Perhaps those who are indebted to the GUARDIAN think that we do not mean business when we call on them to settle, but are trying to beg money from them. Now we want it understood that we are not begging. We are asking for what is due us—what we have worked for, and what we propose to collect by one means or another. We ask those in arrears to settle, because we need the money. We cannot run a business on a credit always, nor will we attempt such a thing. If we are to get nothing for our work, we prefer not to work at all. The paper has been sent to some parties for years who have not paid us a cent. We cannot afford to do such a business. We ask all those in arrears to call and settle. We mean business. The crops are good, and those who wish to pay us can do so. We want to find out those who do not want to pay, so we can resort to remedies that will make them pay.

Big frost this morning.

The Police Jury will convene next Monday.

Sentinals still guard the tomb of Gen. Garfield.

The yellow fever is abating in Pensacola. It will soon be a thing of the past.

The wind came down from the north yesterday in a way that indicated that the straw-hot season was over. It is time.

This office was honored by a pleasant call yesterday from Hon. T. J. Butler, of Bienville. Glad to see you, Mr. Butler.

Another Communication from Fiddle Sticks is in the office, but it came in too late for publication in this issue. Will appear next week.

The funniest thing of Tuesday's election is the election of Ben. Butler to the governorship of Massachusetts, as a Democrat. It is really laughable.

The dome of the Capitol at Washington is being repainted and will require fifteen tons of white lead. We hope now it will be cleaned within also.

The Hop given last Friday night, by Prof. James, at the close of his dancing school, was, we learn a most enjoyable affair. All present had a merry, good time.

Senator Vest, of Missouri, come near drowning a short time since. He was carried over a mill dam in his boat and came near being swept away in the swift current.

Alex. H. Stephens was inaugurated Governor of Georgia on the 3rd inst. He is now seventy years old, but his intellect appears as clear and vigorous as when in his prime.

King has been returned to Congress by a large majority, but we hope the people of Claiborne will have modesty enough not to claim any of the credit. His majority is from six to eight thousand.

We are informed by Prof. W. J. Leslie, of Tulip, that young William Watson picked five hundred and thirty pounds of cotton one day the present season. Is there anybody in the world anywhere, that can beat the Claiborne boys cotton picking?

Our friend O. A. Smith, of Gordon, ward two, was in town on Wednesday last, in fine health, looking well, and reported the largest vote for General King, of any other ward in the parish, in proportion to her registered voters, except perhaps ward 7.

The Democrats gain six Congressmen in Texas, five in Missouri, five in Indiana, three in California, four in Wisconsin, three in Iowa, two in Kansas, and so on to the end of the roll. The Democrats will have a majority of fifty or sixty in the next Congress.

We are informed that Mr. William Sherrard of the sixth ward had the misfortune to have his gin-house destroyed by fire on last Friday week. Nine bales of cotton were burned. The fire originated from the friction of the machinery. The loss is a heavy one and falls upon a good citizen.

Shreveport had a big blaze last Sunday one week ago. The fire originated in the dry goods store of Mr. B. Wolf and consumed the entire half block on which the building stood. The loss is estimated at a hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars and is largely covered by insurance.

The people of Claiborne must be more prompt in paying taxes than the people of other parishes. We notice the other parish papers are full of delinquent tax sales. There are no delinquents in Claiborne, at least none have been advertised as such. Taxes and personal property become delinquent the first of November. Our people have done remarkably well to pay all the taxes on personal property by that time.

THE NEWS.

A political cyclone swept over the country last Tuesday. The result of the day's work is good news for the entire country. The old rotten hull of the Republican ship has been driven far out to sea and will not be able to come into harbor again for a generation to come. From the North and the South, the East and the West, good tidings have come. The election was a great Democratic triumph. The country has gone back on the party of great moral ideas. Grant, Conkling, Arthur & Co., have received a rebuke from the effects of which they will never recover. The Republican party is defeated, routed and disorganized. New York has gone Democratic by a majority unprecedented in the history of the government. Cleveland was elected Governor over Folger by a majority of a hundred and ninety-five thousand, and four or five Congressmen gained in the State. In Pennsylvania Pattison, the Democratic candidate was elected Governor by a large majority, and four Congressmen gained. Ben Butler was elected Governor of Massachusetts on the Democratic ticket. The tidal wave also passed over Kansas, Iowa, and Wisconsin, Indiana, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Missouri, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, South Carolina, Arkansas and Texas. The Forty-eight Congress will be Democratic by a large majority. Louisiana elects a solid delegation with the exception of the Third District where, in all probability, Kellogg has been successful. Mahone still holds his grip upon Virginia and the Readjusters' ticket has carried the State. This is the worst part of the day's work. The old mother of States is still left in the power of Mahone and his infamous band of office-seekers and public plunderers; but we will not complain—enough was done for one day. Victory perched upon the standard of the Democracy and the losses are insignificant in comparison to the gains.

The Republican party is now more hopelessly divided than ever. It seems impossible that the breach in the ranks can be closed up again. The success of the Democracy in '84 is almost a certainty. The way has been chalked out and if the Democratic Congress elected last Tuesday is at all capable to the task that is before it, a Democratic President will be elected two years hence.

It would be tedious to go into the mass of press dispatches and give exact results from the thirty-three States that voted last Tuesday. It will suffice to say that the news is good. The only bad news is the success of Mahone in Virginia and the election of Chalmers in Mississippi. With these exceptions there is no bad news. It is good all along the line. It gives the Democracy the next Congress by a large majority—gives them governors of a large majority of the States, and paves the way for the election of a Democratic President in 1884.

Rails to Split.

A few years ago, a young man, from a distant State, landed on the bank of one of the bayous in this State owing $5 for his passage. He went to the nearest town, walked into a business house and asked the merchant if he "wanted to employ a clerk or salesman," and was informed he did not. An old farmer, standing near by, and hearing the application and refusal, remarked that the "wanted some rails split." "What will you give?" asked the young man. "A dollar a hundred," was the reply. "I will take the job," said the young man. "Did you ever split rails?" asked the farmer. "No," replied the candidate for labor, "but I can. How far do you live from town?" he asked. "15 miles," said the gentleman, "on — road." "I will be at your house to-night," said the young man, "and will go to work in the morning." He footed it 15 miles—went to work. His hands would blister and get well—shoulders would be sore, but would get well; he would get tired, but would rest and go on at work. The first $5.00 he received he sent to the captain of the boat to pay his passage.

He made some 10,000 rails—saved his money. He thought he could do better at a saw-mill—asked for employment. The mill-man told him he "did not think he would suit, as he had no experience in the business." "Well," said the young man, "let me try a month and we will know what I can do." At the end of the month the man was satisfied and employed him at good wages. At this point arrived the crisis in his life. He had, with a friend that roomed with him, been in the habit of taking his dram three or four times a day. He felt the habit was growing on him. One morning he poured out his drink as usual, looked at it, and turned away. "What's the matter?" asked his companion. "I here and now quit drinking," said he. That man now has a nice family, a comfortable home, a competency of worldly goods, and is a useful and honorable member of society.

Young men, don't sit around with your hands in your pocket until you wear out the seat of your pantaloons, waiting for an easy place. If there is no demand for clerks or salesmen, there are plenty of Bails to Split. JONAH.

The weather prophets have missed it again. An early and a severe winter was predicted. It is now the middle of November and there is yet no signs of winter. The atmosphere is almost warm enough for summer. Weather prophets had better quit.

LETTER FROM BATON ROUGE.

BATON ROUGE, LA. Oct. 30th, 1882.

EDITOR GUARDIAN—In compliance with your request "to favor the GUARDIAN with an occasional communication in reference to the Capital, its institution, &c. &c." I shall devote this, the first, to the State University and A. & M. College.

THE LOCATION. The location of the Institution is a beautiful and healthy one—being about 800 yards below the State House, and standing on a bluff which rises gradually from the river, the building presents a magnificent appearance from the river below the city; and from its elevated galleries, overlooking many miles of the great river, all the southern portion of the city, and many fine sugar and cotton plantations, we have a view as comprehensive as it is varied and interesting. The grounds, both in front and rear, are sufficiently rolling, with a little artificial help, to render drainage almost perfect; so, while there is no local cause for sickness, our proximity to the gulf, with no intervening obstructions, brings us partially under the influence of the salubrious and exhilarating breezes of the sea.

THE MAGNITUDE. The Institution would surprise many who have never visited the Capital. The main edifice is 270 by 90 feet, the central portion of which is 5 stories high, and its extremities, called towers, are 4 stories. Just opposite the towers, and perpendicular to the main building, are two wings, each 150 by 60 feet, and 3 stories high. The walls are all crowned with battlements, and opposite the first and second floors the building is encircled with galleries and verandas, extending in the aggregate more than 1800 feet. In addition to the cellars, which are used for laundry, cooking and storing purposes, there are 79 rooms and 18 closets; these embrace a mess-hall 100 by 45 feet, a library of 1000 volumes, an arsenal of 200 Enfield rifles, a hospital, a chapel, class rooms, office, museum, cadets sleeping rooms, &c. &c. Many of these, notably the library, reading and dining rooms, are embellished with paintings, engravings and statuary, which not only serve to brighten the general effect, but constitute great educational agencies in fixing and developing the tastes and morals of young men. In front of the building is a beautiful yard, overshadowed by a variety of ever-green shrubbery, and traversed by winding passages; in the rear is an open lawn, on which the cadets assemble for drill, roll-call, parade and classification, and just back of this is the machine shop and University garden, on which latter enough vegetables are raised to supply the Institution; all of which is enclosed by a beautiful white picket fence.

RECENT REPAIRS. The Board of Supervisors has recently appropriated $50,000.00 to the general reparation of the buildings, and the contract was awarded to Messrs. Hannon and Voss, the skilled mechanics who had charge of the marble and joiners work in the reconstruction of the State House. Under their trained eyes and hands, the building has been renovated from base to dome, and is now externally and internally, as clean as it is commodious, as elegant as it is magnificent.

THE MACHINE SHOP. has been established and equipped under the administration of Col. Johnston, and in it there are now 65 of our boys taking lessons in the elements of carpentry, forging and turning. This enterprise is developing a growing interest, and under the supervision of Prof. Randolph, who is quite an enthusiast and adept in mechanics, it is accomplishing much good, and attracting favorable notice and substantial recognition from abroad. Recently H. Dudley Coleman & Bro., public spirited citizens of New Orleans, donated to it an annuity of $250.00 for two years, and that noble woman Mrs. E. A. Burke, who in conjunction with her husband, has done so much for our State and people, donated to the same $500.00 worth of tools and machinery. In addition to this, the Board has just appropriated $750.00 to the enlargement of the shop and more equipments.

THE FACULTY. consisting of the President, Col. W. P. Johnston, and Prof. McCulloch, Nicholson, Sewell, MacGregor, Randolph, Boyd, Col. Robertson and Maj. Jones, representing in the aggregate all the departments of the University except that of Agriculture, are at their posts and actively discharging their respective duties. A salary of $1500.00 has been appropriated to the Professorship of Agriculture, but it seems difficult to find a man who understands it practically and theoretically. In the mean time, Col. McCulloch, Prof. Chemistry, is giving instruction to a goodly number of cadets in these subjects on which the science and art of agriculture depend.

THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE. consist of Gen. L. Jastremski, Hon. E. H. Fay and Gen. Allen Thomas, members of Board of Supervisors, who represent the Board ad interim, and attend to all the financial interests of the Institution. The organization of this committee is regarded by many as an excellent innovation, as it relieves the President from the purchasing of supplies, auditing accounts, and superintending the domestic concerns of the University; in fact, it is a relief to him from those matters which have hitherto crippled his efficiency, and ministered to his discomfort.

THE HOSPITAL. is supplied with medicines and clean comfortable beds; it is under the supervision of the Surgeon, Dr. J. W. Dupree, an experienced and warm-hearted physician who visits the hospital daily, and ministers to the wants of the afflicted.

THE BOARDING DEPARTMENT. is under the supervision of the steward, Mr. L. Jadot, an experienced restaurateur, who takes especial pride in furnishing the cadets with good wholesome food, and in keeping everything about the kitchen and mess-hall "as bright as a new silver dollar."

THE NEATEST OFFICE. in the building is that of H. Skalfeld, the Secretary and Treasurer, who is one of the best scribes and accountants in the State. He keeps the money, and is of course the most respected man about the Institute.

RELIGIOUS WORSHIP. Unfortunately for us the constitution of the State prohibits public institutions from remunerating ministers of the Gospel for their services; yet, with the generous and voluntary assistance of Revs. J. T. Daves, C. Goodrich, R. F. Patterson, and L. S. Piker, ministers respectively of the Methodist, Episcopal, Presbyterian and Baptist churches of Baton Rouge, Col. Johnston has generally managed to begin the exercises of each day with divine services in the chapel. All the cadets are required to attend the church of their choice on Sunday.

THE PROSPECTS. of the University for this session are very promising; already 140 cadets have matriculated, 115 of whom are boarding in the University. If the number increases in the usual ratio, at least 100 more will enter during the session. As an index to the degree of their advancement I will state that, in the mathematical department, there are 15, in the last year of the A. B. Course, and 45 in the penultimate year of the same course. The morale of the corps is very good, and the government and discipline as administered by the President and Col. S. M. Robertson, the commandant, and seconded by the professors, are calculated to inspire an esprit de corps alike creditable to the Institution and the State.

CONCLUSION. I would close this communication with an appeal to our people to support this, their own University, but have already intruded upon your valuable space. Suffice to say that, could Louisianians once fully appreciate the advantages to their sons in after-life of having attended this institution, instead of one out of the State, we would soon have a University of which every lover of Louisiana would be proud. J. W. NICHOLSON, Prof. Math.

The Governor of Kentucky appears to be determined to protect prisoners and accord to accused persons a fair and impartial trial. An attempt was made recently to take from the sheriff some murderers while they were being carried to trial in an adjoining county. The Governor sent the militia to protect the prisoners and when the citizens attempted to capture the prisoners the soldiers fired upon them and killed six or seven, and wounded a large number. Some of the soldiers were killed, but the mob did not succeed in getting possession of the murderers.

One of the most horrible occurrences we remember to have ever read was the burning of the Providence Poor Asylum of Nova Scotia. A fire broke out at midnight. The building was an immense structure of six stories. The top story of the Asylum was used as a hospital and on this floor was the sick. Attempts to reach these proved ineffectual and the flames broke upon them and roasted them to death. Thirty one helpless persons were there burned to death. The scene was frightful beyond description.

We had hoped for the credit of the State that Kellogg would be defeated in the Third District. He has held a seat in the Senate by force of fraud and perjury for six years and we hoped that Louisiana would henceforth be rid of him. Had the Democrats of the Third District brought out a good man Kellogg would have been defeated. We are not sorry that Acklen was defeated, but regret the election of Kellogg. It may not be Democratic to say it, but we hoped Beattie would be elected.

The jail in Vienna was opened on the night of the 6th inst. by a posse of men supposed to be from Jackson parish, and four negro prisoners taken out and two of them murdered. One of the negroes made his escape as soon as the door was opened, and another it is supposed was allowed to escape on the supposition that he was innocent. The negroes were charged with the robbery of a d attempted murder of an old white man by the name of Ray, of which we give an account some time ago.

The November number of Golden Days is to hand and as usual is full of charming stories for the young. Its tone is wholesome and healthy—nothing in its columns that any one could object to. Golden Days is published by James Elbertson, Philadelphia, at three dollars per annum, and will be sent in either weekly or monthly form.

Not the least part of the great victory last Tuesday was the defeat of Secor Robson, the corrupt jobber and leader of the public plunderers in the present Congress. The tidal wave struck him and his Navy and carried all under. The country will rejoice that Robson's hold upon the purse-strings of the nation has been broken.
