CONVENTION CALL.

To the Republican Electors of Pennsylvania:
After consultation and correspondence with the members of the Republican State Committee, and by their direction, I hereby give notice that the Republican electors of Pennsylvania, by their duly chosen representatives, will meet in State Convention at Harrisburg, Wednesday, August 19, 1891, at 10 o'clock A. M., for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for the offices of State Treasurer and Auditor General, for the nomination of eighteen candidates for Delegates-at-Large to the Constitutional Convention, provided for in the Act of Assembly approved June 19, 1881, and for the transaction of such other business as may be presented.
Notice is especially directed to the fact that, in accordance with the provisions of the last mentioned act, each Senatorial district is entitled by a representation of three delegates in said Constitutional Convention, two of whom only can be members of the majority party in said district. The electors of each district are therefore requested to make proper nominations for delegates to said convention, the rules governing the nomination of candidates for State Senator to be applicable.
In this connection the Chairman desires to call the attention of Republican voters to the recommendation of the State Convention of 1882, that "they allow the greatest freedom in the general participation to the primaries consistent with the preservation of the party organization."
W. M. H. ANDREWS, Chairman.

THE "POST" AND PENSIONS.

The Evening Post complains bitterly because the pension roll is increasing at a rate which will carry the number of names on it "up to about 900,000, or more than four times the total as far back as 1878," and asks where is this thing to stop? It ought not to stop until every old soldier who is entitled to a pension gets it. Does the Post dispute that proposition? Does it advise the Democratic party, of which it is an ally, to stop it short of that point? Does it advocate the repeal of the present pension laws? Does it advise the next House of Representatives, which is Democratic, to refuse appropriations for the payment of pensions? This is a feature of Democratic policy, in which about 1,400,000 old soldiers in the Northern states are deeply interested, and as to which they want a definite avowal of the Democratic-Mugwump intentions. Perhaps the Post will give it to them—and then, again, perhaps it will not.—N. Y. Press.

A MOONLIGHT HOP

TWO HUNDRED COUPLES AT LAKESIDE LAST NIGHT.

A HIGHLY SUCCESSFUL EVENT.

Lakeside as Pleasant and Attractive in the Night as Well as Day Time—Moonlight on the Lake.

The man who remarked the other day that "Lakeside is the Atlantic City of Schuylkill county" never gave utterance to more truthful words. Lakeside is an inland summer resort with all the advantages for sea coast attraction and when the improvement company that has it in hand finishes its work Lakeside will be a resort without an equal in the state. It will not only have the water for fishing, bathing and boating, but will also have the race course, the razzle-dazzles, merry-go-rounds, and other agencies of amusements for the young and old. But Lakeside goes Atlantic City, Cape May, Long Branch and such places one better. When the resorts on the coast are storm-beaten and all the terrors of their exposed position have full swing, Lakeside will be affording amusement to the islanders. The lakes will attract the skaters and the immense pavilion will shelter the merry dancers.

THE GRAND MARCH.

Lakeside stands to-day the peer of many of the most famous resorts of the country. There is no place on the continent that possesses more natural advantages and by a judicious expenditure of money the artificial advantages can be so added as to make the place second to no resort in any of the states.

There is a mint of money in Lakeside for the company that has the place in hand.

The Pottsville Republican describes the place as follows: "Lakeside, with its beautiful surroundings, is the haven of rest in the midst of a wide and stretching grove entirely separated from the busy world without. Notwithstanding its roughness of surface and general sterility, the anthracite coal region possesses many advantages as a place for residence and pleasure. Its elevation above the sea level secures pure air and a healthy climate, while the magnificent scenery with which it abounds is unsurpassed by anything in the country."

Much labor has been expended to add to the attractions with which nature has been so lavish at Lakeside Park. Here and there through the woods are nicely cleared walks leading into shady labyrinth, delightful in their retirement. The grounds occupy 200 acres, twenty-six of which are covered by two lakes that produce the finest spring water in Pennsylvania; during the winter, and stocked with bass and salmon, afford excellent fishing and boating to excursionists during the summer season.

The improvement company says that by the opening of the summer season of 1892 it will have a large hotel on the grounds, will have bathing houses bordering the lake and the beautiful knoll that slopes so gracefully to the beautiful body of water will be studded with handsome cottages of exquisite design.

Some farmers who live in the vicinity of Lakeside and who look upon the advent of the improvement company as the red moon viewed the arrival of Columbus says "It's all darn nonsense. What's the use'n doin' all them things. We kin'as us 'n Sunday skulkin' come here and what use'n goin' to all this expense."

On the other hand there are some more far-seeing residents who are most sanguine over the prospects of the place. They believe with the company, that Lakeside can be made in time a resort that will attract health and pleasure seekers from all parts of this and adjoining states. They are also wise enough to see that every dollar spent in improvements at Lakeside enhances the value of the adjoining estates.

Fortunately there are no bayseiders in the East Mahanoy Junction Land and Improvement Company. This is evidenced by the race track which has supplanted a field which some old residents said was only fit for a pumpkin bed. It is also evidenced by the magnificent dancing pavilion that now stands beside the old water-back hotel, a pavilion that ranks with the most substantial, commodious and beautiful structures of the kind in the state.

THE POLKA.

The popularity of Lakeside as a resort in the day time has been established. On Tuesday last six thousand people from all parts of Eastern Pennsylvania were there and there was not one who did not speak of the place with enthusiasm.

A few days ago it was decided to test Lakeside as a resort for moonlight parties. Messrs. Henry Wiederhold, O. A. Keim, George H. Krick, John A. Grant, George Patterson, E. C. Walter, Harry Hunter, H. H. Zillek and Alex. Butler, a committee of arrangements, issued invitations for a moonlight hop and it took place last night.

Towards dusk nearly two hundred couples arrived at Lakeside by rail and carriage. They were ladies and gentlemen from Mahanoy City, Gilberton, Girardville, Gordon, Sismokin, St. Clair, Minersville, Port Carbon, Lansford, Reading, Chester, Pottsville, Pottstown and Hamburg. Owing to the early departure of the writer he was unable to secure the names of all who participated in the delightful affair. The names given represent but a portion and are:

Tamaqua—Mrs. W. S. Hobart, Mrs. Anna Leopold, Miss Gussie Dreher, Misses Millie Krebs, Lizzie Priser, Minnie Kaiser, Emma Bauer, Mary Glassman, May Boone, George A. Jacobs, Ira Coble, Robert Hobart.
Summit Hill—Miss Mame Hobart.
Pottstown—Miss A. Hobart.
Pottsville—Miss Katie Strause, Mrs. Lew Grant.
Lakeside—Misses Katie Brause, Mary Krause, Frank Roth, A. E. L. Leckie, Philadelphia—Miss LeMartre.
Centralia—Miss Rachel Reese, G. W. Reese.
Williamsport—Miss Edith Clark.

Dolano—Alex Butler, Erwin Blakloe, Mahanoy Plane—Mr. and Mrs. Wellington Bertolotto and daughter.

Lost Creek—Fred. Mercur, John Lucas, P. Hunzinger.

Fountain Springs—Dr. J. C. Biddle and wife.

Ashland—Misses Carrie Hunter, Emma Maurer, Amy Johnson, Harry Sallday, Harry Hunter, C. O. Burket, Harry Walliver.

Shenandoah—Mrs. T. B. Fielders, H. Wiederhold and wife, O. A. Keim and wife, E. S. Hunter and wife, H. C. Boyer and wife, Misses Annie Mann, Sadie Krick, Emma Krick, Sallie Stein, Jessa Stein, Belle Grant, Jessa Grant, Emma Wasley, Nellie Reilly, Ollie Lewis, John Grant, Charles Reese, H. Zillek, John Reilly, George H. Krick, M. L. Stein, W. J. Watkins, J. E. Evans, James Hughes, Dr. C. M. Borden, Frank Thompson, Geo. A. Jones, Frank H. Smythe, J. D. Martin, Geo. H. Swanik.

The first thing the visitors turned their attention to was the immense dancing pavilion. The structure, in the language of some of the ladies, was "perfectly grand." Then their attention was turned to the lakes.

Stand upon any of the knolls surrounding the lakes at Lakeside on a moonlight night and watch the reflection of the moonbeams upon the crystal surface as the tiny crafts with their merry voyagers ply to and fro. Just try it some time. The artist's brush has never pictured nature as she displays herself at Lakeside on a moonlight night.

THE QUADRILLE.

Half an hour on the water was followed by a stroll through the grove opposite the trotting park. Then the preparatory strains of the famous Schoppa orchestra signaled the dancers to the pavilion and a few minutes later the couples were marching over the spacious floor.

The interior of the dancing pavilion presents a splendid appearance when illuminated. The plan upon which the building was constructed is not unlike those of the long, Queen Ann style of hotels, along the Atlantic coast. On the side of the building facing the railroad is an outside covered piazza twelve feet wide and extending the entire length of the building. From this piazza a full view of the dancing floor may be secured by means of large windows, with which the building is plentifully supplied. At one end of the building, inside are two broad stair-cases that lead to a wide balcony extending the length of the building, on each side. At the opposite end is a stage for the orchestra. A large Chickering piano rests upon the stage, which, by the way, is large enough for concert purposes. At this end of the building there is an annex, which is being fitted up as an ice cream parlor and restaurant. This parlor is large enough to accommodate nearly three hundred people at one time.

The hop was a splendid success and it will no doubt be followed by a number of like events before the season closes.

Thus the popularity of Lakeside as a moonlight resort is established. As one is homeward bound on the train he overhears the oozing of enthusiasm: "Why, I had no idea that there was such a place in the coal region." "What a delightful place it is. I am sure I would like to live there." "I cannot see why people want to travel hundreds of miles for a health resort when there is one at their door. I am delighted with it." "Shenandoah," yells the conductor. As Letroll homeward I hear the chorus of "Moonlight on the Lake." There is plenty of it at Lakeside.

Thauma, the mystifying. Thauma, the wonderful. Now on exhibition in Ferguson's theatre building.

MURDERER ALMY

A THEORY THAT HE HAS COMMITTED SUICIDE.

THE PURSUIT BEING RELAXED.

Though This is a Pretty Good World There are Bad People in it—Here is the Criminal Record for One Brief Day.

Hanover, N. H., July 23.—Though the feeling against the murderer of Christie Warden is as deep to-day as it was yesterday, the pursuit is being gradually relaxed in so far as it has been kept up by volunteers.

Clew after clew has been run down, only to find that there was no basis for the supposition that the murderer had been seen as reported. So, as nothing promised to come of their efforts, men engaged in the search have begun to return to their own business affairs. As disappointment after disappointment has come to the searchers, a theory at first thrown aside has been taken up again and grows in strength. This theory is that Almy has committed suicide.

In support of this is quoted Almy's expression when Miss Warden rejected his suit, "I haven't anything to live for now."

The Connecticut river is near the scene of the tragedy, and many believe that after committing the terrible crime Almy drowned himself.

Aside from this the only clew left at present which seems to have any possibility of favorable development is that which locates Almy in Canada. It has been wired here that a man answering his description was seen at Sherbrooke, Ont., and was en route for Montreal.

BURIED THEIR CREDITOR.

TWO MEXICANS PAY A DEBT IN AN ORIGINAL AND VILLAINOUS WAY. City of Mexico, July 23.—Leonard Gomez and Eglano and Carmen Leyva borrowed money of Jose de Jesus Ravas, in the village of San Rafael, and they would not pay on time, and resenting his impertinence, planned to kill him.

Gomez persuaded Ravas to assist him in cleaning out his well. The well was sixty feet deep. When Ravas reached the bottom Gomez rolled rocks and adobe on him until the unfortunate creditor was buried alive.

The secret was kept eight days. It was betrayed by Gomez's little girl. She went to neighbor's for water and was asked why she did not take it from her father's well, and replied: "Because my papa has a man buried in the well." Gomez was arrested and the well drained. He now awaits trial with his accomplices.

News in Brief

Governor Buchanan, of Tennessee, held a conference in Knoxville with a committee of the Coal Creek miners, and promised if the men would allow the convicts to be returned to the mines pending action by the Legislature that he would promptly call that body in extra session. The committee men withdrew and will probably give an answer to-day. It is expected that a peaceful settlement will be reached.

The Ocean Grove Association is enforcing the law against women appearing in scant bathing costumes, and great indignation is expressed among visitors.

Judge McKay, the Alliance Judge of Kansas, who refused to abide by the ruling of the Supreme Court, has been summoned to appear charged with contempt.

The general use of pocket dime savings banks has created such a demand for ten cent pieces that the coinage being turned out by the mint at the rate of 100,000 per day.

Representative Clarke, of Alabama, in an interview in Washington, said the Alliance people in his state are Democrats and he was in favor of trying to keep them and their reformers inside the party.

FROM THE CLOUDS.

WILLIAM LOVE, A PARACHUTE JUMPER TEN MILES HALF A MILE.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 23.—William Love, who has been making parachute jumps at Fairview Park here for six weeks past, met with an accident yesterday which, though it may not kill him, will come pretty near doing so.

Love shot up into the air, his balloon being hotter than usual, and when it was half a mile from the earth he tried to shake the parachute loose.

The ropes were tangled, however, and it wouldn't work right. By violent exertions Love managed to shake it free from the balloon, but the sudden shock from jerking broke the cords of the parachute and it turned inside out like an umbrella in a wild storm. The aeronaut did not lose his presence of mind, however, but kicked and struggled until he succeeded in getting part of it to fill and hold, and in this way he descended to about 400 feet from the ground, when it collapsed altogether, and he shot to earth like a stone.

He fell in a corn field nearly a mile from where he ascended. He was unconscious when picked up, but soon revived, and, though seriously injured, may recover.

Politics and Politicians.

Charles G. Palmer, of this town, has been suggested as a suitable person for the nomination for Sheriff on the Republican ticket. While the HERALD believes there are many other available men for the position in the party, it must be admitted that Mr. Palmer would make a formidable candidate and could be elected. He is well known throughout the county as a hard-working and conscientious miner and, no doubt, he would be acceptable to all parties. Although the HERALD is inclined to other material at present, it would not withhold its support from Mr. Palmer.

There are many people who think that one of the Jury Commissioners should be a north-of-the-mountain man, and a Shenandoah in particular. Now if any of our townsmen are itching to announce themselves for the position the HERALD will cheerfully insert their cards at the regular rates.

Joe Wolf, of Pottsville, who is seeking the Democratic nomination for Sheriff, was at Lakeside on Tuesday and circulated as one of the most jovial Germans on the grounds. "Joe" made a favorable impression, as usual.

There is no longer any question as to who the Democrats will nominate for Judge this fall. The nomination of John A. Nash, Esq., of Pottsville, is conceded.

Among the latest candidates announced for delegates to the Constitutional Convention is that of John J. Coyle, of Mahanoy City. He is popular and no doubt would add strength to the Republican ticket, besides being deserving of the honor at the hands of his fellow workers.

Tamaqua's young and popular attorney, J. O. Ulrich, seems to have the inside track for the Democratic nomination for delegate to the Constitutional Convention. In fact it might be put down that he will be one of the nominees, at least there are many who are willing to put money on the result.
