

TREMONT & GULF FREIGHT CONNECTION

The New Steel Highway has Opened Through Lines to Winnfield Business.

The Tremont & Gulf Railroad Company has announced that it is in a position to handle traffic to Winnfield with rates and facilities equal to other lines, from Monroe, New Orleans, Shreveport and St. Louis, by means of through cars with the Queen & Crescent system.

When the Tremont & Gulf entered Winnfield, the announcement was made that this company would aid the progress and development of this town, and expected to make this line strictly a Winnfield road. In return they expected that this fact would be appreciated by the business men of Winnfield to the extent of transacting legitimate business by way of this new artery of communication.

The company has the most commodious quarters and neatest surroundings of any road entering Winnfield. Their trains are punctual and equipments have been purchased to facilitate their carrying capacity.

The new through connections they have perfected will make this line an ideal one for the transportation of freight from distant metropolitan business centers. Rapid transit is the one great aim and desire of every business firm that transacts their trade with wholesale firms and bring in goods in car load lots.

This connection opened by the Tremont & Gulf with the Queen & Crescent system will assure prompt and sure delivery of through freight. The accommodations of the Tremont & Gulf at the terminals here are ample and commodious and the men in charge of the several departments are energetic, painstaking and prompt in the discharge of their duties. Not less are they affable, courteous and genial in their intercourse with either visitors or business men.

These facts and the known energy of the officials of this road, as well as their prompt attention to every detail of business committed to their care, should attract the favorable cooperation and attention of the business firms of Winnfield. Mutual exchange of good will and aid are what build up successful enterprises and make business prosperous. Patronage is the offspring of a friendly disposition. Hence the appreciation of benefits conferred and received is the mainspring of success. Its fruits grow with giving and receiving. The Tremont & Gulf company is actuated by the spirit of facilitating the growth and business prosperity of this town, as the surest method of gaining and retaining the good will and business patronage of all classes of citizens. They have extended the means that indicate their interest in Winnfield, and their proffer should be accepted in the same spirit with which it is tendered.

Mistaken Kindness.

It would seem that some other more useful and instructive present might be given boys than toy pistols and air guns. That they are productive of mischief is amply proven. In the exuberance of their possession they are handled carelessly and pointed unthoughtfully at some companion or passer by without the least intention of doing harm. Even if they are not dangerous, still a piece of exploded cap or the tiny missile of the air gun is apt to do an irrevocable injury. The wisdom of such presents is strongly doubted. Outside of the propensity it creates to carry and use a "gun", is the encouragement of such a habit. These remarks are elicited by having had several of these toy weapons snapped in the face too dangerously near the eyes to prove very comfortable. Of course the little boys meant no harm, but desired to startle the pedestrian, and enjoy the possession of the weapon. There are more desirable gifts than these tiny representatives of the more deadly and too often used real weapon.

NEW CITY HOTEL OPENS ITS DOORS

The Management of Winnfield's
Pride and Boast Inaugurates
Opening with Dining.

The New City Hotel opened its doors to the public Monday. The event was made the occasion of an invitation from one of the proprietors, Mr. J. A. Colvin, to quite a number of his personal friends to inaugurate this new public enterprise with their presence at the opening dining. Among these guests were the editorial heads of the several journals of Winnfield.

The genial proprietor ushered his guests into the dining room in person. The room with its beautiful finish and appointments was bright with the sunlight through the spacious windows. Tables that comfortably seat four guests were scattered through the spacious dining room. The tables with their snow white damask coverings and ornamented with new appointments of glass and dishes wore a most inviting aspect.

The dinner was varied in its viands,—solid, substantial, inviting and elegantly prepared. These were supplemented with pastry, cakes, preserves and fruit, capped with a cup of elegant coffee.

That the guests appreciated the compliment tendered as well as the elegant viands to please the inner man, goes without further eulogy.

The bright sunbeams of the winter day, the attractive surroundings of the roomy dining hall, the bountiful and well served viands were well calculated to give most pleasurable memories to those who enjoyed the hospitality of "mine host", and marked a most auspicious opening to this magnificently appointed public resort. Its inviting surroundings and perfect conveniences for ease, comfort and pleasure will herald it abroad wherever its guests may hail from.

No town in the state can boast of more comfortable attractions and there are few cities that can equal it for neatness, attractiveness and thorough comfort for ease and enjoyment.

The proprietors have reason to be proud of this public monument to their energy, means and perseverance, even as every citizen of Winnfield considers it a magnificent sign board to the progress, liberality and perseverance of Winnfield's most progressive spirit.

The Sentinel takes this occasion to tender the appreciation of its editorial representatives for this thoroughly enjoyable dining; and to wish for the management of the New City Hotel eminent and deserved success, and rooms well filled with admiring and appreciative guests. May it ever thrive and prosper.

To Whom Credit Belongs.

What the people demand in the line of the betterment of their condition that they usually secure. When public sentiment crystallizes to the extent of becoming imperative, it usually emerges the victor. Herein lies the power of this free government. Some intelligent and far-seeing politician may present for enactment, the demand for some reform, but that does not entitle him to the credit of having originated it. The voice of the people was the power that spurred him into action, and they alone are the authors of its existence. Men who seek official position know full well that they cannot achieve success in their ambition, unless they first take the people into their confidence by espousing those measures and needs that public opinion demand. Louisiana's reform enactments are but concessions by the legislators to the requirements of the masses.
