They expect to visit here for a week and then go to Bremerton to visit Mrs. Bob Siegfried before they return to their home in Berkeley.

After hovering around the thousand pound per day mark for several days, Walter Vanderwood of Richland finally made it on Wednesday at the Harvey Ray orchard on the West Highlands. Vanderwood picked one thousand fifty-five pounds with L. A. Armstrong of Yakima running a close for second place for the season.

Burns Brown, manager of the local telephone company, returned the first of the week from attending a telephone convention in Portland. Following the sessions he flew to Seattle, to visit his parents, brother and sister, who live there. He anticipated seeing the defense activities on his trip, but found that the planes had their windows covered going through the strategic areas.

Mrs. Nona Nichols of Wapato, district president of the American Legion Auxiliary, was a guest at the M. Simmelink home Wednesday, where she installed the new officers of the local unit. On Thursday, Mrs. Nichols and Mrs. M. Simmelink journeyed to Yakima, where they attended the sixth district conference and banquet held during the afternoon and evening.

SEEN and HEARD ON MAIN STREET

Young ladies who insist they will not marry a man who lies to them probably will die old maids.

Yvonne: "What would you do if you had seven dates with a man and he never tried to kiss you?"
Paulette: "I'd lie about it."
"Were you nervous, dear," asked the bride, "when you begged daddy to give his consent?"
"He sure gave me an awful fright," he grunted.
She's wondering still just what he meant.

Let's raise the cup
To the parson's daughter.
She seldom does
What she hadn't oughter.

Romance lasted longer in the old days. Maybe it was because she washed her face!

RECENTLY A MINISTER KISSED THE BRIDE AND HANDED THE GROOM HIS MONEY BACK.

He: "Do you see that little church that is where I lost my sweetheart?"
She: "Gosh, what happened?"
He: "I married her."

"Lord, I'm not asking anything for myself," said one Elma girl in her prayers last night, "but please give my father a new son-in-law."

Before a man's married he's a dude; after marriage he's subdued. Before marriage he has no buttons on his shirt; after marriage he has no shirt. Before marriage he swears that he would not marry the best woman in the world; after marriage he finds he hasn't.

The young lady who last year married a man on a wager is now leading a crusade against betting.

"Marriage may be a failure,"
Lisped Lucy McPhee,
"But I'm going to make some guy
Prove it to me."

"I still maintain that no two persons think alike."
June groom: "You'd change your opinion if you could see our wedding presents."

They were on their honeymoon and the groom gave the porter a dollar not to tell anyone they were bride and groom. At breakfast the next morning, everyone stared. The groom called the porter and asked, "Did you tell anyone we were just married?"
"No sah," replied the porter; "I told 'em yo' all was single."

The height of uselessness: A going through the pockets of her unemployed husband.

SOME FAMILY —
To spite Mamie, his girl friend, Leo married her mother, making Mammie his daughter. However, Leo's old man married Mamie, then Leo's daughter became his mother; his father became his son-in-law; and his wife was his grandmother. Suddenly Leo awoke to the fact that he was his own grandfather and now he wants to know what relation his new born son is to the offspring daughter of Mamie and his old man.

Last Meeting of Grange To Be PotLuck Dinner

LOCUST GROVE—Locust Grove grange will meet Friday, June 19, with a pot-luck dinner at 7. Each family is to bring a hot dish, salad and sandwiches. This is the last meeting until fall.

Lyle Simmelink and Roy Kratzer motored to Pullman, bringing back Bill Kratzer, who has been attending college.

Mrs. Ted Reese has left for an extended visit with relatives in San Diego, California.

"Why is it," asks L. E. Johnson, "that some people can't realize that whatever they do to help beautifying the town helps to build them up as its residents?"
