The National board of trade which met in Washington last week was addressed by Hon. Carter Glass of Virginia on the subject of Currency reform. Mr. Glass censured the business men of the country for their lack of interest in financial problems and blamed them for the present unsatisfactory state of our currency. It is an unfortunate fact that business men know so lamentably little about scientific finances. Our currency is so inelastic that when business begins to boom, the volume of currency fails to expand sufficiently to meet the requirements of the booming business, hence, we are liable in the midst of the most prosperous period to be thrown into the vortex of a financial panic, which is exactly what happened in 1907 and also in 1893. In fact the same is true of the panic of 1857. This country certainly presents a glorious opportunity for a great financier to re-organize our finances and place them on a sound and enduring basis, such as England, France and Germany enjoy and where panics are unknown in times of peace.

"This town is what its citizens make it," said a wise man, who had had much experience, and in that statement he uttered a solemn truth, therefore if Perryburg is not the ideal town it should be; if the beautiful work that nature did for us has not been appreciated and improved, it is because the people of the town have failed in their duty to the place they call home. It is never too late to mend. The present is the golden moment of opportunity, and every citizen should remember that the fault of the town are but a reflection of those of himself, and should resolve to immediately enlist himself in the army of Perryburg Pushers now organizing for the upbuilding of Perryburg. Get in the game if you are a live one. Bury your old hammer that is badly nicked by too faithful service in knocking, and blow your bugle for Perryburg and Progress.

A bill has been introduced in congress for the preference primary for the appointment of postmasters, which would affect all such officials in the country receiving $300 or more salary. The plan is to hold a popular nominating election, where vacancies occur, the candidate having the largest vote in the nominating district to receive the appointment of the postmaster general and serve five years. The election would be held the same time as state, local or municipal election. This is another bit of evidence of the idiocy of much of the present day reform (?) that is taking the place of the old common sense in public matters.

The Democrats are already showing their lack of ability to do things. They are having a great muddle over the question of the inauguration. They are still undecided as to whether to give an inaugural ball which has been the custom heretofore or to substitute therefor a reception by the President to be held in the Capitol Building.

This time the common finger bowl used by many patrons of a restaurant is banned as a disease spreader. How about the common finger of the waiter?

Hope that fellow that has explored the interior of the Sphinx will reveal the mechanism by which the lady is made to maintain her silence.

DeWolf Hopper's fourth wife is suing him for divorce and Nat Goodwin's publicity preserve is being ruthlessly invaded.

Gov. Wilson seems determined to let the cabinet situation go into extra innings.

An optimist is a man who lays by a little sunshine for a rainy day.

FREE-HITTERS AND CHOKERS.

This world is divided between free hitters and bat-chokers, but to understand the simile you must be a fan, or at least have the confidence of a fan who will lead you through the door of wisdom. The free-hitter, be it known, is the batsman of the supercilious eye who begins his swing away back over his shoulder, brings it round like a yacht's boom gifting in a strong wind and drives the ball over the left field fence or—misses it. He is the producer of home runs and three-baggers and is the recipient of adulation and automobiles. He is Speaker and Jackson and Doyle and the world-famous Casey. The bat-choker is different, says the New Orleans Times-Democrat. He is the man who slides his hand well down onto the swell of the bat, where, with a longer leverage, he can make a quick jab at the speeding sphere. He is content if he scratches a sacrifice or beats a bunt down to first. Nobody loves him, but he wins many a ball game, though even in the midst of victory he feels that the manager has the boggan under him and is only waiting for a bonehead play to touch the trigger and send him to the minor league. The free-batter also reaches the minors in due time, but he does so with head erect and chest expanded, for the free-hitter is such by nature and no reverse can quell him. Once a free-hitter always one, no matter what your field of usefulness.

THE SAVING HABIT.

One of the most difficult and at the same time most essential of habits to form is that of saving. Of course, there are many persons in all walks of life who, although they are in comfortable circumstances, are so penurious as to be absolutely opposed to parting even with their pennies. Their very lives are controlled by the idea of getting along with as little as possible even at the risk of earning for themselves a reputation for stinginess. Such persons, however, make up a class all to themselves, and generally deserve the contempt in which they are held by their fellow-beings. On the other hand, the spendthrift deserves as much, if not more, condemnation, perhaps, for the facility with which he allows his often hard-earned money to slip through his hands. There is a golden mean between these two extremes of character and it is found in the ability of a man to save from his earnings sufficient for the proverbial rainy day. The advantages of saving may be demonstrated to us in many ways and on many occasions, but it remains for necessity to impress its importance upon our minds. It may be that the manner of living may account in large measure for the universal habit of spending all that we make—the opportunities for doing so are very great and at the same time seem very real and imperative, and it is only after the pocket is empty and we face stern necessity that we are able to discriminate between opportunity and temptation.

DEATH OF JOHN RICKARD

John Rickard, aged 76 years, retired farmer and civil war veteran died at his home in Bowling Green, Wednesday, January 29. He was born in New York state April 16, 1837, and with his parents settled in Henry county where he lived until the close of the war, when he moved to Wood county and soon after married Miss Samantha Carpenter of Perryburg.

On July 29, 1862 he enlisted in Co. B, 100th regiment O. V. I., at Texas, Henry county, Ohio. He served through the great struggle and was honorably discharged on July 6, 1865. Since the age of twenty one he had been a member of the U. B. Church and a devoted christian. His funeral will be held Friday at 2 p. m. from the U. B. Church at Dowling, where he was a member.

Four daughters and one son survive him—Mrs. E. S. DeVerna, of Perryburg; Mrs. W. H. McKee, of Haskins; Mrs. Mellie Bennington of Bowling Green; Mrs. Henry Berthistle of Haskins and Sherman Rickard at home. Many friends mourn his departure.

CONFIRMED TESTIMONY

The Kind Journal Readers Cannot Doubt.

Doan's Kidney Pills have stood the test.

The test of time—the hardest test of all.

Thousands gratefully testify. To quick relief—to lasting results. Journal readers can no longer doubt the evidence.

It's convincing testimony—twice-told and well confirmed. Journal readers should profit by these experiences.

Erwin Bruce, Fifth St., Perryburg Ohio, says: My opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills remains the same as when I publicly expressed it in 1905. The benefit I received at that time has been lasting. I was annoyed by attacks of pain in my back and the trouble was always worse when I got up in the morning. Reading of Doan's Kidney Pills, I used them and my trouble soon ceased. I know of other people who have taken this remedy with benefit.

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

We are Easy on Your Linen.

Time was when the steam laundry was the butt of many of the funny man's jokes.

"Sending a shirt to the laundry and getting back a neck-band," was a familiar tale.

But it's different now. The laundry industry has kept pace with the times and even the "jokesmith" realizes that in these days no laundry is as hard on linen as the home rubbing board.

Our laundry is as modern as money can make it. Try us.
