

VICTIM OF FIST FIGHT HERE DIES!

Man Accused of Knocking
Him Down Is Held; Skull
Broken in Fall

Accused of killing Andrew St. Croix, 55, laborer, who died at 6:20 a. m. Wednesday, B. Jones, 55, is held in city jail on open charge. St. Croix was struck on the jaw, Monday night, and felled to the street, his head striking the pavement and fracturing his skull. He died in city hospital.

Jones is alleged to have struck St. Croix in a drunken row, after the two had come out of a soft-drink place near Maynard ave. and Weller street.

St. Croix called to Jones, who had crossed the street, and went over to talk to him. Jones is said to have suddenly lashed out with his fist and caught St. Croix on the point of the jaw, knocking him out.

St. Croix fell heavily, his head striking the raised curbstone. Jones then attempted to flee, according to Patrolman William J. Sears, who captured him and brought him to jail.

Jones has since maintained absolute silence, and refused to speak either to answer questions or make a statement. He probably will be charged with manslaughter.

world for them. Many will suffer from them, but you can just bet you'll never get a whimper out of them.

"When a few at the county hospital who will not be able to go home, the news they were the happiest people in the world. Some of those who won't be able to go home, not because they could not go, but with joy because their companions of years, thru rough and rugged days, were to experience the pleasure of seeing this great patient."

The autos will be admitted on special passes issued this afternoon from The Star office to their drivers. Edgar L. Webster, general manager of "The Wayfarer," will personally supervise the proper parking of the cars.

All cars that belong in the southern part of the city should park at the south side of the stadium and all Green Lake, Fremont, Rhinney and Ballard or northern residents should park on the north side of the bowl," he said today.

The performance starts at 8 o'clock so call for your shut-ins in plenty of time, autists.

From Philadelphia to See "Wayfarer"

As an indication of how "The Wayfarer" is considered in the East, a carload of people from Philadelphia was at the Washington Annex hotel Wednesday, coming here especially to see the pageant. Others from Chicago, Cincinnati and other Eastern cities also are in Seattle to witness the gigantic spectacle.

This evening Mayor Hugh Caldwell will be the honor guest of "The Wayfarer." The management has invited to Edgar L. Webster, general manager. It will be Masonic and Snohomish county night, with Miss Penelope Oyen of Everett playing Miss Columbia.

ROBERT DAY TO BE WAYFARER TONIGHT

The principal speaking parts will be taken this evening by Robert Day, as Wayfarer; Mrs. Minnie McDowell Klingberg, Understanding; Mrs. Lois Bell Sandall, as the angel; John I. Negley, shepherd, and T. E. Eastland, wise man. Henry O. Price will continue in the part of the prophet, singing "Comfort Ye My People," "Every Valley" and "Ho, Everyone That Thirsteth."

The custom of the audience singing "Onward Christian Soldiers" as the march of the nations proceeds, started last evening, will be continued. Miss Julia Elmendorf, who played Understanding last evening, gave a wonderful interpretation of her lines. Miss Elmendorf's voice carries easily to any part of the vast stadium and her graceful depiction of the character was one of the outstanding features of the performance.

Rev. Cleveland Kleihauer, pastor of the University Christian church, who played Wayfarer for the first time last evening, "missed his calling," as someone in the audience put it. He should have been an actor. Kleihauer apparently lived the part. It was not acting for him, it was made a part of his life.

As a result that vast crowd of 17,000 people were held in awe and silence when Kleihauer gave his interpretation of the title role.

The infection of his voice, his gestures, his every movement, told of his earnestness and his ambition to make this acting something more than mere stage playing.

Every fiber of his body, every thought of his mind and soul seemed to be concentrated in sending the powerful message out to the farthest person in the audience.

With practically all of the church congregations of Seattle joining in the singing of hymns, the performance Tuesday night reached heights of emotional fervor never before equaled in the history of the production.

AUDIENCE SINGS CLASSIC HYMN

The classic hymn, "In the Cross of Christ I Glory," was sung first by the great chorale that filled the stadium, and then repeated by the various congregations present.

More than 2,700 people took part in the march of the nations, the greatest number ever used in this stirring scene. The total number of participants in the play Tuesday was 6,900.

It was the best night of the gigana fly this morning. I had a black gnat on the end and a brown hackle and royal coachman above. They went for all three of them. I tried Tyee salmon eggs in a hole and got results.

We're going to stay here for a while. We've traveled 312.7 miles since we left Seattle four days ago. When you can have wild blackberries and trout for breakfast why waste gas going elsewhere?

Such berries! Such hard, sweet trout! Come here, if you can stand the ruts, and believe me, they are RUTS. We blasphemed the Snohomish county commissioners all the way for allowing a road to get like that. But Paradise, such as this, is worth the effort.

There's a cabin in the clearing here, built of cedar shakes, and long deserted. There was a message pinned on the door. My wife found it. It reads:

"I am here and stayed a little while, and as you were sleeping (also the boy-doll) I would not disturb you."

"I wanted to see you and tell you just how fast the Truth in consciousness that nothing (not error) can hinder the operation of Truth."

"That God, Love, rules and governs all in perfect peace and comfort and harmony—that any other seeming condition is a lie about God and His idea."

"Do not try to 'treat' the baby, for this will often result in confusion if another is treating him. You understand, dear, no two have just the same measure of understanding of truth and would have different ways of thinking, etc."

"I am sure you will understand. Just keep calm and keep fear out of your mind and hold fast the Truth that God is Love, and God is All."

"Lovingly yours,"

"How wonderful," said my wife, "that Christian Science has penetrated even here. What beautiful thought."

"And what a queer place for a baby," I added. "I wonder where they've gone?"

DROWNS TRYING TO SAVE GIRL

Drowning in Echo Lake Tuesday night when he went to the rescue of his niece, Iris Kerr, 11, Elmer E. Morris, 48, was brought ashore shortly after the accident and given first aid measures which failed to save his life. The girl was saved.

Morris, whose home is near Richmond Highlands, had gone to the lake with his daughter, Mrs. Hazel Anderson, of Vancouver, B. C., and Iris to enjoy an outing. The little girl went in bathing, stepped from a steep bank and went in over her head. Unable to swim, she screamed for help.

Morris leaped into the water, fully clothed, and plunged off the same ledge as the girl. He sank immediately. Meanwhile the girl was saved by an unidentified man who pushed off from shore on a log raft and seized her as she sank. Morris' body did not resurface after he had sunk for the first time. His body was recovered with the aid of grappling hooks.

Doctors said Morris' death probably was due to heart failure.

JAPAN TO TALK PACIFIC PLANS

BY A. L. BRADFORD
WASHINGTON, July 27.—Japan has accepted the American proposal for a discussion of Pacific and Far Eastern problems in the Washington disarmament conference, it was learned authoritatively today.

The Japanese reply to President Harding's invitation, however, is understood to contain important qualifications. The reply, handed to Edward Bell, chargé of the American embassy in Tokyo, last night, was received by the state department today. The message is lengthy and will not be made public for some time, it was stated.

TWO KILLED IN PLANT BLOWUP!

MARTINEZ, Cal., July 27.—Two men were killed and three injured at 9 a. m. today, when a still at the Shell Oil Co.'s refinery exploded. The explosion occurred in what is known as a "Grumbell" still, in which the crude oil is refined and the gasoline secured as the product.

FAMILY OF FIVE KILLED IN AUTO

CLEVELAND, July 27.—An entire family was wiped out when five persons were killed and another mortally injured in an automobile accident today.

The accident occurred when the automobile going west collided with an oncoming car which was being operated on the westbound track.

Montgomery Lynch, producer, seems to be making the production run smoother and smoother as the week progresses, altho those who saw it the preceding evenings declared there was no improvement desired.

The army of 100 stage hands is becoming more proficient each evening in moving the enormous stage settings and the waits between episodes are growing remarkably short.

As Miss Alkin, the dramatic leader, remarked: "The stage men seem to have caught the spirit of the pageant itself and are bending every effort to make it a wonderful success from every viewpoint."

live—any other way. Marriages are performed legally. There are more orthodox church marriages than ever before. Marriage is on a higher moral plane.

DIVORCE MADE EASY; MARRIAGES INCREASE

Divorce is easy. If a couple want a divorce they go before the city clerk and he witnesses their divorce agreement. You just "sign up" that you are divorced.

Nobody butts in and asks your reasons for getting divorced. If either one—husband or wife—doesn't consent to the divorce, he or she has to give good reasons. There is an "adjustment."

You may think this all sounds funny. But the fact is church marriages have increased, and divorces have decreased.

Marriages have increased because they are based on love and not on economic reasons.

The soviet marriage ceremony is a mere signing of an agreement. Formerly brides were given 25 yards of cloth, but it was found that too many people were getting married just to get the cloth!

Now the only economic lure is that married persons get more space for living quarters. The reason more get married under the orthodox church ceremony is that they fear, if something happens to the government, soviet records may be destroyed. There is less likelihood of church records being lost or destroyed and thus casting future doubt upon the legality of marriage.

ABSENCE OF CRIME IN BIG CITIES

I was astonished at the absence of crime in big cities such as Moscow and Petrograd. I was in Moscow for months and I often walked thru the streets at night and after midnight. I was never held up. And I never heard of a hold-up.

There is no money worth stealing, of course. But a bandit would have clothes to steal off his victim's back. Or food to steal out of a house.

A thief, caught in the act, is shot—without trial. No matter where he steals a potato or a whole truck-load.

Crime has not always been so rare as this. Alexander Berkman, soon after his departure from America, was held up in the streets of Kiev and his clothes were stolen from him. The thieves left him in his underwear. Sewed in the lining of his trousers, Berkman told me, was $1,000 in American money. Probably the thief doesn't know it to this day!

I saw Emma Goldman, too. She, like Berkman, is having rather a hard time of it, because their creed is anarchism. The soviet trust-like system of centralization doesn't jibe with anarchism.

When I say vice and crime are minimized, I don't mean sovietism has cured such evils. I'm not a bolshevik sympathizer. I saw plenty of grafting. I know that it exists. But there is no open wholesale looting by those in power. They have to be cleverer than that. For a thief or a grafter is shot—usually without trial. Yes, there is a lot of shooting!

Life under the deadly monotony of a no-work-no-eat system seems rather drab to me. I could easily see people were not happy. But there is a certain gaiety. Theatres and operas are open, and well attended.

Everything has been systematized, centralized, standardized. But things like fashions and styles survive. I saw some surprising styles in women's dress.

They have to produce everything themselves—nothing comes from outside Russia. Styles are rather topsy-turvy, because everything is rationed—like "issue" equipment at an army quartermaster's depot.

Silk stockings are worn—by some. A supply depot gets a bit of finery from the central warehouse—and the first girl that comes in with her clothing ration card grabs the finery! It may be a peasant or a proud daughter of the former aristocracy. The former may get the silk stockings and the latter the cotton stockings.

SABBATH "HOLIDAY" FOR PUBLIC WORK
Cloth is issued by the commissary depots. If you know how, you can make your own clothes. Or you can "hire" somebody else to do it in exchange for certain articles of food or clothing—which you must do without yourself.

A unique institution in soviet Russia is "Subbotnik." The word means Sabbath "holiday." The word is applied to the sort of extra work that is for the public good and improves health, and for which no additional rations are given.

The eight-hour day and the five-day week prevail in Russia. Saturday and Sunday are holidays. Every week-end each person "volunteers"—it is a sort of "voluntary" act by moral compulsion—to participate in Subbotnik.

They start out in parades, with a band, and make a picnic out of four hours or so of intensive community work on road-making, fuel gathering, street cleaning or improving sanitary conditions.

In Petrograd two winters ago thousands froze to death. People went to bed in their clothes. Pneumonia was terrible. There was a great lack of fuel. The scarcity was not so severe last winter, largely because of community Subbotnik.

I found no hostility toward Americans among officials or plain people. My observation was that the people of soviet Russia would rather trade with America than anybody else. They have friendliness and admiration for America, hatred for England, contempt for France, and animosity for Germany.

2 Army Men Killed in Airplane Crash

COBLENZ, July 27.—Lieutenant Carl Guether and Corporal L. O. Rogers of the American army of occupation were killed near here today when their airplane crashed.

Guether's home was at Frankfurt, Ind., and Rogers lived in Hillsboro, Texas.

GOVERNOR WILL YIELD TO LAW

Indicted Executive Will Surrender

BY LAWRENCE M. BENEDICT
CHICAGO, July 27.—Governor Len Small, indicted executive of Illinois, bowed meekly to the law today.

The governor, who had repeatedly declared he would call out state troops before he would submit to arrest on charges of embezzlement of large sums of state money, notified Sheriff Henry Meester of Sangamon county he was ready to surrender.

Immediately after "Iron Judge" Smith of the circuit court declared "Illinois has no king," and held the governor amenable to arrest, Small went to Chicago.

After a conference with political leaders and Albert Fink, at present his chief attorney, a message was sent by Fink to Meester advising the sheriff that Small would submit to arrest in Chicago today at the attorney's office.

Meester replied that he would not go to Chicago to serve the warrant, but would permit the governor to appear at his convenience in Sangamon and give bond.

The complete breakdown of the governor from his stand to "resist arrest" with his "entire strength" came as a result of a change in his legal advisers.

FIGHT OF KLAN LOOMS IN TEXAS

DALLAS, Tex., July 27.—A war of the Klans threatened Texas today.

At Beaumont, a letter addressed "Ku Klux Klan," and signed "Anti-Ku Klux Klan," was sent to a newspaper. It served notice that 100 men had organized themselves to "shoot down like mad dogs" men found to be members of the "Klan." The letter closed with the warning that "there will be many widows in Southeast Texas if the gang is not disbanded upon reading this notice."

At Texarkana, last night, masked men entered a dance hall, kidnaped Gordon Harrison, negro orchestra leader, and whipped him, he told police. The abductors warned him to be careful of his relations with white people, he asserted.

500 DRUGGISTS IN CONVENTION

More than 500 pharmacists from all parts of the state are attending the three-day convocation of the Washington Pharmaceutical association, which began here Tuesday.

Wednesday will see the business sessions concluded. A full program of addresses and discussions was scheduled for the day. Ralph Latham, government narcotic agent, led a discussion in the morning on narcotics.

The pharmacists were welcomed to Seattle Tuesday by Councilman John E. Carroll, speaking for Mayor Caldwell.

Bids Are Requested on School Building

Bids for alterations, and construction of an addition to the F. A. McDonald school, E. 45th st. and Lakota ave., will be received by the school board until August 11. The addition is to be a three-story, 12-room, concrete structure. It is estimated that the work will cost in the neighborhood of $166,000.

EDUCATOR DIES HEROIC DEATH

Falls in Mountain Trap Trying to Save Wife

BANFF, Alta., July 27.—The lure of the Canadian Rockies today claimed the life of Dr. W. E. Stone, president of Purdue university and one of the country's leading educators.

The body of Dr. Stone was found jammed between two sharp jutting rocks at the base of Mount Aeon. He had fallen into the crevice while attempting to rescue his wife.

Mrs. Stone was found seriously injured, lying at the foot of the crevice.

Mrs. Stone was rushed to an emergency hospital at Camp Assiniboine and a corps of doctors and nurses, sent from here, ministered to her. Physicians said she may recover.

The body of Dr. Stone was found Sunday. It took nearly an entire day to remove it from the crevice and guides from Assiniboine camp did not return here with the news until late last night.

The brief word reaching here from the guides, was a message telling of heroism and tragedy.

Mrs. Stone lost her footing on the steep slope of Mount Aeon and fell into the crevice. Her husband attempted to pull her to the surface with a rope. He did not have strength enough to carry out this purpose and lowered himself to her side.

Gathering his wife in his arms, Stone attempted to climb back. He lost his footing and fell back into the even deeper crevice. Death was believed to have been instantaneous, so great was the fall.

Mrs. Stone tumbled back into the shallower crevice, where she was forced to lie until rescuing parties found her Sunday.

NEW LIBRARY OPENS TONIGHT

The new Fremont branch of the Seattle public library at 731 North 35th street, will be formally opened to the public at 8 o'clock tonight. The exercises have been arranged by the Fremont Business Men's association and John W. Eflaw, president of the library board, will preside.

The building was planned by Daniel R. Huntington, Seattle architect and cost $25,000. This amount was donated by Andrew Carnegie. The site cost $5,000 and was paid for by the city.

Seattle now has eight branch libraries in permanent buildings; another is housed in the old city hall at Georgetown.

WARNS RUSSIA OF PRISONERS

WASHINGTON, July 27.—The United States government has sent a communication to the soviet government regarding the holding in prison of several Americans in Russia, it was announced today.

The communication, which was from Secretary Hughes, is a statement of the policy of the American government on the question of the imprisonment of Americans and the furnishing of relief to famine stricken Russia much along the lines of Secretary Hoover's recent telegram to Maxim Gorky.
