Maude..... St. Louis
Idell..... Evansville
John Means..... New Orleans
Vint Shinkle..... Memphis
E. M. Norton..... St. Louis

GENERAL NEWS.

The Idell had a light trip.

The Maude had a big trip for Memphis.

The Golden City added two hundred tons for below.

The City of Helena was well loaded for Vicksburg.

Capt. J. M. Phillips left for Chicago yesterday afternoon.

Chas. M. Howe returned yesterday, but left his family in the far north.

The Eldorado passed up the Ohio yesterday. John Griffith, formerly of the Pittsburgh, is officiating in the office, during the absence of Frank Shank, who took the remains of his father to Cincinnati for burial.

HUMOROUS.

Mary Anderson says she will not be married, and the young man in the case will have to keep on supporting himself for a while.

The St. Louis papers are telling about a romantic young lady of that city who donned male attire and joined the army. She was detected by her footprint.

Education is advancing with majestic strides, and every year the attainment of a diploma at our first-class institutions of learning is becoming more difficult. Lawn tennis has been added to the course at Yale.

In Algeria embroidered slippers are placed against the wall as receptacles for cards and notes. In this country they are used as bait for unmarried preachers. No man should be without a pair of slippers made by admiring female relatives. Some day he may be able to trade them for another pair that will fit him.

This domestic little story is told about the Princess of Wales when at Sandringham (one of her country residences): She has little tea parties for which she makes the butter in a silver churn, and spreads it on slices of bread which she cuts with her own hands. Just think of a Princess cutting her own bread and spreading her own butter! Besides this, she wears a chintz dress and a little white apron.

"Here is a sketch," said the poet, unto the editor gray.

"That I tossed me off in an idle hour To pass the time away.

"Here is a club," was the answer, in a bland and smiling way.

"With which I frequently toss me off Six poets in a day."

—Folk Lore in Chicago.

That was a statesman. His collar was 16 and his hat was 5. He went to a meeting to orate. He said "ax me a question if you want to no." So when he was a sweeten under his shirt a man hollered and he said, "Wot is tariff axo way?" And the statesman he larfed kinder short, and he sed, "I want no fool around me. I am a b-a-d man, and carry a cane." So he gave his cane a whirl, laid it on the table. Then this orful man down among the spitons sed again, "How much is tariff a peck, any way?" An the statesman sed, real hot, "I am a free man, and I wont be adjourned, so I demand the law." An then the law, dressed as a policeman, got the orful man by the back hold an took him to the Ka-boze. An when in the kaboze he did not ax any more tariff questions, but for the cokochees all night. An the statesman went home with his cane.—Small Boy.

We are glad to notice that the white-winged dove of peace is still hovering over Texas, and that the coarse language formerly indulged in by the journalists of that state in speaking of each other has been discarded, and honeyed words like the following, which is clipped from the Austin Dispatch, of September 16: "There are a pair of curs, one a little red spaniel, the other of the board-yard species, running or trying to run something they call a newspaper in this city. For some time they have been barking at us frantically in the hope that we would review their puny attempts to annoy us. We beg to inform them that, while the ravings of a maniac are sometimes dangerous, the barking of such curs is perfectly harmless. If the brainless apes who are publishing a patent inside near the postoffice in this city admit the scribbles of a cowardly slandering into their filthy columns in the hope that we will enter into a controversy with them, they are mistaken. We never waste our powder on buzzards, but reserve it for more important game.

MARINERS AND TRAVELLERS Speak in high terms of the preventive and remedial properties of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a medicine peculiarly adapted to the wants of those called upon to experience the vicissitudes of climate, the inclemency of the weather, the hardships of a sea-faring or out-of-door life, or the dangers of malarial or otherwise pestilential atmosphere. A small quantity of this agreeable tonic unifies impurities in water, and fortifies the stomach against the consequences of an unhealthy or unaccustomed diet. It also enables the constitution to bear up unharmed against unhealthy climatic influences, and the system to sustain, unimpaired in health and vigor, the fatigues of travelling. Emigrants, tourists, miners and others who have thoroughly tested the efficacy of the article, declare it to be a sovereign preservative of health under condition most unfavorable.

HOW'S THE BABY.

"How's the baby?" His croup is better this morning, thank you, we gave him some Thomas' Electric Oil as you advised, doctor, and shall give him some more in an hour or so." Next day the doctor pronounced the youngster cured.

PAUL G. SCHUH, Druggist.

"TO BE, OR NOT TO BE."

"To be, or not to be" that is the question, whether to suffer from a diseased system and continuous impurities of our blood, or to take Spring Blossom and become a welcome and respectable member of society. Price, 50c; trial bottles 10c.

SLIGHTLY EXHILARATED.

"Re-foi-de Riddle! How well I feel!" Chirped an elderly bachelor 'tother morning. "That Thomas' Electric Oil seems to have cured my lumbago completely. I feel as if I were young again and believe I'll ask the widow to have me." He did so, was accepted and is now the happy parent of a fine boy.

PAUL G. SCHUH, Druggist.
