Lions Lose, 48-6 In Ellensburg Grid Tussle

Three injuries even up chances with Sunny-side this week

The Washington high school football season is heading down the final stretch of the 1941 season in the Yakima Valley with Wapato out in front with four wins and no defeats and no ties. Cle Elum is in second place with two wins, no defeats and one tie; Ellensburg is in third with three wins and one defeat and incidentally that one to Wapato; Kennewick's plucky Lions in fourth with two wins and two losses; Toppenish is in fifth place with one win and two losses. Pasco, sixth, with one win and two defeats; Prosser, seventh, with one win and three defeats, and Sunnyside, the vastly improved team, in the cellar.

Not much news has been reported on the Lions-Ellensburg game, only the heartless drubbing that the heartless Bulldogs handed the local squad is hardly justifiable in any league. The Lions have pounded into a streak of hard luck, however, and they hit their peak against the touchdown hungry Bulldogs relative to hard luck and injuries. Carmody and Bunker led the Bulldogs in their victory.

This Ellensburg team is good, tho, and don't let anyone tell you differently. Their line is tough, rugged and well coached. The backfield is extremely fast with Carmody and Bunker leading the way.

Other games from last week's play include the Wapato-Sunnyside tilt in which the Wolves won a very close one by a 7-6 count. When the final gun sounded Wapato was on the 6-inch line trying to get a time-out for one more play; however, the captain failed to get the referee's attention and the game ended with the Wolves winning by a narrow margin. Wapato's passing attack failed to click and only two series were completed against five short ones for Sunnyside. After a scoreless first half, Wapato tallied when it ran the second half kick-off back to Wapato's 40 and punched the ball over in six plays. St. Marys went the last five yards and Patterson converted, which proved to be the margin of victory. Donahoe scored for Sunnyside on a line buck.

Prosser squeezed out its first league win of the season by a 6-0 decision over Toppenish. A series of passes near the end of the third period paved the way for the Mustang's touchdown. Top-Hi was within the Prosser 10-yard line once in each half, but couldn't score.

Lorin Aman, the 200-pound full-back of the Lions probably is thru for the season as he received a broken right thumb in the Ellensburg game. However, Coach Coates may be able to use the hard-hitting full-back as a lineman if the broken bone responds rapidly to treatment.

Aman, hoping for the best, however, will not be ready until the final game of the season, that being with Pasco, which is November 11. The Lions came out of the Ellensburg game pretty badly battered, which only goes to prove this writer's philosophy relative to athletic contests, especially inter-scholastic athletics, and that is, when a team has the game "salted away" let the boys who are holding down the bench play! I can't see how a coach can justify himself relative to keeping those plucky second stringers on the bench, especially when he is about four or five touchdowns ahead. Those other boys on the bench deserve a chance to play under those conditions and this corner believes he can make these statements and have ninety percent of the coaches back him, too. This corner is not condemning Coach Senko of Ellensburg, but the philosophy on this situation is pretty general among athletic coaches and seems to be based on common sense.

Of what moral, physical or practical advantage does a team get out of victories based on large scores? It certainly isn't any fun for the team which is ahead because the very first fundamental interest in any competitive sport is competition, and if you're on a team which is way out in front there's no competition involved to speak of and the players lose interest rapidly and so do the fans. Another point of interest is that in any league over a period of time, you're going to find a team which is far superior to any in its league—it's just happens that way and the only way to make things interesting is not to dissolve the competitive element involved and keep the contest from being a run-away. Lets keep those contests interesting coaches—Four touchdowns ahead late in the third quarter is a fair indication as to who will win! So much for that, and incidentally, that's not only the writer's opinion on this subject because he personally talked to a number of

Reymore Ranks High In Aviation Exams

During the time from Oct. 9 to 14 some aviation students were at Pasco airport from Olympia to finish their training here on account of bad weather at their home field. Among those students was Russell Reymore, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Reymore of the Highlands and graduate of the Kennewick high school in the class of '38. Reymore received the top grades of the class on his final written examination and also top grades in the ground school tests which include radio, motors and navigation. He has been taking the aviation training besides holding his job as electrical draftsman at the Puget Sound Power & Light Co. of Olympia.

Soap Pictures, Costume Parade For Hallow'e'n

Prizes for best drawings and costumes to be awarded

A picture contest and a costume parade for kids was arranged for Halloween this week by cooperation of the merchants along the main street.

Last year E. C. Smith started something which has grown to city-wide proportions this year. He marked off squares on his windows last Halloween and offered prizes to the best pictures drawn in soap. Forty or more kids took advantage of his offer and some creditable drawings were made on his windows. At any rate, the pictures were all done in soap—and not the kind of stuff that's almost impossible to get off the windows.

This year Mr. Smith's idea has been expanded to take in the entire town. Nearly all the merchants are cooperating and all the kids are invited to participate. Suitable prizes will be given for the best ones and every kid who signs his picture will be given a ticket to the show.

Then, on Saturday afternoon a Halloween costume parade for kids will be staged. This procession will be led by the band and every kid who participates in the parade will also be given a ticket to the show. In addition, the best costume will be given prizes. Costumes of any and all kinds will be considered. Kids with toys, pets or anything interesting will also be eligible for the main prizes.

Cooperation of the schools, the school band and the P.-T. A. has been promised, together with the cooperation of the following merchants who will furnish the windows and the prizes for the kids on both days:

- E. C. Smith Motor Co.
 - Vibber-Gifford Drug Co.
 - Washburn's Variety Store
 - Postoffice
 - Kennewick Printing Co.
 - Kennewick Bakery
 - Harold Frye
 - Evelyn's Beauty Shoppe
 - Arrow Grill
 - Pacific Power & Light Co.
 - Lady Lure
 - Visger Drug Co.
 - The Clothier
 - Kennewick Valley Telephone Co.
 - J. C. Penny Co.
 - McDonald's Grocery
 - E. H. Behrman
 - Larry's Barber Shop
 - Bowling Alley
 - The Club
 - Safeway Store
 - Beste Grocery
 - Roxy Theatre
 - Sweet Shop
 - Columbia Irrigation District
 - Washington Hardware
 - Pollyanna
 - Western Auto Supply
 - Columbia Electric
 - Ideal Cleaners
 - C. H. Yedica
 - Brick's Super Service
 - Kennewick Auto Co.
- Details of the contest and parade will be given next week.

Arizona Wranglers to Appear in Person

Kennewick and vicinity will have the opportunity to see the Arizona Wranglers of radio fame when they make a personal appearance on the stage of the Roxo Theatre, Saturday, October 25th.

This famous radio troupe includes Sheriff Cactus Jack, Arizona Slim and his violin, Shorty Shannon and the Prairie Flowers Yodlers and many others. These aristocrats of the radio are bringing to Kennewick an entertainment attraction for the entire family.

In addition to the Arizona Wranglers, the Roxo Theatre is presenting their regular screen program, consisting of Lloyd Nolan in "Dressed to Kill" and Frankie Darro in "The Gang's All Here."

Councilmen to Draw Pay for Services Hereafter

Legality to be determined; P.-T.A. complains about dump

Maybe it won't be quite so hard from now on to secure candidates for city officers, for the present council has included an item in next year's budget for payment for service on that august board. Whether the payment is for attendance or merely election has not been discussed, but the item, $960, would allow a payment of about five dollars per member for each of the two meetings a month.

The question of whether the councilmen can vote themselves pay or whether it will be necessary to wait until a new election puts new men on the council is being tried in the courts by the city of Riverville. If the matter is decided in favor of the councilmen, local officers will probably start receiving their pay from the first of the year.

Transfer of funds to enable the payment of the emergency warrants was authorized Tuesday evening, and the budget ordinance was given first and second readings.

A committee from the local P.-T. A. appeared before the council asking the city abolish the practice of dumping refuse back of the school. The odor and swarms of flies bred by the dump are potential sources of illness, the committee reported. The city fathers explained, however, that their jurisdiction did not extend to the place where the dumping was being done, so that no help from the city could be expected. The group was advised to take the matter up with the county health officers.

Matter of rebuilding or repairing the Shoemaker Cafe recently damaged by fire was discussed. Fire ordinance forbids reconstruction where damage is fifty percent or more of the original value or to comply with original building requirements of fireproof construction. It is likely that the building will be razed.

Wheat Growers League to Meet at Benton City

Declaring that "Washington's apple crop annually brings into the state about twenty-five million dollars in new money," Governor Arthur Langlie has issued a proclamation setting the period from October 24 to October 31, inclusive as Apple Week.

The governor urged all Washingtonians to support their own apple industry by "purchasing the finest apples grown anywhere in the World, and direct their attention to the dietary experts of the United States Department of Agriculture, who believe that Americans should eat from three to four times the amount of apples now being consumed per capita."

He pointed out that with virtually all foreign markets closed due to the war, it was necessary for the apple industry to develop markets at home which did not exist before. This, Governor Langlie continued, has been done in magnificent fashion during the last two or three years.

Stating that the problem is not one of overproduction, but one of underconsumption in the United States, Governor Langlie said that it is to this task that the Washington State Apple Commission is addressing itself through advertising and dealer assistance.

Library Report

Evidence that the summer season is over is on file at the office of the city librarian, who submits that during the month of September more than two thousand books and magazines were taken from the shelves. Nine new borrowers were registered during the month. Adult books circulated during the month numbered 916, juveniles 455. From the pay shelf 217 books were read, while the magazines numbered 396.

Neel - Conlen

Miss Neva (Mickey) Neel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Neel of Kennewick, and Edward L. Conlen, Seattle, son of Mrs. Jeanne Conlen, were married Saturday in the University Christian church, Seattle, by the Rev. J. Warren Hastings. The bridegroom's mother and Harold Roberts were the only attendants.

After the wedding the young couple left for Kennewick to visit the bride's parents. They will live in Seattle. The bride is a graduate of the Kennewick high school.

Local Bowling League Standings Are Shown

Harvey White's individual high score of 287 still stands in the local business house league, with Carl Glispey high for the week with a score of 231. Lester Larson and W. J. O'Neill have tied for three high games with 586 each. The highest team three-game score is 2140 for the Legion and the highest single game team score is 772 for Neumann's.

Standing of the league to date is as follows:

	Won	Lost
Neumanns	8	0
Legion	6	2
Town Pump	5	3
PasKen Swap	4	4
Commercial Lnn	1	7
Safeway	0	8

Schedule for October 27 will be the Legion vs. Commercial; Neumanns vs. Town Pump; PasKens vs. Safeway. On the 29th St. Oil vs. Stoops and White Kitchen vs. The Clothier.

Cattle Feeders to Have Special Prosser Meeting

There will be a cattle feeders' meeting at the Commercial Club rooms at Prosser at 1:30 p.m. on Tuesday, October 28th, according to the announcement of Waldo W. Skuse, County Agent of Benton County, who states that Yakima County feeders, as well as those in Benton County, are cordially invited to attend.

Walter Tolman, Extension Livestock Specialist, and Arthur J. Cagle, Ass't Extension Economist, will cover the work in their respective fields, and it is the plan that much valuable information will be brought out in the discussions on the different topics.

Mr. Skuse states that at these times when there are larger numbers of animals on feed in the state than ever before, and when feeder cattle, fat cattle, and feed grains are all high in price, it is extremely important that all farmers who are feeding or expect to do so, make a very careful study of the situation, and thus be in position to plan their programs.

Eight Face Court on Traffic, Game Violations

E. O. Whitehead of Richland and Boyd Nelson, also of Richland, and Albert H. Morgan of Kennewick were each found guilty and fined ten dollars in Judge Winkenwerder's justice court for having a hen pheasant in possession.

Dale Reinhardt plead guilty to having shot from a public road and his fine was ten dollars and costs, while the same medicine was meted out to Charles Sandstedt for hunting on a state game preserve.

James Higgins was charged with speeding, plead guilty and was fined ten dollars and costs, while Roy C. Moore was found guilty and fined ten dollars for speeding. Robert LaDow was found guilty of disturbing the peace by causing his car to backfire. He was fined five dollars and costs, with two dollars suspended.

Engagement Party

The sewing club was entertained at the Frank Visger home last Wednesday evening. The Halloween colors were used in the decorations of the table, a large pumpkin being the centerpiece. Attached to ribbons enticed from the individual nut cups and hid inside the pumpkin were cards in which the announcement of the coming marriage of Virginia Visger and Clifford Mathany of Pendleton to take place on November 30 was written.

The refreshments consisted of dainty decorated sandwiches, cut in shapes of hearts, stars and crescents. There were sixteen present, including several guests.

KIWANIANS ELECT

Lawrence Scott was elected president of the Kennewick Kiwanis club Tuesday noon. He has been serving as vice president. P. O. Stone was elected first vice president, Ernest Huber, second vice president. Six directors were elected as follows: A. T. Belair Al Cheney, Dr. F. Schilling, Gene Spaulding, Larry Newsome and Olav Otheim.

City Out of Hoek

New York City—For the first time in eight years, this city was free from banker's control, when $6,000,000 in serial bonds were paid off, out of a total of $23,499,500 advanced by a banking syndicate in 1933. At that time, New York, after several disastrous Tammany administrations, found itself unable to meet its obligations and had to pledge its uncollected future taxes to head off bankruptcy.

Waterways Assn. To Decide Stand On Col. Authority

Dedication of ports also part of program for annual meeting

With a position on the controversial question of the proposed establishment of a Columbia Valley power authority to be taken, the eighth annual meeting of the Inland Empire Waterways Association here on October 29 and 30 increases in importance.

Representatives of the private power utilities and the Bonneville Power administration have been invited to appear before the resolutions committee with an open discussion scheduled for the morning session, October 30.

Dedication of the Pasco and Kennewick ports is scheduled for the afternoon of October 29 at Pasco following a joint luncheon. Inspection tours of facilities will be held that morning.

President Charles Baker will make his annual report at the opening business session the morning of October 30 in the city hall here. Speakers there will be J. B. Campbell of Spokane, with B. M. Huntington of Walla Walla, to lead the discussion on the Columbia valley authority. A joint luncheon with the Rotary club will be held with Col. Richard Park of Portland, army division engineer, the speaker.

The afternoon session will have a variety of speakers including: Col. C. R. Moore, Portland, army district engineer; Frank E. Landsburg, Portland, district director, I.C.C.; Director A. E. Cox, Olympia, state agriculture department; Col. B. C. Dunn, Seattle, army district engineer; Director Ed Davis, Olympia, state conservation and development department; E. V. Berg, Boise, Idaho reclamation commissioner; R. H. Kipp, Salem, secretary, Willamette river basin commission; Roy Kunsman, Arlington, port commission; Calvin L. Sweek, Pendleton, Umatilla county port commission; Mark M. Moulton, Kennewick, Kennewick Port commission; E. S. Johnston, Pasco port commission.

Committee reports by Charles Baker, Walla Walla, program chairman; B. M. Huntington, Resolutions chairman; Bert Johnson, one, finance chairman; and A. L. Aiford, Lewiston, nominations chairman, will be followed by the election of directors who in turn will elect officers.

A banquet will close the annual meeting. J. W. Shepard of Lewiston will give ringside observations of the Louis-Nova fight and the Yankee-Dodger world series he attended and Paul J. Raver, Bonneville Power administrator will be the principal speaker.

Posse Disbands When Runaway Is Located

Peter, the nine-ten-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Misner had his parents, neighbors and half the town worried almost frantic Tuesday when he started on a trip to the coast.

Peter, along about noon, announced to his mother that he was going to leave home. Hoping to cure him, his mother said "OK." So Peter got the cover to a portable typewriter for a suitcase, packed a clear shirt and started out, his mother expecting him to get a mile or so before he changed his mind.

He got further than his mother expected, however. He came to town, having gathered a few friends who were anxious to help Peter spend his wealth, which consisted of his bank savings.

Later, the money gone, the friends disappeared and no word from Peter. Friends heard about it and a search was made, with a group being gathered for a posse in case he wasn't found soon.

However, before the posse got organized, Chief of Police Kershaw made a trip to Peter's grandparent's home on the Highlands, where Peter had finally arrived.

Weatherman Finds No Frost Yet in Kennewick

Weatherman Al Morgan says we've had no frost yet and submits the figures to prove it. However, leaves have turned to fall's gorgeous colors and the lawns are strewn with the fallen ones. Temperatures have been falling during the day with yesterday's, the lowest yet this fall. Records for the week, with those of the corresponding week a year ago are:

	1940	1941
Thursday, Oct. 16—	69-40	64-40
Friday, Oct. 17—	82-49	70-37
Saturday, Oct. 18—	87-48	75-37
Sunday, Oct. 19—	80-50	65-49
Monday, Oct. 20—	80-41	67-41
Tuesday, Oct. 21—	70-51	67-37
Wednesday, Oct. 22—	64-34	56-38

Father Rescues Son From Electric Fence

Wearing rubber boots which served as insulation, E. G. Beckes of Grandview was able to kick loose his son Lloyd Beckes, 36, of Kennewick, from an electrically charged fence wire. The accident occurred on the R. D. Inman ranch Sunday while the two men were hunting pheasants. Accidentally taking hold of the wire, the victim was thrown to the ground, but could not let go of the wire. He warned his father not to touch him but to use his boots to free him. The young man's right hand and fingers were badly burned and he was suffering from shock, but was able to return to his work in Kennewick Monday.

Report High Line Is in Line for Development

National emergency holds up work on irrigation projects

E. J. Brand and C. L. Powell, with their wives, have returned from a two weeks' trip down the coast. The men were delegates to the national irrigation institute held recently at Phoenix, Arizona, representing the Kennewick Irrigation district.

They were in conference with the heads of the reclamation department and got the satisfaction of knowing that the Kennewick project was among those being studied for future development. Projects, however, are not being continued, even in cases where they are nearly completed, because of the national emergency.

However, a complete study of the projects is being undertaken by the department so that those further along can be immediately undertaken as the emergency has ceased.

The group extended their trip as far south as San Diego and on their return visited many points of interest along the way, including Bryce's Canyon, Grand Canyon, the Painted Desert and several other places.

Homemakers Club Achievement Day Exhibit Saturday

Benton County Homemakers are busy polishing jars of canned food, finishing sewing projects and various household articles. The occasion is Homemakers' Achievement Day, Saturday, October 25 at the Richland Grade School.

Mrs. Horace Dimmick, president of the Homemakers' Council of Extension Clubs, promises a fine program. Judges will begin working on sewing and canning exhibit articles at 9:30.

Each club will present a number on the program at 11:00. A buffet luncheon will be served at noon with the Richland Social Hour Club in charge. There will be time to see exhibits at 1:00 and the afternoon program and style show will begin at 2:00.

Your local extension club will be glad to have those interested as their guests for the day if you let them know of your interest.

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, October 27th has been designated as the beginning of a campaign for enlistments for our Navy, and

WHEREAS, it is necessary that our armed forces be recruited to full strength for national defense in the present world emergency, and

WHEREAS, the Navy has requested that all local agencies, organizations and groups assist in this worthy movement.

THEREFORE, I, A. C. Amon, Mayor of the City of Kennewick, do hereby proclaim the opening of the navy campaign and urgently request that merchants, business firms, newspapers, cooperate in this laudable undertaking, and further urge that heads of the American Legion, Chamber of Commerce, Kiwanis, Women's Clubs, and all influential citizens act as a nucleus for arousing public and community interest in the Navy Campaign.

I call upon all patriotic young men in our community who are eligible for service to consider the extraordinary advantages offered by our Navy for enlistment.

Given under my hand and the seal of the City of Kennewick, this 22nd day of October, 1941.

A. C. AMON, Mayor.
