

MOONSHINE FIGHT ENDS IN MURDER

Police Say Captive Has Admitted Shooting of Charles Johnson During Quarrel

Confession of the murder of Charles Johnson, 35, in a quarrel over a jug of moonshine is alleged to have been made by Charles Helander, 47, sailor, held in city jail on an open charge Wednesday.

Johnson was shot during the quarrel in his cabin on the west bank of the West Waterway, four blocks south of Spokane st., some time Monday. Police were not notified until 7 p. m. Tuesday. An hour later Detectives Jack Landis and Jim Byrnes arrested Helander in the Europe house, 2300 1/2 First ave., as he was arranging to leave the city.

Helander was taken before Detective Lieut. W. B. Kent and questioned.

"Johnson was running a blind pig," Helander told Lieut. Kent. "He and I and five other fellows went to his shack. He asked me to go and dig up a gallon of moonshine from its hiding place in the sand, where I had seen him bury it."

"When I couldn't find it I went back towards the shack and met Johnson coming from it. He accused me of taking it and kicked me on the nose (Helander's nose was bruised) and we fought. He was big and powerful and pummeled me. We broke."

"I am going to kill you," he said and went into his shack. I ran to my launch, moored to a shack beside Johnson's, and got my gun. As he opened the door of his cabin I fired."

The bullet tore a hole in the door and struck Johnson in the chest. The other men of the party were in Johnson's shack. Helander told Lieut. Kent he didn't know that Johnson was dead until Tuesday.

Helander was signing a bill of sale for his launch, Charco, when arrested.

War Pigeons Given a Home in Park Zoo

Two carrier pigeons that served as messengers for the German troops during the Great War, have just been brought to the Woodland Park zoo by William Schoenfeld of the Pigeon service of the U. S. A., and a former Star reporter. He lives at 2657 8th st.

One of the birds was taken with a net, captured by the Americans in a big drive on St. Mihiel in September, 1918, the other was taken at St. Benoit. Identification bands marked with the German crown are still on the legs of the birds.

Two American messenger birds, which were taken from the United States to France and used in the Pigeon service of the A. E. F., are also at the zoo. They were bought by Sergeant Schoenfeld at a public auction held by the U. S. government at the breeding base at Ft. de la Bonnelle, near Langres, (Haute Marne) France.

In April nearly 1,000 of the birds were landed at Hoboken. Of them 260 were for the U. S. government, 10 of them German birds. The others belonged to members of the pigeon service.

Only three of the German birds are west of Chicago; the other belong to Mr. Ralph Norban, 714 Harvard ave. N., Seattle. Schoenfeld has given the four birds to the zoo where they are on exhibit at the aviary.

LAMPING HURT BY TREE'S FALL

Huge Timber Drops on Candidate's Auto

With one hand badly crushed and face and chest severely bruised, George B. Lamping of Seattle, candidate for governor, was in St. Peter's hospital in Olympia Wednesday, as the result of being struck by a falling tree as he was in his automobile en route to Aberdeen.

Lamping sustained no internal injuries, physicians declare.

With E. W. Brillard, his secretary, Lamping was driving from Olympia to Aberdeen, where he was scheduled to deliver an address Tuesday evening. When about eight miles out of the city a dead tree toppled over the road, striking the car and crushing the occupants beneath it.

Two women driving along the highway rushed to the assistance of the injured men. Lamping was able to drag himself from the ruins of the auto, but collapsed when he attempted to get to his feet. Brillard was not so badly hurt.

Rushed to St. Peter's hospital in Olympia, physicians found that Lamping's left ear was almost severed, necessitating several stitches. One hand was badly crushed and there were numerous facial cuts and abrasions. Hospital authorities declared that Senator Lamping could not be removed for several days.

The injuries suffered by Senator Lamping, while serious and sufficient to keep him out of the campaign for some time, are not believed to be dangerous. Shortly after the accident Lamping insisted on proceeding to Aberdeen to fill his engagement there. Physicians refused to allow him to leave the hospital.

TRUCK TRAFFIC HARD ON ROAD

Demands Heavier Base, Say Engineers

Roads in the vicinity of Seattle are on the whole very good, but those subjected to heavy truck traffic, such as the Bothell highway, should have a center crown of at least ten inches instead of the present five to seven, and should be eight inches thick at the edge. In the opinion of officials of the Portland Cement association, who are in conference here.

A report on road conditions as they have found them was made by William T. Kinney, of Chicago, general manager of the association, at a banquet at the Arctic club Tuesday evening.

Deputy Loses His Badge for Raiding Game

"I've got yuh faded!"

"Big Dick from Boston; turn up them eyes, Baby!"

"Crap, doggone yuh, crap!"

L. Lenchner, a watchman, heard these mystic vocables while lounging about the picnic grounds at Fortuna Park Tuesday afternoon.

"By gum, they can't make small of me!" he grunted, throwing back his lapel to display a special deputy sheriff's badge.

DICE ATHLETES NEARLY IN RIOT

"Two bits he doesn't!" shouted one of the African golfers, as the watchman stooped for the dice.

The Ethiopian dominoes ruffled over into a perfect "natural," but Lenchner is alleged to have scooped up all the loose change on the turf, a matter of $20, "in the name of the law."

A fair-sized riot threatened to ensue. Indignant picnicers protested vigorously at the interruption to their athletics.

WHOLEY PAY FOR DEPUTY'S BADGE?

Altho Lenchner returned the money, his interruption of the crap game resulted in his arrest on a charge of "impersonating an officer."

Legal sharks in the prosecuting attorney's office held that his commission was good only at the shipyard where he was employed as a watchman.

At the sheriff's office, following his arrest, Lenchner's special deputy sheriff's commission was promptly confiscated.

"It cost $2.35," wailed the erstwhile "officer." "Who's going to pay me back that money; tell me that!"

Nobody could tell him. Lenchner furnished $100 bail in Justice Otis W. Brinker's court.

PARIS, Aug. 18.—The first "show" of autumn fashions has scared off American buyers on account of the shortness of women's skirts.
