Halted on Way to Work Early Friday Morning

Motorcycle policemen began a systematic search early Friday for two armed highwaymen, who robbed Peter Reguodon, laborer, of $50 at 6 a. m., when he was stopped at Seventh ave. and Jackson st. Reguodon had left home, 705 1/2 King st., to go to work, when he was halted by two men, each about five feet, six inches tall. They wore their hats pulled well down over their eyes and each flourished a revolver. After the bandits told him to "move on," Reguodon located a policeman, who summoned the motorcycle officers. The robbers, however, were not located.

Says Race Suicide Cuts Down Census

PORTLAND, Feb. 13.—Race suicide is the reason Pacific Coast cities are not making their expected showing in the census, according to Local Census Supervisor Bennett. Estimates were made on the number of families in a city. The former census showed an average of five persons in a family. But the 1920 census, Bennett believes, will show the average family totals only four. Hence, actual census figures are not coming up to estimates.

NO BREAD RIOTS LIKELY IN U. S.

Flour Production Exceeds Last Year's Figure

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—What is the matter with the wheat market? The United States Grain corporation has millions of bushels of wheat and barrels of flour. Yet the prices continue to soar above the guaranteed prices by the government. Farmers, millers and dealers own and are carrying 437,000,000 bushels of wheat. Yet the price is rising.

Flour production in the United States for the past six months exceeded last year's production by 12,000,000 barrels, while exports of flour have been 1,000,000 barrels less. Yet the price of certain kinds of both wheat and flour jump up from week to week. The United States Grain corporation has thrown millions of barrels of flour on the market to stem the rising prices. It is selling good flour to consumers for 61.2 and 62.3 cents a pound, yet some classes of unground wheat have jumped to nearly 6 cents a pound, the top price being $1.24 above the government guaranteed price. It would seem to be a strange phenomenon that wheat would sell to the millers for almost as much as Uncle Sam is willing to furnish flour to the housewives. The following table shows how wheat is playing pranks:

Guarantee	Kind of Wheat	Chicago Market
$2.24 bu.	No. 1 Hard	$2.75
2.23 bu.	No. 2 Hard	2.66-75
2.22 bu.	No. 2 Red	2.68-75
2.21 bu.	No. 2 N. S.	2.10-20
2.20 bu.	No. 1 D. N.	1.15-20

What is causing these abnormal prices? It can not be the healthy processes of supply and demand at work, for there is more wheat in the country than America can consume or export.

There seems to be but one answer to this phenomenon—the habits of the housewives in using certain labeled brands of flour. The only kind of wheat in which there is a scarcity is the Northwestern variety, and the millers who have been making high patent flours demand this kind and certain bakers demand it at any price.

At the United States Grain corporation it is stated that these abnormal prices being paid for wheat are not the natural market prices. There is absolutely no danger of a wheat shortage in America; in fact, prices are due to take a tumble. No one need fear bread riots.

Waclaw Zobiesky Appears in Court Shirtless

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 13.—Waclaw Zobiesky, member of the struggling proletariat, who conceived the novel idea of ordering and eating food in restaurant and refusing to pay for it, entered police court in his most proletarian manner, that is to say, he had his shirt, his collar, necktie, gloves and rubbers on, but he had them on his arm. His proletarian undershirt gleamed brightly in the courtroom.

"What do you mean by entering the court in that manner?" demanded Judge Mix. "Take him out, take him out," he shouted at the bailiff, and the latter, who had hurried Zobiesky in before he had time to dress, hurried him out again. When he got back, more fully dressed, the judge fined him $10 and asked him if he didn't like this country.

"Sure I like him," said Zobiesky, smiling enthusiastically. The novel part of his idea in ordering and eating the food, was that he ate two meals at once, instead of one. It happened in Thomas Miller's restaurant, on Biddle Market.
