

KIRK'S WHITE CLOUD FLOATING SOAP THE CHIEF For the Bath, Toilet and Laundry. Snow White and Absolutely Pure. JAS. S. KIRK & CO., CHICAGO.

Springfield Republic REPUBLICAN NATIONAL TICKET (Election Tuesday, November 6, 1888.) For President, BENJAMIN HARRISON, of Indiana. For Vice-President, LEVI F. MORTON, of New York.

REPUBLICAN STATE TICKET. For Secretary of State, DANIEL J. RYAN, of Toledo. For Supreme Judge, JOSEPH P. BRADBURY, of Meigs. For Member Board of Public Works, WILLIS S. JONES, of Pike.

REPUBLICAN COUNTY TICKET. For Sheriff, A. J. BAKER. For Treasurer, GEORGE W. COLLETT. For Prosecuting Attorney, CHASE STEWART. For County Commissioner, R. N. ELDER. For Intendant Director, JAMES BURFORD. For County Surveyor, WILLIAM SHARON.

TO THE WORKINGMEN OF THE UNITED STATES—IF YOU WILL AGREE TO LIVE IN AS POOR A HOUSE AND EAT AS POOR FOOD AND RECEIVE AS LOW WAGES AS THE PEOPLE IN ENGLAND RECEIVE WE CAN PRODUCE AS CHEAP GOODS AS A DEMOCRATIC ADMINISTRATION WANTS TO SEE.—[JAMES G. BLAINE.]

MAINE AND HER MAN BLAINE. We have heard from the president, and from Maine—from one in the morning and from the other in the evening of the same day—September 10th, the anniversary of Oliver H. Perry's victory over the British, on Lake Erie. The Maine victory is also a triumph over the British idea of free trade—for America, in the interest of England. Therefore, what the patriotic people hear from Maine will please them better than the specious and fraudulent pretenses of the president. The republican majority is greater than any republican majority given in Maine since 1856. Republicans estimated that the majority would reach 18,000, and the democrats, by way of preparing a cushion to fall upon, put it at 30,000. Still they rushed in their orators and boodle and tried to put the republican excess at the minimum. It is a significant fact that the prohibition vote has fallen off at a fearful rate. Men of sense and patriotism do not play with children's toys when the supreme interests of the country are at stake. Therefore, in presidential years, they put their ballots where they can do the best work. Even the plurality of Reed, republican candidate for re-election to congress in the only close district, is doubled!

All honor to the republicans of Maine, and to their great leader, Mr. Blaine, whose hand is still strong. Four years ago, when Blaine was a candidate for the presidency, the republican plurality in September was 19,709, and in November 30,000. In 1888 the republican plurality was 12,651. This stirring paragraph on the Maine election is from a Cincinnati Commercial Gazette (doubled) editorial:

According to Mr. Blaine's estimate, no doubt made with great care, in his dispatch to Harrison, the gain on the republican plurality of 1886—and the gubernatorial vote of one year is properly compared with that of another—in between seven and eight thousand, and the gain over the vote in September of the (garbled year) is twenty thousand. The whole showing is that the republican party is, in this year, extraordinarily good form and marching straight to victory. From Maine to Oregon, by way of Vermont, the story is the same. The Cleveland administration scores another bitter disappointment in Maine. The signs are all auspicious for the election of Harrison and Morton. The presidential election is eight weeks from today.

We fear that the almost unprecedented republican majority in Maine—30,000, with a clean sweep of the congressmen, legislators and nearly all the counties and cities, will not be up to the mark of the democrats. But a similar state of affairs undoubtedly exists in Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Indiana and the Pacific states, and we feel sure that we shall reach their highest figure (for us) in November. They have only to wait two months to look upon the dimensions of the grandest republican victory every known in the country.

MR. CLEVELAND'S LETTER OF ACCEPTANCE. Mr. Cleveland's letter of acceptance was given to the people of the country in the newspapers issued on the 10th of September. Twenty-four hours have passed, and yet no revolution has occurred. There was something of a racket in Maine, but it is not understood that Mr. Cleveland draws either inspiration or comfort from it. Impressed as he was with the sublime spectacle he presented, in accepting a renomination which he demanded of his slavish subjects, assembled at St. Louis—in accepting a renomination which he had declared, in his own hand-writing over his own signatures, four years before, that he could not accept, he, no doubt, expected that the splendid display of pig-headed personality would fill the hopes and paralyze the arms of the sturdy republicans of the Penobscot region. But the spectacle did not manage to paralyze them worth a cent. The circus went on as usual, and with the largest measure of success, although the clown whose magnificent poses are so funny, was absent at Washington.

But the president is not simply impressed with the extraordinary figure he presents to the world (for that is the way he blushing puts it) but he speaks of the "complete and solemn consecration by the people's president of every faculty and endeavor to the service of a confiding and generous nation of free men." That is good—rather too good for the circumstances. We have had nearly four years of this "solemn consecration" administered by a president elected, nominally, through a series of accidents and intended frauds, and we may say of such a style of solemnity, that it has a good deal of fun in it—to the innocent and intelligent spectator. For there was a Garland in the cabinet; some of the meanest ward politicians, boodlers and shoulder-hitters in the departments at Washington; and ex-convicts, with convicts still "at it" in scores of appointive offices throughout the country; and mutterings about a surplus, and at the same time an utter neglect to take any practical steps for reducing it to the public advantage; and an obstinate and brutal vetoing of wholesome and humane bills passed by both houses of congress—and receiving the votes of his own partisans. Chief among these vetoed bills were hundreds of just and reasonable pension bills, by a man who, in this second letter of acceptance, prates of "a generous regard and care for our surviving soldiers and sailors." Thereby depends a very much elongated caudal appendage. Mr. Cleveland's "regard" and "care" have been of a most stunting and killing variety. The soldiers and sailors of the country do not desire any more of it. There are no bribes projecting from their persons. They know when they have had enough.

We now admit that the president manifests a good deal of nerve in alluding to "the principles of civil service reform." Some people may be so unkind as to consider it a specimen of pure gall. It will be noted, however, that the distinguished brother who fills the executive chair (with a mountain of flesh) omits to say anything of the practice of civil service reform. There was nothing to say, and the president said it in his usual impressive, if not depressive, manner.

The president's treatment of the tariff is hardly worthy of consideration. It is the basest of hash, and somewhat tainted. It is the same old story, told by unthinking and non-intelligent partisan politicians, and it is false in theory and in fact. It has a fair appearance on the surface, but there is nothing in it. The president pretends to be the friend of American labor. He asserts that he wishes to adjust the tariff so that it shall favor American industry. The original Mills bill—an administration measure—illustrated the style in which our industries were to be favored. Sugar and rice were to be protected. So far, so good. We favor the protection of sugar and rice, and do not forsake the principle because it only applies only to the south. But if sugar and rice are to be protected, why should not wool and lumber be protected? Mr. Cleveland can have but one reason—namely, because they are northern products, and he cannot expect the electoral votes of Ohio and Michigan in this contest. So short a horse as Mr. Cleveland bestrides is soon curried. This is the high morality which the president is preaching to us. A man with a glass eye can see through his fraudulent pretenses.

In a single phrase we may say: Mr. Cleveland has forgotten nothing and learned nothing. He is a sort of human phonograph, and when set going rattles off the same old stuff, in the same old oracular and pharisaical way, betraying only his obstinacy and pomposity. For a man with so thick a head and ponderous a person he is the thinnest of his kind. Mr. Cleveland will take notice that I. The American people want no more of his style of civil service reform, and they can give their reasons, in detail, by the thousand. II. The American sailor and soldier decline to put their interests into his hands. They have had rather too much of his fostering brutality already. III. He has shown neither capacity nor sense in diminishing the surplus or in administering the tariff system. Mr. Cleveland has been weighed and found wanting. He must go. And he will go—and all honest, intelligent and thoughtful men and women will rejoice "to see the 'cuss' removed."

Such life and activity were never seen in this portion of the country as are shown in the transportation of passengers gathering here from several roads, to Columbus. It is marvelous, and it seems strange that such an unprecedented rush of business could be handled so well. But such rushes as these are common occurrences in London. Several Springfield gentlemen remember a day when nearly 60,000 people went from London to Sydneyham, on one road, and returned in one day. Immense trains went out every five minutes, during the day, without confusion or accident. Then, about 1,800 or 2,000 passenger trains, go through Clapham Junction—a suburb of London—daily.

The Australians are celebrating their centennial this year, and the temperance people have invited Mother Stewart to be present and make an address. She cannot go but she is preparing a written address to be sent to them.

It is expected that Mother Stewart's book—"Memories of the Crusade"—will make its appearance in a few days. Cleveland must have written his own letter of acceptance. It is the very image of his dad.

OHIO NEWS. Friends of Interest Gathered from Much. URBANA, September 10.—Z. T. Lewis, a prominent banker, and George Talbot, a newspaper man, have purchased the two leading Republican papers here, the Daily Citizen and Weekly Gazette, and the Daily Herald and Weekly Sun. They took possession yesterday.

The Law Vindicated. NEWARK, September 11.—Two more violators of the Sunday law came to grief here yesterday. The mayor fined each $25 and costs, and gave them ten days in jail.

Typhoid Fever Scourge. PROTA, September 11.—Typhoid fever is raging in this vicinity with unabated power, and west of here, near town, are nine new cases within a range of a half a mile, and all of them are of a grave character. It is thought that the disease will probably prove fatal to Peter Attenweiler, Jacob Brown and Philip Kimmes. This is the second season of this terrible scourge in this vicinity.

A Treatise Collapses. CINCINNATI, September 11.—Yesterday the trestle being built over a marsh back of Newport, Ky., on Huntington's C. & O. Railroad fell without a moment's warning. Seventy workmen went down with the wreck, twenty of whom were killed outright. They are John Donaway and Samuel Singer, both of Neville, O. Donaway leaves a wife and three children. Singer is single. The money loss is about $10,000.

Brakemen Injured. ZANESVILLE, September 11.—A. B. Phillips, a brakeman on a B. & O. freight train struck by the iron bridge over the Muskingum river and was knocked off the train onto the trestle work. Provisionally he lodged on the edge of the bridge, but the critical could not reach him. The base of his skull was crushed and he was terribly injured internally. It is not believed he will live through the day. His home is in Newark, Ohio.

Ohio Pensions. WASHINGTON, September 11.—The following pensions were granted to Ohioans: Increase—Francis E. Wexler, Preston; John W. Barrett, New Antioch; Albert G. Hamilton, Marietta; Leonard V. Fawcett, Fayette; Henry W. Benson, Waynesville; William B. Augustus, Paulding; (Navy) James K. Cooper, Cincinnati; Hiram T. Wood, Circleville; John N. Slagle, Bucyrus; William T. Kippen, Cedar Hill; William Martin, Deering; Richard O. Wood, Holmwood; (Navy) John Gleason, Dayton; George B. Bartlett, Waterford; George M. Thomas, Farmington; George W. Owens, Wilmore; Frank Rogers, Dunbridge; James E. Taylor, Waldo; Rob Applegate, Martin's Ferry; John Constable, Pleasant Plain; Daniel Stamm, Akron; William Buchanan, National Military Home; John H. Gibbons, Zanesville; John Wallace, Whiteside; William H. Woodward, Middleport; Edward B. Campbell, Cleveland; David Stout, Springfield; Elmer Golden, Athens; Methuselah H. Conner, Toledo; Jeremiah E. Ankrim, Stafford; William Doty, Chillicothe; Isaac Wertenberger, Polk; Frank Denkiner, Moscow; Original—Daniel N. Reinald, Retina; Points, Charles Redge, Cincinnati; Francis M. Wedge, Plainville; Zachary Noland, Filmore; John H. Martin, Armstrong's Mills; Charles C. Chase, Cincinnati; Daniel Ackley, Cox; Jacob L. Bishop, Antwerp; Henry Barkan, Cincinnati; Robert Hill Bethel; Patrick Dignan, Guernsey.

Ohio Fishes. Tom Foley, of Cincinnati, was kicked to death by a horse. A traction engine fell through a bridge which spans Spring Creek near St. Paris. John Spearman's barn burned near Mt. Vernon. Loss, $1,700; insurance, $1,000. Christian Benninghofer, of Hamilton, was seriously injured by being thrown from his carriage by a runaway horse. Rev. Maxwell P. Gaddin, sr., one of the oldest and best known ministers in western Ohio, died at his home near Dayton.

Not a Complete Success. KANSAS CITY, Mo., September 11.—Miss Jennie McKenzie, aged 17, only daughter of the richest farmer of Blue Rapids, Kas., in trying to imitate the feats of a contortionist, whom she had seen at a circus, placed both feet behind her head but was unable to remove them. Becoming frightened she gave a hard pull at one leg and released her foot from the other. Her screams brought her mother, and with the assistance of a physician, the other limb was released and the dislocated thigh set. She is in a critical condition.

Prominent Lady Killed. BROOMFIELD, Ill., September 11.—Mrs. Dr. Zera Walters, one of the most prominent women of this city, was instantly killed by an accidental pistol shot yesterday. Her adopted son, a boy of sixteen, was cleaning a revolver, and Mrs. Walters was near by. The weapon was discharged, the bullet lodging in the base of the brain. Mrs. Walters was an accomplished artist and a leader in all matters pertaining to art and culture. She was about fifty years old.

An Absconder's Defeat. CHICAGO, September 11.—No news has been received at Pullman or Roseland of William Swart, the President of the Rosebank Bank who fled from Chicago in 1886. Cashier Boone, who is endeavoring to straighten out the complicated state of affairs into which the bank was thrown, has made a statement showing Swart's deficit to be $30,000.

Less than fifty years ago there was not a photographic camera in the world; today there are 15,000 photographic establishments, to say nothing of the thousands of amateur outfits, in the United States. A New Jersey news item speaks of towns that were sold for no license. The others, inferably, were liquid. A rumor is going the rounds in Washington that Senator Frye's wife is at work on a "semi-political" novel. The poet, R. W. Stoddard, owns a lock of brown hair that once adorned the head of Milton. Our northern forests are slowly pine-logging away, remarks a western exchange. Spokane Falls, W. T., has arranged for a $50,000 opera house. The French make sugar of turnips.

Men and Women's Shoes. Joints and muscles may escape the arating tortures of rheumatism if they will but "take time by the forelock," and annihilate the symptoms of oncoming trouble with the benignant and highly sanctioned blood depurant and alternative, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Poisons mostly constitute the ordinary means of battling with this atrocious complaint. Avoid the risk of using these by resorting to the safe as well as effective anti-phlogistic and preventive. After exposure to damp, through drafts and other causes which encourage a rheumatic tendency, a wineglassful of the Bitters prevents ill effects. No surer preventive of malarial ailments fever and ague, bilious remittent, dumb ague and ague cake exists, and it is, besides, a most genial recuperator of strength exhausted by excessive mental or physical effort. Miners, mariners, operatives and others whose avocations involve laborious work in rough weather out of doors, or close application indoors, find it invaluable.

SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR. TORPID LIVER. Marked by these peculiarities: 1. A feeling of weariness and pains in the limbs. 2. Bad breath, bad taste in the mouth and a furrowed tongue. 3. Constipation, with occasional attacks of diarrhea. 4. Headaches, in the front part of the head; nausea, dizziness, and yellowness of the skin. 5. Heartburn, loss of appetite. 6. Distention of the stomach and bowels wind. 7. Depression of spirits and great melan choly, with lassitude and a disposition to leave everything for tomorrow. A natural flow of bile from the liver is essential to good health. When this is obstructed it results in:

BILOUSNESS, Which, if neglected, soon leads to serious diseases. Simmons' Liver Regulator exerts a most beneficial influence over every kind of biliousness. It restores the liver to proper working order, regulates the secretion of bile and puts the digestive organs in such condition that they can do their best work. After taking this medicine no one will say, "I am bilious."
