GENERAL LOCAL ITEMS.

Notices in these columns, ten cents per line, each insertion and whether marked or not, if calculated to forward any man's business interest are always paid for.

—Grand lunch-to-night at the Good Luck saloon.

—Col. S. S. Taylor is on his way east, principally for recreation.

—Ten worthless canines were sent to kingdom-come by Chief Myers yesterday.

—Police headquarters, next to Magistrate Comings' office on Eighth street, is being given much needed renovation.

—Chief Myers has started the dog catchers out and will make those owning canines upon which the tax has not been paid come to time.

—Grand lunch-to-night at the Good Luck saloon.

—The St. Louis and Cairo Narrow-gauge is proud, as it may well be, of a showing of 36 per cent. larger earnings last month than in May, 1882.

—At the sale of tobacco at Messrs. Ashbrook & Robinson's warehouse yesterday afternoon, ten hogheads were sold at prices ranging from $3.50 to $7.00 per cwt. The attendance was fair and bids lively at times.

—Andrew Lohr's Genuine Aromatic Bell fasting Ginger Ale, a pure pleasant and wholesome temperance beverage, is now sale on at the leading saloons.

—The jury in the case the People for use of Charles Bauer vs. Jacob Lehning and Al Susanka, was discharged by Judge Baker yesterday about noon, without having found a verdict. No other cases were taken up by the court yesterday.

—Hon. John H. Oberly, chairman, has issued a call for the democratic state central committee to meet in Springfield on Thursday evening, June 14th, at the Leland hotel. A full attendance is earnestly desired, as important business will be brought before the committee for its action.

—The penitentiaries are becoming liberally peopled by persons who have tried to violate the pension laws. The latest, a wealthy and well-known citizen of Milwaukee, who obtained a pension by fraud, will have three years in the Chester penitentiary to reflect upon the consequences of his dishonest greediness.

—The total shipment of strawberries from Villa Ridge this season, has reached 25,000 cases. The net proceeds of which, counting light shipment of vegetables, amounts to $75,000. Tomatoes, raspberries and peaches are yet to come in, which will swell the net proceeds to over $100,000, as these crops are said to be usually large.

—The new brick manufacturing establishment of Messrs. McClure & Co., near Mississippi levee, has not been running for some time; but this is not because the new method observed in it has proven a failure. On the contrary, the work so far done proved entirely satisfactory to the proprietors and they will start the factory up with renewed energy and increased capacity as soon as the season arrives.

—On the heels of announcements from various parts of the country that women have carried off the honors in competition with male students, the decision by Columbia's trustees—that co-education in that college is impracticable at present—seems all the more unjust. The partial advantages offered women by this institution should be ignored by them. The Rev. Rip Van Winkle Dix is at the head of the directory, and he will see to it that women are properly kept under in Columbia.

—A young white man giving his name as G. H. Brockleton in Magistrate Comings' court, was arrested by Officers Martin and Mahanny yesterday upon suspicion of being a rascal on general principles. He induced another young white man to occupy a room with him, and then robbed him of what money he had; and he had at various times and places attempted to play a confidence game by tricks of the boldest kind. He tried to victimize Mr. E. A. Buder, by professing to be a detective in the employ of Messrs. Halliday Bros., and to be in search of some jewelry. But Mr. Buder was too sharp for him and didn't play victim worth a cent. He refused to plead guilty to vagrancy and he was too drunk anyhow for trial; his case was therefore continued until to-day.

The extraordinary demand for information relative to the Summer Resorts of the Northwestern States, including Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa and Dakota territory, has induced the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway to issue a large edition of its illustrated book, entitled "A Reconnaissance of the Golden Northwest," a copy of which will be sent to any address upon forwarding six cents in postage stamps to A. V. H. Carpenter, General Passenger Agent, Milwaukee, Wis. Copies of this book, together with a list of Summer hotels and boarding places, can be obtained at the ticket office of J. H. Jones, in this city, where Excursion tickets can also be obtained at reasonable rates.

—Providence moves in mysterious ways its wonders to perform, so do the presidents of some railroad companies. There is something puzzling about the attitude of President Whitehouse with reference to the St. Louis & Cairo railroad vs. the city of Cairo embroglio. It seems that he alone stands in the way of a speedy, satisfactory settlement of all differences involved and has done so all along. As has before been stated in these columns, Superintendent Hamilton has confessed repeatedly, that if the whole matter were left to him, it would have been settled satisfactorily to the city long ago and would be so settled in a five minutes conference now. It was supposed, however, that the real opposition to a settlement in which the rights and interests of both parties were duly recognized came from the foreign, controlling stock holders in the company, who were not thoroughly informed of all the circumstances in the case, but this supposition proves to have been wrong. At the latest conference with the council joint committee here President Whitehouse acknowledged the receipt of Col. Hamilton's proposition, stated that he had laid the matter before the stockholders at Amsterdam and had received from them a reply that might be considered favorable. But, after all, he was not prepared to speak with any definiteness as to what the company would do or wanted to do. He spoke in a rambling sort of way, of matters entirely foreign to anything contained in the plan agreed upon between Col. Hamilton and the committee, and left finally without having settled a single point except that he would call again at some future time. While this dilly-dallying about a matter of so much importance to all parties concerned is very tiresome and very foolish, not to say entirely inexcusable upon any pretext, it is very probable that the city can stand it just as well and just as long as the railroad company can. The approach of the next flood may facilitate the matter a little.

THE HARPER BILL PASSED.
A special from Springfield received here yesterday about noon announced that the high license bill, introduced into the lower house of the legislature by Mr. Harper, had passed the house and that it would certainly become a law.

The bill provides that the minimum license for selling beer alone shall be $150 per annum and that the minimum general license shall be $500.

In view of the fact that the senate is decidedly Republican, there can be no doubt of the prompt passage of the bill in that body. The bill will go into effect as bills usually do, which have no emergency clause attached, 30 days after its passage, and all license applied for after this date will have to be issued under the provisions of the bill.

Speculation as to the effect of the enforcement of this law has run wild in many quarters ever since the introduction of the bill. Some believed it would result in materially reducing the number of the lower class of saloons, while at the same time increasing the revenue derived from the traffic by the community.
Had the bill passed in its original form, making the minimum price of all saloon licenses $500, the effect might have been to exterminate some of the low dives that now exist in every community where liquor is sold; and then again it might have resulted in just the reverse; it might have resulted in the inauguration of a system of secret whisky tipping, which would be much more pernicious in its influence upon public morals than any kind of open traffic can ever be. But as the bill passed the house yesterday, with the amendment making the license for beer alone only $150, (which amendment was a sop thrown by the machine Republicans to the German voters of the state) there is not a particle of reason for the belief that there will be a reduction in the number of saloons kept by rogues. It is a fact, probably self-evident to every one of ordinary understanding, that a rogue can keep as disreputable a place and sell only beer as can be kept by another rogue who sells whisky alone or whisky and beer together. And, to our judgment, the effect under the bill as it passed the house, will be that all reputable saloon-keepers who wish to sell alcoholic liquors will fork over the five hundred dollars, while the disreputable ones will keep their doggerells open under the $150 license and perhaps sell as much forty-rod Jers y lightning clandestinely, without license, as the responsible saloon-keepers sell of the pure article after paying for the privilege to do so like upright citizens. This, in our opinion, will be the effect of the enforcement of the bill will have upon the so-called "low dives."

As to its effect upon the revenue of a city, it is probable that this will be as claimed by the friends of the bill. The great majority of saloon-keepers everywhere are reputable citizens, who would scorn to violate the law by selling spirituous liquors without having first taken out a $500 license guaranteeing them this privilege. Many of these in this city, for instance, will pay $500, who pay only $150 now. Some of them will probably find it unprofitable to pay this amount and will go out of business, but enough will remain in the business and pay the increased sum, to make the revenue derived by the city from this source considerably higher.

A concise statement of the effect of the law when strictly enforced, in a community like this, is probably this: The city will be benefited in its treasury; the more well-to-do among the reputable saloon-keepers will be benefited in that the number of their competing neighbors, equally reputable with themselves, will be reduced; the keepers of the low dives will be benefited, in that they will take the same privileges as their reputable neighbors, but for less than one-third the price;—but the restriction contained in the law will fall mainly, if not exclusively, upon those poor fellows who would do a legitimate business, but who can not raise the large amount fixed by this law as the price of the privilege of doing such a business. Some of these will content themselves with selling beer alone, which is, after all, the beverage mostly sold in saloons now-a-days, and thus the reduction in the number of saloons will not be so great after all, but the amount received by the city treasurer will be correspondingly greater.

INTERESTING CORRESPONDENCE.
The following letter was written a few days ago to Mr. Philip Saup, by Mr. Jno. Broderick who is travelling in the west for his health and in search of a location for business. What is said in this letter about the cities of the west, about which so much is heard here and elsewhere, may be depended upon, as Mr. Broderick speaks from a disinterested standpoint:

DENVER, Col., May 31, 1883.
FRIEND PHIL—I have been here about two weeks but had not fully made up my mind as to whether I would remain here some time or go on to California. What I bear here concerning the latter state is not very flattering and as I have been improving ever since (and for a week before) leaving Cairo, I have decided to remain here some weeks at least. I stopped over in Kansas City two days, the town seemed to be booming and all the good reports I had heard of it were confirmed. Business is not probably as good in all branches as years ago, but there was a great deal of improvement going on and everything tended to show a thriving, rapidly growing city. Wichita for a small town about 8,000 inhabitants, struck me very forcibly as being a good town to locate in, it is situated in the middle of a fine farming country, where last year, in Sedgewick county, of which Wichita is county seat, 1,250,000 bushels of wheat were raised, a very large corn crop and a great number of hogs and cattle. Kansas City buyers on the street makes a good competition. Five public schools being the prides of the town. Business of all kinds well represented, but there is no cutting of prices in any line. Should you make a trip westward any time call and see Wichita. All the leading towns—about a dozen in the southeast part of the state—are good towns and all improving. Topeka, Emporia, Newton, Wichita, Parsons, Fort Scott and others, but do not come farther west than Wichita. My only objection to that country being the wind, my short experience being that it never quit. I forgot to mention that the day I was in Wichita there were not less than 1,200 wagons and teams in from the surrounding country. I remained at Pueblo a few days. Extensive steel works, coke ovens and very large smelting works employing from 2,000 to 2,500 men are the mainstay of the town. They boomed the town about two years ago and perhaps overdid it, the improvement now is slow but steady. It is not in anyway attractive and I do not think you would live there if they gave you the town. There would have to be extraordinary inducements for me. Denver is a very pretty place indeed and the appearance is improving daily as the lawns and trees grow green. The want of something green looking was the first thing to attract my attention and from the appearance of the soil I thought grass wouldn't grow. The public buildings are very fine. Tabor's opera house, said to be the finest in the United States, business, nothing more than you would expect in a city of its size. The claim is 60,000 inhabitants but I do not think it that large. There are ten beautiful and costly private residences to one fair business building and what building is going on is confined mostly to that of residences and not a great deal of that. The soil is of a very coarse sand or fine gravel nature and for a fine street all that is necessary is to grade it a little and drain, and no matter how long it rains the mud will not be over two inches deep in places of greatest traffic, where is little travel, it never gets muddy. After twenty-four hours rain you may look for dust on the streets in forty-eight hours. The streets are excellent for driving and are taken advantage of, their being more and finer "turnouts" in this city proportionately, than in any place in the country. There are two or three parks and excepting their roadways for driving, I think St. Mary's Park would compare very favorably with them. So long as you stay within the city limits everything is attractive but outside it presents the appearance of great barren hills and desolation, they claim and they do raise stock on these hills but you or I would think a billly goat would starve to death on them. Denver is said to be a fast town I know it to be an exceedingly high priced town to live in. You can't rent an ordinary furnished bed room anywhere under $10.00 per month, table-board $5.00 per week, the lowest, business rooms and houses out of sight, business is well taken up in all branches and I think overdone in many. There are an immense number of saloons and restaurants. The latter all seem to do well. It has been very wet and cold most of the time since my being here and on 30th snowed all day and froze that night hard enough to kill all berries, fruit and tender vegetables. When the sun is out I enjoy the climate although I could see no perceptible change at first in the air between here and Cairo. The talk of being difficult to breathe &c., on first arrival is all bosh. I find the air more bracing and that is all. I am feeling first rate.

Would Not Out.
The Cheyenne Sun tells a story about two men—from somewhere—who dropped into a store in that city, and a conversation about electric lamps ensued. One wished to know how the lamps were extinguished when the store was closed and a clerk replied that the lights were blown out, but, said the clerk, "it takes a strong pair of lungs." A long tin tube used to extinguish oil lamps was produced and one of the men proceeded to exhibit his lung power. He pointed the muzzle of the tube at the lamp and blew out his brains, but the lamp was too much for him, whereupon his companion said, "Why, you consumptive little cuss, you couldn't blow out a taller candle; gimme a whiff at her an' see her pop out." The tube was passed to the latter party and although he blew until he was black in the face "she didn't 'flop out'" worth a cent.—Queer things, these electric lamps.

ALABASTINE.
FOR FINISHING, TINTING AND DECORATING WALLS AND CEILINGS.
The Only Natural and Durable Material Known for the Purpose.
