STONY RIDGE

Visited By Robbers Who Secure Money and Jewelry.

Robbers visited two residences at Stony Ridge early Sunday morning and secured about fifty dollars in money and two gold watches and other jewelry.

The home of Henry Reiferd was entered and about twenty dollars, a gold watch and other jewelry was taken by the intruders who were not heard until they were leaving and got away before they were seen by any of the occupants of the house.

The home of Mr. Davies was also entered and at the point of a gun he was forced to tell where his money, which amounted to about thirty dollars, was. He told them that it was in his suit case but his visitors said they had already found it and wanted some more but he was unable to satisfy them when he said that was all he had in the house so they took his watch and departed leaving no address.

He was not able to describe the robbers as he was forced to keep his face to the wall while they were in the room.

During all these years I have used it and recommended it many times, and it has never disappointed anyone." For sale by all dealers.—Adv.

THE OVERLAND ROUTE

Demonstrates the Many Imperfections of Stone Roads.

If the man who enjoys driving his own car desires to test his car, his ability and nerve as a driver, as well as his temper, let him drive from Perrysburg to Buffalo and he will get all the satisfaction he wants.

The worst roads to be found along the route are those of Wood and Sandusky counties, and plainly demonstrates that Ohio has the most idiotic road laws, or, that Ohio County Commissioners have the least sense in the administration of those laws.

When is an "improved" road not a road? The answer is—after it has been neglected until it has become rutted and full of holes—and after passing Le Moyne there is very little of the Fremont pike that can boast of the name of "good" road.

Pennsylvania and New York states can give Ohio many examples of road building and maintenance that might prove profitable.

The Wood county automobile club can demonstrate its worth and usefulness by asking the county commissioners to require all road and bridge contractors to provide suitable and safe detours around sections of road or bridges that are being improved. This is a feature of the work in York state that finds approval by all classes of people who must use the roads. Such conditions are notably lacking in Ohio.

After leaving Ohio I found every mile of the route indicated by sign posts, and in case of improvements or breaks in the road "De-Tour" signs giving complete directions are posted at proper places.

We arrived at Erie, Pa., the day after the flood which destroyed about 50 lives and nearly five millions of property. The city was just recovering from the effect of the first staggering blow.

There is the same "Reason Why" to be told concerning this great tragedy that is so often the cause of similar occurrences, and is directly traceable to the greed and shortsightedness of the owners of property abutting on Mill Creek, a small stream passing through the city. Property owners continued to narrow up the stream until there was not sufficient space for the waters to pass and when the unusual amount of water suddenly deluged the city, the little stream, swollen to a mighty power, swept away immense buildings and tore up heavy pavements, bridges and trees, and blotted out the lives of many people.

All along the route followed by the stream house owners were engaged in re-establishing their homes, slowly recovering from the shock. There were many pitiful and strange sights from that of a beautiful home that had been picked up by the water and jammed between two immense trees about two blocks away from its original location to that of a little girl who was seen searching among the rubbish in and about her home and gathering up her dolls and their clothing which she

SOME OBSERVATIONS

Concerning Nothing Very Serious But Worthy of Thought.

A desire for peace does not insure it. Think of Belgium!

What are those naval inventors doing? An inventor ought to invent.

The revolution in Mexico revolves so fast that it is impossible to see which faction is on top.

"What has become of the get rich quick operators," asks a comp: why they've all opened munition factories.

Our idea of an American who is slow to take a hint is one that hangs around until Villa orders him out of Mexico.

Although disturbed by the presence of our marines, Haiti hopes that the customary disorder will soon be restored.

In addition to its being an unmitigated evil Rev. William Sunday finds war a formidable opponent to his business.

If New York gets hold of the statement that it costs $15,000 to get killed in Europe, all of her gunmen be striking for higher wages.

Since Colonel Bryan betrayed his chief he has advanced his price for a lecture from $300 to $500 Judas was a piker. He got but 30 pieces of silver.

"The American Government can go to h—!" declares Gen. Francisco Villa, a remark which qualifies him for membership in a number of organizations that have sprung into existence in the United States in the past few months.

Watch out for the man who is trying to take the joy out of life. Ten to one he is a reformer for revenue only, who is trying to make things appear worse than they really are, in order to make a place for himself at the public pie counter. He'll get up an organization to fight something that gives pleasure to others—whether its dancing, such as the young folks enjoy, or playing cards, which maybe some of the matrons like, or billiards, or baseball, especially on Sunday, or any other enjoyment in which normal, healthy human beings indulge.

The first thing such a man does is to go to the capitol to prevent the passage of a bill by which people will get some enjoyment. He will try to have things prohibited. He is always trying to prevent something. Did you ever see this kind of reformer trying to have a bill passed that would enable people to enjoy life? Never! His sole idea is to force through the legislature or the city council a blue law to make other people live according to his ideas, or to prevent the passage of laws introduced by other people who may want to live differently. The world is sad enough without losing our pleasures. There is no place in these red-blooded days for blue laws. The pasty-faced complexion has gone out of style and the ruddy glow of health tells that we are living the right way. The healthy man and woman, who loves life and the good things he can get from it, is a better citizen by far than the dyspeptic and selfish reformer who is reforming for a living or to make other people as miserable as himself.

Woman loves a clear, rosy complexion. Burdock Blood Bitters is splendid for purifying the blood, clearing the skin, restoring sound digestion. All druggists sell it. Price, $1.00.

ANOTHER VICTORY

Perrysburg Defeated the Fast Clarks Semi-Pros. 4 to 3.

The rain stayed away Sunday afternoon and Perrysburg defeated "their hoodoo," the Clark's Semi-Pros. in an eleven inning game by the score of 4 to 3. It should have been a shutout but six errors by Perrysburg were responsible for their 3 scores. The fielding was clean but all errors were made on wild throws.

The game was fast and exciting and kept the fans on edge at all times. Some real and some poor base ball was played.

Both teams scored in the first inning. The visitors secured theirs when Gaffney reached first on an error and went to third on wild throws by Mayo and Canode and scored on a scratch hit by Murphy. Perrysburg secured their run when C. Reis was allowed a walk. Hoffmaster sacrificed and C. Reis scored when F. Reis secured an infield hit.

Perrysburg's second run was made in the fifth inning when Kopp doubled and scored on Canode's Texas leaguer.

Kopp scored again in the seventh. He was hit by a pitched ball and reached second on Engle's sacrifice, and scored when Canode connected with the sphere for two bases.

The Clarks tied the score in the eighth when LeLaur reached first on an error. Simon hit to right field. Harper held the ball too long and misjudged the play and then threw wild to first. F. Reis recovered the ball and threw wild to home, allowing LeLaur to score and Simon to reach third, from where he scored, tying the score, when Kramp singled. This ended the scoring of the Clarks.

The good pitching of Engle and a fast double play in the tenth inning took the life out of the visitors and they could do nothing in the eleventh.

Perrysburg came out in their half and scored the winning run with two men out and a man on second and first when Engle sent a line drive to right-field scoring Honner and winning his own game.

Engle pitched a very good game and much credit is due him, while

FALLS UNDER TRAIN

Deshler Man Loses Life While Riding on Freight Train.

On Tuesday afternoon, Wm. Eillett, 39, of Deshler was so badly injured when he fell under a freight train at Hull Prairie that he died after being taken to a hospital in Perrysburg.

He had boarded a freight train at Haskins but had been put off by the engineer at Hull Prairie and in attempting to get back on he lost his hold and fell under the wheels and had both legs cut off above his knees.

He was immediately picked up by the crew of another train which was standing on the side track and brought to Perrysburg and taken to the Bowers hospital where he died about four hours later.

The body was taken to Witzler's undertaking rooms and prepared for burial and then taken to the home of his sister in Toledo.
