GLOBE SIGHTS AND SILVER BELTLETS

Current News of Busy Globe Told in Brevities

O. A. Muller, a mining man of Santa Fe, the new town on the Santa Fe extension, is in the city on business.

J. E. McEllean, representing the American Type Foundry company of Los Angeles, spent yesterday in the city.

William H. Snyder, representing an El Paso cigar house, was in the city yesterday. His sales were the largest ever made here.

Mrs. M. A. Long and three daughters arrived last night from Coconino, Texas, to visit her brother, Charles H. Long of the Silver Belt.

Professor John W. Prout of Tucson spent yesterday at the Keystone and other mines in that vicinity and today will go out to the Black Warrior and other mines near there.

Ed W. Yates of Nogales, Ariz., a cousin of Geo. W. P. Hunt, arrived in the city last evening to take charge of the agents' furnishing department of the Old Dominion Commercial company.

The Globe National bank is distributing 1907 calendars which are a work of art. The calendar shows a reproduction of a painting of a woman by Holman, one of the foremost American artists.

The case of John Leonard, charged with selling a half interest in a mining claim to two different parties, was tried yesterday in Judge Thomas' court and decision reserved until tomorrow.

A large number of witnesses testified.

Nat High, advance agent of the Frank Rich Stock company, leaves for Tucson this morning after spending two weeks in Globe. Mr. High is way up in the press end of the theatrical business and himself a comedian of no mean ability.

Judge P. C. Little and family will arrive in Globe this evening to make their permanent home here. Mr. Little has been probate judge of Graham county for the last two years and he has formed a legal partnership with Attorney C. L. Rawlins, who also came here from Solonville, to locate permanently.

GREAT POWER OF HARRIMAN

Continued Big Deal

Counsel for the commission put in evidence an abstract from the minutes of the executive committee of the Southern Pacific in which was the statement that the action of Chairman Harriman in buying 45 per cent of the stock of the Los Angeles & Salt Lake Railroad company was confirmed. The purchase was made to prevent the property falling into other hands. It was also shown that the Southern Pacific has a large interest in the interurban electric lines running out of Los Angeles.

Crush on question of what had become of the $100,000,000 convertible bonds issued March, 1901, by the Union Pacific, remembered but a few details. He said he pronounced the bonds sold at less than par.

Counsel for the Union Pacific came forward and said that a statement as to what had been done with the $100,000,000 would be prepared for the commission.

All Bought by U. P.

Cornish declared that the region of "local competition" between the San Pedro line and the Southern Pacific was confined to Southern California. W. V. S. Thorn, director of purchases, said contracts for buying locomotives and other rolling stock were all made in the name of the Union Pacific, builders being notified later as to the distribution of the stock.

PURE FOOD LAW AFFECTS GLOBE

All Adulterated Foodstuffs, Liquors and Drugs Must Be Relabeled

The pure food law passed at the last session of congress went into effect on January 1 and it behooves every merchant, druggist and liquor dealer to immediately take stock, and if he has in his possession any adulterated foodstuffs, drugs or liquors within the meaning of the pure food law, it is incumbent upon him to immediately clear his shelves of such articles and await further instructions regarding the proper labeling of the same.

Under the construction of the law made by the department of agriculture, all goods in possession of retail dealers, which come under the provisions of the law, must be properly labeled before they can be offered for sale.

On December 31 the law firm of Herring, Sorin & Ellinwood of Bisbee was asked for an opinion on the pure food law, as to its effect upon stocks already on hand by retail dealers. The Copper Queen store and several other dealers of Bisbee were interested as to its interpretation. In answer to the request for an opinion, E. E. Ellinwood sent the following telegram to the department of agriculture at Washington, which is self explanatory.

Bisbee, Ariz., Dec. 31, 1906.

The Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.
Kindly advise if stock of goods now on hand subject to the food and drugs act, before being properly branded, may be sold within Territory of Arizona, the same as in a state. Wire full instructions our expense.

Herring, Sorin & Ellinwood.
In answer to the above telegram Mr. Ellinwood received the following answer from the assistant secretary of agriculture, positively prohibiting the sale of foodstuffs, drugs or liquors until same have been properly labeled:

Washington, D. C., Jan. 2.

Herring, Sorin & Ellinwood, Bisbee, Ariz.
Goods on hand in territories must be labeled so as to conform with law before offering sale. Territories are on different basis from states.

W. M. Hayes, Acting Secretary.
It was the general belief among the retail dealers in Bisbee that the articles on hand could be sold without a label, but from the decision of the secretary of agriculture, dealers in territories are placed upon a different footing than those in the states.

Under this ruling every Arizona dealer in groceries, drugs or liquors, who offer for sale any article that comes under the provision of the pure food law, unless the same is properly labeled, is subject to a fine of $200 for first offense and upon conviction for each subsequent offense, not exceeding three hundred dollars, or by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or by both, in the discretion of the court.

To be on the safe side it would be well for all retail dealers effected, to put aside their goods specified in the provisions of the pure food law and await instructions from the department of agriculture regarding the proper labeling of the same before offering them for sale.

FIRST EXPOSE OF DR. FLOWER

bought by Globe parties and is now in use here. There was scarcely any ore in the district developed, and the "fabulous placer diggings" described by Dr. Flower would scarcely reveal a color. He claimed to have ten square miles of timber, and there were glowing accounts of this wonderful property printed in New York papers—paid for by the stock buyers.

Exposed by George Smalley
Very little was known of the operations of Flower in Arizona until inquiries began to come to mining men here regarding the mine. In May, 1899, George H. Smalley of Globe, now clerk of the United States district court here, then mining editor of the Arizona Republican at Phoenix, was journeying over the territory writing up mines, when he came across the Spennazuma camp.

W. G. Duncan, now located at San Carlos, rode to the camp with Smalley, and together they visited all the workings and traced the ore that had been shipped in. The exposure of the operations of Flower was written by Mr. Smalley and was first published in the Arizona Republican at Phoenix and afterward in the Mining and Scientific Press of New York. The story, which had been refused by several metropolitan papers, startled mining men, and the doctor strenuously denied the statements of fraud and used every means to stop their publication. However, the statements were proven to be true, but even after the exposure was made, thousands of dollars of stock were sold in the east.

The company soon gave up its Black Rock project and moved to the Clark district, adjoining Dory Morris' gold claims recently sold. They carried on extensive operations there for some time, but Mr. Smalley followed them there and "wrote up" the new camp in a similar fashion.

Shot at by Guards
Here it was that Mr. Smalley almost lost his life because of his determination to put Dr. Flower out of his flourishing business by taking in the credulous investors of the east. The doctor evidently had his camp well guarded to prevent further exposures, and while Mr. Smalley was going up the hill toward the camp, a shot was fired at him from below, the bullet striking the ground within a few feet of him. He continued, however and made his examination, subsequently exposing the fraud. On his return he met the cowboy who shot at him and the guard told him that he was shooting at jackrabbits. Mr. Smalley had a pretty good idea of who the "jackrabbit" was.

A short time after the exposure of the Spennazuma, the attorney for the company, now a prominent mining lawyer of the east, and former state senator of New York, approached him in Phoenix, and after telling him what a great amount of damage he had done by exposing the Spennazuma, attempted to have him return to the "mines" and write them up again, showing the public that he had greatly wronged Dr. Flower and his scheme in his previous exposure, which was "all a mistake." Mr. Smalley, however, refused, and there was nothing doing in the "squaring" business.

Fake Holdup Failed

Previous to his trip to Arizona with a carload of dupes, Dr. Flower had made arrangements with a number of cowboys to lend a touch of wild and wooliness to the visit of the easterners by a fake holdup. The doctor was to fire a shot as a signal and the men were to surround the stages and "go through" the party. The promoter said he would have several hundred dollars on his person, which would pay the boys for their trouble. The doctor fired the shot all right, but there was no holdup and the easterners never knew what they had missed.

A Smooth Customer

According to Mr. Smalley Dr. Flower is a genial, smooth man, and entertaining company, but he did not succeed in interesting any Arizona people in his scheme at Black Rock. Soon after the exposure of the Spennazuma, the New York authorities got after Flower and a warrant was issued for him. He went to Mexico, where he was a fugitive from justice for many years, returning to the United States but recently.

He is perhaps one of the boldest operators in the country and has been backed by men of good character, who afterward gave him up. In the trial of Flower no doubt the Spennazuma fraud will be brought to light again and the eastern people who invested will be shown how easily it was done.

No doubt some of the Arizona parties who are familiar with the operations at the Spennazuma camp will be subpoenaed as witnesses in the New York trial, where Flower will be prosecuted for obtaining money under false pretenses.

CONTRACTOR SUES COUNTY

Peter C. Wilson, Who Took the Courthouse Contract, Wants $5,394.59

Peter C. Wilson, who last year took the contract to erect the new courthouse for Gila county and who later threw up the contract, has brought suit in the district court against the county to secure the sum of $5,394.59, which in his complaint he alleges is due him for services rendered and money expended on his contract. The bill sued for was disallowed by the board of supervisors. Mr. Wilson has secured as his attorneys C. L. Rawlins and P. C. Little.

Only Short Session
There was a very short session of the district court yesterday morning. The case of Pederson vs. Pederson for divorce was called, but the trial order was vacated and court was adjourned until next week.

Michael Strogoff Tonight
A large and delighted audience witnessed "Roanoke" last night at the Dreamland theater.

Tonight the play will be that sterling old success, "Michael Strogoff," a play of intense and thrilling interest and most delightful comedy.

The Rich Stock company will be with us for only a few nights more and we bespeak for them the liberal patronage that they deserve, for the company is far above the average, strives earnestly to please and is presented at prices never so low here before a class of productions far superior to those previously presented by inferior companies at half again as much.

Mr. McCullough and the entire cast are seen to unusual advantage in tonight's play.

The Keely Sisters and other specialists will be seen between the acts.
