Caring for the Lawn.

In the Spring months, says the Agriculturist, when there are frequent showers, and the grass is in rapid growth, the lawn mower may be used as often as once a week, with decided benefit.—But in our climate, with its extremes and uncertainties, such fixed rules as "mow once a week," will lead to trouble, if followed. With the first drouth the grass on the lawn shows a diminished growth, and is often really at a standstill. At such times nothing worse can be done to the grass than to cut it. All that there is above ground is needed to sustain the root, and incidentally to shade the surface. In the treatment of the lawn, as in all other gardening operations, some thought should be given to the present condition of the plants and the object to be gained by the operation. The kind of grass varies with the time or frequency of cutting. A fine, thick bottom growth of June grass or blue grass may be kept pretty closely shaven. But many front yards and lawns have a timothy or herd's grass sod, and if this is allowed to grow eight to twelve inches high and then cut, it will leave a good woody stubble, and if dry weather prevails, it will be a long time before a new growth from the roots comes up, the plot in the mean time having the appearance of a burned-over surface, or a dry stubble at best.

GLEANINGS.

The marriage insurance craze has now infected southerners.

Gustave Dore is sketching and painting scenes among the Alps.

There are 9,000 Chinamen engaged in making boots and shoes in this country.

Railroad property in Georgia increased two and a quarter million dollars in value last year.

The abbey of St. Vincent, near Latrobe, Pa., is the oldest monastery in America, having been established in 1790.

Oscar Wilde has unusual qualities at "poteen." Even in Colorado no one could be found who could "drink him under the table."

A Boston millionnaire recently said: "Thank God, although I have been very poor, I never was so poor that I was obliged to live out of town."

Gen. Joseph E. Johnston says that if he had staid in congress he would have become a beggar. He is an insurance man now, and presumably makes more than $5,000.

Some of the richest men in Boston are said to be the ones who could close fast houses and gambling-dens if they would withdraw the capital they have invested in them.

The sheriff of Chehalis Co., Washington territory, advertises for sale all the Northern Pacific lands within his jurisdiction, on account of nonpayment of taxes in 1881.

One of south Georgia's most popular society ladies, a resident of Lowndes county, has cleared this season on an acre and a half truck farm over $250. She superintended its cultivation in person.

Gold is coming in quite rapidly from the mines in the foothills near Oroville, Cal. The large amount of snow in the mountains has afforded the miners an abundance of water to work their claims with.

Professor Schiff, the vivisector of Florence, has used up more than 14,000 dogs in his experiments, and in order to silence their complaints always begins work by cutting their vocal chords.

Capt. Constantenus, the tatooed Greek is soon to be admitted into the masonic order. He will become a voter next year, and means to take up his residence in New York, having amassed a fortune.

The queen of Italy has a nice sense of the picturesque, and in summer never wears a bonnet if she can help it. She takes her afternoon drives with her beautiful head covered only by the mantilla or the black lace veil.

A lady lecturer in Chicago asserts that a chicken should be boiled one hour for every year of its life. The ordinary restaurant fowl would by this rule simmer in the pot about twenty-four hours.

Within less than four months of 1882, 2,991 miles of new railroad have been built. Only in one year 1856, was this mileage exceeded during the whole 12 months before 1869. So many miles were not built during the whole of any one year from 1873 to 1878. It is 605 miles more than were constructed during the same period of 1881.

The oldest deed in America is said to be in the possession of Maj. Leland, of New York city. It was written eighteen years after the discovery of the new world by Columbus. This document is a conveyance of Fisher's island, near the mouth of the sound, from certain Indian chiefs to the celebrated navigator, John Cabot, whose signature it bears.

While Dr. Glenn, the great California farmer, will not clear any money in his farming operations, still he will realize enough to pay all his expenses for the current year. He expects to realize at least 500,000 bushels of wheat from this year's crop. This will give him 30,000,000 pounds, which, if sold at 1½ cents per pound, will amount to $450,000 for the entire crop. He estimates his expenses for the crop this year at something near $380,000.

It is all very well for healthy journals to tell people who are restless and unable to sleep at night to place the head of their bed toward the north, but it does no good unless you take the baby to the other end of the house and place his head towards the south.

"I think" said a fond parent," that little Jimmy is going to be a poet when he grows up. He doesn't eat, and sits all day by the stove and thinks, and thinks." You had better grease him all over. He is going to have the measles. That's what ails Jimmy.

The composer Hellmsberger, of Vienna, once noticed a well-known dramatic author laughing during one of his performances. After the concert he met him and asked: "Why did you laugh while I played? Did you ever see me laugh at your comedies?"

Old Slobson was raking in the front yard yesterday, when he noticed a boy gazing through the picket fence in a most earnest manner. "What are you doing?" asked the old man. "Watching the Rake's Progress," replied the boy, as he dodged just in time.

Incautious use of slang: She decorated her room with bric-a-brac and pictures, and perched her husband's photo on the topmost nail. Then she sat down to admire her work, and blissfully remarked: "Now, everything is lovely, and the goose hangs high."

A growler's luck: "This is just my luck," said the gloomy man at the theater. "Here's a performance going that's so bad it's agonizing to witness, and it's the first time in six months that I haven't had a woman with a bath-tub hat in front of me when I've been to the theater?"

A school-mistress, while taking down the names and ages of her pupils, and of their parents, at the beginning of the term, asked one little fellow, "What's your father's name?" "Oh, you needn't take down his name; he's too old to go to school to a woman," was the innocent reply.

"Is this my train" asked a traveler at the Grand Central Depot of a lounger: "I don't know," was the reply. "I see it's got the name of some railroad company on the side, and expect it belongs to them. Have you lost a train anywhere?"

An Illinois girl lately called at a coroner's office and, addressing the solitary occupant of the apartment, said: "Be you the coroner?" "I guess you'd think so if you ever see an undertaker shake hands with me," blandly answered the official. "You ain't going away nowheres for a day or two, be you?" "Not that I know." "Well, I'm glad to hear it," continued the maiden with an air of much encouragement. "Johnny Bowles have been keepin' company with me since Christmas, but I hear that he's going to take another girl to the circus to-night and if he does I'll swallow p'ison."

The Silver City, N. M., Watch Dog is the smallest of all small newspapers ever laid before us. Although it has just made its first bow (wow) to the public, and is therefore entitled to the endearing application of—shall we say "babe" or "pup?"—it is strong enough to stand straight upon its legs and speak plainly, which it does after this fashion on the Indian question: "And so the farce goes on. Official patronage sends some wire-pulling Demas down to doctor the poor Indian; he sees a chance of some lucre by drawing rations for 500 and feeding 200; the desire to make grows upon him; presently Mr. Lo gets tired of taking his walks abroad—perhaps he has not had his usual luck in taking spoil. It then happens that Mr. Agent has only 500 rations to feed 500 Indians; per centage falls short; cut down the rations a little more—still a little more; red man gets hungry; gets wolfish; gets bloodthirsty; gets blood; soldier gets Indian; glory; officer gets promotion; paper gets news—special—extra; editor plumes himself; gone to the front. P-o-o-h, it stinks." The suggestive names of the editors of the Watch Dog are Doright and Fearnot. Bark loudly, gentlemen!

The Little Woman.

In daily life, who is the really formidable woman to encounter? The black-browed, broad-shouldered giantess, with arms almost as big in the girth as a man's; or the pert, smart, trim, little female, with no more biceps than a lady-bird, and of just about equal strength with a sparrow? Nine times out of ten, the giantess with heavy shoulders and broad, black eye-brows is a timid, feeble-minded, good-tempered person, incapable of anything harsher than a mild remonstrance with her maid, or a gentle chastisement of her children. Nine times out of ten her husband has her in hand in the most perfect working order, so that she would swear that the moon shone at midday, if it were his pleasure that she should make a fool of herself in that direction. One of the most obedient and indolent of earth's daughters, she gives no trouble to any one, save the trouble of rousing, exciting and setting her going; while, as for the conception or execution of any naughty piece of self-assertion, she is as utterly incapable as if she were a child unborn, and demands nothing better than to feel the pressure of the leading-strings, and to know exactly by their strain where she is desired to go and what to do.

But the little woman is irrepressible. Too fragile to come into the fighting section of humanity a puny creature whom one blow from a man's huge fist could annihilate, absolutely fearless, and insolent with the insolence which only those dare show who know that retribution cannot follow. What can be done with her? She is afraid of nothing, and to be controlled by no one. Sheltered behind her weakness as behind a triple sheet of brass, the angriest dare not touch her, while she provokes him to a combat in which his hands are tied. She gets her own way in everything and everywhere. At home and abroad she is equally dominant and irrepressible, equally free from obedience and from fear. Who breaks all the public orders in sights and shows, and, in spite of king, kaiser or policeman, goes where it is expressly forbidden that she shall go? Not the large-boned, muscular woman, whatever her temperament, unless, indeed, of that exceptionally haughty type in distinctly inferior surroundings, and then she can queen it royally enough, and set everything at most lordly defiance.—Quiz.
