GENERAL LOCAL ITEMS.

Notices in these columns, ten cents per line, each insertion and whether marked or not, if calculated to forward any man's business interest are always paid for.

—Harry Walker, as the new manager, started in with a powerful troupe and big houses at the Comique this week.

—Mr. M. R. Kuhne was presented with a bouncing girl baby Sunday, just in time for dinner.

—The Globe-Democrat says the Mississippi river commission will leave Cairo on the 15th inst. on its way down the river.

—Cooking Oil at G. D. Williamson's.

—Judge Davis has made public the fact that his wedding will take place at Fayetteville, N. C., to-day, the 14th, at 11 o'clock a. m.

—The Mystic Krew met last night, had a circus at the expense of some poor member and elected officers for the ensuing year.

—All damage occasioned by the flood on the tracks of the Iron Mountain road, has been repaired, and trains will run into the city as usual to-day.

—School children will find THE BULLETIN scratch-books Nos. 2 and 3 for sale at Phil Saup's candy store. (1)

—The weather continues favorable to a continued decline in the river. All around is the sky clear, and the atmosphere is dry and quiet.

—Mr. W. W. Wooton, formerly of this city, but for some years a citizen of Barlow City, Ky., died suddenly last Sunday of heart disease.

—Jno. Paley, living on the Cairo road, about four miles this side of Paducah, Ky., mysteriously disappeared in Paducah Monday.

—Andrew Lohr's Genuine Aromatic Belfast Ginger Ale, a pure pleasant and wholesome temperance beverage, is now on sale at the leading saloons. (1)

—Mr. Henry Block has rented the new store room of Mr. Peter Neff, on Commercial avenue, next to that to be occupied by Messrs. Coffee & Bros.

—Many of the young people of the city will learn with pleasure that at a meeting of the Myths last night it was decided to give a calico hop at The Halliday on the night of Thursday, the 29th instant.

—Justice J. H. Robinson is having a new police office fitted up in the room next to his present office. It will be larger, better ventilated and better lighted.

—The five thousand dollar libel suit, begun by Mrs. McLean, of Bloomington, against the Bulletin, of that city, was decided by the jury in favor of the latter on Saturday.

—The masquerade at Washington Hall last night was a success in every way. Mr. Sheels had exerted himself to make it more an affair of pleasure to those who attended than a profit to himself. The attendance was good, and the enjoyment great and general.

—All but one of the sewers in the city were open yesterday evening. The exception was the thirty-second street sewer. That on Fourth street was stopped up in some way until yesterday about noon when it began to emit water at a lively rate. The water in some of the low places was falling at the rate of nearly an inch per hour yesterday.

—The repairs on the flood-wrecked tracks of the roads in this immediate vicinity have been somewhat delayed by reason of the scarcity of laborers. In view of the fact that our streets have been almost constantly full of idle strangers, this fact seems strange. The idle strangers must have some conscientious scruples against work—many of them have.

—A scheme is on foot to build a bridge over the Mississippi river at Grand Tower. The conditions are said to be more favorable there than most anywhere else, by reason of the rocky bed of the river, the rock banks and the several natural piers in the river. As yet the scheme is purely speculative and will probably never be anything more.

—The river is now nearly low enough to begin work on the stone wall on Ohio Levee street, below Fourteenth street. This improvement will, in connection with that to be done by the Illinois Central company, be one of the most substantial and important ever done by the city. Mr. Healy, the Illinois Central company's civil engineer, is expected here in a day or two and then the work of wall building, filling and levee raising will begin.

—The man-hole to the sewer on Eleventh street, near Commercial avenue, caved in some time ago, leaving a large cavity in the middle of the street. The result was that the sewer connecting the low lots in that part of the town with the main sewers was stopped up and drainage obstructed. Yesterday Street Commissioner Baird had men at work repairing the damage. Another similar place is on Fourteenth street, near Poplar.

—The St. Louis husband who "got off" the following in support of a suit for divorce from his wife, must have been a colored Baptist bishop, or something like that, but of considerably more book-knowledge than some of his sable brothers of the cloth in "these diggings" have: "I Was Missing money out of my Pocket I Finally had to lock My Pantaloons up Nights the Way She Would Talk about folks Was a Sin to david Crockett the Six Weeks We Ware together it Was Come and go you Shant She Never Caled me Geo or mr Little it Was go Come or Shant."

—The city council met last night in second regular session this month. A bare majority was present and the business was not of extraordinary interest. The appointment of clerks and judges of election in the several wards for the coming municipal election, and the adoption of a resolution to raise the new levee one foot higher and repair what little abrasions were caused during the late flood, were the only acts of any note aside from the regular routine of business.

—"Yes, sah, I believe we cullud folks ought to hab better teachers. Dey ain't one uv 'em got a fust-class certificate. Pufesso Paka ain't got a fust-class certificate. At de meetin' wha we 'dopted dat petition to de school bo'd dey said it would cass a reflection uv presumption on Pufesso Paka, an' dafo dey hadn't ought to 'dopt de petition. But I tole 'em, 'let it cass reflections uv presumption on de purtesso; dat's jes wha we wants to do—we wants to cass reflections uv presumption on Pufesso Paka.'"—Elder Rix to BULLETIN MAN.

—At Jackson, Tenn., on the 5th inst., a quiet wedding took place at the house of Mrs. Copeland, aunt of the bride, the contracting parties being Mr. C. H. Thrupp, civil engineer on the southern division of the Illinois Central, and son of Mr. Chas. Thrupp, of this city, and Miss Maggie W. Bottoms, of Atlanta, Ga. No cards. The groom was born and raised in this city, is a very promising young man, and is held in high esteem by all who know him here. His happy union will be regarded with pleasure by his many friends.

—Postmaster Murphy has on hand a quantity of garden seeds, of various kinds, sent to him by the agricultural bureau at Washington through Congressman Thomas, for free distribution among the gardeners of this county. The seeds are believed to be of the best quality from this and other countries, gathered up by the department and sent out among the gardeners in every county, for the purpose of testing the land and the seeds and the climate. Gardeners and farmers should apply at once at the post-office for samples of the seed. The seed is given free of charge; the only condition imposed is that if the recipient uses it, he shall give it a fair test and report to the department concerning the result of his labors.

—A little boy named Loud, living in Metropolis, was walking down a populous street in Paducah Monday, was met by a negro named Jerre Miles, tempted by the boy's watch and chain, who, under the pretense of leading him to a hotel, took him to a lonely part of the town and shoved him into a well. The boy, in falling, caught the negro and pulled him down also. His cries for help were heard by officers and citizens, who came in time to see the negro hanging on to the side of the well, and with his foot shoving the boy under the water. Both were drawn out and when the boy regained consciousness he told of the negro's devilish act. The latter had left the neighborhood, but was hunted up, arrested, and barely escaped being hung by a mob. Loud is but about sixteen years old.

—A day or two ago General Harris and Mr. G. W. Parrish, of Washington, and Mr. J. H. Keller, of Memphis, were at The Halliday. General Harris is vice-president and Mr. Parrish is secretary of the Pacific & Great Eastern railway company, which proposes to build and form a new line of railroad between the Atlantic and Pacific coasts. They were on their way south to make a trip of inspection over the portion of the new line that remains to be built and to hold a meeting of the principal stockholders. The road will start in Indian territory, run clear through the state of Missouri, cross the Mississippi river at Cotton Wood Point, and continue on its way to Norfolk, Va. The route has been laid out, and Gen. Harris said the road would certainly be built soon.

—Yesterday again the colored school was open as usual, with teachers all at their posts, the rooms all warm and dry, and seats nearly all empty. The only really weighty reason Elder Rix has been able to offer for this stubborn refusal of "his people" to avail themselves of the educational facilities so magnanimously provided by the white tax-payers of this county, is that there is no piano in the colored school. The school board ought to lose no time in making good this important omission. The "common white trash" in the High school have a piano, for which they paid with money obtained from exhibitions given by the scholars. In their case it would have been a palpable violation of the school law to have paid for a piano out of the general school fund. But in the opinions of "the colored man and a brother," you know, such as Bishop Rix and "his people," who have been objects of special legislation for a number of years, until, in their beclouded judgments, all things must exist and move with reference only to their effect upon themselves—in the opinions of these, legal restrictions upon themselves don't count, and legal privileges count double. But Bishop Rix has thrown out a hint to the board, which, if taken, will very probably lead to a satisfactory solution of the colored school problem. Bishop Rix is not a paragon of literary entertainments, but he has a musical soul, and he knows that the youth of "his people" have souls of a similar sort, longing for communion with the muses. If the board will engage a minstrel with a banjo this morning at 9 o'clock, and have him take a position in the colored school and go through the difficult performance of such musical masterpieces as "Walk In de Middle ub de Road," "Bah Down fo' de Lawd is a Comin'," "Gib Dese Chillin' Room," "Den Swin on fo' Glory, Chillin'," "Dar'll be Razors a Flyin' in de Are," etc., etc., we feel safe in predicting that within half an hour the school would be crowded with big children and little children, and if the innovation were persisted in for a day or two, there would be no longer any cause to complain of non-attendance.

—The St. Louis Railway Register of the 3d has the following answer to stories circulated by the enemies of the Wabash against that company: It is safe to say positively that the unfavorable reports of late so industriously circulated concerning the Wabash, St. Louis & Pacific have no other foundation than the malice or imagination of those who have fathered them. The Wabash will remain during the coming year under the same management as heretofore. The officers who have so skillfully guided it in the past will continue in charge. The company earned last year more than a million more, net, than it did in 1881. It will, beyond question, earn a million and a half more in the first 6 months of this year, and still more in the last 6 months, than during the corresponding periods of 1882. This is so, because there is more traffic this year to be handled, and rates are adhered to. Last year, up to May, there was no business and no rates. The company can buy all it wants to, and on the most favorable terms. Dealers are anxious to sell it upon the longest time. Already heavy purchases of steel rails and materials have been made, and during this year an unusual amount of work will be done on the track, and extensive additions made to the equipment.

—The value of an article is almost always indicated by its price, and for years the people were content to pay $3 for a genuine Livermore Stylographic pen, and the same pens are yet doing good service. The success of these pens led unscrupulous persons to get up inferior imitations, which they offered at such low prices that many persons, not understanding the difference were induced to buy them. The Livermore company therefore cut down the price of their short plain pens to $2, and short gold mounted to $2.50 each, to give everybody a chance to have the best article of the kind. You can buy them for that money by remitting the amount to Lewis E. Dunlap, Manager Stylographic Pen Co., 290 Washington street, Boston; the pen, together with a package of superior ink, will be sent by return mail, and the money will be at once refunded if they do not prove to be perfect and satisfactory in every respect. The Stylographic Pen Co., who manufacture the Livermore pen, is the largest concern of the kind in the world, with branches at New York, Chicago and London. Eng. The Livermore Stylographic pen is a pencil which writes ink, never needs sharpening and never wears out, and has been adopted by over 500,000 knights of the quill in this county and abroad. The Stylographic Pen Co. have recently been making great improvements in their famous pen. Full particulars can be obtained by sending for circular.

The assistant postmaster of Lawrence, Kansas, Mr. John Bliss, claims that St. Jacobs Oil is the best thing known for rheumatism, lameness, sores and pains of every description.

Y. M. C. A.—FREE READING ROOMS.

On Sunday evening last a large congregation assembled in the M. E. Church to hear what could be said in favor of establishing a Y. M. C. A. in the city, with the object in view of co-operating with the Illinois Central railroad, in opening free reading rooms for the use of young men. Rev. B. Y. George introduced Mr. F. M. Crane, who has been in our city the past two months working under direction of the state executive committee. Mr. Crane stated the object of his mission in this city to be the organization of young men in a work for young men, with the main object of reaching railroad men and others, who by their occupation are often deprived of the privileges of the church. He then introduced Mr. F. A. Hatch, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. in Kansas City, who delivered an eloquent address on "Association Works, Its Aims and Objects," and showed the importance of this kind of work in a city like Cairo. Prof. D. B. Parkinson, of Carbondale Normal School, followed with a short address on "Distant Work" and the importance of Cairo being made the center of association work for this end of the state, as Chicago is for the other end.

A night meeting was held, and quite a number signified their intentions of forming an organization. The following committee was appointed to draft a constitution: Messrs. H. H. Candee, J. M. Lansden, G. W. Strode, J. S. Barclay and F. M. Crane.

Monday evening an adjourned meeting was held in the Baptist church, Mr. G. W.

Strode presiding. The different churches were well represented, and several short and earnest speeches were made in favor of the movement. The committee on constitution reported a form and was continued to complete the by-laws. To the same committee, with the addition of Mr. C. House, of the I. C. R. R., was referred the matter of securing rooms for the association. The committee was ordered to address a letter to President Ackerman, of the Central railroad, to get official information as to the intention of the company in regard to keeping a man constantly in this field to take charge of the work, and were instructed to call another meeting immediately after the receipt of a response.

The work has now assumed a shape that will insure success. Those who have taken it in charge represent some of the best interests of the city, and they mean business, and the railroad company may feel certain that their actions will meet with hearty co-operation on the part of Cairo.

A Calling That Women Can't Fill.

A great deal, observes the Boston Journal, has been said of late in the interest of those very delicately-constituted women who can not submit with equanimity to the operation of having their new shoes tried on for them by the male clerks at the shoe stores. It has even been suggested that young women be employed in these establishments for such purposes. But the insufficient physical power of women would evidently prevent the application of this reform, for anybody who has tried it knows that the process of putting on ladies' shoes requires an immense expenditure of muscular force. This fact is chargeable to the well-known habit of women with No. 5 feet crowding on No. 3 shoes, and protesting that the same are "miles and miles too big" for them. A muscular clerk—and it is noticeable that shoe store clerks are very powerful in their arms—can aid and abet this deception by using the strength with which he has happily been endowed, but a young woman clerk would be obliged to recommend a shoe the size of the buyer's foot, and thus lose to the store a great amount of custom.
