Sour Stomach.
This is a mild form of indigestion. It is usually brought on by eating too rapidly or too much, or of food not suited to your digestive organs. If you will eat slowly, masticate your food thoroughly, eat but little meat and none at all for supper, you will more than likely avoid the sour stomach without taking any medicine whatever. When you have sour stomach take one of Chamberlain's Tablets to aid digestion.

FROM OVER-SEAS

Capt. Eberly Writes of His Voyage to the Other Side.

Enroute New York to France.

Twenty-two hours out from New York. Although the wind is blowing rather a stiff gale the boat is rolling only a little. This boat is one of the Allies' regular passenger steamers, a two-stacker with a lot of speed. Of course there is a large assortment of people aboard, including many women and children. The strangest thing to me is to see so many people around who talk in an unfamiliar language. Fortunately we have an expert linguist in this unit who is able to get us through with any of the foreigners. Our commanding officer is the commanding officer (medical) of the ship, so there is some work to do. I'm certainly glad I'm on my way and will be able to do my part on this side. We get the war news by wireless every day. Every 12 hours they advance the clock 20 minutes to make up the difference in time.

This is the third day out. Yesterday we made 371 miles and now we are about one-third of the way over. We entered the gulf stream yesterday and since then it has been much warmer—with a heavy rain. I suppose soon the submarine scare will come and then there will be excitement. Many of the people on board have crossed many times and they don't give the submarines much thought.

We have now covered 1,745 miles in five days, so you see we are not wasting much time. Everyone is happy on board and no one would think there was any danger ahead. Tomorrow night there will be a big concert given by a St. Louis quartette and a metropolitan singer.

The concert last night was a success and much money was obtained for the French wounded. We are now well in the submarine zone, but no one appears at all fussed. Everything is in readiness for an attack. Last night we slept in our clothes. In the smoker the night owls had a good excuse to sit up late. That they did, unconcernedly playing cards, chess and checkers, and not worrying a bit. It is terribly cold today. We are just completing our eighth day out and it won't be long before we land.

Today is the morning of the tenth day and land is in sight. The trip has been enjoyable and absolutely perfect. We are quite properly protected now and will land in port this evening—get off tomorrow a. m. I'm not going to see England this time. I wasn't seasick at all—but the ocean was comparatively smooth.

Write often and regular, repeating important news at least in three different letters at different times.

An American Camp in France.
May 18, 1918.
I am now completely "over there." There is an abundance of unusual scenery over here—it's quite beautiful. Of course many strange and unusual sights come to notice all the time.

"Abstain From Wheat Until Harvest; Use Sugar With Great Economy."

The following appeal has just been issued by Herbert Hoover, United States Food Administrator, through the churches and fraternal organizations of Ohio:

THE confidence of the United States Food Administration that the people of the country would respond enthusiastically and whole heartedly, upon presentation of the facts, to any necessary requests for reduction in consumption of food has been fully justified. We have demonstrated our ability not only to think together, but to act together. This response of the people is the reason for the present appeal.

Our work is not yet complete. In spite of the encouraging results of our efforts, in spite of the fact that our exports of food stuffs are constantly increasing and are approaching the minimum requirements abroad, the need for renewed devotion and effort is pressing. While all the requirements of the Food Administration should be constantly observed, there are certain matters which I desire to stress at this time.

In the case of meat and meat products the necessities for shipment abroad are very great. Whereas the allied consumption has been reduced to an average of about one and one-quarter pounds per person per week, we are today enjoying an average of about three and one-quarter pounds per person per week. This division is inequitable. An understanding of these facts will justify our request that the consumption of all meats, including poultry, as nearly as possible, be reduced to two pounds per week per person over four years of age.

In the case of sugar we are embarrassed by the necessity of using ships for carrying our soldiers and feeding the allies, and, in consequence, WE MUST USE SUGAR WITH GREAT ECONOMY. We must emphasize the importance of canning and preserving on a large scale among our people this summer and our available sugar must be conserved for this purpose.

But the situation with regard to wheat is the most serious in the food supply of the Allied world. If we are to satisfy the minimum wheat requirements of our armies and the allies and the suffering millions in the allied countries, our consumption of wheat in the United States until the next harvest must be reduced to approximately one-third of normal. It is inconceivable that we should fall in this crisis. For each of us who can personally contribute to the relief of human suffering, it is a privilege, not a sacrifice.

All elements of our population can not bear this burden equally. Those engaged in physical labor need a larger bread ration than those in sedentary occupations. Because of the constant daily employment of women and the lack of home baking facilities, many households in large urban centers require a food ration already prepared, such as the bakers standard Victory bread loaf. Furthermore, we must constantly safeguard the special requirements of children and invalids.

To meet the situation abroad and to prevent serious suffering at home it is imperative that all those whose circumstances permit shall ABSTAIN FROM WHEAT AND WHEAT PRODUCTS IN ANY FORM UNTIL THE NEXT HARVEST. It is realized and deeply appreciated that many organizations and some communities have already agreed to follow this plan.

It is hoped that you will communicate this to your organization and your community, urging those whose circumstances will permit to join with us and take this stand.

HERBERT HOOVER.

RED CROSS FLASHES

Over 200 Contributors Bring in 448 Dozen of Eggs.

An appeal to everyone in this locality to contribute all the eggs their hens laid on Decoration Day to the Home Boys fund in the Red Cross amounted to figures that demand much credit.

At the Kazmaier grocery there were 227 dozen, the Hoffman grocery 150 dozen, and the Lime City district contributed 71 dozen, making a total of 448 dozen eggs. The selling price, 30 cents per dozen brought $134.40, with cash contributions amounting to $20.70, raised the total day's drive to $155.10.

Wm. Uthoff contributed his entire day's gathering, 21 dozen, for which he deserves much credit.

Recently Lime City district, through Mr. T. H. Tinney as chairman, raised $25.00 cash contributions, which were turned over to the local Red Cross.

On Friday evening last an ice cream social was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. DeVerna and the entire proceeds amounting to $10.50 was also contributed to the Red Cross.

The play, "Claim Allowed," repeated on last Wednesday night by the P. H. S. students for the benefit of the Red Cross was well attended, as shown by the proceeds, $57.25, and after deducting the necessary expenses, $10.70, Prof. Neitz was pleased to present $46.55 to the cause of humanity.

Perrysburg and the surrounding neighborhood are ever ready to help in a worthy cause, and let us hope it shall continue ever thus.

Has a Good Opinion of Chamberlain's Tablets.

"Chamberlain's Tablets are a wonder. I never sold anything that beat them," writes F. B. Tresssey, Richmond, Ky. When troubled with indigestion or constipation give them a trial.

When the people of Wood county go to the polls in August for the purpose of nominating a Republican county ticket, they will find the name of I. L. Stinebaugh as a candidate for Surveyor. Mr. Stinebaugh has been connected with the office of County Surveyor for several years and is not only a very capable civil engineer, but is also well acquainted with the affairs of the county by reason of long experience in the work. Those who know him, and especially those who have had business with him, know full well that he is not only worthy and capable, but that he will give efficient and honest service if placed in the important office of County Surveyor.

A healthy man is a king in his own right; an unhealthy man an unhappy slave. For impure blood and sluggish liver, use Burdock Blood Bitters. On the market 35 years. $1.35 a bottle.

Mr. Frank Wilson was over in Perrysburg a few days since in the interest of his candidacy for the nomination for Recorder of Wood county. Frank is now the deputy and is very familiar with the office work. Frank's early days were spent in Perrysburg where he started his career in life as a cub in the Journal office. He was a faithful, honest kid and although he has strayed away from the business we have every reason to believe that he still remains in the list of worthy and honorable citizens, thoroughly capable of giving honorable service to the people of the county if he is elected as Recorder.

Whooping Cough.
In this disease it is important that the cough be kept loose and expectoration easy, which can be done by giving Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mrs. P. H. Martin, Peru, Ind., writes: "My two daughters had whooping cough. I gave them Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and it worked like a charm."

SUBSTITUTE FOR COAL

Wood Should Be Used for Fuel Whenever Possible.

By Edmund F. Secrest, State Forester for Ohio.

When our forefathers settled in Ohio wood was practically the only fuel used. Supplies were at their doors, and easily available from the debris of land clearing. With the advent of transportation lines and industries, came the development of the coal and gas fields. Gradually fire wood was virtually driven out of the market. It was worth more 50 years ago than prior to the outbreak of the great war. Cordwood cutting during later years has become a lost art.

Today we are confronted by a serious shortage in coal which threatens to jeopardize the productive capacity of war industries and cause suffering among domestic consumers. To relieve this situation is one of the big problems in carrying on the war. The production of large quantities of wood fuel is essential to meet the situation. To stimulate such production and to increase the use of wood fuel to the necessary degree will require a vigorous campaign of education. The question of preparedness and results may be commensurate only with the efforts exerted.

The farmers of Ohio control the fuel wood supply. They must be looked to in the main to produce the needed reserves, but labor difficulties on farms may seriously handicap the production of needed supplies. Residents of cities and towns may help out in this emergency by applying some of their idle hours or such time set aside for recreation.

And now comes Webster township with a candidate for County Commissioner. Well, there is no reason why good old Webster should not be recognized and we know of no one over there who is more entitled to that recognition than their announced candidate, Mr. Joseph A. Steble, whose name will appear on the list from whom the Republicans will select candidates at the August primaries.

Cholera Morbus.
This is a very painful and dangerous disease. In almost every neighborhood someone has died from it before medicine could be obtained or a physician summoned. The right way is to have a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy in the house so as to be prepared for it. Mrs. Charles Eneyart, Huntington, Ind., writes: "During the summer of 1911 two of my children were taken sick with cholera morbus. I used Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy and it gave them immediate relief."

SHOW YOUR LOYALTY

By Pledging on June 28 to Buy War Savings Stamps.

Secretary of the Treasury William G. McAdoo authorizes the following statement:

It is essential that the American people economize and save in order to make available to their government the money indispensably needed for the war and to release supplies and labor required for the production of things necessary for our own military forces and for the military forces of the nations associated with us. One of the best methods of bringing about this result is for every one to pledge himself to economize and save and to purchase, at definite periods, a specific amount of War Savings Stamps, thus giving concrete evidence of his support of the practice of War Savings.

To achieve this object, there will be conducted, under the direction of the Treasury Department, a campaign of pledges, culminating on June 28, when loyal Americans throughout the country will be asked to commit themselves to this program.
