

GLOBE DISTRICT DURING THE WEEK

Splendid Advance in Mining Operations with Old Dominion Furnishing Feature.

SULPHIDE ORE BODY IS EIGHTY FEET WIDE

Arizona Commercial Railroad Completed to Black Hawk Mine—Mining News from all Parts of the District.

A further substantial advance of mining operations was recorded during the past week in the Globe district, establishing more surely the claim to being the most active and prosperous mining camp in the southwest. Reports from every part of the district are very encouraging, ore shipments have increased materially and all new companies are either pushing development work or making preparations for an early start of operations.

The encountering of the hanging wall in crosscut No. 2 on the 14th level of the old Dominion mine after passing through eighty feet of high grade sulphide ore was naturally the most important development of the week. The completion of the Arizona Commercial railroad was finally recorded during the week and ore shipments to the Old Dominion smelter from the Black Hawk mines will begin tomorrow. Work has again been resumed at the mine and at the great Eastern of the Superior & Boston, a delay being caused by a shortage of fuel oil.

Another strike of sulphide ore is reported from the Gibson mine and the showing of pyrites in the shaft on the Mineral Farm, owned by the Globe Mining company, has increased, the entire bottom of the shaft at a depth of 195 feet showing pyrites disseminated through the diabase.

Operations will begin this week at the old silver mines of McMillen after a lapse of almost a quarter of a century, by the McMillen-Stonewall company, recently formed, and an early beginning of operations is anticipated of the Cananea-Arizona Consolidated company on the Collins-Doyle-Trojanovich group adjoining the Black Hawk and Superior & Boston. The first strike of ore in the Gem shaft of the Globe Consolidated is not far distant.

Old Dominion Mine

The development of the Old Dominion 14th level sulphide ore body has been watched with great interest, not only in Globe, but in mining circles throughout the west and north, and interest changed to astonishment as the width and richness of ore was revealed from week to week in crosscut No. 2.

Last Thursday night the hanging wall was reached and by actual measurement it was shown that the ore body was eighty feet wide. The grade of the ore from the footwall to the hanging wall varies from 5 per cent to over 40 per cent, being least on the footwall and richest on the hanging, the average of the entire eighty feet being probably better than 15 per cent.

J. Parke Channing, one of the most eminent of mining engineers, and Walter Harvey Wood, a geologist of national repute, accompanied by other engineers of the Lewisohn syndicate, visited the mine Friday and pronounced the ore body to be a most remarkable one. All agree that the ore should go down from 300 to 500 feet deeper, as it is apparently almost the top of the re-entrant zone and the fact that the hanging wall has a much greater pitch than the footwall demonstrates that the ore body grows wider with depth.

A sample from 300 tons of ore brought down by the last round of holes in the crosscut assayed 40 1/2 per cent. In crosscut No. 3, twenty-five feet or so has been penetrated and the value has increased from 8 to 20 per cent, being much richer than at the same distance in crosscut No. 2. Superintendent Barry thinks that the ore shoot will extend west probably 300 feet, the distance to the next cross fault, and he expects to strike another area of enrichment 150 feet further to the east of No. 1 crosscut. With greater depth a base of copper value and an appreciable increase in sulphur, which is more desired by the company, is expected.

Plans of the management for deeper development contemplate the sinking of a two-compartment shaft from the 14th level to a depth of 200 feet. It will be sunk in the country rock from without the footwall and is to be equipped with an electric hoist and balanced cages. From the 16th level a drift will be run to a point below the main shaft, which will be opened to the 16th by an upraise.

On from the 14th level, which is being sent to the smelter, has raised the average furnace charge to 10 per cent higher. The four furnaces are turning out 400 to 500 bars of bullion per day—487 seven to seventy-two tons—and the production from March should run close to 3,500,000 pounds.

Preparations are well advanced for the installing of No. 5 furnace, which is to be shipped by the Allis-Chalmers company from Chicago tomorrow, and it should be installed and in operation by June 1. The extraordinary ore developments have made apparent the necessity of further enlarging the reduction works and it is understood that the management is already planning for a fifth furnace which will require the erection of another stack and converter and a corresponding increase of the power plant.

Cananea-Arizona

Few new companies entering the Globe district have had the advantages to start with the Cananea-Arizona Consolidated has. The company, which will develop the Collins-Doyle and Trojanovich groups, will have a railroad within a few hundred yards from its shaft and the expense of transporting machinery and other material will be much less than that of other companies which have ever begun development work in the district.

Announcement of the allotment of stock for Globe will be made this week, probably Tuesday morning, and word from Chicago is to the effect that the stock will be quoted immediately at Duluth and on the New York and Boston exchanges. There is no doubt that the flotation will be a most successful one, owing to the strong financial backing of the company and its excellent properties in Globe and at Cananea.

Samuel W. Osgood of Chicago, who acquired the properties which have been turned into the company, has been connected with interests identified with the Calumet & Hecla, and this fact lends color to the belief that this powerful concern is interested in no small way in the Cananea-Arizona, although no C. & H. people are on the board of directors. Mr. Osgood will probably be the general manager of the company, and as he is considered one of the ablest among the young mining engineers in the country, the company is assured of excellent management from a mining as well as financial standpoint.

Globe Consolidated

The good record made by this company is being maintained. Sinking of the Gem shaft has progressed at the rate of about 100 feet per month. The shaft is down nearly 600 feet. About 100 feet of crosscutting has been done on the 500 level in the past ten days.

A large station has been cut at the same level, where an auxiliary steam hoist is to be installed which will expedite the work of sinking. At the Malloy sinking is in progress below the 500. The shaft will be carried down to a depth of about 750 feet, which will correspond to 1,130 feet in the Gem shaft, to which depth the latter will be sunk and at which level the two shafts will be connected by a crosscut that will be 1,500 feet or more in length and which will intersect several important veins of ore.

Superior & Boston

At the Great Eastern work will be resumed this morning with power furnished by the company's own plant, power heretofore having been obtained from the Black Hawk. An Ingersoll-Rand drill will be employed in sinking the shaft, which is now 152 feet deep, will go down more rapidly, with three shifts working.

The Limestone shaft will also be supplied with power from the Great Eastern and a power drill will also be used there. The Limestone shaft is now down eighty-five feet.

There has been an important change in the tunnel on the Black Oxide claim, heavy iron seams having come in in the last eighteen feet, and it is not unlikely that the Buckeye lead will soon be encountered. The length of the tunnel is 564 feet.

The Superior & Boston management is now in a position to push work much faster and important developments are looked for in the next sixty days.

National Installing Hoist

The National Mining Exploration company has received a double cylinder 10x14 steam hoist, having capacity for sinking 1,500 feet. It will supersede the gasoline hoist heretofore used at the Iron Cap shaft. On Friday an accident happened to the new hoist while it was being hauled to the mine. When near its destination a retaining wall which supported the roadway gave away under the heavy weight and truck and hoist went over the embankment. Fortunately, the only breakage was one small casting. The hoist was taken apart and conveyed to the shaft piece by piece. It will all be on the ground this morning and set up in a few days.

The Iron Cap shaft is now down 465 feet and will be sunk to 1,000 feet. At the 450-foot level the north crosscut is in 295 feet and the south crosscut 276 feet.

Union and Central

At the Union Copper company's mine, head of Pinto creek, developments have been very favorable. A vein of high grade sulphide ore has been opened and shipments to the Old Dominion smelter have begun.

W. J. Powell, superintendent of the Central Copper company, who was in town on Friday, states that the shaft is down about 160 feet and sinking continues at the rate of nearly four feet per day. Drifting and crosscutting is in progress at 110 feet in depth. All openings are in ore, which is in iron-copper sulphide.

Globe-Arizona

The old shaft on the property of the Globe-Arizona is being retimbered and the work will be concluded some time this week, when active development work will be started under the direction of Superintendent Thomas. This company is due to make a record, as it will undoubtedly be on the shipping list in a very short time. It is conservatively estimated that the ore from the mine will pay for it within six months.

Calumet & Globe

The Calumet & Globe is making good headway with its shaft and it is now down about 65 feet. A windlass is still being used owing to the delay in the arrival of the steam hoisting plant, which was shipped over a month ago.

The Weather

By Associated Press. WASHINGTON, March 30.—Forecast for Arizona: Fair Sunday and Monday.

JEROME KICKS TO COMMISSION

Complaints of Not Being Given Fair Opportunity and Witnesses Will Be Heard.

GETS FIRST CHANCE TO QUESTION THAW

Defendant Conducts Himself with Credit Under Sharp Examination—Defense Is Jubilant Over Outcome.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 30.—The plans of the Thaw lunacy commission to complete its work today and submit a report to Justice Fitzgerald Monday were upset this afternoon by an appeal from Jerome to be allowed to produce more witnesses before the commission reaches its decision. After an all-day session the commission adjourned until Tuesday, when it will hear experts offered by the district attorney.

Chairman McClure served notice that the witnesses will be compelled to confine themselves to facts and opinions which deal with the present condition of Thaw and they will not be allowed to go into details of the past or future.

Thaw was under direct examination by the commissioners for more than three hours today and then for forty-five minutes he was under fire of Jerome on cross examination. This cross examination was allowed by the commission only after a vehement protest from the prosecuting officer that he had not been allowed sufficient latitude in the inquiry. Enjoying his first opportunity of questioning the defendant, Jerome attempted to go into Thaw's past life, but objections to this line of examination by Thaw's counsel were sustained by the commission and it held the district attorney to the direct issue before the lunacy board—whether Thaw is capable of understanding the character of the proceedings against him and of rationally advising counsel.

Behind Closed Doors

Thaw's direct and cross examinations today were held behind closed doors and it is said that the commission took extraordinary precautions to have the hearing kept secret. When the public session began, Jerome seemed irritated and was constantly thereafter involved in wordy clashes with the members of the commission. His urgent manner of insisting that he had a right to adduce additional testimony before the commission was generally regarded as a concession that Thaw had made a favorable impression during his long examination. During the district attorney's cross examination it was said that Thaw comported himself most creditably and answered Jerome's sharp pointed questions with calmness and deliberation.

When the public was allowed to enter the courtroom Thaw appeared jubilant. Thaw's attorneys expressed themselves as entirely satisfied with the final stages of their client's severe examination.

Jerome's cross examination, one attorney declared, did not shake Thaw in the least. Attorneys Delmas and Hartbridge also took the stand. They declared that Thaw had fully comprehended this phase of the trial and made helpful suggestions from time to time. Jerome asked Hartbridge if Thaw had not repeatedly expressed a desire to address the court. Hartbridge said he could recall no such instance.

BOTH SIDES SAY THEY WILL WIN

Managers of Busse and Dunne Confident of Victory in Chicago Tuesday

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, March 30.—A victory for both Busse and Dunne is confidently predicted by their respective managers tonight.

James E. Eddick, chairman of the Republican county committee, says: "All indications favor the election of Fred A. Busse. The Republicans have made a clean campaign and will win. In my judgment the total vote of the city will be in the neighborhood of 345,000. On that basis, I estimate the majority vote will give Busse a plurality of 35,000."

W. L. O'Connell, chairman of the Democratic central committee and manager of Dunne's campaign, says: "Mayor Dunne will be re-elected by 25,000 to 45,000. We have been gaining rapidly the past week. Dunne is strong because of the enemies he has made."

A victory for the traction ordinances passed recently by the city council against the protest of Mayor Dunne was predicted tonight by leading officials of several non-partisan organizations that have been crusading the measures during the campaign. Mayor Dunne vetoed the ordinances because they did not provide for immediate municipal ownership of the street railways. Should the ordinances receive the approval of the voters on Tuesday the city will practically control the surface lines of the city, as measures provide for twenty-year franchises with the city having the privilege of purchasing the lines after six months notice.

The ordinance also provides for the immediate rehabilitation of the system under supervision of the city engineer, universal transfers throughout the city, for books of the company to be open to city officials and that the city receive 55 per cent of the net earnings of the lines.

YOUNG SAFE ROBBER KILLED IN COLORADO

By Associated Press.

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo., March 30.—Refusing to obey two commands to halt, Howard Smith, aged 20, charged with robbing the safe of Barton & Terrell's livery stable at Grand Junction, was shot and killed at Clifton last night by Deputy Sheriff Munson. Smith came here some time ago from Ely, Nev. Munson says he did not aim to kill Smith and is much distressed.

Swettenham's Successor

By Associated Press.

LONDON, March 30.—King Edward has approved the appointment of Sydney Oliver to be governor of Jamaica in succession to Sir Alexander Swettenham, who recently resigned, giving as a reason his advanced years.

MIDNIGHT SEES END OF GAMBLING

At Twelve o'Clock Tonight All Gambling Ceases in Arizona Territory

At the stroke of twelve tonight gambling will end in Globe, as it will throughout the territory, and the local members of the sporting fraternity expect to see the official death of gambling with great ceremony. When the clock strikes twelve, every roulette wheel will be stopped, the man behind the table will give the deck a final shuffle and toss his cards and chips into a sack. The policy wheel will be taken up in the attic and slot machines will be turned to the wall.

The gambling element has for some time been planning for a unique funeral and the ceremonies tonight will probably be carried out with great eclat, as the eastern society writers say.

Last night was a busy one throughout lower Broadway street, where the game flourishes the best, and every game had a big play. Tonight will also be a big one, as many will pay their final visit to the goddess of chance, whose reign in Arizona of many years comes to an end tonight.

RIOTERS DEMUR TO INDICTMENT

Men Charged with Rioting in Attempted Lynching Are Arraigned Yesterday

John D. Houston, Fred Temme, Vance Bayless and Albert E. Guthrie, indicted jointly for rioting on the night of February 2, last, when an alleged attempt was made to lynch William Baldwin, accused of the murder of Mrs. Harvey Morris and child at Roosevelt, were arraigned in the district court yesterday to answer to the indictment. A demurrer to the indictment was presented by the attorneys for the indicted men and Judge Nave announced that he would take the demurrer under advisement.

Mrs. Kathryn Guthrie was granted a decree of divorce from A. E. Guthrie and also attorneys' fees amounting to $100. The grounds for the action were drunkenness and cruelty.

In the appeal case of C. M. Gregovich vs. E. P. Shanley, sheriff, by Pat Rose, administrator, judgment was ordered for the defendant.

Judgment for the plaintiff in the sum of $135 was awarded in the case of Barelay, Higdon & Co. vs. C. W. Walz et al., the judgment being found against Arthur Woodhead, one of the defendants.

Judgment for the plaintiff was found in the suit of George H. Smalley vs. R. H. Rose for debt.

DYNAMITE KILLS ONE IN A NEVADA CAMP

By Associated Press.

COBBE, Nev., March 30.—News has just reached this city from Bews, Nev., twenty miles south of here, of the explosion at Camp No. 6 of the Utah Construction company. Nick Canellis, a Greek 18 years of age, was instantly killed. Canellis was standing by the fire, near which was lying some dynamite caps which were being thawed out. The dynamite exploded, blowing the body twenty feet in the air. One arm was blown off.

No other casualties are reported.

Burns Throws Strong Man

By Associated Press.

HASTINGS, Neb., March 30.—Farmer Burns tonight defeated Simmers, a very strong man, in a straight wrestling bout. Burns weighed 175 pounds and Simmers 250.

SOLDIERS HAVE THE UPPER HAND

Agrarian Disorders in Roumania Are Being Quelled on Every Hand by the Troops.

LAND OWNERS REQUEST GOVERNMENT RELIEF

Thought at One Time that Revolution Had Gotten Beyond Control of the Government—Take Years to Recover.

By Associated Press.

BUCHAREST, March 30.—A report issued this afternoon shows continual improvement in the situation. Slight outbreaks are still being reported, but the troops everywhere have the upper hand.

A number of important land owners have petitioned the government to postpone for one year the paying of debts to rural banks and the payment of private debts incurred through the destruction of crops.

They further ask the state to grant compensation for crops and estates destroyed by rioters.

Troops Had Hard Task

LONDON, March 30.—Great Britain is being kept fully advised by the minister at Bucharest and consults throughout Roumania of the progress of the revolution in that country and the efforts of the government to put down the disorders. These reports show the trouble has been serious and widespread and that the army had an extremely difficult task to cope with the outbreaks.

For a time it was an open question whether the outbreak had gotten beyond control of the Roumanian authorities, but dispatches received today indicate that the troops are finally getting the upper hand of the peasants. The damage has been great and it will take the country years to recover.

Threaten to Burn

BUCHAREST, March 30.—Peasants in the petroleum district, who up to the present have not taken part in the general disorders, demand an annual settlement of existing concessions to individuals or companies and that new concessions be made. Failing compliance with these demands they threaten incendiarism. Strong forces of soldiers have been sent to the petroleum district.

DISAPPROVES OF SUMMARY ACTION

Lieut. Harry Grier Testifies in Brownsville Investigation Yesterday

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—The Brownsville investigation today, with Lieutenant Harry S. Grier of the Twenty-fifth infantry on the stand, before the senate committee on military affairs, dealt largely with the opinions held by white officers as to the guilt or innocence of the former negro soldiers. The lieutenant said he had been convinced of the negroes' guilt by the finding of Springfield rifle shells and handloaders in the streets on the morning of August 14. He did not approve of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty men, he approved of the course taken by the inspectors' department of the army in trying to ascertain the guilt or innocence of the men, however, and after the ultimatum by General Darlington that the men would be discharged without honor unless they produced the guilty