THE SUREST ROAD TO WEALTH IS THROUGH LIBERAL ADVERTISING!

THE HERALD is very well, thank you, notwithstanding the insinuations thrown out by the News.

THE News wants the Third ward to be divided by Centre street. No one objects to that. Anything to accommodate the Doyles will do.

THE division of the borough will be all right if the wards are cut up to suit the News. But then "the people" will have something to say about that.

THERE need be no fear of a gerrymander of the proposed new wards. If it is done at all it will be through influence brought to bear by the Democrats, assisted by the Doyles.

AH, yes, we almost forgot that the News wants the Fifth ward divided by Lloyd street. It doesn't look as if the Doyles were interested in the matter at all (?). We would like to see the Democratic chart made up several months ago.

SAYS a groaning free trade contemporary: "The tariff is robbing the farmer." The farmer goes on selling his corn and wheat and potatoes for better prices than he has got for years, and buys his staple dry goods and sugar and other groceries as cheap, and even cheaper, than before. Under such conditions lying is more than usually unprofitable.

OF the Boyer Tax bill the Philadelphia Times says: The Boyer bill is a substitute for the so called Granger tax bill, and its chief features comprise an increase of the tax on bank stock from six mills, the present rate, to eight mills; on corporation stock from three mills, the present rate, to six mills, and on all personal property in the form of money at interest from three mills, the present rate, to four mills. It is calculated that the state revenues will be increased by this bill about $3,000,000 annually, which amount is added to the appropriation for common schools, which is increased from $2,000,000 a year, the amount appropriated by the last Legislature, to $5,000,000. The effect will be to relieve local taxation to the extent of the increased school appropriation. This is not all the farmers and other local tax-payers wanted, but it is a good beginning towards tax equalization, and is effected without the enactment of the odious inquisitorial features of the Granger tax bill, and without offering a premium to manufacturing concerns to move out of the state. In the next two years the friends of tax equalization will have time to devise some way of further amending the law to their interest without doing injustice to any class of industry.

The Star Company in 1890.
TRENTON, N. J., May 28.—Application has been made before Vice-Chancellor Bird for a receiver for the Star Rubber Company's works. It is stated that the indebtedness of the concern is large, and that its notes are daily going to protest.

AT KEITER'S.

A GRAND WEDDING

MARRIAGE OF MR. YEDINSKY AND MISS FRIEDMAN.

A VERY BRILLIANT FAMILY EVENT.

The Ceremony Performed by Rev. Koplowitz, Rabbi, of Easton. A Large Number of Guests Present—Numerous Gifts.

The marriage of Miss Lena, daughter of Mrs. Henrietta Friedman, to Mr. Simon Yedinsky, at the residence of the bride's mother, on North Main street, yesterday afternoon, was one of the most brilliant affairs of the kind ever celebrated in this section of the county. Miss Friedman is a daughter of the late Emanuel Friedman who was one of the oldest and most successful business men of North Schuylkill. The groom is a son of Philip Yedinsky, of Pottsville, and a successful young business man associated with Mr. Wolf Levine, the clothier of this town.

The bridesmaids were Misses Lottie and Flora Friedman, sisters of the bride. Mr. Charles Trier, of Mahanoy City, and Mr. Lewis Friedman, of town, were the groomsmen. Misses Gussie Reese and Carrie Friedman were the flower maids. The bride was given away by her mother and Mr. Emanuel Strouse, of Philadelphia, acted for the groom.

The guests assembled in the cozily furnished parlor of Mrs. Friedman's residence and among them were: G. Rice, Abe Rice, G. Lefkowitz, Dr. Griggs and wife, Miss Dora Meyer, Charles Trier and Miss Lottie Trier, of Mahanoy City; Emanuel Strouse, Philadelphia; Philip Yedinsky and daughter, Samuel Yedinsky and wife, Pottsville; Mr. and Mrs. George Folmer, Misses Carrie, Laura and Mary Folmer, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Strouse, Pomeroy, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Boyer, Mr. and Mrs. Max Reese and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Wolf Levine, daughters and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Schloess, Joseph and Samuel Schloess, Miss Sallie Schloess, Misses Ida and Hattie Lessig, J. H. Kehler, Misses Katie and Lottie Burkhardt, P. J. Ferguson, Leo Bamberger, Mr. and Mrs. Max Rubinsky, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Goldin and daughters, Miss M. A. Maley, Mrs. Mann, Miss Annie Mann, Levi Refowich.

The ceremony was performed by the Rabbi of the Jewish congregation of Easton, the Reverend I. Koplowitz, and was unusually solemn and impressive, many of the guests being deeply affected by the eloquent and appropriate address of the Reverend gentleman.

In accordance with the Jewish ritual the lights were lit in the room, although it was not darkened. Mr. Koplowitz commenced the ceremony by addressing the bride and groom as follows in German:

"Blessed are those who come in the name of the Lord."

"My beloved couple, I stand here to sanctify with the blessing of our religion the beautiful covenant which you are about to enter into, and to speak to you the word of God, before you join your separate paths to travel the great highway together. Listen, then, to the word of the Bible, 5th book of Moses, 5th chapter, 25th verse, O, that were your hearts towards one another as this day, that it may be a blessing to you forever! That this beautiful covenant be to you a blessing, that this covenant be to you a well of happiness, your hearts must be all the days of life as this day, unchanged. But how are your hearts today? In your heart is to-day the true and unchangeable love, a love that has set aside all the stones that may have hindered you, and have brought you hither to unite your covenant of love. The love that unites you, is not like the love of parents, or the love of brothers, sisters and friends, your love is the true love, the one that is everlasting, that never changes, that is always the same in youth, manhood and old age. In your heart shall be this love, that it will be a blessing to you forever. Further shall be in your heart the promises to belong together forever. This promise must remain unchanged forever. And also, shall be in your heart the fear of the Lord. Remember by His word you will be led. Therefore, let your house be a true Jewish house, open to assist the poor and needy, always ready to feed the hungry and act like genuine Israelites at all ages; then this covenant will be a blessing to you forever. You have arrived at a point to enter a new life, which you have desired, which you have thought over and worked for, and you enter into it with a feeling of happiness and joy; dark and uncertain, however, it lies before you. No one is there who can tell you what the future may have in store for you. You, my bridegroom, chain to your fate the creature nearest to your heart, who can tell you whatever you will always be favored by circumstances to make her always and entirely happy. It is easier to win the heart of a girl and to lead her to your home than to carry her, with never changing love and true affection, over the hills and through the valleys of life. You are accompanied by your friends, while your mother sends her blessing to you from the place where your cradle stood, and the father looks from the elevated place of heaven down upon his son who is united this day to a loving heart. Let this strengthen you in your path of life in the fulfillment of your duties as a husband. And why should you, dear bride, feel not heavy, to-day you leave your parent's house to enter upon an unknown path, and to take upon yourself new duties which are entirely unknown and strange to you. It is easier to win the heart of a young man and to influence him with love than to prove yourself a true and loving wife at all times. May your hearts be towards one another all the days of your life, that it may be a blessing to you forever.

"And now I ask you, Simon Yedinsky, do you take this lady, Lena Friedman, to be your lawful wife, and do you promise to be to her a true and loving husband all the days of your life and never leave her? If so, you will affirm it with a solemn 'yes.'"

"And you, Lena Friedman, do you take this man, Simon Yedinsky, to be your lawful husband, and do you promise to be to him a true and loving wife all the days of your life, and never leave him? If so, you will also affirm it with a solemn 'yes.'"

"I shall now say the blessing over two glasses of wine, of which both of you will drink—symbolical of the cup of joy and the cup of sorrow. United in one common life all joys and sorrows to be borne alike by both."

After pronouncing two benedictions the Rabbi took in his hand the wedding ring, saying, as the ring was one entire mass, not separated but continuous, so their lives in future should be one—a combination of love, faithfulness and unity. The ring is called in German "trauring,"—trau meaning trust, it ought to remind them that it was the ring of trust.

The ring was handed by the Rabbi to the groom, who placed it on the bride's finger. After giving seven benedictions, which are laid down in the Jewish ritual, and pronouncing the blessing, the marriage was declared legal according to law and the Jewish religion.

The bride was attired in cream tulle, train, trimmed with lace and orange blossoms, tulle veil, and carried a bouquet of orange roses. The bridesmaids were dressed in cream surah, trimmed with lace and pink roses.

After the conclusion of the ceremonies a sumptuous dinner was served at 2 o'clock. It reflected great credit upon the taste of the caterer, Mr. W. J. Lloyd. Every delicacy of the season was provided without consideration of expense, and the wines were of the best brands and most excellent quality. The wedding cakes were from the confectionery of Mr. Fred. Burkhardt.

After the dinner J. H. Pomeroy, Esq., the Borough Solicitor, made a few congratulatory remarks and Mr. Leo Bamberger read numerous letters and telegrams from Philadelphia, New York, Wilkes-Barre, Scranton, Pottsville and other points, extending congratulations and good wishes to the happy couple.

At 4 o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Yedinsky took leave of their friends and started, via the Lehigh Valley railroad, for a bridal tour that will embrace Philadelphia, New York and intermediate points.

The presents displayed were numerous and both beautiful and valuable. Many were sent from a distance by friends and relatives who could not make it convenient to be present. They embraced every conceivable article of silver service and jewelry, and, as is always the case with wedding presents, some articles were many times duplicated. The presents and names of the donors were: Bed room suit, Mr. and Mrs. Wolf Levine; couch, Mrs. Alice Mann; rocking chair, Mr. Lefkowitz; ditto, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Folmer; china tea set, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Foreman; Chicago, Ill.; Barry set, J. K. Kehler; table cloth and napkins, M. Rubinsky; spread, the Misses Yedinsky; lambrequin, Gertie Reese; spread, P. J. Gaughan; table cloth, Lottie Reese; towels, Gussie Reese; silver water pitcher, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Yedinsky; engraving, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Boyer; ditto, Mr. and Mrs. J. Schloess; ditto, J. P. Williams; clock, Samuel Yedinsky; silk scarf, Miss Sallie Schloess; dinner and tea set, Isidore Friedman; one-half dozen tea spoons, Sadie Reese; ditto, Mr. and Mrs. Meyer; one dozen ditto, P. J. Ferguson; silver soup ladle, Miss Annie Mann; satin pin cushion, Miss Mary Pomeroy; porcelain plaque, Mrs. J. H. Pomeroy; rug, the Misses Lessig; water set, Strouse Bros.; Philadelphia; album, Simon Trier and family; pair of vases, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Goldin; silver water pitcher, Simon Well, Philadelphia; music box, Max Reese; lamp, Mrs. Rubinski; silver-cake basket, Mrs. A. PERSONAL.

David Faust visited relatives in Shamokin yesterday.

Mrs. Towlebury, of Catswisa, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Erwin, of South Jardin street.

J. Lloyd Evans, of Wilkes-Barre, was in town last night as companion to Elmer Herbert, of Scranton.

G. George Bender, of Pottsville, spent part of yesterday in town in the interest of Wm. H. Wanamaker, clothing dealer, Philadelphia.

Prof. David C. Miles, an accomplished musician of Minersville and formerly of Wilkes-Barre, was among the attendants at the Savage concert last night.

Mrs. Edward Morgan, of Shamokin, and Mrs. Rachel Jones and her daughter, Miss Laura, of Philadelphia, are the guests of Mrs. Mary Parrott, of North Jardin street.

James G. Hutton returned to town last night after an extensive tour through the Western and Southern states. Isaacbar and John M. Robbins, who left here with him, are in Birmingham, Ala.

George M. Israel, trainmaster for the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad Company at Mahanoy Plane, and Anthony Farrell, his assistant, are probably two of the most energetic and reliable employes under the company in their line of work. Notwithstanding the recent time table changes, which increased the already enormous traffic at Mahanoy Plane, they succeeded in getting all trains out of the place without delay. Passenger and coal trains are continually entering and leaving Mahanoy Plane, but it seems they cannot puzzle the gentlemen referred to.

George R. Brown, General Superintendent and Manager of the Fall Brook Coal Company's Railway, of Cornhill, N. Y., and his amiable wife and accomplished daughter, Florence, are the guests of C. E. Titman, of South White street, and occupied a box in Ferguson's theatre last night with Mr. Titman and his family. The visitors are very much pleased with Shenandoah and will remain here for a few days. Mr. Brown's companionship is exceedingly pleasant. Yesterday and to-day he visited the numerous collieries in this district and received due attention from the various officials. This morning he honored the HERALD section by a visit.

Princeton Money Missing.
PRINCETON, N. J., May 28.—Thomas H. Warren, the last treasurer of the township of Princeton, and a prominent candidate for re-election to that office, has been sued by the township for $12,000, the amount of his bonds. It is alleged that several irregularities have been found in his books, and it is thought that some moneys which had been intrusted to his care are missing.

A Railroad Employee Sued for $7,000.
NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 28.—John Griffin, an employe of the New York & New Haven Railroad, has been sued by George McQueeney, another employe of the road, for $7,000. The latter claims that while at work Griffin intentionally turned on the water in a hot water escape, thereby burning McQueeney's body in a very painful manner.

Fruit Damaged by Frost.
ROCHESTER, N. Y., May 28.—There was a heavy frost last night in this section and the damage done to early vegetables and fruits is reported to be more serious than any that has occurred through the same cause this spring. It has seriously damaged grapes beyond a doubt.

Fourth-Class Postmasters Appointed.
WASHINGTON, May 28.—Fourth-class postmasters were appointed in New York State as follows: E. C. Grant, at Farmer's Village, Seneca County; D. W. Carrough, Hopewell, Ontario County; M. C. Bachman, Kandaia, Seneca County.

SEEKING JUSTICE.

NEW ORLEANS IS RESTLESS OVER THE BRIBERY CASES.

SERIOUS TROUBLE IS EXPECTED.

The Newspapers Say the People Will Not be Trifled With—Rudini and Porter Have an Important Interview.

By National Press Association.

NEW ORLEANS, May 28.—The situation as regards the jury bribing cases in connection with the Hennessey assassination case creates much public comment and no little excitement here.

Yesterday it was discovered that a material State witness in two of the cases had disappeared, and the cases in question have been continued until the witness could be brought back to the city.

The testimony required is that of a young man named Leonce Burthe, a member of a well known family. Burthe has been located in St. Louis, where he has relatives. He was a sales juror in the Hennessey case, and it was upon his testimony before the grand jury to the effect that he had been corruptly approached by Ferdinand Armand, a criminal lawyer, that the latter was indicted for attempting to bribe a juror.

Mutterings of Another Storm.
There are many mutterings of discontent. The apparent spiriting away of one of the principal witnesses and the assertion that the law cannot punish bribers of tales jurors have made a bad impression on the public mind and may lead to serious trouble.

The newspapers are loud in their warnings that the temper of the people will not longer permit the delay in the purification of the fountains of justice. The New Delta says: "New Orleans is not in a mood to be trifled with. We would greatly deplore a re-enactment of the scenes of March 14, but on that day the people were destroying not individuals, but a system, and they are determined that that system in all its offshoots and ramifications shall be destroyed by legal and judicial methods if possible, but destroyed."

Rudini and Porter Talk.
ROME, May 28.—The Marquis di Rudini has had an important interview with Mr. Porter, the United States Minister, and the New Orleans question has assumed a fresh phase.

THE MAFIA SUBDUED.
They Are Getting Out of New Orleans as Fast as They Can.

St. Louis, Mo., May 28.—Mayor Joseph A. Shakespear, of New Orleans, is in this city. He was asked: "What is the position of the Mafia at New Orleans at the present time?"

"They are quiet, quieter than they have been for years," he replied. "The lesson taught them at the parish prison has had a most excellent effect, and I do not anticipate that we will have any further trouble with them. I do not think that there are more than 300 Mafia in New Orleans at present, and the number is rapidly diminishing, as they are getting out of town as fast as they can."

"Is Blaine's management of the controversy with the Italian government popular in New Orleans?" he was asked. "It is, indeed, and I intend to make it more popular. In fact, I intend to become Jim Blaine No. 2. The rascals now know what they have to expect if they indulge in their peculiar line of business and can be relied upon to keep very quiet in the future. They know that there is plenty of the same kind of medicine ready as was administered to Hennessey's murderers, and one dose will be enough."

Mayor Shakespear believes that Consul Corte was in sympathy with the criminal element among the Italians of New Orleans.
