

FIVE DROWN WHEN SHIP GOES DOWN

Mother and Four Children
Lost; Father and Son
Are Rescued

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 14.—The schooner S. C. Kenble, property of Johnson and Wimsupp, Washington, sank in a gale one mile below Alexandria, Va., at 5:30 this morning, with the loss of five lives.

The dead were the wife and four children of Capt. William Lawrence, 33, of New Alexandria, Va. Lawrence and Carroll, his 13-year-old son, were rescued.

Reports of the incident were received by Washington police.

The report stated that the schooner was anchored when the gale developed and its fury was so great that the vessel capsized.

Capt. Lawrence and Carroll were on the deck at the time and to this they owe their lives.

Mrs. Lawrence, 45, and the children, Lillian, 16; Archie, 14; Alvin, 10, and Marj, 7, were asleep in the cabin. They were unable to escape.

The steamer Northland, plying between Washington and Norfolk, passed by the schooner and answered the cries of the two men who were clinging to the overturned vessel.

The two were removed with great difficulty.

Capt. Lawrence stated that a sudden, powerful gale of wind caused the vessel to capsize. After filling up with water, the vessel righted itself and immediately went down.

This happened so quickly that neither he nor his son could go to the rescue of Mrs. Lawrence and the four children asleep in the cabin, he said.

MEIER CAN'T SEE FIVE-CENT FARE

He said he could not see the immediate possibility of a five-cent fare, but thought there was no reason why a five-cent fare might not be resorted to be followed perhaps later by a drop to a five-cent fare.

H. S. Turner declared in a speech before the Colored People's club in Renton hall, 18th ave. and Denny way, at which many other candidates spoke, that he was continuing in favor of completion of the Klagit project up to the first two units and a real survey of the feasibility of adding to the project further.

Turner said he believed several city utility departments should be combined under one management to reduce overhead expenses and, indirectly, taxes.

Maj. T. J. Cunningham, at South Park, told the voters a study of the city charter had convinced him that combining the street railway, light and water departments according to the commissioner's office was impossible because such a course would be contrary to law and would increase taxes.

Alpheus Byers, president of the Transportation club, speaking before the Young Men's Business club Thursday, declared if public officials here would use the same amount of brains as are being displayed in San Francisco, Seattle could have a lower street car fare. He said the Brickson street car plan might produce a 3-cent fare but it "would kill the patient doing it."

Jap Shot to Death; One Arrest Is Made

With one man held in the city jail on an open charge, city detectives under Capt. Charles Tennant, had placed a dragnet over the city Friday for two Japanese gunmen who shot and killed F. Manta, said to have been proprietor of a gambling place, early Friday morning in front of his place of business at 608 Jackson St.

The man held is K. Kallimant, 33, a canneryman, who was arrested at Seventh ave. and Weller st. Friday morning, a few hours after the shooting.

Detectives Chad Ballard and J. F. Macowski are working on the case.

Witnesses to the shooting declared that Manta had just left a gambling house and had stopped in front of his store when two Japanese who had been hiding on a stairway across the street, jumped lightly to the pavement with drawn revolvers and started shooting without a moment's hesitation. Then bullets struck Manta in rapid succession and other bullets struck the windows and door casing. In spite of his wounds, Manta struggled to draw his two revolvers, and had one in his hand before he fell dead to the street.

The theory of the police is that the Japanese killed Manta as a result of an internal feud, similar to the Chinese tong wars. Another theory is that he was killed as a result of a gambling brawl.

On March 19, K. Suzuki was shot and killed by an unknown assailant in an alleyway between Fourth and Fifth avenues, near Washington st. Police believe the two cases may be connected.

Tumulty Is Rebuked by Woodrow Wilson

WASHINGTON, April 14.—A "misunderstanding" between Woodrow Wilson and his former secretary and close friend, Joseph P. Tumulty, caused a tremendous stir in political circles here today.

Wilson's curt repudiation of a message given by Tumulty to a denigrating dinner in New York last Sunday night as having come from Wilson was the cause of the incident.

The dinner developed into something of a launching of a boom for Gov. James M. Cox in 1924. Cox was chief speaker at the banquet and the purported Wilson message was interpreted as signaling the re-entry of the former president into politics and as an indication of the possibility of his support of Cox.

The message which Tumulty gave the banquet as coming from Wilson said the former president would "support any man who stands for the salvation of America."

The New York Times published a story casting doubt on the authenticity of the message.

Wilson wrote The Times as follows:

"I write to say that there need be no doubt about the matter. I did not send any message whatever to that dinner or authorize anyone to convey a message."

When informed of the Wilson letter, Tumulty said:

"If Mr. Wilson says the message was unauthorized I can only say I deeply regret the misunderstanding that has arisen between us. I certainly would not have given the message if I had not believed it to be authorized."

Democrats opposed to Governor Cox's nomination as presidential candidate looked upon the repudiation as the backing of an attempt to tie Wilson up with the Cox boom.

den the lights went out and the house shook as the an earthquake were going on. And then the house came down about us.

"The boys ran to the windows and jumped before the crash. Before the lights went out I saw Mr. Hebenstreit holding his wife in his arms. He was trying to quiet her, and she was screaming. In a few seconds we were all pinned under the wreckage. I had only one arm free and tried to dislodge Mrs. Hebenstreit's body, where she was crushed beneath a timber. She and her husband were locked in each other's arms, and apparently had been instantly killed.

"I lost consciousness when the firemen came and do not remember anything that happened in the next hour, altho the firemen say I was talking continually."

FRANK WATERHOUSE, president of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce, explained the proposed plan of co-operation between cities of Washington to members of the Bremerton-Kiwanis club Thursday.

SEVENTH LOVE

"And now—Joseph, my seventh love and I, are on the threshold of marriage. So you see how the gipsy's prophecy has been fulfilled!" Audrey publicly announced one year ago she was seeking a perfect husband "for the good of the race."

She was besieged by 350 swains from all parts of the country. Cowboys, merchants, soldiers and professional men were among them.

Audrey believes marriage should be contracted with a view to improving the race. And she has her own ideas on child training.

Children, she believes, should live for the first 12 years as near to nature as possible. They should wear light clothing and no shoes. They should eat fresh fruits, nuts and vegetables.

Dr. Mary B. Martin, Charity Worker, Dead

Hemorrhage of the brain, resulting from a fall in a Sixth ave. N. W. street car Thursday morning, is believed to have caused the death of Dr. Mary B. Martin, well known Seattle physician and charity worker, who died at St. Luke's hospital Thursday night.

Dr. Martin was thrown to the floor of the car when it started forward a moment after she had boarded it. She was taken immediately to the City hospital and later removed to St. Luke's, where she died.

Dr. Martin was the wife of Dr. S. M. Martin, noted evangelist of the Christian church. He is now in Texas. She is survived also by three daughters, Mrs. Nina M. Moore and Mrs. Jay W. Thatcher, of Seattle, and Mrs. Franklin Shuey, of Los Angeles; one brother, John H. Barnes, of Seattle; one sister, Mrs. Violet Osborn, of East Liverpool, Ohio, and four grandsons.
