A Relief.
"Aren't you worried about the cost of living?"

What He Wanted.
"Give me two seats in the balance," said a man stepping up to the box of the window the other afternoon.
"In the what?" asked the ticket seller, fearing that she had misunderstood.
"I said I wanted two seats in the balance."
The ticket seller racked her brain trying to solve the puzzle and finally, giving it up, she asked the man to explain just what he wanted.
"On this sign out here it says, balance 25c for the first three rows. It says balance 15 cents. I want two in the balance."
Then the ticket seller understood.

Cow Followed Compass.
A poor tiller of the soil had owned for a number of years a valuable cow. Of a sudden he began to find that the cow always stood in her stall with her tail toward the south where the manger was, her head toward the north. He tried various means of making the cow stand the other way, but he failed. He then turned to the south, but he found that the cow always turned around. Finally there was nothing to do but rebuild the stall to suit the cow. Somewhat later war came and the poor tiller of the soil had to join his regiment and go to fight for the fatherland. His wife and children, reduced to dire poverty, were forced to sell the cow to the butcher, who slaughtered her and sold her meat at famine prices to his townsmen. At the same time, however, the mystery of the animal's unaccountable behavior was cleared up. In the body of the cow was found a small compass which the poor man, her owner, had lost some months before from his watch chain. Evidently it had fallen among the hay and been eaten.

Farmers' Educational and Co-Operative Union of America

Matters of Especial Moment to the Progressive Agriculturist

Keep busy, but not as a busybody. Generous prayers are no excuse for soft hands. A good deal gives one a good deal of pleasure. Some men give advice, and expect a favor in return. It pays to keep up the appearance of the premises. Rest is sweet, but too much of it turns a man sour. Pretended goodness is worse than pretended badness. The wise man rests just as enthusiastically as he works. A wet cabbage leaf on the head is better than flowers in the beard. Making life pleasant for others means making life worth while for one's self. A thriftless man cannot be a spendthrift, because he has no thrift to spend; and a spendthrift soon becomes thriftless. If you are satisfied with your system of farming there is little hope for you. It's the man that is dissatisfied that improves. It is always easy to make good under perfect conditions, but it requires a real man to make good with imperfect conditions. The man who provides carefully against blustering his hands ought to see to it that none of his work horses have sore shoulders. Call a man's job a position and he will lay aside his overalls and wear out good clothes in an effort to keep up with the dignity of the word. The first mess of radishes on the table might taste better if the good wife hadn't been forced to spade the radish bed in order to get them. If it has not been a habit of yours to watch for new ideas—start now; stop, look and listen and you will never be run across by the engine of debt. The co-operative and highly beneficial principle of corn improvement work in progress throughout the United States is making it more urgent that records be kept and that they be kept in definite and comparable terms.

FEDERAL AID IS NECESSARY

Cotton States Face Situation Unprecedented in Modern Times—Co-operation is Essential.

(By HARVEY JORDAN, President of Southern Cotton Association, Atlanta, Ga.)

Not since the days of the Civil war have the cotton states faced a condition so serious as that which at the present time confronts the banding and marketing of the cotton crop of 1914.

Because of the existing conditions between the five great nations of Europe which so largely consume American cotton, with their ports closed, business paralyzed, and commerce stagnated, a situation is presented unprecedented in modern times.

There is no demand for cotton at this time in any of our markets, while all of the exchanges are closed. If the movement of the crop is restricted by limited demand, very low prices will ensue unless arrangements with the federal government are promptly perfected to finance a large portion of the crop in storage until European peace is declared. Cotton must be held off a stagnant market. Federal aid to the extent of several hundred million dollars is imperative. Such an emergency fund could be handled through the banks operating in the cotton belt and loaned against receipts issued for cotton stored and insured in bonded warehouses at a fixed price per pound, basis middling. This would provide a stable market for such cotton as is required by mills in unaffected consuming centers, and values for the staple maintained while the industrial life of the South would go forward unhampered.

United effort on the part of all the people is imperative at this time. Systematic co-operation was never more essential. The cotton situation, while grave, can be handled with safety to the growers of the South if prompt and systematic plans for financing the crop temporarily are adopted and put into execution throughout the 800 cotton-growing counties. Federal aid is absolutely necessary. When peace is declared normal conditions will prevail and profitable values be maintained.

No Moisture to Waste.
Don't think for a moment that we have soil moisture to waste. Get it into the subsoil all you can and keep it there. Some of the most disastrous droughts follow extremely wet periods. The cornfields will pump up the water amazingly after the tussling period.

Extermination of Birds.
If all birds were destroyed it would not be many years before no crops could be grown because the insects and weeds would increase so rapidly that they would consume every growing thing.

Right Kind to Build.
When you build that silo build a good one.

Cut Out the Canes.
Cut out all raspberry canes that bore fruit this year and burn them. If there are too many new shoots, cut them back also.

First Day Feed for Chicks.
Plenty of pure, fresh water, grit, shell, and green feed should be available to the chicks from the first day.

Lime for Acid Soils.
Lime acid soils after they are plowed in the fall, during winter, or in the spring.

Material for Market.
The material that is sent to market should not only be of best quality but it should be in most attractive form. Appearance will have a good deal to do in determining the price.

COTTON PROBLEM IS SERIOUS

Bankers Throughout Southern States Are Up in Air Because of Uncertainty of the Crop.

"The cotton growers of the southern states are not alone in worrying about what they are going to do with their cotton this year," remarked Capt. Sigo Myers, president of the National Bank of Savannah, while in Washington the other day. "All through the South the bankers are up in the air because of the uncertainty of what is going to happen to cotton. Georgia last year made a high cotton crop. This year we shall produce more cotton than in any year in our history. We shall make close to 2,500,000 bales, and when it is figured that a bale is worth $70 the amount of money involved can be realized. The shipments through the port of Savannah of last year's crop to date total approximately 1,800,000 bales. The new crop, which will be ready for shipment about the last of September, naturally is worrying us, because we have no idea how we are going to market it. About 65 per cent of the total cotton crop of the country goes abroad, most of it to Europe. Nearly all of this is carried in foreign bottoms. British and German merchant vessels have done the largest part of the hauling, though from Savannah a great many Norwegian tramp steamers have carried cargoes of cotton to Europe. "Now, with foreign ships almost out of business, and no American merchant marine, it is not to be wondered that the farmers and the bankers of the South are worried. I have hope, amounting almost to confidence, that we shall be able to meet the situation by securing through purchase or otherwise foreign ships, which, flying the American flag, will be utilized for transporting our crops. The emergency is great. Of course, if the southern bankers are able to finance the growers and enable them to hold their cotton, it would not make a great deal of difference, because cotton is not like other products. It will not deteriorate or perish. "While Europe takes the greater part of our cotton, there is a big field open to us in South America, and no doubt in a few years we shall send large quantities of cotton to Argentina, Brazil and other countries to the south of us." Captain Myers was present at the swearing in of the new federal reserve board, most of the members of which he knew personally. "The president showed great wisdom in his selection," said Captain Myers. "I have the utmost confidence that this board will prove efficient and will undoubtedly go far toward helping the country over any financial rocks that may lie in the path of prosperity."

WHY BOYS LEAVE THE FARM

Town Worker is Envious Because He Has Room of His Own, Where Belongings Are Not Disturbed.

(By B. F. COEN, Colorado Agricultural College.)

1. Did you ever know a boy who owned the pigs and the lambs, but whose dad owned all the hogs and the sheep?

2. Did you ever know a boy who didn't like to have a room of his very own with a stove in it, so that he could stay there even on a cold winter night?

3. Did you ever know a boy who didn't like to have a horse and buggy of his own? How did you like to ask dad for the horse and buggy every time you wanted to go somewhere?

4. Did you ever know a boy who didn't work better when he had a share in the crop, or when he had one field with which to do as he pleased?

5. Did you ever know from being a boy, how the town-worker boy was envious because he had a room that was his very own; a room in which he could leave his trunk and good clothes and know they would be unmolested?

6. Do you realize that the way you felt under these conditions is about the way all the other boys feel?

7. Did you know that time and thought spent on boys will pay just about as well as time and thought spent on pigs, cows and sugar-beets?

TO SUCCEED WITH ALFALFA

Under Certain Conditions Crop Will Prove Successful—Inoculation is of Essential.

It is pretty well demonstrated that alfalfa will grow and afford a large yield of good forage wherever the following conditions exist:

1. A well drained soil, with water not standing closer than four or five feet of the surface and preferably at a much lower depth.

2. A soil naturally containing one per cent or more of calcium carbonate, or on which three to four tons of ground limestone is applied every four or five years.

3. A soil naturally rich, or one of fair natural fertility made rich by the use of fertilizers.

4. A soil sufficiently inoculated with the germs which live on the roots of the alfalfa plants and help them to get nitrogen from the air. Without these conditions alfalfa will be a failure, with them it will probably be a success.

Nearly Balanced Pig Ration.
Cowpeas or soy bean pasturage, supplemented by the feeding of some form of corn provides a simple and nearly balanced ration for the pigs.

Treating Inside of Silo.
A very good substance for treating the inside of a wooden silo is carbolineum which may be applied with a common paint brush. Care should be taken not to get this substance on the flesh as it will burn if left there any length of time.

Material for Market.
The material that is sent to market should not only be of best quality but it should be in most attractive form. Appearance will have a good deal to do in determining the price.

Work Weakens the Kidneys

Many occupations weaken the kidneys, causing aching backs, urinary disorders and a dull, drowsy, discouraged feeling. Work exposing one to chills, dampness or sudden changes; work in cramped positions; work amid the fumes of (surgeon's) constant riding on jolting vehicles, is especially hard on the kidneys.

Taken in time kidney trouble isn't hard to stop; neglected it is dangerous. As a kidney tonic, there is no other medicine so well recommended, so widely used and so universally successful as Doan's Kidney Pills.

An Arkansas Case.

Nothing relieved me until I used Doan's Kidney Pills. A few boxes made my back strong and one box strengthened my bladder and improved my health. Doan's Kidney Pills have certainly done wonders for me."

Simple but Apparently Satisfying Cause for the Postponement of Arranged Marriage.

"So you were not married last June, after all?"
"No."
"But I thought it was all arranged?"
"It was."

"They had."
"And that the day was set and the trousseau bought and the invitations issued, the officiating clergyman engaged, and all that?"
"Yes, all that."
"And that, above all, you loved each other?"
"Oh, yes, we loved each other. There was no doubt about that."
"Well, then, why in the world didn't you get married?"
"Well, the reason was that it rained. Wasn't it too bad?"

PIMPLES ON SCALP ITCHED

Lewisburg, Tenn.—"Four years past I had a very bad scalp trouble that commenced with itching. Later my hair got thin and my scalp sore and I could not sleep for scratching at times. I did not get the sleep that was restful and refreshing. I was losing my hair fast. I had pimples on my scalp which itched and burned so that I scratched and irritated them. I had dandruff which scaled off and showed on my clothes. "I tried almost every noted scalp remedy and hair tonic without success. Then I commenced using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and was relieved of the itching and sore scalp after three shampoos and applications of the Ointment. After using both the Cuticura Soap and Ointment for three months I was completely cured." (Signed) F. B. Lewis, Jan. 1, 1914. Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address postcard "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston."—Adv.

Yes, Same Size.
He felt it would be extravagant to call in a man for a little job like replacing a broken window pane, so he took the measurements very accurately and went to the hardware store to buy the glass. "Quite a simple job," he explained to the storekeeper; "in fact, a child could do the thing in a few minutes." An hour later he presented himself once more at the store, the proprietor of which greeted him cheerfully with the query: "Same size, I suppose, sir."

Brusque Sympathy.
"Your daughter told me to come and ask your consent to our marriage!" said the nervous young man. "She did!" responded Mr. Cumrox. "And you came hustling right along, although you knew you'd probably find me in a bad humor. And you knew also that so long as Gladys and her ma had made up their minds, my consent or refusal wouldn't make a particle of difference. Young man, you're being put through your family discipline too early!"

The New Reading.
Nat C. Goodwin, the famous actor, complained at a dinner at the Players in New York, about the facility and the levity of divorce. "Why," said Mr. Goodwin hotly, "the way some people divorce and remarry is terrible." "On a roof garden the other evening a young lady said to me: "Congratulations me, Mr. Goodwin. Today is my silver wedding day." "Oh, nonsense," said I. "You are too young and pretty to have been married 25 years." "Oh," she laughed, "you don't understand. Today I was married for the twenty-fifth time."

POOR ROUTE TO LOVE'S GOAL

If Bashful Swain Must Use Postage Stamps to Propose, Why, Don't Do It.

Obviously there are still a goodly number of tongue-tied swains in the world—blushers who for the life of them cannot find speech to tell their love when face to face with their beloved. On an average of once in six months some timid reader of this despairing type writes to our "Forum" for the alphabet of that dumb "stamp language" whereby through the irregular or abnormal affixing of a stamp to a letter he would transmit the knowledge of that passion which neither lips nor pen dare to tell. Faint-hearted lovers all!

What do the girls think of the man who cannot speak up? Do they not still prefer to be taken by storm, to hear hot words of love ringing in their ears, to be asked manfully and straightforwardly for heart and hand? Do they not insist as never before that faint heart never won fair lady? We read between the lines of Roman history that the Sabine women very promptly recovered from the initial shock of being carried off, and it is not on record that any of them tried to escape from the happy bondage to which they were consigned. Are the women of today any different? We doubt it.

It is admitted on all sides that the woman of today is the stronger vessel—that more than ever is she more deadly than the male. For that very reason man today as never before must summon all the strength that is left to him when he goes forth to meet his fate. The use of misplaced postage stamps is today worse than futile. Man's last hope of success in matrimony today lies in boldness coupled with candor.—Philadelphia Press.

Desperate Situation.
This is an extract from a letter just received from a little southern town: "The post-office has been moved, and the boxes have been changed to open with combination locks. This morning, when I was in town, I saw the jeweler trying to file his way into his box—and on Sunday they found Cousin May's old negro, Uncle Zeb, down on his knees on the floor before the combination, hat off, and hands clasped in prayer. # 5 Women Avoid Operations

For years we have been stating in the newspapers of the country that a great many women have escaped serious operations by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it is true.

We are permitted to publish in this announcement extracts from the letters of five women. All have been recently received unsolicited. Could any evidence be more convincing?

1. HODGSON, ME.—"I had pains in both sides and such a soreness I could scarcely straighten up at times. My back ached and I was so nervous I could not sleep, and I thought I never would be any better until I submitted to an operation, but I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt like a new woman."—Mrs. HAYWARD SOWERS, Hodgson, Me.

2. CHARLOTTE, N. C.—"I was in bad health for two years, with pains in both sides and was very nervous. I had a growth which the doctor said was a tumor, and I never would get well unless I had an operation. A friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I gladly say that I am now enjoying fine health."—Mrs. ROSA SIMS, 16 Winona St., Charlotte, N. C.

3. HANOVER, PA.—"The doctor advised a severe operation, but my husband got me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I experienced great relief in a short time. Now I feel like a new person and can do a hard day's work and not mind it."—Mrs. ADA WILT, 196 Stock St., Hanover, Pa.

4. DECATUR, ILL.—"I was sick in bed and three of the best physicians said I would have to be taken to the hospital for an operation as I had something growing in my left side. I refused to submit to the operation and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—and it worked a miracle in my case, and I tell other women what it has done for me."—Mrs. LAURA A. GRISWOLD, 2300 Blk. East William Street, Decatur, Ill.

5. CLEVELAND, OHIO.—"I was very irregular and for several years my side pained me so that I expected to have to undergo an operation. Doctors said they knew of nothing that would help me. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I became regular and free from pain. I am thankful for such a good medicine and will always give it the highest praise."—Mrs. C. H. Wide Sympathies.
Out in the world of talk one hears many conflicting opinions. A great saint once said, "Who hears the eternal voice is delivered of many an opinion." You do not need to hear all the talk, all the various opinions of many men, to know true wisdom. Your own hushed spirit will teach you wisdom if you will listen. But in these lonely hours teach yourself to be ready to love all the vast variety of life that the world may offer you at any turning. Encourage big thoughts and wide sympathies. Remember to sympathize even in the silence with the people you read of and hear of, who are quite different from yourself. Try to understand motives and meanings in alien lives, and if you do this well enough your loneliness will be turned into the very best education there is. And when life calls you some day into its midst as life surely will some day, your lamp will be shining and bright and will shed a lovely radiance all about you.
