THE season for ague, chills, jaundice and malaria, has come and with it the time to put on and wear the "Holman Pad." It is a certain preventive to all bilous, liver or spleen disorders, and should be worn constantly for several weeks. Hundreds of them were worn last summer in Cairo with happy results, and the buyers are all buying fresh ones of PAUL G. SCHUH, agent for this summer wear. He keeps them, new and fresh and of all sizes.

THE VERY LATEST.

GENERAL LOCAL ITEMS.

-"Hydraulic cement" as a coating for a shingle roof is not a success.

-The royal car of the Illinois Central railroad was in Cairo yesterday. -Miss Sallie Rowley, of Metropolis, is in the city, visiting the family of Mr McCammon. -Mrs. C. M. Howe and son left the city, yesterday, for a summer's sojourn in Oshkosh, Wisconsin.

-The locomotives loaned by the I. C, to the I. M. road go over and will remain in charge of their usual crews.

-The news from Sproat's silver mines caused quite a sensation in the city yesterday. Further information is awaited with considerable anxiety.

-Mrs. Mattie Story, of Santa Fe precinct, in this county, died, last Wednesday, in child bed. Mrs. Story was, we believe, a daughter of the late Green Massey.

-Justice Comings was engaged all day yesterday, again, in taking depositions in the Cundiff divorce case. No facts of especial consequence were drawn out.

-The old force of dog-catchers having become capitalists, have perceptibly relaxed their efforts. For that reason Chief La Hue will put a new force on duty this morning.

-There was a rousing crowd in attendance at Robinson's circus, last night, and Old Dan displayed much of the spirit of other days. He kept the crowd in a constant roar.

-Minnie Glover, the frail creature whose name became conspicous in connection with an attempt to enforce quarantine, last summer, died, on Tuesday last, in the city of St. Louis.

-A free back will leave the corner of Eighth and Commercial, at half-past 2 o'clock this afternoon, to convey persons to Thirty-fourth street, who may desire to attend the sale of Ed. Shannessy's residence. Bear this in mind.

-Collector Hodges, in the sale of delinquent town lots, can be no respecter of persons. He has sold the property of several prominent citizens, and can't promise that "he'll do so no more," for he must sell every lot upon which the taxes are not paid, and that right speedily.

-Ed. Shannessy's dwelling house, corner of Poplar and Thirty fourth street, will be sold at auction, to the highest bidder, at at 3 o'clock this afternoon. This is, perhaps, one of the best opportunities for securing a comfortable home, for a small amount of money, that will be offered during the season.

-Morion C. Wright, the general superintendent of Halliday's salt works, coal mines, farms, store and grain trade at St. Jonns, was in the city vesterday. It is not paying Marion an undeserved compliment to say that he looks after more business and keeps it better in hand than any other man in Southern Illinois.

-The Cairo excursionists were warmly received at Cape Girardeau, the citizens there turning out and giving them a public assurance of welcome. It was 4 o'clock the Cape, and half-past 10 when is returned to Cairs. Everybody expressed himself, or herself, delighted with the trip and very grateful to the clever people of Cape Girardeau.

-M. James Hayde, traveling agent for the house of Halliday Bro's has just returned from a thorough tour of Central Illinois, and speaks in enthusiastic terms of the crops just harvested. The yield of wheat is believed to be far greater than ever before known. The crop has met no set back from drought, storms, rust or any other cause.

-Quite a number of Miss Mamie Tay-To be procured of Taber Brothers only. lor's young friends, male and female, joined, Tuesday night, in the celebration of Miss Mamie's eighteenth birthday. It was a very pleasant re-union, and one that must have been most gratifying to Miss Taylor, since it assured her of the respect and friendship of those among whom she has lived all her life.

-The sidewalk, or rather the want of one, on the east side of Commercial from Vincent's new building to Tenth street, is a source of almost constant complaint. At some points there is no pretense of a walk, at others the way is cluttered up and obstructed, and along the whole distance there is not twenty feet of good walk. That the property owners are not making a tuss, is due to the fact that many of them are non-residents. -Instead of a street parade, as a means of advertising, or the use of placarded band wagon filled with red-coated hornthousand of other articles at C. W. Hen- blowers, the James Robinson circus sent around loud-mouthed criers, who stood upon the street corners bellowed out the time and place of the show and elaborated upon the astonishing horsmanship, ground and lofty tumbling, gymnastic and athletic exercises that rendered it the champion show on the road. It was a novel method, cheap, and seemed to be effective. -The Knights of Honor assembled in their hall, Tuesday night, and held an election for officers for the ensuing six months. The result is given below: Dictator, P. W. -A white woman in the vicinity of the circus tent, yesterday afternoon, was engaged in animated conversation with a man,

when some one struck her a violent blow in the face, blacking one of her eyes. Whether the man with whom she was talking or somebody else struck the blow, is not positively known. The woman inquiring for an officer, left the ground. -It was a lank, snarling yellow dog. and for four mortal hours a twelve year old colored boy pursued it, in the expectation of realizing the price of a show ticket. -If the localizer of the daily press could see all the occurrences of which, as a noter-down of passing events he is compelled to speak, he might, even then differ with other witnesses of the same facts. Forced, as a rule, however, to receive his information second-handed, absolute accurracy is an impossibility. The local columns of a daily paper are but a record of what the reporter sees and hears. If he fails to see aright, or is misinformed, the succeeding paper is very apt to betray the fact.

-Our railroads that serve as teeders to one another, are very clever neighbors. The St Louis, Iron Mountain and Southern road having reduced the width of its gauge, was without engines to correspond. The Illinois Central, being well supplied in that regard, placed ten of her engines at the service of the I. M., and the last one will be sent over Friday. The C. & V. has exhibited a like neighborly disposition. The track of the I. M. will be finished to the new gauge as far out as Poplar Bluffs, Mo., to-day.

-At the last term of our Circuit Court, Houston, a colored girl about 16 years of age, was committed to jail for the period of thirts days and sentenced to pay a fine of $25 and costs. As the term of imprisonment has expired, and as the prisoner is in a condition that threatens to render the law responsible for the imprisonment of an entirely innocent individual of very tender years, her attorneys have made application for her release. This aquaintence Gillem assailed very rudely, and persisted in his assault until the acquaintance felt constrained to seize a chair standing in the wagon, and give the belligerent fellow several telling blows with it. Both parties were arrested, but through the representations of citizens who saw the whole affair' only Gillem was held, the other being released. After hearing the testimony Squire Robinson fined Gillem $5 and costs, and, in default of payment committed him

-Among the hundreds of persons who have paid the penalty of their misdeeds by imprisonment in the city iail, scores have left, in pencil marks upon the walls, the proof of their genius. The verse-maker and song writer have been there, and left in black upon the white-washed logs very creditable evidence of the possession of a touch at least of the poetic fire. Men skilled as draftsmen, as picture makers have, been there also; and the gunboat and country home, drawn out in careful and studious detail, speak of the exercise of considerable skill and tireless perseverance. That the blackguard and beast-the man of groveling instincts and terribly depraved nature, have all been there, the contents of the wall furnish sufficient testimony. For the man who has a relish for mixed literature and varied specimens of art as developed in low life, the walls of the city prison is not an uninteresting record for an hour's study.

-A colored individual named Payne, is domiciled with his wife Florence, on Fourth street. Payne is one of the men who believe in subjecting the wife to the will of the husband-that, if the woman would know anything she should ask her lord and master. About 10 o'clock Florence exhibited some money. Mr. Payne demanded to know where she obtained it. and being informed by the better half that "she made it while he was gone," he refused to accept the answer as satisfactory. He commanded her to give details. She retused, and gathering a pitcher, started out for a supply of beer. Payne took the pitcher away from her. She secured posesion of the vessel a second time and started for the saloon; but Payne overhauled her on the sidewalk, wrested the pitcher from her hands and gave her what he denominated a "brisk smacking." Florence sued, Payne was amazed. The idea that when a woman didn't do right, the hus-Louis wholesale List prices for the next 30 Chaplain, C. B. S. -James Madison Johnson, the colored man who was originally detained as the supposed cattle thief who had eluded the officers of Fredrickstown, Missouri, was brought before Squire Robinson, yesterday, to answer for carrying concealed about his person, a revolver and a razor. James is either very thick-skulled, or feigned to be; and if he told the truth his road is rather a rough one to travel. He denies that he is a thief or that he is wanted in Missouri to answer for larceny; and insists that instead of being a thief that he is the victim of thieves; that he came here with the view of going on by railroad; but some rascallion, cutting his money out of his pocket, robbed of him of means to go on. But, in the face of all this, James came into the city, prepared to commit murder, doubly armed, and carrying a countenance that is not, at first sight, or at any other time, very well calculated to inspire confidence in his docility or amiability. The Squire, in view of all the circumstances, fined Mr. James Madison Johnson the sum of $25 and costs and, in default of payment, sent him over to the keeping Patsy Mahoney.

-We referred in Monday's issue, to the arrest of a man named Kilgore, who had been working for Joe Dupovster, and gave, as we received them, the details of the murder in which Kilgore was was particeps crimes. We have since learned Wilford Kilgore, a man 63 years old and his two sons were all concerned in the perpetration of the crime, that the old man and his son William were arrested, but that the other son effected his escape. The murder was committed in Webster county, Kentucky, about three years ago, the Kilgores being tenants of the murdered man, whose name was T. B. Randolph. The Kilgores refused to pay a balance of $50 due on rent, and Randolph levied upon their tobacco. This angered the Kilgores, and William arming himself with a rifle repaired to the field where Randolph was engaged, and shot him dead. They then fled the country, and have been living together in Ballard county ever since. It is believed that the fugitive was in Cairo at the time the Webster county officers arrived with his father and brother under arrest. From here it is conjectured that he made his way up the line of the Illinois Central, and that he is now employed on some farm not a hundred good supply of walnut moulding and wire

He had just stranger, until finally he excited suspicion peen quieted by one of the police- of the police that he was essentially crooked. Making his appearance in the neighborhood of Head Quarters vesterday, he was interviewed, with the view of determining who he was and what he wanted. He be came highly indignant-had been outraged in his person, his rights had been shamefully invaded, and he would prosecute the officers to the utmost limit of the law. To initiate the proper proceedings he started out on a hunt for a lawyer; but soon changing his mind returned to the starting point, and proposed to compromise the matter for ten dollars. Very strangely the officers present didn't accept the proposition-on the contrary, they "piled insult on indignity," by telling the consequential stranger that he was a fraud, that they had him "spotted," and that the only assurance he could have that he would not be called upon to sample prison-fare, would be to put himself, and that right speedily, beyond the limits of the corporation. The consequential individual was dumfounded; he had never been talked to that way in all his life! and a probability exists that he has betaken himself to communities where the fine sensibilities of royal minded loafers will be respected.
