Kiwanis Observes Newspaper Week

The Kiwanis Club of Kennewick will pay tribute to the daily and weekly press of the United States and Canada during National Newspaper Week, October 1 to 7, for "its superb coverage of the war and the contributions it will make to maintaining the peace."

John B. Coan, president of the Kennewick club, said that newspaper representatives had been invited to attend the annual meeting honoring the press in the near future.

Hamilton Holt, Macon, Ga., prominent southern industrialist and president of Kiwanis International, lauded American and Canadian newspapers for "zealously guarding their constitutional liberties in a day and age of economic controls while living up to rigid censorship regulations self-imposed for reasons of military security."

At the same time, Holt pointed to the responsibility of newspapers during peacetime. "They can," he declared, "pave the way for wholehearted acceptance of the United Nations Peace Charter, stress the importance of maintaining the free enterprise system of government, and cooperate with business, industry, and agriculture in creating prosperity which is necessary if we are going to have full employment."

Kiwanis International and its 150,000 members in 2,300 communities, during National Newspaper Week, also will salute the 31 correspondents and photographers killed in the war. Holt predicted "a bright and glorious future for our newspapers which have done so much and asked so little."

WARTIME HOMEMAKER

SALVAGE SUMMER MEALS WITH QUICK BREADS

By the HOMEMAKING SPECIALISTS of the General Electric Consumers Institute

Quick breads are ordinary-meal charmers—skimpy-meal coverups—and the salvation of countless food emergencies. They really earn their quota of praise, too, by the way they can dress up simple summer fare.

The General Electric Consumers Institute staff vote for quick breads for still other reasons: no special ingredients are needed to make them; very little shortening or sugar goes into them; and it takes no more than 30 to 40 minutes to make most of them from start to finish.

One quick bread merit many homemakers are liable to overlook is that they adapt so well to variations. Take a standard muffin recipe for example and think of all the party-flavor ingredients that can be added to make them different and appetite-appelling: dates, nuts, figs, prunes, apricots, cheese, berries, bacon, spices, maraschino cherries, and many others.

Below are the Consumers Institute recommended standard recipes for some quick breads together with some favorite variations. Should you wish their booklet on quick breads, one will be sent free of charge; just write to General Electric Consumers Institute, Dept. GN, Bridgeport, Conn.

Muffins and Loaf Breads

Standard Muffins—Sift, then measure 2 cups flour; add 1/2 cup baking powder, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup salt; then sift again. Combine 1 egg, 1 cup milk, and 2 to 4 tsp. melted shortening (slightly cooled). Pour into flour mixture and stir just enough to moisten. Bake at 400°F. for 20-25 minutes.

Never beat muffin batter; mix only until dry ingredients and liquid are blended. The mixture may look rough and lumpy, but baking will take care of that. Grease muffin tin only on bottom; the batter will then cling to the sides while baking and better volume will result.

Berry Muffins—Use standard muffin recipe adding 1 cup fresh berries or blueberries to sifted dry ingredients. If frozen berries are used, add 2 tsp. additional flour.

Cheese Muffins—Use standard muffin recipe adding 1/2 cup grated American cheese to dry ingredients. Sprinkle tops with paprika before baking.

Date-Nut Muffins—Use standard muffin recipe adding 1/2 cup chopped dates and 1/2 cup chopped nuts to dry ingredients.

Bran Muffins—Sift, then measure 1 1/2 cups flour; add 1/2 cup bran, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup salt, 1/2 cup sugar; then sift dry ingredients again and add 1/2 cups bran cereal. Combine 1 egg with 1/4 cup milk, and 3 tsp. melted shortening (slightly cooled). Pour into flour mixture and stir just enough to moisten. Bake same as standard muffins.

Standard Nut Bread—Sift flour, then measure 3 cups and add 6 tsp. baking powder, 1/4 tsp. salt. Sift dry ingredients again. Mix together 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup melted shortening (slightly cooled) and 1 egg; add dry ingredients alternately with 1 1/2 cups milk. Add nuts, maraschino cherries, or any dried chopped fruit desired. Pour into greased loaf pan and bake 1 hour at 350°F.

Orange Bread—Remove white pulp from fresh orange peel and grind yellow rind, measure out 1/2 cup and simmer in water for 15 minutes; drain. Sift, then measure 3 cups flour; add 4 tsp. baking powder, 1/2 tsp. salt; then sift dry ingredients together. Work in 2 tsp. shortening. Add drained orange peel, and 1/2 cup nuts. Add 1 egg, 1/2 cup sugar and 1 cup milk and beat slightly. Pour into greased loaf pan; bake for 1 hour at 350°F.

BILLION GALLONS

In 1945 the air transport operators will be spending more than $70,000,000 annually for fuel and lubricants according to a recent symposium held by the Society of Automotive Engineers. This would mean a consumption of gasoline at the rate of 2,000 gallons per minute or more than one billion gallons annually for cars.

Don't be grounded—keep rolling with EXPERT STUDEBAKER SERVICE

EVEN though the war is over, it's just as simple arithmetic for anyone to figure out that most cars now in service must stay on the job a good while longer.

Remember, while unlimited production of new cars has been authorized by the government, it will take some time for the automobile industry to reach high levels of volume manufacture and many will have to continue driving their present cars.

Don't take chances on being grounded—keep on giving your car the best of care with Studebaker More Mileage Service.
