that he resided near Williamstown. Knew Bert Glenn at Williamstown. Came to his house in 1897 and introduced himself as Bert Glenn and asked whether he had a lot for sale in Williamstown. Witness said he told him that he had a lot and they dickered about it, but did not sell it. Saw him on the street afterwards. Bert Glenn was not as tall as the prisoner, had a round face and heavier shoulders. Didn't know how Bert Glenn would look if he was dressed in women's clothing. His eyesight was not very good. So far as he knew, of his own knowledge the man who said he was Bert Glenn might have been some one else. There is some resemblance between the prisoner and Bert Glenn.

Coroner's Verdict.

By Associated Press. Peru, Ind., July 19.—Coroner Yardling, of this city, has filed his verdict in the Wabash wreck at Cass a few weeks ago. He decides that the victims of the disaster came to their death by reason of a cloudburst having washed out the track, causing the wreck, and that the company is not to be held responsible for the accident.

Convict's Awful Deed.

By Associated Press. Jeffersonville, Ind., July 19.—E. S. Hale, foreman in the shoe department of the state prison here, was fatally beaten this afternoon by Lee Kelly, a convict. Kelly brained the foreman with a piece of shafting while some women visitors looked on. The women were thrown into a panic.

Ridiculed the Idea.

By Associated Press.

Queenstown, July 19.—Mrs. Danl. Hanna, who was a passenger on the Campanla from New York for Liverpool, when interviewed on the steamer in the Queenstown harbor, said her trip to Europe was entirely one of pleasure and that its duration would depend on circumstances. She asserted that she was not aware of having left New York under sensational circumstances. Her two boys were with her and she ridiculed the idea that she could be separated from them. Baroness De Pallandt, who accompanied Mrs. Hanna, said the reports about Mrs. Hanna outwitting her husband and detectives in New York city were exaggerated. The party proceeded for Liverpool.

At the Golden Gates.

By Associated Press.

San Francisco, Cal., July 19.—The delegates to the International Epworth League settled down to business this morning. The missionary feature of religious effort being dwelt upon at length by many of the speakers. Well attended prayer services were held at sunrise in several churches and at 9 o'clock the convention meetings were called to order in the Mechanics' Pavilion and the Alhambra theatre. At noon prayer meetings for business men were held. This afternoon and evening overflowing meetings were held in the Metropolitan Temple.

WELLSVILLE

Strikers are Angry With Merchants of That Vicinity.

By Associated Press.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 19.—The strike situation tonight cannot be termed materially changed, although many rumors of settlement of the troubles are imminent. Up to 10 p. m. none of these reports has been verified. President Shaffer, however, expresses his entire satisfaction with the progress of the battle and says the workers have gained steadily, while the manufacturers have lost continually. He says up to the present time, the Amalgamated forces contemplate no change in their program, being perfectly satisfied with the showing made.

He says the advance in wages offered by the tube mill workers at McKeesport today will not bring the pay up to the union scale. From the storm center at Wellsville, O., tonight comes word that striking mill men in that vicinity spent an uneasy and restless day. There is no longer any doubt that the owners of the Wellsville plant of the American Sheet Steel Company have many of the town's largest merchants back of them. Much bitterness has resulted. Confronted with what seems a certainty that if the present trouble goes along much further the Wellsville plant will be lifted and brought across the line into Pennsylvania, grocers, clothing men and others are trying to show the strikers say it is energy wasted, as they fish in keeping up a fight. Pressure was brought to bear along this line, but the strikers say it is energy wasted, as they are more determined tonight than before. They are more angry with the merchants. Wellsville men do not believe the promise which accompanies the threat of removal to Vandergrift that the mill from Dennison, O., will be brought to this place in case the trouble is settled. Mayor Dennis openly condemns the merchants for their course and says they are going beyond their province in trying to influence the workmen.

The plant here was running today about one-fourth full. Officials say the plant will be running full in a short time. The reports tonight from Apollo and Vandergrift, where the Amalgamated Association is making strenuous efforts to gain recruits, are that the situation is practically unchanged, but much uneasiness is felt.

Millions of Cans.

By Associated Press. Warsaw, Ind., July 19.—Indiana this week completes her annual job of packing "French Pans." This year she put away between 22,000,000 and 24,000,000 cans that will go out to the markets of the world.

The Jewell Funeral.

By Associated Press. Lincoln, Neb., July 19.—There was no rain in the state today. The damage to corn crop thus far is 90 percent.

Lightning's Terrible Work.

By Associated Press.

Grove City, Pa., July 19.—A fierce electrical storm here today resulted in four deaths and the severe injury of three others. A section crew on the Bessemer and Lake Erie railroad was returning home from work when the storm came. They left the railroad track and hastened to a deserted house at the Pinchalong mine for shelter. Hardly had they reached it when the house was struck by lightning. Howard Corelius and Luther Campbell were instantly killed and three others of the party were rendered unconscious and may die.

During the storm a house occupied by a gang of Italians, working on the new railroad near this place, was struck. Several men crowded into the little cabin. The house was totally destroyed. Darsenska and Zaccaglia were instantly killed and several companions were severely shocked, one or two of whom may die.

Must Provide Money.

By Associated Press.

New York, July 19.—Comptroller of the Currency Dawes, Forest Raynor, receiver of the Seventh National Bank, and the counsel of the bank, held a conference today after which it was stated that unless the directors within two week further time provided money to pay the claims of all depositors in full, the receiver is directed to institute suit to protect the legal rights of the depositors.

THIRD VOLUME

Of Maclay's History May be Excluded From Naval Academy.

By Associated Press.

Washington, D. C., July 19.—The Secretary of the Navy has decided that the third volume of Maclay's history of the Spanish-American war shall not be used as a text book at the Naval Academy unless the obnoxious language it contains in characterizing the action of Rear Admiral Schley is eliminated. He says he never saw the account of the battle of Santiago and the criticisms of Schley until after the book was published.

WIRE'S McKINLEY.

By Associated Press.

Baltimore, Md., July 19.—General Felix Angus, publisher of the Baltimore American, has telegraphed the following to President McKinley: "William McKinley, President, Canton, Ohio: "Maclay's history of the navy is the standard in use at the Naval Academy. In the third volume, just issued, the historian charges Schley with being a coward, a liar, a catfish and incompetent and insubordinate. "In an interview in the American this morning, Maclay, the historian who is a Navy Department clerk, classed as a laborer and attached to the Brooklyn navy yard, says that the proofs of this third volume which should have told the most glorious story in all our naval annals, were submitted to Secretary Long and Admiral Sampson and approved by them in advance of publication, also that Long put him in his present position after he had read and approved this scurrilous attack on Schley. These proofs were also submitted to Dewey, who refused to read them. If aught were needed to convince any fair minded man that a clique in the Navy Department has conspired to traduce the hero of Santiago and that the conspiracy was carried into execution while that brave and gallant officer was suffering expatriation on the fever infested coast of South America, this should furnish it. Will you, Mr. President, in view of all this, sit quietly by and permit these conspirators to continue their diabolical work? Every justice loving American appeals to you to intervene in the name and for the sake of fair play. Next to being right all the time, which no man ever was, the best thing is to find out as soon as possible that you are wrong and right yourself immediately." (Signed.) FELIX AGNUS, Publisher Baltimore American.

ATTEMPT

To Assassinate a Marshal Who Exercised Too Much Authority.

By Associated Press.

Flora, Ind., July 19.—About one o'clock this morning a would-be assassin attempted the life of Thomas Collins, night marshal, by firing a shot at him across the street. There is considerable feeling here against Collins and it is alleged that he exercised too much authority. Recently he issued an order to arrest the first person found smoking a cigarette inside the corporate limits.

Suspicious Articles Found.

Wednesday morning when the workmen at the court house began to fire up for the day's work, two suspicious articles were found in the coal. They were about an inch and a half in diameter and about four inches long and had a projection on one end resembling a percussion. Another was found in a box of lemons at the fruit stand opposite. There was considerable excitement at the time and one was handed to Marshal Dye, who pronounced it a part of a dark lantern. However, no one seems to have had the courage necessary to open these strange things and it is reported the affair is being kept quiet and secret investigation made. This would seem to indicate that there was something about the cylinders that was somewhat dangerous. If it turns out that the cylinders really are shells, what the object could be in placing them in these positions remains to be discovered. The solution of this would undoubtedly ease the minds of some people who are employed on the new court house, and it is hinted that the contractors would be relieved of much worry.

His wife also remains to mourn the loss of her protector. Mr. and Mrs. Hoppman celebrated their golden wedding in 1899.

The funeral services will be held at the house by Rev. Brinkman. The time for the funeral had not been set when the paper went to press.

Used a Coal Fork.

Mose Schuman and Ben Wiley became engaged in an altercation last night in the alley back of the St. Cloud hotel.
