EDUCATION IS MEXICO'S HOPE

Schools, Public Forums Are Needed, Says Leader

NEW YORK, June 15.—"The solution of the Mexican problem, when it is finally reached, will not be a political one, nor will it be diplomatic. The only real solution lies in education."

These are the words of Dr. Samuel G. Inman, executive secretary of the committee on co-operation in Latin America, which represents 30 mission boards and which has been requested by the Interchurch World Movement to act for it in Latin American affairs.

"We are told," he continued, "that there must be order and protection for life and property in Mexico. That is true. But do the persons who demand intervention know how these are to be achieved? The only possible alternative to education is a military dictatorship and not only is any idea of this kind repugnant to Americans, but in the end it would fail of its purpose."

"Right now the people of Mexico are surprisingly ignorant of the material progress that has been made by other nations. They know little of the United States—less than is known of us in distant Chile or Argentina. They need education of all kinds."

"There should be the best possible public schools and a public forum in every city of from 15,000 upward, where the people could get together and discuss their own affairs."

The committee which Dr. Inman represents has mapped out a five-year program of work to cover all of Mexico, and plans to spend $8,000,000.

INDIA ASKS AID IN OPIUM WAR

Congressman Says Britain Is Back of Traffic

WASHINGTON, June 15.—To end the opium traffic in India, alleged to be fostered by England, is the aim of Congressman William E. Mason, Chicago. He believes "the American government should make a friendly request to the British government that the latter should, for the sake of humanity and Christianity, follow the example of China in abolishing the cultivation of poppy and the manufacture and sale of opium in India and other parts of the British empire, except for medicinal purposes."

Tareknath Das, here seeking "freedom for India," says the people of India use opium the same as Americans use tobacco. That 250,000 acres of India's best lands are used for opium growing.

"The British government advances money without interest to poppy growers," Das declares. "The British government has a monopoly to import and sell opium at public auction once a month. About 3,000,000 pounds of opium were made in India in 1914. About half of this is sent to foreign countries, and some to England to make morphine. About 16 tons of morphine were exported from Great Britain in 1915 to the Far East, some of it going to China thru Japanese smugglers, and a large part to Mexico. About $50,000,000 a year goes to England from opium duties and $10,000,000 of this is from opium."

"There are over 18,000 opium dens in India leased by the government where opium is sold like tobacco in America, no restrictions of age or sex as to purchasers. The people of India ask absolute prohibition of the drug traffic."

LOS ANGELES, June 15.—Newly enfranchised voters of Southern states have a definite program which they will present to the democratic national convention at San Francisco and ask that it be made part of the platform. Mrs. Neil Wright, of Huntington, Tenn., member of the Tennessee delegation, declared today.

The program includes: Better laws on child labor. Greater protection for women in industry. General education for all the people.

"It is my understanding that Mrs. George F. Milton, of Chattanooga, will be chosen by the democratic women delegates to the national convention to present our program to the convention," Mrs. Wright said. Mrs. Milton is not a delegate but is nationally known.
