WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, December 29, 1878.

The coldest spell of weather for some years, for the season, ushered in the Washington Christmas and continues still. Christmas day passed pleasantly here, its observance was general. The churches were all open, and the drinking places nearly all closed. There was a marked and agreeable absence of the fire-cracker nuisance.

It is said the project of establishing a mail by steamer between one or more ports of this country and various South American ports, will be pushed after the re-assembling of congress in January. Some of the South American states will pay, much as this government will, for the purpose, and it is thought a direct and profitable trade can be built up, nearly all of which is now controlled by Europeans—if lines of steamers are once established. We have nearly every manufactured article the South Americans need, and we are by far nearer to them than any of the people with whom they now trade. The government expenditure to enable our lines to compete in rates of freight, etc., with subsidized European lines would not be great.

Senator Baine's investigating committee seems to be doomed to trouble. Having passed the first few days successfully, when a hunt for the head and part of the body was in progress—there now comes up the want of breath. The proper accounting of the funds of the treasury seem inclined not to furnish the funds. In this case it was asserted by senators that $20,000 had been appropriated, but there is a hitch in the engrossed bill that makes it possible that work cannot be undertaken by this committee until the democratic house makes the proper appropriation. It is now said that Senator Baine is to have free access to the records of the department of justice where reasons are assigned for the appointment of deputy marshals to supervise the late elections. A resolution was presented in the house the other day by Mr. Southard, of Ohio, calling upon the attorney general to furnish a statement of the number of deputies appointed for that purpose, but Mr. Garfield objected to the passage of the resolution. Probably that report will be furnished, however, before the money required to pay them is appropriated.

Attorney Gen'l Taft, by the way, reported the appointment of more than 12,500 deputies to supervise the election of 1876 in the states of Massachusetts, New York, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North and South Carolina, Louisiana, Arkansas, Missouri, Illinois and California, and the committee on appropriations want a little light on this subject before advising appropriations to cover this large expense. It is a thousand times better and vastly more consistent with the theory of our government, that elections should be held entirely under state auspices, the general government not interfering.

It is thought that a successor to Bayard Taylor, as Minister to Germany, will be agreed upon at to-day's cabinet meeting. There seems a probability that ex-Governor Henderson, of Mo., will be the man. The friends of others, however, claim to have assurances from Mr. Hayes. All the candidates and friends of candidates who visit Mr. Hayes are made happy and they remain so until the appointment is announced. Then it is generally found that "another man" has captured the office.

There is almost entire unanimity among army officers in support of the Burns reorganization bill. Almost the only exceptions are among the staff officers. It is evident, however, that the bill has no possible chance of passing at this session, or without great modifications, at any other session. What the people want—and the wish is not confined to any party—is reorganization and reduction. So certain is the defeat of the measure, if passed at this session, that the friends of General Burnside are urging him to let the matter rest.

FOR THE BULLETIN.

THE FIRST DAY OF EVERY YEAR.

A CUSTOM THAT IS HONORED IN THE OBSERVANCE, NOT IN THE BREACH.

The question with the house-keepers of our little city, this year was, shall we keep open house or shall we not, on New Year's day? Some few decided to do so. Did it pay? To be sure the few gentlemen who were out calling deserved to receive the hearty, cordial welcome they did receive; but the same welcome was ready for all the gentlemen of the place, and would have been as warmly extended to the many as to the few. Year after year the number that call grows beautifully less. Why is this? It cannot in fairness be attributed to a lack of proper exertion on the part of the ladies to render these calls pleasant by presenting their homes, their tables and themselves in a manner both gratifying to the eye and taste of those calling. Neither is it a custom that should not be permitted to die out. Many gentlemen have little time for conforming to the demands of society, and others have less time and but little inclination, but both classes can surely give one day out of 365 to such a purpose. Once it was a pleasure to all young ladies, and many ladies not so young, to decorate their parlors and fill to overflowing, their refreshment tables, for they were sure of a full appreciation of their desire to please. There is a falling off in the expression of this enthusiasm now, and the reason is plainly to be seen in the meager turn out on New Year's day for the past three years. It is decidedly discouraging to prepare refreshments sufficient in quantity for a hundred men, and fine enough in quality for the veriest of epicures; and find, on looking over your card basket that you have been honored by a dozen or fifteen, or may be, twenty-five calls, (two-thirds of the cards bearing the names of very young men, indeed; scarcely a solid, middle-aged man's name among them), and that your elaborate arrangements and tempting tables have been left almost unappreciated and untasted. You have had a long, anxious, unsatisfactory day of it; you are tired, and you ask yourself with renewed emphasis, "does it pay?" And the answer will be seen, next year, in an even shorter list of names of those who will keep open house. Now, I, for one, want to enter a solemn protest against letting this really pleasant custom die out in any such manner. It is a shame. We like to receive our friends. It is a real pleasure, on one such day in the year, to meet all our old friends and our new—a downright enjoyment that we have a right and title to give us by a time-honored custom that is akin to a birthright to all woman kind; and one we have not frothed, and are altogether unwilling to give up. But how are we to hold on to it? We offer all the inducements we can. We really have no power to command. It is not our friends' card we wish to receive, but our friend himself. It is not the number of cards, but the number of our gentlemen friends who show us their good will and kindly courtesy by taking us by the hand for a moment on each returning New Year's day that we prize. The snob who sends his card to our door by his servant, holds him self in much higher esteem than we hold him. And the exceedingly busy gentleman who is so severely taxed that he can only find time to drop his card through Uncle Sam's agency, is quite as highly appreciated as the former; and each card, if he only could be persuaded of the fact, assure himself that the ladies who are so honored (?) are equally as well satisfied with his card, as they could reasonably hope to be by his call. The only remedy that suggests itself, for this kind of profligacy, to my mind, is this: Let every young lady who is thus favored on New Year's day, make a point of sending down her card, every or any day in the year, after, instead of giving such men a kindly greeting, when they do see fit to come, in person. In the meantime, ladies and gentlemen, are we going to give up our long established New-year calling, entirely? If not, who will come to the front and help to re-establish it on its former footing? No one but the old, reliable heads of families can do that. We must have doctors and lawyers, ministers and merchants; our fathers and our sons and brothers and neighbors. And we must give you what cheer we can, and you must come to what cheer we can give you, not but "a happy New Year," we will give it you warmly and sincerely. Think it over, and by the first day of 1880, let us be sure of one day of mutual gladness, be we rich or poor.

LIVER IS KING.

The liver is the imperial organ of the whole human system, as it controls the life, health and happiness of man. When it is disturbed in its proper action, all kinds of ailments are the natural result. The digestion of food, the movements of the heart and blood, the action of the brain and nervous system are all immediately connected with the workings of the liver. It has been successfully proved that Green's August Flower is unequalled in curing all persons afflicted with dyspepsia or liver complaint, and all the numerous symptoms that result from an unhealthy condition of the liver and stomach. Bismark bottle to try, 10 cents. Positively sold in all towns on the western continent. Three doses will prove that it is just what you want.

DRUNKEN STUFF.

How many children and women are slowly and surely dying, or rather being killed, by excessive drinking or the daily use of some drug or drunken stuff called medicine, that no one knows what it is made of, who can easily be cured and saved by Hop Bitters, made of Hops, Bacchi Mandrake, Dandelion, &c., which is so pure, simple and harmless that the most frail woman, weakest invalid or smallest child can trust in them. Will you be saved by them? See other column.

CONSTIPATION CURED.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure for consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using, in German, French, or English. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. W. Sherar, 149 Powers' Block, Rochester, New York.

SOUTH AMERICA AND SOUTHERN UNITED STATES.

Owing to the warm and delightful climates, their inhabitants grow sallow from torpid livers, indigestion and all diseases arising from disordered stomach and bowels. They should, of course, at all times keep the liver active, and to our readers we would recommend Tabler's Vegetable Liver Powder. Taken in time, will often save money and much suffering. Price 50 cents. Barclay Brothers, agents, Cairo, Ill.

THE BUCKEYE.

It is a well established fact, that Tabler's Buckeye File Ointment will cure, if used according to directions, the Escutis Hippocastanum, or Horse Chestnuts, commonly known as the Buckeye, has been highly esteemed for many years, owing to the fact, that it possesses virtues lying in the bitter principle called Esculin, which can be utilized for the cure of Piles. If affected with that terrible disease, use Buckeye File Ointment and be relieved. Barclay Brothers, agents, Cairo, Ill.

IMPORTANT TO THOSE WISHING TO SAVE MONEY in purchasing their winter boots and shoes. We have on hand and are still receiving, a complete assortment of men's boots and shoes, all styles and sizes, of the best St. Louis and Cincinnati hand-made goods, which we sell lower than ever before, and lower than like goods can be obtained anywhere in the city. We also have a good line of ladies shoes of the best manufacture, from a fine kid sewed, to a course grain pegged shoe, all sizes, sold very close.
