Young Malone has been in the regular army for about four years, having enlisted at New Orleans and was then sent to San Francisco, from there to the Hawaiian Islands, where he served until about six months ago. He was then transferred to Camp Kearney, San Diego, Cal., from where the government then sent him to the training camp at Camp McArthur, Texas. When that camp was closed, he was transferred to Camp Pike, Ark., where he competed with eighty three other regular men for the commission and was one of the three who received the appointment.

RED CROSS.

Until the very minute that the armistice was signed, our boys with the Allies, fought their hardest and finished with a brilliant and memorable record. It is our duty, then, to do as much.

In Mrs. Buck's article of Sunday last we learned that the branches will be demobilized on January 31. The same fact was given in a letter to our chairman Mrs. Healy. After this date the work will continue, if necessary, under a central committee composed of Mrs. Buck, her workers and the chairman of all branches and this work will be distributed from the New Orleans Red Cross headquarters.

Workers are needed in the Surgical Dressings Class to complete about 200 2-A and 500 81-A pads. All workers are urged to do all in their power during these last days. Give three afternoons a week if you can; if you can give one afternoon a week, give that; if you can give but one afternoon before demobilization, give that. Make it no less than one afternoon. All those who have worked in this class are expected to give at least one afternoon, to make our final record show the same spirit of 1917 and 1918.

All workers in the sewing department are asked to bring in the work as soon as possible.

There are still some sweaters due the knitting department, and workers are urged to bring them as soon as possible.

They arrived at an early hour, where a party awaited them and ushered them over to visit the Burch's Sugar House—a very interesting spectacle. Afterwards they returned to the home of Mrs. E. E. Badaux, where an elaborate supper of twelve covers was spread. The guests retired at a late hour and awoke very refreshed, to the realization of a typical Louisiana plantation morning. The very dreamlike scenery with its sweet scent of sugar cane. Mrs. Badaux's home is one of the old type of plantation homes, with the surrounding negro cabins; and carries one back to the old Louisiana plantation story books.

The four young ladies started for home late Sunday evening, leaving many regrets; but with a firm anticipation of an early return.

CALDERARO BUYS DRUG STORE

Stock and Fixtures Bring $10,330 Present Proprietor—Former Employee

Last Thursday at the real estate exchange in the city, Alkiers property established new record for prices, when the business corner, formerly occupied by Peter Rupp's Drug Store was sold, the building alone for $5700. The stock, which invoiced for more than ten thousand dollars was also sold to Mr. Calderaro for $4630, making a total for stock, fixtures, location and building for $10330.

The new proprietor, Mr. August Calderaro, does not require an introduction to the Algiers public. He is well known here, having clerked for Mr. Rupp when he was a qualified assistant and also held a position under him, as pharmacist, and filled most of the prescriptions, during the time of the last influenza epidemic.

Mr. Calderaro is a young fellow of pleasing appearance, affable in manner and extremely accommodating to the customers, and, of course, it goes without saying that he will give equally as good service as proprietor.

Mr. Calderaro is a graduate of the New Orleans College of Pharmacy, affiliated with Loyola University. After leaving the employ of Mr. Peter Rupp, he became assistant manager of Liggett's Drug Store, where he remained until he bought his present business here. Mr. Calderaro has the honor of being the valedictorian of his class of '18 and was also the medal man of the class, having passed first in his examination for the diploma of his profession. While it is a fact that Mr. Calderaro only became a graduate last year, he has been in the drug business as a qualified assistant for several years, and, altogether has been interested in the drug trade for eight years or more.

The stock, which was purchased at auction, represents one of the largest retail drug stocks in the city of New Orleans.

He was badly bruised on the head and shoulders while his legs and ankle were painfully cut. He was conveyed to his home where Dr. A. C. King and Harris have been in attendance. He will be unable to work for sometime yet.

SUIT FOR YEAR'S LICENSE FACED BY SALOON-KEEPERS.

Even though a saloonkeeper winds up his business this month he will be a defendant in a suit by the city if he declines to pay for a full year's license, said J. F. C. Waldo, assistant city attorney, Sunday. These suits will probably be filed in the near future.

"The impression prevails that a saloon license does not become delinquent until March 1," said Mr. Waldo. "The real fact is that certain penalties are assessed if they are not paid by that time. There is nothing in the law which would prevent the immediate filing of suit for the full year's license at this time."

KEPPER—ON TUESDAY, JAN. 21ST, at 3:45 o'clock a. m., Caroline Henrietta Klara, wife of the late Henry H. Kepper, died. Deceased was born in New Orleans sixty-three years ago, but had resided here for many years. NOTES.

Many of our pupils are still on the sick list, we hope to have them all back again very soon.

After having been at school only two days, Alden Smith, a pupil of the Sixth Grade, fell last Sunday afternoon and broke his leg. The accident occurred near his home. We are all very sorry for Alden and sincerely hope to see him among the pupils early in the new term.

Miss Fannie Moret spent the afternoon last week with the school. She had only words of praise for the very fine work she saw in the school.

Miss E. Baker, Supervisor of Drawing, visited us on Friday. She was well pleased with the showing made in all the departments.

McDONOUGH No. 4 NOTES.

Our set of Burton Holmes' Travelogues have arrived and we find them excellent pieces of work. We hope that both teachers and pupils will use them as often as possible and derive much help from their pages.

Mr. A. H. Ortland, our new Manual Training teacher, is taking a great interest in our boys in his special line of work. An assignment of twelve hundred splints has been completed. These were made of poplar wood and are very light in weight and beautifully made. The pupils of the school have done lots of repair work within the building.

The school office is adorned with a new crex rug, a donation from the boys, who were willing to subscribe to the fund raised for that purpose.

The Unlimited and 59-inch In-door Baseball Teams of McDonough No. 3 will visit our school on Wednesday and Friday of this week, for the purpose of playing practice games with the corresponding teams of McDonough No. 4.

Old gold and Copenhagen blue have been adopted as our new school colors.

Don't forget the date of our next Co-Operative Club meeting—Tuesday, Feb. 11, 1919, at 7:30 P. M. It will be a social meeting and we know all present will enjoy themselves.

BELLEVILLE NOTES.

The children and their parents are asked to remember that the fourth, or last payment on the War Savings pledges must be paid by the first of March. The children have made the pledges and it is the parent's duty to see that they live up to their pledge. The children are supposed to earn the money, so give your child some work to do and pay her for it, so that she may keep her pledge.

There is still a lot of money due on the pledges and we trust that this will all be handed in before March first.

SUCCESSION BRINGS MORE THAN $22,000

Spirited Bidding Establishes New Real Estate Price Record in Algiers—Large Crowd Attends Auction

On last Thursday, at noon, a large delegation of Algiers people, interested in our local real estate, attended the auction in the matter of the succession of Peter Rupp. There were several pieces of property put up for sale, being four double cottages, and one business corner, a vacant lot and an automobile. So large was the crowd at the auction that the auctioneers took advantage of the opportunity of offering other properties for sale, before the Rupp property was put at auction. But the crowd waited with a considerable amount of impatience until the first piece of property, which was the drug store, was put up for sale. This brought about spirited bidding between several people, but it was finally knocked down to August Calderara, a former employee of Peter Rupp for $5700. The stock was then offered for sale and was sold to the same party for $5630. Mr. Rupp's automobile brought $800, and the vacant lot adjoining the residence of Mr. Mike Rooney was purchased by him for $700. The double cottage, adjoining the drug store was sold to Mrs. M. J. Manent for $3900, while the next cottage was sold to Mrs. B. F. Walters for $5100. The two other double cottages, located in McDonoghville, and occupied by negroes, sold to Italian purchasers, the first bringing $1321, and the second bringing $1290.

CANAL STREET FERRIES COLLIDE.

The heavy fog and a misunderstanding of the whistle signals are blamed in the report of the police Monday on the collision Sunday night between the Canal street ferry boats A. M. Halliday and Thomas Pickles. Both boats are owned by the Southern Improvement Company. A strip of iron valued at $50 was torn off the Halliday, in charge of Fred Kellek, pilot. Captain Ben Sarbeck, who was at the Pickles wheel, said the side railing and guards were damaged $65.

PRIVATE JOHN W. VOEKEL.

Private John W. Voekel, reported missing in action on November 10, is safe in France, according to a letter received by his sister, Mrs. Henry Huff, 309 Homer street. The letter written by Private Voekel on December 10, says that he went through everything in France, but is well and getting along finely.
