Walter Lowe writes from Big Stone Gap, Va.: "The LEAF-CHRONICLE is like a letter from home and I don't like to miss a number. Success to the combination."

Show cases are a necessity to every merchant. The card of the Atlanta Show Case Company will be found in our columns. They offer special inducements for the next thirty days.

The American reports a bloody fight in the State penitentiary Wednesday morning between two colored convicts, Dan Anderson and George Washington, cell mates. They quarreled about a dime and Washington downed Anderson and stabbed him in seven different places before the guard reached the cell. The wounds are not regarded as fatal.

The LEAF-CHRONICLE has an interesting letter from W. H. Dorris, whose home is Brooklyn, but his heart is in Clarksville. He writes entertainingly of Clarksville as it was and of many of his boyhood friends who are citizens of this place or have passed to their silent home. The LEAF-CHRONICLE regrets that the length of the letter precludes its publication.

HARD AT WORK.

Congressman Washington and the Cumberland.

The Public Building at Clarksville a Surety, and the River Will be Locked and Dammed.

From all appearances Congressman Washington is hard at work in favor of improving the Cumberland river. Since the statistics sent from here have been in his possession he has made an impression that will be of great benefit to Clarksville and the country generally. A dispatch sent the Nashville Banner yesterday says:

Congressman Washington appeared before the Rivers and Harbors Committee yesterday afternoon and this morning made a strong argument in favor of a lock and dam system for the lower Cumberland river. He believes the system will be adopted. It is generally understood that the upper Cumberland river, between Nashville and Burnside, will receive $250,000 in the bill.

CLARKSVILLE'S BUILDING. The House Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds to-day reported favorably Congressman Washington's bill for a public building at Clarksville, but reduced the appropriation from $75,000 to $35,000. Thirty-five thousand dollars is a good start.

It Gets There All the Same.

The LEAF-CHRONICLE was denied all access to the county financial agent's report and was refused even a proof of any part of it until Judge Tyler's Democrat, containing the report, was on the streets yesterday afternoon.

Notwithstanding this long report of 25,000 ems was put in type in this office and ready for the press soon after dark, and the SEMI-WEEKLY gave it all this morning. Judge Tyler and his Democrat acknowledged nothing by their little piece of petty spite work, not even a jarring of the well-ordered system of the LEAF-CHRONICLE's composing rooms.

Again, if the LEAF-CHRONICLE has been instrumental in arousing public opinion on this question and calling forth this report, it has done Montgomery county a service her people will not forget.

Gordon-Meriwether.

Wednesday, just across the line in Todd county, the wedding bells were set a-ringing and an expectant audience assembled at the home of Douglas Meriwether to witness the marriage of his fair daughter, Miss Nannie M., to Prof. J. M. Gordon, of the Glenellen neighborhood.

Elder Mobley was the officiating minister; attendants, Miss Lillie Meriwether and Dr. R. F. Ferguson, Miss Jessie Allensworth and C. N. Meriwether.

A feature of the occasion was an elegant reception at the residence of James H. Ferguson, where a sumptuous repast was served.

Prof. Gordon and his bride both have many friends in this city where they are highly esteemed. He, though quite a young man, has won high rank in the honorable profession of teaching. His bride is an accomplished woman, fitted by nature and education for the companionship of such a man.

Henry Watterson To-night.

Hon. Henry Watterson, the distinguished editor of the Courier-Journal, arrived here this morning, and is the guest of his relative, Mrs. John D. Moore. He will lecture to-night at Elder's opera-house on "Money and Morals."

Mr. Watterson is no stranger to the people of Clarksville. He is personally known to very many, and as a brilliant journalist, a pleasing lecturer and gentleman of distinguished ability, he is known throughout this broad land—a man of national fame—who by his genius and power of intellect has moulded public sentiment and leads democracy in opposition to corruption and evil methods in politics, wielding an influence for good which but very few men have been able to exercise. As a matter of course the opera house will be crowded to-night with an intelligent audience to hear his lecture.

Tribute of Respect.

The members of Hayden's Band are very much grieved at the death of Willie Michel, one of their members. He was very much liked by all the band. He was a faithful member, always at meetings and on time. He took a very great interest in the band. He was an apt scholar and some day would have made his mark. He will be missed in business as well as among his musical friends. We regret to say he is gone, but as it is a debt we all have to pay, we say peace be with him. The band is trying hard to keep up the organization, as it was his desire. The band has resolved to carry their instruments in mourning for thirty days. By order of Band.

Judge Tyler's Report.

The TOBACCO LEAF-CHRONICLE presents Judge Tyler's seventeen years report for the people to read and digest if they can.

Of course the LEAF-CHRONICLE does not think of offering a general criticism at this early date, no mortal man can tell anything about it except after careful examination. It may be all right as the magistrates say it is; it certainly accounts for large sums of money coming in during the time and also gives the amounts disbursed, but does it show how and for what it was disbursed; and that is the point which several writers have been insisting upon all along as we understand. Nobody doubts that the money had been received and disbursed, but what has it been disbursed for is the question.

FROM RUDOLPH TOWN.

Wedding Bells—Thieves—Personal and Piscalorial.

To the Tobacco Leaf-Chronicle.

Still Cupid wields his weapon, and the wedding bells chime on. This time we are summoned to witness the nuptials of Jas. W. Cage, a worthy young man of Sango, Tenn., and Miss Lena Davis, daughter of F. B. Davis, of Woodford. This event was solemnized at Bethel church, this county, the 3d inst. in the presence of a host of friends, who wish for them never ending halcyons on the turbulent stream of time. Miss Lena will be greatly missed from the circle where she has shown so brightly for the past few years, and all feel assured that Mr. Cage has won a prize that will be quite an ornament to his little home, and a charm that he shall ever be willing to shield from life's troubles and cares.

—Rev. Adams, of Greenbrier, filled his appointment at Little Hope Baptist church Sunday and preached to an attentive audience.

—The "Allegretto Club" held an interesting meeting at the home of Mrs. V. J. Watson on the eve of the 8th inst., and were honored with quite a number of visitors who never forget our semi-monthly meetings.

—Misses Josie Winn and Ettie Rudolph are absent this week on a visit to friends in the adjoining district.

—Miss Lucy Davis was numbered among the visitors of the "Allegretto" meeting Saturday evening.

—Miss Emma Rudolph left Monday on a visit to Mrs. W. T. Atkinson, of your city.

—J. M. Rudolph left Tuesday morning for Lebanon, Tenn., to attend the semi-annual presbytery meeting of the C. P. church.

—If any of our friends desire fresh fish we refer them to our young anglers, Kendrick, Ben, and Arthur Rudolph and Roy Webb, who are often seen wending their way to the brook side with poles, thread and pins.

Thieves are rather frequent in this vicinity these latter days, but as they simply strike for a few chickens, a bucket of milk and a few Irish potatoes, we simply term it a deed of charity and let it pass.

Wishing the LEAF-CHRONICLE many more months of pleasant voyage on the matrimonial sea, I am one who is assured of its success.

FROM NEW PROVIDENCE.

Points About People and Things in the Village Over the Red.

To the Tobacco Leaf-Chronicle.

The scarcity of anything fresh in our town is proverbial. We are not disturbed much by the bust and hum of trade; in fact our merchants complain of the infrequency of disturbances in that line. Everything moves along smoothly and tranquilly, and seldom anything occurs to mar its calm serenity or the even tenor of its way.

Misses Kirtland and Goodlett have returned to Nashville, after a visit of several weeks to Mrs. P. H. Wills. Mrs. Wills and Mrs. Penninger accompanied them home and will remain some time.

Miss Lucy Garrett, of Longview, who has been visiting the family of T. Riggins, returned to her home last week, to the extreme regret of several of our young men.

Miss Annie Carter, of the same place, is now on a visit to Mr. Riggins' family.

Richard Hatcher, of Todd county, a former sojourner at this place, and student of the S. W. U., is on a visit to J. J. Garrett and wife.

John C. Hambaugh went up the road to Cave Spring Sunday, returning Sunday night. One visit doth step upon another's heels so fast they follow.

Dr. T. A. Whitefield, after graduating with honors at the Pulte Medical College, of Cincinnati, has located and will practice his profession here. May his shadow never grow less.

Rev. R. E. Travis and wife went to Nashville on a flying visit last Wednesday.—Mr. Clifford, one of the principal stockholders in Buena Ventura Farm, is here from Boston.

A FEW FIGURES.

The Amount the Great Jail Muddle Cost the County.

How it Was Settled, Who Got the Money And by Whom it Was Paid—Read and Ponder.

The report of the Jail Commissioners as published in to-day's semi-weekly LEAF-CHRONICLE does not give all the facts in the jail case. It reported that the matter had been settled by the county, paying to the sheriff's attorneys the sum of $450, the sheriff paying half the cost, and that the State allowed $1,091.40 to go as a credit on the judgment of the State against the county. The information the LEAF-CHRONICLE has on the subject is substantially as follows:

The State paid no jail bills to the county from December 1, 1887, to April 19th, 1889, on account of the fact the county had been collecting from the State, wrongfully, certain sums for the board of prisoners from 1871 to 1887, and instituted suit to recover those payments back, and secured judgment against the county for the sum of $3,492.72 and the interest from the rendition of this judgment by the Supreme court to March 26, 1890, aggregating $3,552.72.

Sheriff Staton claimed that he was entitled to back pay from the time he demanded the jail, and this was compromised by paying him $2,000. The State owed for the board of prisoners from December 1, '87, to April 19, 1889, the day Staton took charge of the jail, the sum of $3,534.60. Out of this sum Staton received $1,550.00 and $450, in a check from Judge Tyler, making the $2,000 agreed upon, and the State judgment of $3,552.72 was paid in full by the county.

The statement of the jail commissioners as published in a condensed form this morning leads one to believe that the county received all it claimed from the State and paid the State $1,568.12 and Staton $450, when the fact is the State collected from the county the full amount of its judgment and paid to Sheriff Staton the sum for back board, $3,534.60, of which sum he paid to the county for the expense of jail during the sixteen and one-half months previously named, the sum of $1,984.60 and received the check of $450.00 as stated above.

Staton had a suit in Chancery against the county for back pay prior to the time he went into possession of the jail, and the county agreed to pay him $2,000 to settle that case, to which he agreed, and it was paid. The jail muddle cost the county just $5,552.72.

The complete statement of the way the jail muddle was finally settled has never been published in the city papers, and people can have an idea of how much that little racket cost the county by carefully reading the above.

Considerably Bruised.

Fred. Armstrong, while coming down the hill just beyond the upper Red river bridge on a bicycle last evening, took a "header," landing on the rough pike and bruising himself considerably. He managed to crawl back on his wheel and make his way to town. He is hardly able to walk this morning, but says he is still in the ring.

Mothers of Children.

If your babies are cross and restless it is because they are not well and need medicine. Dr. Winchell's Teething Syrup is the great Panacea in cases of that kind. As a reliever from pain and curative of all the ordinary diseases common to infancy and early childhood, it is a never-failing remedy. It is not narcotic; it is purely vegetable and can be given with perfect safety to the most delicate child. For sale wholesale and retail by Lockert & Reynolds druggists.

In purchasing medicines, don't try experiments; the first and only consideration should be genuineness. Ayer's Sarsaparilla has stood the test of forty years, and to-day it is in greater demand than ever—a triumphant proof of popular approval.

STATE MEDICAL SOLONS.

Last Day's Session of the State Medical Society.

The State Medical Society has been in session at Memphis this week and adjourned Wednesday night. There was a good number of the State physicians in attendance and some valuable medical statistics were published. The Memphis Commercial gives much of its space to the meeting, and furnishes the following: The report of the State Board of Medical Examiners shows the number of physicians registered in each county by county court clerks. In Montgomery county there are forty-one who have registered. Thirty-five of them are graduates, while only six are non-graduates.

The total for the State showed 3,176 registered to practice medicine, of whom 1,680 are graduates, 1,495 non-graduates, 1,607 are regulars or allopaths, 18 homeopaths and 55 eclectics. It appears also from the report, which is as long as it is absorbingly interesting to the profession, that two meetings of the State Board have been held heretofore, both in Nashville, one June 18, 1889, the second February 18, 1890.

One thing worthy of mention is the fact that Montgomery county has fewer non-graduates than any county in the State. Shelby county seems to lead in non-graduates, having 121 against 128 graduates. This is another "industry" of which Montgomery can boast.

To Take Good Care of Animals

As an exercise of duty incumbent upon every person having one; the slightest neglect of them often causes sickness that leads to serious results and many good animals are lost thereby. Animals to be kept in proper condition should be given occasional doses of medicine.
