—Mr. Wm. Waring, the baggage man on the Sunday excursion train on the Cairo & St. Louis railroad, fell from the train when it was near Elco and was stunned for quite a while, but not seriously hurt. His absence from the train was not noticed until it had run about ten miles without him, when the route was retraced with the train part of the way and with a hand-car the balance until he was found lying in an insensible state by the side of the track. He was brought to Cairo and his injuries attended to by Dr. Gordon. He was able to be out again yesterday.

—Yesterday was election day in Ballard county Ky. The most important question before the people was that involving the removal of the county seat from Blandville to Wickliffe. The excitement was, of course, very great and both parties were out in full power; but it is the opinion of persons who were over there that the Wickliffe party has the upper hand and that the seat will be retained where it is. Late last evening we heard the results from the four most important precincts in the county, viz: Barlow, Wickliffe, Arlington and Blandville, and these gave Edngton, the Wickliffe man, a majority of ninety-one over Jno. Davis, the Blandville man.

—Yesterday evening, about seven o'clock, two black women had a lively fight at the corner of Twelfth street and Washington avenue. Officer Tyler came upon them and undertook to arrest them, when they turned upon him and one of them cut him several times across the back of the hand with a piece of glass, causing the blood to flow freely from three or four deep gashes. He finally succeeded in bringing them to the jail gate to where he was followed by a throng of boys, men and women, both black and white. Arrived at the gate the brother of one of the women caused more trouble by interfering in behalf of his sister, and the officer was compelled to take him also and locked him up. The trio will be tried to-day.

—A large, strong mule, belonging to Mr. Julius Serbian, was bitten in one of his hind legs by a snake some time ago, which caused the leg to swell to nearly treble its natural size. Yet it did not seem to seriously inconvenience him and Mr. Serbian, while trying various remedies, worked him sometimes. But the remedies did not seem to have any effect on the swelling and the leg continued to increase in size and ugliness. A few days ago, after having finished a day's work with apparent ease, the mule laid down in the back yard and, after tossing about in great agony from Saturday noon until Sunday afternoon, gave up the ghost. This is the second mule that Mr. Serbian has lost this summer. The first one was overcome with heat.

—If any one wants to see the tendency of the age to gambling, let them take a ramble in any of the business centers of the larger cities, and see the money daily put up on the result of anything in doubt, from a game of base ball to the price of a bushel of wheat at the close of the daily market. It may be horrifying to think of, but there are thousands of dollars dependant upon the death of the president and the czar of the Russias. Taking chances to make or break is sadly on the increase, and thousands upon thousands of the young men of the country can be seen daily drifting into the maelstrom which is making beggars and millionaires in proportion of one of the latter to ten thousand of the former.

—From a copy of the "New Albany (Ind.) Daily Ledger," of Tuesday March 19th, 1861, handed us by Col. Rearden, reference is made in a number of places, to Cairo and other matters that are quite interesting to read at this late date. In one place it devotes nearly a quarter of a column to a description of the wharf-boats and a table showing the freight tonnage from this point of the Illinois Central railroad for the year 1860 and for the months of January and February in 1861. Of the wharf-boat it says: "In regard to the new wharf-boat of Graham, Halliday & Co., the Cairo City Gazette says: The new wharf-boat of Messrs. Graham, Halliday & Co., will be delayed in its arrival here a few days longer than was anticipated. We learn from them that it will be ready about the middle of next week." Here follow the dimensions of the wharf-boat. According to the account concerning the business of the Illinois Central railroad, the receipts in freights of the road at this point during the year 1860, was 299,153,909 lbs; the money receipts for the same was $430,780.18. But that the business of the company increased rapidly is evident from the fact that the tonnage of freight received during the months January and February of 1861 was 125,812,252, and the receipts for the same was $313,339.72. But this rate of increase did not continue very long and during last year, twenty years later, the gross tonnage received by the company at this point was 832,612,500 pounds upon which the charges were $946,000. These figures show a great reduction in freights. The paper also contains a speech made by Senator Breckenridge, in discussing a resolution offered in the senate by Mr. Douglas. He takes occasion in this speech to criticize the first inaugural address of President Lincoln, holding that if the president carried out the views he therein expressed, a collision between the northern and southern states would be inevitable. His prediction proved true, as everyone knows.

A RAILROAD ACCIDENT.

BIRD'S POINT—THE SCENE. On Saturday evening an accident occurred on the Iron Mountain railroad at Bird's Point, which resulted in seriously injuring two men, one of them, perhaps, fatally. A switch engine and train men were employed in making up a train and were in the act of making a "running switch," when the engine and a number of cars were untracked by a cow that attempted to cross before the train. The cars were thrown into a heap in such a manner as to blockade the track, and the work of replacing them was hastily begun. In doing so a heavy cable and an engine were used, and while tugging at the wreck some of the cars unexpectedly rolled over burying beneath them. Mr. Dunnington, the yard master, and a train The former had his left hip dislocated and was bruised internally and externally. The latter, whose name is Sullivan, was also somewhat dangerously injured in various ways. The two men were speedily gotten out of their perilous positions and taken to a house near by, where they were made as comfortable as possible until Dr. Dunnington, who had been summoned in the meantime arrived. The injuries of the men were skillfully dressed and yesterday afternoon the victims were doing as well as it is possible for them to do. The doctor does not apprehend that the injuries of either of the men will prove fatal.

played simply on account of his politics, and I regret to have to say that the chap pretends to be a democrat, when in fact he has all the attributes and requirements of a stalwart republican; the town seems to be finished, as it has not increased in wealth, population or intelligence, for the last 25 years.

Now I opine you would like to know, why in the devil I come here, and undertook to do business? I'll tell you. Unfortunately I was born near this village, at a very early period of my life, and of course I very naturally imbibed a predilection for the locality. I lived, or rather stayed, here until I was twenty-five years of age and have a good many relations in the vicinity.

I had been away from the place thirty-five years, knew just about nothing in regard to the town or the people, was told by pretended friends that it was a bully place for merchandising, and so I came here in 1872 and here I am yet, but hope and trust that ere long I may be able to leave Cleves and its profanum vulgus citizens.
